Few Ploughs On Brazil Farms

Only Fourteen Farmers Out Of Every Hundred Own Own Land

Brazil's equipment in modern farming machinery is very inadequate, with an average of only 14 farmers per hundred farms, writes Trade Commissioner A. S. Bleakney, His Excellency, in the Commercial Intelligence Journal The law takes the place of the plough, but it is of special design and entirely different from the Canadian article. Most of the hand tools sold in Brazil have been copied from Portuguese models, by non-reliable manufacturers. Hoes and spades and shovels are imported chiefly from England and from the United States. Axes and scythes from Germany and France, and shares from Great Britain, United States and Germany. Practically all tools are usually made by blacksmiths which have an extra tariff say 50 to 60

Value Of Buttermilk Over Tankage Is Shown In Experiment

Buttermilk proved to be somewhat more valuable than tankage for fattening pigs in an experiment conducted at the South Saskatchewan Livestock Improvement Point late in the winter of 1926-27, according to a bulletin issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Lot 1 received buttermilk and lot 2 tankage from weaning until market. Lots 3 and 4 received buttermilk after weaning for four weeks after which lot 3 was given tankage and lot 4 neither buttermilk or tankage for the remainder of the feeding period.

Outlaw Natives Arrested

Solomon Island Tribesmen Who Killed British Officials Are Apprehended

The British High Commissioner for the Western Pacific has been advised by wireless from the Solomon Islands that Tehomana Dalana and 44 other natives, alleged to have acted with him in the recent uprising that resulted in the killing of several officials, including whites, had been rounded up and lodged in the Tulagi Jail.

The advices say the British cruiser Adelaide which was sent to the Solomons from Australia, to assist local police in pursuing the natives, had been withdrawn, as the vessel is no longer needed. Operations against the native outbreak were confined to patrolling native villages. The natives concerned in the uprising, excepting those who have been captured, lived in small bands and are hiding in the

The patrol met with opposition when it reached Dalana's village, in the skirmish, two natives were shot but the rest escaped. The six men of a scouty passably armed members of the Government patrol. The scouty saw a band of natives creeping in the bush upon the village where the patrol was encamped. His challenge was ignored, then he fired, wounding two, and escaping. It is believed all the outlaws will soon be apprehended.

Dalana is charged with killing District Commissioner Bell, one of the several officers killed in the uprising at Malaimana. The first report of the outbreak was received here October 6.

Made Fortune From Handwriting System

Austin Palmer Was Poor Writer Before He Evolved Improved Method

Austin Norman Palmer, originator of the Palmer system of handwriting, which is in use in public schools of many large cities, died in New York after a brief illness.

He estimated that 25,000,000 persons in the United States had been taught with his system.

He was such a poor penman in the early eighties that he was threatened with dismissal by his employers unless he improved according to his own story. He got a job with a land company at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and when the dismissal threat was made, he took notice of the "muscle rule" movement used by other clerks. He adopted it, improved on it, opened a business college and in a few years school of writ-ing the country had adopted his system from which he made a fortune.

Astronomers Solve Problem

Have Measured Strength Of Calcium Lines Of Sun's Atmosphere

One of the problems which the Royal observatory at Greenwich was unable to unravel at the time of Sir Isaac Newton's eclipse last June has been solved in ordinary daylight without the aid of the eclipse.

Details of the experiment were disclosed by C. E. Dalladay, Greenwich astronomer, before the Royal Astronomical Society. Mr. Dalladay explained that the problem was to observe the Fraunhofer lines in the blue and in the violet regions of the spectrum of the sun.

To accomplish this, a spectrograph was set up in Greenwich with the necessary modifications. An image of the sun was formed by means of a fifteen inch reflector. The observations were postponed by wet weather, but the observers succeeded in examining the strength of the lines

How Arabs Keep Cool

Wear Heavy Clothes To Keep Out Sun's Heat

Ralph Linton of the Field Museum, Chicago, who arrived in London from a tour of Madagascar and was on his way to New York, said he was taking to the museum 4,000 specimens of Madagasy jewelry and 1500 of crossing a desert in the south of the island where the average temperature is 140 degrees and the only way to keep cool is to wear as many clothes as possible.

"It is an Arab custom," he explained. "Where the atmosphere was the dry for one to perspire I donned my thickest clothes and overcoat which kept out the heat it is extraordinary how people there live 20 miles from water yet obtain only moisture from a cactus plant and milk."

The primitive Madagascans made him a member of their Sorcerers' Union. "I didn't mind the initiation," said Mr. Linton. "It was merely a question of friendship and fees."

He is taking to the museum a sorcerers' hat beautifully made of brown wood and like an opera glass in size, containing dried brown beans.

"If you know the language of those pists a little bit of cryptal you have the secret of how to kill your enemies, retain or win love, etc., he explained.

The chief hardship of the journey was the extreme heat of Antarim. He heard a legend about man-eating trees, but did not find any and thought the natives must have meant fleas

He obtained the jewelry in a plague area, where suspects bathed the guards to be allowed to travel, that glutting the local market.

Describing stories of Polynesian influence in the island, I found them untrue," said Mr. Linton. "The basic culture is Indo-Asian and some Bantu words, but there was no trace of that Hindu culture which has been strong in Malay since before Christ, and the great trees of Western Indonesia was the refusal of some tribes to eat pig."

Named Instead Of Numbered

Locomotives in Britain Carry Names Of Noted People

Unlike American Britain runs to names instead of numbers as designations for its locomotives.

In place of numbers, the 20 1,000 horsepower electric locomotives to be placed in operation on the Metropolitan Railway are to be given names. The first locomotive is named "Pioneer ...lightingale." Other names chosen are William Penn, John Hampden, John Lyon, Dick Whittington, John Milton, Michael Faraday, Oliver Cromwell, Benjamin Disraeli, Sherlock Holmes, Charles Dickens, Sir Christopher Wren, Sir Ralph Verney, Lord Byron, Sir Francis Drake, Edmund Burke and John Wycliffe.

Locomotives also are named after England's kings, the largest British locomotive which has been on exhibition in America recently being named after the reigning king, George V.

Progress Of Aviation

Regular Air Transportation Routes To Be Established In Canada Soon

"We have expedited the development of rail transportation by all operations," S. A. Wilson, director of civil aviation told members of the Rotary Club at Ottawa. Mr. Wilson gave a rapid survey of the progress of aviation in Canada since the Armistice and some instances of the speed to which it has been put. One of the latter was the conveyance by air of 15 tons of drilling machinery and 12 men to Port Churchill on Hudson's Bay and which he called "just a day's work.

Regular transportation routes have not yet been established in Canada, but it is expected they will be before long. A few years will see a beginning in air transportation from big centres of population, said Mr. Wilson.

Memorial For Mothers

Jugo-Slavia Honors Those Who Gave Sons During War

It has been left to Jugo-Slavia to set aside a unique war memorial This is to the mothers who gave their sons during the war.

In British memorials have been raised to the navy, army, air force, Red Cross and even the T.M.C.A., but the mothers have been overlooked.

This sculpture is the work of Jugo-Slavia's greatest woman sculptor, Ivana Despic, and it is possible that it may be seen in London, included in an exhibition of the artist's work. She has stated to declare that the memorial is to be not merely for her country-women but for the mother of all lands.

Some Queer Customs

Fr. height of the shirt determines the amount of taxes paid in women of Andorra-la-Vella, Spain. A woman must pay only her ankles pays the minimum.

Kissing in public places and telegraphs are forbidden in Kansas.

Social Factors

Economic Losses From Unnecessary Illness and Health

After all, a health officer is but one man. Except in his own field as he is, the mere proclamation of his opinion must to guard the community's well-being and the payment of an annual salary does not endow him with the ability to perform miracles. It is not reasonable to select one man, put the task of public health entirely in his hands and expect him to accomplish it single handed.

His work can only be effective if it is carried on with the intelligent support of every member of the community. This involves education in the basic principles of health, in other words. It involves creating public opinion. Governments can not undertake this task. The duty of government is to follow public opinion, not to create it.

Public opinion must be created by the public itself, by the citizens banding themselves together to work for the general good—a voluntary organization. A voluntary organization, moreover, must undertake the work of health education.

To grasp the underlying principles affecting public health, it is necessary, if one is to get to the root of the matter, to tackle the problems which are affecting the race as a whole, the hid den causes which weaken it and undermine it. It is necessary to draw the attention of all Canada to these factors, educate them against them and teach them how they may be avoided or suppressed.

But this goes far beyond public health as the public understands it to-day. These factors are social, moral, physical, as well as social. Good housing improves the stamina of the race, long. A few years will see a beginning in air transportation from big centres of population, said Mr. Wilson.

Fourth Annual Convention

Trustees of Vermilion Inspectorate Hold Important Session—Prominent Educationalists Attended.

Need For Change In Educational System

In the twenty odd fairs held this fall under the direction of the staff of the Vermilion school of agriculture, 174 schools were represented and the number of exhibits totalled 117,617, stated W. J. Elliott, principal, in addressing the fourth annual convention of the Trustees' association of the Vermilion inspectorate here last week. In reviewing the splendid work done through these fairs in interesting children in farm work and farm life generally, the speaker mentioned the danger of pupils exhibiting products other than those which they themselves had produced, and that of pupils overlooking the co-operative side instead of the competitive. These dangers could only be met by the aid of the parents. The school fairs were not in competition with the public schools but rather supplementing the work done there.

Dealing with school matters in this province G. W. Gorman, chief inspector of schools, felt that we had about reached the limit and that we were due for a significant and fundamental change. All children did not have an equal opportunity; the rural schools could not be expected to do the work found in towns and cities. This discrimination should not exist — there should be more uniformity. Then there was the suggestion that all schools should be financed from one central fund which would provide for continuous schools and the payment of the teachers. A great many schools find it impossible to finance themselves which simply means that many children are going without an education. The matter of a proper appreciation of the schools was at present engaging the attention of the department heads and authorities. It was felt that the present system of inspection was inadequate and should be supplanted by some system which would bring the inspection in closer touch with the pupil and teacher. The adoption of such a system would mean that these supervisors would be moving regularly in and out of the class rooms with the idea of training the teachers and giving continuous attention and direction to the school work generally. They would also act to an advisory capacity to the trustees. As the rural areas there should be a common interest developed under which the supervisors could operate. The system would give encouragement to both the pupil and the teacher. There was the human element which is absent in the present system of inspection. The high school question was still a serious one. Gradually secondary education was being extended to those who best afford it. But even towns and cities were reaching the limit of their accomodations and this need not provide for pupils from the rural districts. They did not feel justified in taking on additional capital expenditure to meet the requirements of country children in the matter of higher education. One solution was the creation of larger areas for high school work; located at the city, the area should be the municipality; or some such larger unit. The responsibility of providing high school education in the rural districts should not be attached to the rural schools; they should be created over larger areas and in the hands of special boards elected for that purpose, or made up of representatives from the various local boards in that territory. The rural schools were limited in their resources and perhaps this difficulty could be overcome by making the school tax uniform over the whole province. Mr. Gorman had no faith in the teaching of higher grades in the rural schools after Grade IX. They

Mr. A. L. Horton, Vegreville addressed the convention briefly on the program for the coming Trustees' convention at Edmonton in February.

Mr. H. R. Parker, inspector for the district, who followed took another view of the problem. Theories in education had been advanced from time immemorial and we were still groping along pretty much in the old-fashioned way. Theorists were endeavoring to make the path of knowledge easy and pleasant, but the real truth of the matter is that there was no royal road to learning. There was in any event too much distraction in our schools. Inspections show that in early fall teachers and pupils are getting ready for the hallowe'en concert and dance; then comes the Christmas activities and entertainments, then the raising day greetings followed by the Easter breaks, after which there was some cramming, resulting in many a failure and censures of trustees and teachers alike. The fault with many of our highly thought out systems of education is that the child is regarded as a man. There is a touch work in nature and agriculture alone to engage the time and attention of a child from the time it is 7 until it reaches 17. Boys and girls from cities are sent out to learn agriculture in our schools when they do not know a head of wheat from one of oats, or a heifer from a steer. We should first get back to simpler and saner systems of education. The underlying idea should be to fit the child for the pursuit for which he best suited. It should gain its knowledge from books and then decide for itself.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were as follows:

Trustees: President — Hon. Perrin Baker, Minister of Education;
President — Norman McClellan;
1st Vice-Pres. — J. W. G. Morrison;
2nd Vice-Pres. — Mrs. Jas. A. Jones;
Directors: Rural, P. T. Enst, H. A. Searle and L. J. Greene; Town, H. P. Long; Village, W. H. Hamilton.

Mr. Morrison was named secretary at a meeting of the directors held after the close of the convention.

MOTORISTS WARNED AGAINST DANGER OF CARBON MONOXIDE POISONING

The season is under way when motorists cannot afford to be indifferent to the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning, which increase enormously with the coming of cold weather. This warning is sounded by Charles H. Grant, K.C., president of the Alberta Motor Association, who points out that while every pound brings knowledge of this danger in car owners, the death toll from motorists poisoning increases annually.

"Carbon Monoxide is a subtle enemy," says Mr. Grant. "It strikes without warning. This gas, which is generated in the combustion process within the automobile engine, is colorless and odorless. But this does not mean that the motorist need be unaware of its presence. He should know that the only certain way to prevent a tragedy is to avoid the slightest contact with this ever-present danger of winter motoring."

fumes mix with a greater quantity of air and consequently their effect is not serious.

"The small private garage is the scene of many tragic effects of this poisoning. In the convential sized garage of this type the engine running three minutes will generate enough carbon monoxide to kill. Because of this the car owner should exercise extraordinary precautions a gained running the engine with the garage doors closed. Even the warming-up process should be completed in the open air.

"The person who has been overcome by this poison in some cases may be revived if removed to the open air, and if artificial respiration methods are applied immediately. But this, in most cases, is inadequate. The only certain way to prevent a tragedy is to avoid the slightest contact with this ever-present danger of winter motoring."

The NEW CAR

INTRODUCING A FINE CAR IN THE LIGHT CAR FIELD

THE entirely new car surpasses the accepted standards of light car accomplishment; sweeps aside all boundaries of price class; establishes a new standard of acceleration, speed, power and smoothness. Henceforth the following characteristics here been combined only in expensive cars.

Speed—lower than a mile a minute.

Acceleration—0 to 25 miles per hour in high gear in 8.5 seconds.

Endurance—this car will travel all day at 50 miles per hour without strain on motor or chassis.

Riding comfort—flexible springs and four hydraulic shock absorbers permit comfortable travel at high speed over the roughest roads.

Roadability—this car's low center of gravity holds it snugly to the road on an unbanked turn even at high speed.

Power—in deep, loose sand with the front wheels cramped and from a dead stop, the car will turn in a tight circle, forward or reverse, without effort.

Effective braking—the instant response of mechanical, four-wheel brakes with dual control ensures positive braking for any emergency.

Positive steering control—A relaxed hand on the steering wheel will hold the car steady in loose sand and over bumpy roads. Turning radius 17 ft.

Economy—30 miles per gallon of gasoline, plus the well known economics of Ford car maintenance.

Appearance—such work of pleasing proportions, tastefully finished in an extensive range of color combinations of durable satin lacquer.

Quietness—Vibration in the engine is practically negligible. New No. 1 drive is exceptionally quiet. Double-ply anti-squeak tape, asphaltum crested fabric and hardwood blocks between body and frame minimize body noise.

Engine—At 2200 revolutions per minute the new 4-cue cylinder engine develops 40 H. P. This revolution speed is low for such power and sets an entirely new standard for light car speed and acceleration, endoring quality and operating economy.

Engine lubrication—Combination of pump, splash and gravity feed thoroughly lubricates all frictional surfaces regardless of road grades.

Cooling system—Combination water pump and Ford thermo-syphon system doubly insures ample radiation. Engine warms up quickly but will not overheat.

Electrical system—The new Ford designed distributor is placed on top of engine permitting direct connection to spark plugs by means of short bronze bands. The single coil is protected by a waterproof case. Co-lacidental lock in ignition circuit is theft proof. The powerful starting motor and dependable generator are both of Ford design.

Clutch and transmission—Patterned after the famous Lincoln, these units give an operating ease never before found in moderate priced cars. The nine plate multiple dry disc clutch and the selective sliding gear type designed to make shifting of gears remarkably easy and simple. Gearway, unexcelled by any car made today, is just one of the many advantages. Three speeds forward and one reverse. All gears are made of heat-treated chrome alloy steel. The only light car in which transmission shafts are mounted on ball and roller bearings.

Rear Axle—The axle shaft itself carries no weight as the ¾ floating principle places the weight of the car on the axle housing. Flexible roller bearings minimize rear wheel friction. A Torque Tube drive and spiral bevel gear are additional features.

Springs—Transverse semi-elliptic design. Relieved of all driving strain, they perform the sole function of cushioning road shocks. The transverse type of spring helps to prevent a large amount of frame distortion, makes four-wheel brake operation more efficient, gives easier steering and reduces unsprung weight.

Chassis lubrication—Alemite-Zerk pressure system.

Methods Used By Travellers To Determine General Direction Both By Day And By Night

When travelling in unfamiliar country, it often becomes necessary to determine direction. Most people are able in a general sort of way to do so by the daytime by means of the sun. It is seldom, or at night speaking more particularly of the northern hemisphere, that a cloud of the earth.

Some people seem to possess the faculty of telling directions, regardless of the sun with a remarkable degree of accuracy. To those who have only to do the daytime by means of the sun by means of knowing the relative position of the sun at the various hours of the day. D. M. Mills has been re-elected president of the Pas Dog Derby and Winter Carnival Association, and he and his committee will endeavor to have another race for the derby from both Canadian and American districts.

A substantial purse of $1 dollars is offered for the championship race of 250 miles a day for commercial teams, the highest prize for the fastest time, and prospects are that there will be a dozen of the best teams entered.

The entries from Northern Manitoba, the mushing districts in eastern Ontario and Minnesota, having entered for the derby in New Hampshire, Quebec and Montreal. The entries are Emil St. Goddard, Leo St. Goddard, "Scotty" Johnson, Earl Le Jeune, and Harry Lee, who have been actively training their teams for the event.

Preparing For Dog Derby

Annual Race At The Pas Will Be Held In March.

Preparations for the 1928 The Pas dog derby, a 120-mile event which attracts international attention, now are under way and "mushers" of the north country, many of whom have gained victories in the United States and Canada, are preparing their teams for the annual training period which precedes the running of the northland classic.

The derby, held in conjunction with the Pas winter carnival, will be held in March 13 to 15, inclusive, 60 miles a day being travelled by the racers over a route on the Saskatchewan River.

Aviator Byrd Once Retired From U.S. Navy As Cripple

That Commander Richard Byrd, polar and trans-Atlantic aviator, was once retired from the U.S. Navy as a useless cripple is a new light thrown upon the still youthful flyer by Commander Pitabugh Green, his close friend, writing in the American Magazine.

Just before he received his diploma at Annapolis Byrd sustained an accident in the gymnasium, one bone in his foot being broken and a tendon stretched. The injury healed and he passed the graduation physical examination in 1912. Soon afterward he was given active duty at sea, but in the midst of gunnery competition one spring the medical examining board, digging up his old papers, decided that the injury of years before made him unfit for service and he was retired on a pension.

Unwilling to abide by the decision, however, Byrd succeeded in getting himself restored to service on a second physical in 1916. Since that time he has never been off active duty, has flown to the North Pole, across the Atlantic and has been decorated by a naval force and has been cited twenty-one times for extraordinary heroism and valor. His citations are for saving two lives in 1914; decoration by the Portuguese government for the invention of air navigation instruments in 1921; commendation from the British Royal Navy and Air Ministry and numerous distinctions conferred by both the army and navy of the United States.

Warm Year in Far North

Northwest Passage Open This Year Which Is Unusual

The Northwest Passage through Franklin Straits and Peel Sound, was open this year, according to Bishop I. O. Stringer, Bishop of the Yukon, who, with Mrs. Stringer, reached Vancouver on route to Toronto to spend the winter.

Bishop Stringer, accompanied by his wife, left for the far North by way of Edmonton last June, travelling down the Mackenzie River by gasoline schooner and visited Aklavik, Baillie-Island, Bernard Harbor, on Coronation Gulf and Cambridge Bay on Victoria Island.

The summer was a particularly open one and seamen stated that the Northwest Passage through Franklin Straits and Peel Sound was open this year, Bishop Stringer declared. Unfortunately there was no one to make the trip.

The Eskimos estimated it would be at least another ten years before a similar opportunity occurs to make this trip.

Schoolgirl Was Generous

Scholarships she won were given away by a Welsh schoolgirl to school fellows who were in less fortunate circumstances than herself. The girl at least qualified ten years before a similar opportunity occurs to make this trip.

Jack—"How did you come to marry a girl you didn't particularly care for?"

Tom (gloomily)—"I attribute it to the fact that she wanted me worse than I didn't want her."

Oat Straw For Steers

Shown That Steers Can Be Profitably Fed On Oat Straw

Tests to determine the feeding value of different roughages for steers have been made at the Scott, Saskatchewan, Experimental Station. The steers used in the experiment were divided into four lots, one lot receiving only straw as a roughage and the others oat straw with prairie wool, western rye grass hay and oat sheaves. The amount of meal fed to each lot was the same and consisted of a mixture of oats and barley with 2.9 per cent. oil cake meal. The lot fed oat straw without other roughage gave a considerable higher profit than the other lots. The lot fed Western rye grass in conjunction with oat straw gave the greatest returns. The experiment, which has now been carried on for two years, shows that steers can be profitably fed on oat straw provided a good grain ration is used. It is an important fact for a farmer who has an abundance of good oat straw that he does not need prairie wool, western rye or oat sheaves to feed in connection with it.

Youngest Chancellor

Rev. Dr. J. A. O'Reilly, whose appointment as administrator of St. Mary's pro-cathedral at Hamilton, Ont., makes him, it is said, the youngest chancellor of any Roman Catholic diocese in Canada.

Improving Feeding Value Of Hay

Mixtures Of Sweet Clover and Western Rye Grass Give Good Results

Sweet clover and western rye grass have given satisfactory results when grown in combination at the Scott, Saskatchewan, Experimental Station. The mixture improves the feeding value of the hay. A good aftermath, especially of sweet clover, is always secured from the first crop after seeding. Sweet clover, however, does not appear in the second crop except where the seed failed to germinate in the first year. It has been objected that the sweet clover often matures earlier than the rye grass. On the other hand it cures more easily when mixed with rye grass than when grown alone.

A Test Of Endurance

Several Motor Cyclists Have Scaled Scotland's Highest Mountain

Ending up Ben Nevis, Scotland's highest mountain, has become a popular test of endurance with motor cyclists. The feat has been accomplished several times, and a few days ago a Midlothian cyclist reached the summit under adverse weather conditions in 2 hours and 5 minutes. Heavy rain fell, and about halfway a driving mist was encountered. About 200 feet from the summit snow added to the difficulties, and on the mountain top it lay in a depth of nearly two feet.

Government Sending Patrol To Northern Area Set Aside As Sanctuary For Musk-Ox

Policing Western Provinces

Negotiations Under Way With Object Of Turning Over Enforcement To R.C.M.P.

Negotiations are under way between the three prairie provinces and the federal department of justice which have, as their objective, turning over the enforcement of provincial laws to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Announcement to this effect was made by the department of justice. The officials stated that all three prairie provinces were involved, but that Saskatchewan was pressing much harder than either Manitoba or Alberta.

At the present time all three provinces have their own provincial forces, which enforce provincial statutes. The federal Government also keeps detachments of the R.C.M.P. in the provinces to enforce Dominion statutes, thus resulting in duplication in police service, which the provinces would now avoid.

Two years ago the R.C.M.P. did police work for both federal and provincial governments in Saskatchewan. The provincial government made a cash payment annually in return for services rendered. In the event of an agreement being reached in the present negotiations, the provinces would be expected to recompense the federal government for the additional work involved.

Officials stated that the negotiations had not progressed to the point that it was, as yet, impossible to say if an agreement would be reached.

Willing To Experiment

New Zealand Is Foremost Country in the World To Do So

New Zealand, growing Dominion of the Pacific was revealed as a place to try things long by Walter Nash, head of his national group at the Honolulu conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations. Mr. Nash is secretary of the New Zealand Labor Party. He said:

"New Zealand has in the past been a country of experiments.

"It was one of the first countries to adopt old age pensions.

"It was the first country to grant full electoral rights to women.

It has a State Advances Department from which money is advanced at practically cost price to farmers for productive purposes, and to workers for home building.

"It operates two State coal mines, and runs all the railway systems. Industrial conciliation and arbitration is in force.

"It was the first country to grant a universal old age pension.

"It has the most complete system of land settlement in the world.

Salesman For Face Cream Learns a Good Lesson

Mr. Vandaler, New York, wrote: "I was a salesman of creams for facial purposes, hairtonics, etc., but when my face broke out with blackheads and blemishes I tried every kind of cream to remove them. Failed completely. I was discouraged and disgusted with myself. Then I got a free sample of CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS and I was astounded and tickled pink. After using a few vials my complexion was clear as a bell. Now I am a booster for Carter's Little Liver Pills and I recommend them to all my friends."

President Telford Re-elected

Affairs of Agriculture Society Prosperous

The financial report of the Vermilion agricultural society as presented at the annual meeting held on Saturday showed that last year its total receipts amounted to $13,173.00 and that the year ended with a balance to credit of approximately $2000.00. There were $4800.00 paid out in prize, while $900.00 was paid out in prizes at the poultry show held last winter and $250.00 at the plowing match held in June. Fair attendance total 21200.00. The receipts were higher than in any previous year.

Improvements amounting to about $1200.00 were made to the exhibition grounds, chief among which was the enlargement and completion of the horse barn. The building was renovated and placed on cement foundation while two sheds were added on either side. A large dining hall was erected, the material for which was supplied by the school fairs association, the exhibition society doing the work. The platform was doubled in size and the baseball diamond removed closer to the grandstand. It was announced that the society had paid 32 per cent of the moneys subscribed towards the erection of the grandstand, making total payments to date of seventy per cent. The stand was erected three years ago. If conditions are favorable the balance will be paid off next year. The reports submitted by the judges showed that 4 out of 5 gave the maximum number of points for management of fair.

The officers elected were as follows —Hon. President, Hon. R. G. Reid; President, Wm. Telford (re-elected); 1st vice-president, A. W. Ebbett (re-elected); 2nd vice-president, Wm. Reed (re-elected); Directors: Archie Campbell, A. H. Green, J.W.G. Mercham, Jas. Barr, W. P. Daley, John Bryden, J. S. Cross, J. C. Tucker, N. McInnes, J. F. Andrews, N. McClellan, W. D. Williams, W. H. Duncan, A. T. Law, S. C. Stedbent, and W. Lyle Robinson.

At a meeting of the directors held after the general meeting, W. E Sutton was appointed secretary-treasurer and M G. Brimacombe, auditor.

Dunmore, of Claymore Gains Publicity As Well As the Money

Two baby beef cattle owned by C. C. Dunmore, Claymore, shipped to Winnipeg and handled there by United Livestock Growers brought the handsome figure of 17c per pound. These young heroes were eight months old on December 10th and weighed about 800 pounds each.

Following is a telegram received by Wm. Young, manager of the Alexandra Co-operative Livestock Marketing Association, Ltd., town, from the U. L. G.:

"One roan baby beef steer, 1 roan baby beef heifer 1 to 15. Want to give owner a little publicity. Wire us some information about these two cattle. Any beer feed—do they happen to be twin calves?"

Mr. Young is procuring the information and will forward it to the U. L. G.

Canada's Next Objective

The title to this article was the subject of a constructive address by Brig.-General C. H. Mitchell, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, before the second annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce held recently at Vancouver. Some portion of that address ran, we feel, be pasted in with advantage to the readers of this paper. General Mitchell said, in part:

The National Publics of Confederation sees Canada entering upon a period of its greatest expansion. It now stands united in an effort to improve its position as a nation within itself, and in an ambition to make a place for itself among the nations of the world. It already has an assured place among those nations through the great part which it took in the late war. It has consolidated its position after the war by quiet, persevering effort, and has steadied down to the solid things which can build up a country. It is now ready for and is developing a progressive spirit and the best ideals of citizenship.

Canada has stock in the agricultural product. It has wealths of forest, mineral and water power resources. Its geographical and its topographical features form a most valuable basis for industrial development. It has practically all the fish on the great oceans of the world, and it has a waterway in the heart of the country. It occupies half of North America, in fit the centre of the globe. The British Empire lies between the East and the West and it will be between Europe and Asia via America. It has great transcontinental railways and fleets of inland shipping. And along with this favorable position and its unsurpassed natural resources, it has human resources of unrivalled industrious, law abiding people of solid character and high ideals. Our natural wealth lies in our potential assets and in the development and use of those resources. What has been made may unquestionably be the past story years, but ours is a country of the future, and we in Canada are the trustees of those great assets for those who are to come after us.

With all those resources and all their particular lines, what then is our next objective? We are bound to progress along some road and in some direction. That road must be toward increased prosperity. That direction must be the raise and betterment of the people. We must become among our natural resources. The objective for our efforts in Canada's next period of expansion lie on the high ground before us which will place our nation with a maker position and with greater superiority in the markets of the continent, of the Empire and of the world.

To develop these resources, to supply the needs of the different parts of our own country and to trade with the world, we must:—

1. Have what resources we have in stock.

2. Are to what our resources are the best outlet; to ourselves—the internal trade of the Dominion—the Mother Country and overseas Dominions for the export trade of the world.

3. Develop to what resources we are fitted to enter into competition, and with what relative success.

4. Develop in those new industries and trades from these resources in which we are predominant or which are peculiar to Canada.

5. Create a demand for our products: (a) provincially, (b) nationally, and (c) internationally.

6. Conduct a systematic publicity in all possible markets for those products to which we can readily compete.

To further develop the markets of these great Canadian natural resources in the first duty of every citizen of every community and of every province. The problems involved in such further development are many and varied. New problems arise and old ones recur in new forms. Changed conditions bring different problems because based on from new angles.

General Mitchell presented to successive some timely problems awaiting a settlement and immediate solution, the commercial success of which, he contended, will depend much of the future and future value of our natural resources. Included in this list is improvement of our Great Lakes routes to ocean navigation, the development of the Great Northwest trail in wheat; cheap and effective transportation of our basic products by water as well as by rail; the economic preparation of low grade coals, such as lignite, for commercial use, reducing the distance between producer and consumer; elimination of the waste from the soil of certain of the western agricultural areas and protection of limestone from attack; development of the pottery and ceramic industry from our vast deposits of clay; the use of the waste stone of our many agricultural areas for fuel or other purposes.

These are some of the things which we must not overlook to gain, as a nation to complete, short campaign. We must unite our Human Resources in order to develop our Natural Resources.

It is our national duty at this time to look forward with confidence and resolution and to attack these and other problems with all our energy and skill, with a pride in Canada and the Empire, and with firm faith in its future.

Road To Flin Flon Area

Construction Work Will Proceed With All Possible Haste

Preparations for the construction of the railway into the Flin Flon mining area of Northern Manitoba, which will open the way for a $30,000,000 development of mineral resources in that remote country, already are under way, following the letting of the contract. Supplies and equipment are being concentrated for shipment to The Pas, which is 75 miles southeast of the Flin Flon property and within a short time 600 men will commence the preliminary work of road making and this number will be increased to 2,000 or more as the work progresses up to mid-winter next.

The first training of equipment to be used on the Flin Flon railway is in Montreal to-night, and this will be followed by additional loads within a few days by spring collapse of road.

Here's worth of construction material and an army of workers will have been assembled in the north country.

Very soon the sound of the hammer will have broken the silence of the north, the first work being the construction of between 70 and 80 miles of road to the mine. Contingent of workers. The western miner himself will be called on to supply all the men to be employed on the project, and no workers will be brought in from Manitoba or Ontario.

Under the contract, trains must be running between Thomson, near The Pas, and the Flin Flon mine, by December, 1928. The construction of the road involves an estimated expenditure of $4,000,000.

Increase in Egg Shipments

200 Carloads Of Eggs Shipped From B.C. To Prairies and Eastern Provinces

Egg exports from British Columbia are breaking all records this year, according to figures collected by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. Altogether 200 carloads of eggs will be shipped to prairie and Eastern Canada markets, during the year.

Last year 100 cars were shipped out of British Columbia. The present year is regarded as much more satisfactory for the poultry industry than 1926, and figures for total poultry production will show a substantial gain, it is believed.

The average man pays a greater value upon a favor he bestows than upon one he receives.

VOTE ON SCHOOL BY-LAW.

Friday, January 6th, 1928 has been set as the day on which a vote will be taken for and against the By-law passed by the Vermilion Centre school district board of trustees, wherein it is proposed to raise by way of debenture issue the sum of $52,000 for the purpose of erecting and completing a four-room building of solid brick with full concrete basement for high school purposes.

SOLVING OUR EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS.

Our present educational system has come in for some hard knocks within the past two or three years. Not least of these is the criticism that our system does not meet the economic conditions of the day — in other words that in many respects it has become antiquated. This view has been advanced by outstanding authorities. All these things point to an approaching change. Why not a readjustment of the teaching hours under a system which, say, gives any school double room accommodation? Watch for the article in next week's paper.

THE GOODWILL BROTHERS ARE FOUND NOT GUILTY

Crown Fails To Establish Case of Theft Against Clandonald Farmers

A case that aroused considerable local interest was tried before His Honor Judge Morrison in the district court here on Tuesday. This was the criminal charge laid against Sherwood Goodwill and Ronald Goodwill, brothers, who reside on a farm about 10 miles north of Vermilion. They are Clandonald colonists. The charge was that they had stolen a calf, the property of Harry Palmer. The latter was a neighbor who had shot the calf by accident. There were a number of witnesses heard, the trial occupying the forenoon and part of the afternoon. In summing up the Judge noted some curious features in connection with the case. It appeared that on the whole the Crown had failed to establish a case of theft and that he found the accused not guilty.

A. H. Gibson appeared for the Crown and J. W. G. Morrison for the accused.

MELBERTA ROUTES

Regular meeting of the council of M. D. of Melberta No. 653 was held in the municipal office, Manville, Monday, December 5th. All the councillors present with Reeve Scott in the chair.

Minutes of the proceeding meeting were read and approved.

Mr. E. E. Telford wrote the council asking for more gravel for his division which he had it on the road last summer. When he hired the tractor, he understood that the district furnished the gas and oil. Mr. Telford was not allowed anything more as the councillor for that division said Mr. Telford fully understood at the time that he has to furnish the gas and oil.

Remuneration for councillors' indemnity was fixed at $6.00 per for Reeve and $4.00 for the councillors per day for attending meetings; and for overseeing $4.00 per day and mileage of 10c each way in both cases.

The 1927 Wild Land Tax on W½ 25-51-7-4 was ordered cancelled as the land has 100 acres broken on it this year.

Division four was given an additional appointment of $400 to cover over-expenditure.

Mr. Osmolenzan was given three months' leave of absence commencing January, if he found it necessary to be away.

In connection with the Clark road, Mr. McCallum reported that he found it impossible to do any brushing this fall, owing to the bad weather.

Meeting adjourned.

HEAR ABOUT YOUR NEW!

TO BE READ ONLY BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Young people who attended the boy's social evening a few weeks ago in the Rectory of St. Saviour's, were warned to keep "their eyes skinned" for future announcements — Be WATCH OUT for Three Star Nights at the Columbia Theatre. They are December 16, 17 and 20 — for three days following Xmas day the proprietor of the theatre, Mr. Pfahl, has offered to 20 per cent of the entire proceeds of all three nights for the benefit of inaugurating a financial working basis for a Young People's Society.

Remember now you want some social evenings later on in the winter, so now's your chance to help us get finance to enjoy ourselves later on. Therefore don't book those nights for other pleasures — but advertise them as being set apart for our special efforts to fill the theatre three times over, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday following Xmas.

The picture chosen for display on these three nights features the most wonderfully trained dog-actor, Rin-Tin-Tin, in "Tracked by the Police." If you have seen Rin-Tin-Tin once, you will not miss this opportunity to witness his most recent and sensational filming in "Tracked by the Police"—a picture that is clean-cut, clean, and wonderful from first to last.

To add to the enjoyment of witnessing such a splendid show, there are also to be further special attractions on these three nights. To the person found sitting on the lucky numbered seat each night there is to a special prize. Someone will win a 5lb box of chocolates, and a 10lb box and-Wow! do you want to see it? There go to Manager Pfahl's office and have a look at the 25lb box of chocolates. Carried by two persons on to the stage this immense box of chocolates will be presented to the person in one of the lucky seats. A trustful of other splendid articles will give several people surprises and lie worth the theatre. Come along and bring your adult friends who were not meant to read this

CAPTAIN DANCEY IS VERMILION SPEAKER

Profitably Discusses the Need of Conditioning Canada

Great interest was manifested last Thursday in the able, instructive and convincing address given here by Capt. W. R. Dancey under the auspices of the local lodge of Elks. Capt. Dancey addressed the public and high schools in the forenoon, the board of trade at the noonday lunch, and later sat at a special gathering in the Lodge hall in the afternoon and a concluding meeting in the evening in the Community club hall. All the addresses were remarkably well attended.

Capt. Dancey stressed the need of a greater community spirit. People should forget their petty grievances, their parochial attitudes and broaden out in doing and working for whatever was deemed best in the interests of the community at large. There was no room for the small town man but there was plenty of latitude for the man big enough to put his shoulder to the wheel in assisting every movement for the good of the people as a whole. The program he particularly emphasized was the need of Canadianizing Canada, making it a big country and one of which every citizen would be proud. New immigrants should be taught to respect the land of their adoption and revere the British flag.

There were, he said, twelve million Canadians south of the border line. Seventy per cent. of our university trained men were there; 69 per cent. of the boys who fought for Canada in the world war had drifted south. This was a condition that should not have been permitted; it would not have happened if Canada offered the same inducements as does that country in the way of higher wages and better opportunities. We had the necessary potentialities in the country and we should make the best use of them for our own people. He criticised somewhat sharply the business man who came to a town, took every cent he could get out of it and gave as little as he could back. That man was of no use to a community, much less was the man who always complained about the condition of things in Canada—the some-he got out the better. Get behind your boards of trade, behind your service clubs, behind your church movements and you will build up a live, progressive community

SCHOOL OF DANCING HOUSE AT HARY LAKE ReADED IN COURT

Both Accused and Complainant Remanded for Trial on Assault Charges

The scheme of a midnight "rough house" at Mary Lake were heard in the district court on Tuesday when Carl Strauman and John Antonio, both shouted to be tried on that count on practically identical charges arising out of the same set of circumstances. The preliminary hearing of the charges of assault laid by Strauman against Antonio was heard before Justice Hicks at Clandonald, when Justice Common heard that of Antonio against Strauman at Vermilion on Tuesday evening. Antonio complains that Strauman beat him up pretty badly, breaking two of his ribs, choking him and otherwise using him up such that he had to remain in bed for about a week. Strauman on the other hand says that Antonio bombarded him with a loaded rifle, threatening to shoot him "like a dog" if he ever dared to move. It was while Strauman was endeavoring to secure the rifle that the assault which Antonio complains of is alleged to have taken place Both cases will be heard in January

There will be a Concert and Dance at Deer Lake school on Friday evening, Dec. 23rd. Everybody come and have a good time. There will be 5 three hour programme. 20-2c

Canada, the Land of Opportunity

As the year of Canada's Diamond Jubilee draws to a close it is gratifying and inspiring to recall the widespread interest which everything pertaining to Canada now arouses throughout the world, and more particularly in the Empire and the United States. Never before in its history did the Dominion receive more or better publicity than it has enjoyed this year People in other lands are beginning to get a true conception of Canada and its great possibilities, and possibly nothing is better calculated to spread such knowledge in influential British circles than the decision of The Financial Times, London, to bring the largest circulation of any financial journal in the world, to issue a special 40 page supplement on Canada during the next three years

In an editorial introduction to the first of these supplements, The Financial Times recalling Sir Wilfrid Laurier's statement: The nineteenth century was the century of the United States, the twentieth century will be Canada's century, declares that Sir Wilfrid was no mere visionary, as events have proved it could. Unquestionably the nineteenth century was the century of the United States for America's growth in population, enterprise and wealth was without prior parallel in the world's history. But the nation of Canada's progress in the twentieth century will surely equalled in any equivalent period of America's nineteenth century expansion. In the past two decades Canada's expansion in all material respects has been prodigious, astounding," writes the manager of the Times in a signed article, making a full page review of the resources and development of Canada from the beginning of the country to the present day.

The value of Canada's manufactures was about trebled in 25 years, and was the total capital invested in manufacturing industries was about trebled in the period of 1910 to 1926 amounting to $2,523,000,000.

The value of the mineral output increased about eight fold between 1900 and 1926, the ratio of value per capita of mineral production being $13.71 in 1926 as against $2.64 in 1900.

Thanks largely to the rapid development of the pulp and paper industry, there was more than a sevenfold increase in the export of forest products.

There was a 50 per cent increase in the cultivated field of the Dominion. The value of farm property showed a tenfold increase to $12,000,000,000. Much the largest settlement has been reached there are still remain limitless tracts of land south of Regina suited for profitable cultivation.

Steam railway mileage rose from 21,933 to 40,352, no other country, the Times declares, Canada included, has made such progress as to parallel this.

Electric railway mileage rose from 133 to 1,261. There are 9,000 miles of railway construction in connection with an approved capital liability of $125,000,000.

The tonnage of goods handled by Canada's railways increased from 66,000,000 tons in 1900 to 260,000,000 tons in 1926, a number more than double Canada's population.

The number of vessels entered and cleared at Canadian ports increased from 7,000 in 1900 to 20,000 in 1926, the total tonnage of these vessels rising from 7,000,000 to 40,000,000.

The number of immigrants entering Canada rose from 41,000 in 1900 to 135,000 in 1926, the total number of immigrants who have entered Canada since 1900 being 4,000,000.

The number of persons employed in Canada's factories increased from 339,000 in 1900 to 1,000,000 in 1926.

Services Of Red Cross Society At Ports Of Entry Is Invaluable

One of the inspiring bits of work carried on by the Canadian Red Cross is being done in all the harbors only to those living in the seaport cities — Quebec, St. John and Halifax. At the nurseries in these three centres, several women and children are welcomed, warmed fed and cheered after their long ocean voyage and sent on their way rejoicing to their new homes. Sometimes the adventurer has come to meet a prospective husband, and to go with him to a home on the prairie. Lacking the appropriate bridal outfit, Red Cross Legend endeavours and until the Red Cross workers come to the rescue provides the things needful and arranges the marriage.

One of the most appreciated services is the serving of tea to each woman when she arrives. Every cup is a new brew, and in the months from February to October, at least 15,000 cups are served in the three ports.

Conspicuous among the occupied territory workers is Mrs. D. J. McMillan, wife of the Red Cross Seaport Nurseries Committee at Halifax, who is at present in Toronto for the annual meeting of the Central Council, Canadian Red Cross.

At Halifax, from February to October, 6,629 women arrived, 6,629 were landed, 4,629 were taken to 5,345 children and 284 infants received assistance of some sort. At St. John, 2,000 women, 2,716 children, and 225 infants were welcomed, and at Quebec, 6,182 women, 9,741 children, and 907 infants. Five hundred and fifty-two medical treatments were given.

CONSTIPATED CHILDREN

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of childhood and the child suffering from it positively cannot thrive. To keep little ones well the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. To this end nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative, are pleasant to take, and can be given to the newborn babe with perfect safety. Those made of mothers use no other medicine for the little ones' baby's own Tablets. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

Technical Service Council Aims To Keep Trained Canadians At Home

With the object of keeping technically trained men in Canada, the Technical Service Council has been organized and is said to be in a strong condition During the past few many such men have left this country for the United States, and it is high time that something was done to stop the exodus. Canada needs these men, and will need them in increasing numbers when the development period opens in earnest, as it is bound to do before long. In the expansion of mining and of industry, men with technical knowledge are essential if the most is to be made of opportunity.

While many technically trained Canadians have left Canada upon graduation, the great majority were forced to do so by circumstances. They would have liked to remain in Canada, but there were no positions for them. If they wished to continue in their profession they had to go. They went, and Canada was the poorer for their going.

The Technical Service Council is endeavoring to keep expert Canadians at home, and deserves the support of all true Canadians. It plans to work in a practical way by placing grad uates in positions when they graduate This really is the only way to keep ambitious young men at home. It does no good to appeal merely to their patriotism. These young men are just as patriotic as those who urge them to stay in the land of their birth. When the flag is all right, but this process will not keep the wolf from the door or satisfy one's ambitions. These young men went not because they were unpatriotic, but because they wanted to get on in the world. And they have got on and have helped to build up a foreign country. Canada needs these men of ambition, of vision, of training. Therefore, the effort of the Technical Service Council, by providing them with what they trained to secure jobs—is a notable one

Prosperous Farmers

The prosperous condition of Western Canadian farmers following the harvesting of the great wheat crop and satisfactory prices prevailing for other farm products, is reflected in the number of automobile bookings for passage to England for the Christmas season. Captivating Our Winters

"The finest crop in the west best crop in that of wheat in the Canadian West," said C. B. Foster, passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Alberta registered an increase of 437 filings over the 1926 period, and new homesteads taken out in the ten months accounted for the occupation of more than 800,000 acres of land.

Bank of Montreal Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal brought to a close a year in which the Bank had enjoyed almost record growth.

Sir Vincent Meredith, President, and Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, General Manager, in their addresses, stressed the rapid strides that Canada was making but struck a warning note against possible over-speculation. Sir Vincent Meredith in his address, said in part:

Trade conditions in Canada during the year have been active, and while there is still keen competition in many lines, Eastern Alberta generally shows satisfactory profits. Manifold evidence supports this statement. Bank deposits, bank clearings, bank deposits, car loadings, railway gross earnings, imports, note circulation and lower mercantile mortality all reveal that the tide of business has risen during the year.

Speaking generally, manufacturing industries thrive; textile mills are fully employed; iron and steel operations continue in face strong competition from abroad, as an increasing volume of imports attests; the lumber trade shows a slight improvement; newsprint output increases; production of footwear is largest and the industry is in better state; the manufacture of motor cars has slightly diminished, but in the first nine months of the year 161,543 cars were turned out, having a value of $106,000,000, or practically the same as in the like period of last year, though the number of cars was 700 less.

If one no remote why an abatement of confidence in the continuance of these prosperous conditions need be apprehended.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, in addressing the shareholders, said in part:

In two fundamental respects, earning power and liquid strength of resources, our position continues highly satisfactory. Never have we been better prepared to cope for all the normal needs of the public and to meet any business or financial exigency.

I have referred to the past year as the most expansive in the country's commercial history. That Canadians have experienced a greater degree of individual prosperity than ever before is, I think, undisputed. The high general level of employment, and the enhanced spending power of the people, are attributable to a succession of good harvests and to a great broadening of the basis of production. Until a few years ago Canada was best known abroad as an agricultural country, and outside capital sought investment here chiefly in government and municipal issues and in railway building to provide transportation for an ever-increasing agricultural area. To-day most of the largely increased capital coming to us for investment is for industrial development, it is now fully recognized that Canada has the natural resources for the building up of a vast variety of industrial activities, and is fitted by the character and spirit of her population to take an increasingly important place among the industrial nations of the world.

In an illustrated lecture by Dr. A. H. Ami, President of the Ottawa Centre Royal Astronomical Society of Canada recently advocated. Dr. Ami related to the need of the practical generation acquiring a knowledge of astronomy.

Dr. Ami lectured on the total eclipse of the sun as witnessed by him in England last June. He asserted astronomy went hand in hand with industry, and for that reason young Canadians should have a sound foundation for their work in later years.

Dr. Ami said some inducement should be extended to Canadian students as they would not need to seek more remunerative positions abroad.

ALBERTA BOYS' PARLIAMENT TO MEET IN CALGARY

During Christmas week sixty-five representative boys from all parts of the province will assemble at the city hall in Calgary for the session of the Eighth Alberta Boys' Parliament. From Grande Prairie and Peace River in the north, from Cardston in the south, from Banff and Coleman in the west and from as far west as Lloydminster and Empress will they come. The boy members are the elected representatives of the Trail Rangers and Twin Boys of Alberta and their duty is to represent and voice the opinions of their youthful constituents. Their legislation will largely deal with problems of boy life with the Trail Ranger and Twin programs.

The Alberta Boys' Workboard sponsors the parliament and the executive secretary of that board, Gordon S. Wood, acts as chief returning officer in the elections just concluded.

During their stay in Calgary the boy members will be billeted in the homes of interested people and on different occasions will be entertained by the Calgary Y.M.C.A., the Alberta Boys' Work Board and the Calgary Kiwanis Club. On Thursday evening, December 29th through the courtesy of CKCL, the Alberta Pacific Grain Co., the debate in the Parliament will be broadcasted.

Overcrowding Of Schools

Suggestions Relieving Situation

To the Editor,
The Vermilion Standard:

I had the pleasure of hearing Dr Craig address a public meeting dealing with the school problems of Edmonton. That part of his address covering the overcrowding of schools might be of interest to the ratepayers of Vermilion or any other community with an ever-increasing number of children, of school age.

I do not wish to convey the impression that I am desirous of taking any part in the civic affairs of Vermilion, as I am not a ratepayer, but I do think that Doctor Craig's suggestions are worthy of thoughtful consideration.

Briefly they were:

Teaching double-shifts in the present schools. He pointed out that at present the pupils were taught twenty-five hours per week. With a double shift, the children would come for the A.M. shift and finish at 12 o'clock (four hours) and the Day's Work Board and the Calgary Kiwanis Club. On Thursday evening, December 29th through the courtesy of CKCL, the Alberta Pacific Grain Co., the debate in the Parliament will be broadcasted

The Prevention Of Smallpox

Vaccination Appears To Offer Sure Means Of Stamping Out This Disease

Among those who are opposed to vaccination as the most effective safety measure in preventing smallpox and in squelching the disease if it should reach epidemic form, it is customary to criticize the habit of health officers of referring to the terrible records which this scourge used to make on the population of every nation in years gone by and in those countries it is the practice to neglect modern data.

In this connection, it must be pointed out that a knowledge of the terror which smallpox aroused in the kindly old medieval peoples and even in the comparatively modern times, is absolutely essential for any clear-cut understanding of what this disease is and how effective medical means of keeping it under control really are.

It is for this reason and this reason only that the health officer defers to the history it is not necessary to go back three years nor to go outside the borders of the Province of Ontario to secure convincing proof of the value of vaccination as a preventive measure.

In the latter part of February, 1924, the border villages, including Windsor, were hit by an epidemic which, at first, showed signs of rapid development.

The highly contagious nature of the disease and the danger which a whole community runs if the presence of a single case is overlooked was amply demonstrating here by the swiftness and stealth with which the disease made its appearance. It was almost impossible, after most strenuous efforts, for health officers to trace it to its original startling place.

There were two types of smallpox, one, a mild type and the other, a severe and virulent one. The first victim was a furniture-mover, who had never been vaccinated. He was not known to have been in contact with any case of smallpox. Search of the houses where this man had delivered furniture shortly before he took sick failed to reveal the source of the infection.

It is possible, therefore, that some casual contact, so unimportant that he could not remember it, on the part of some man who had never bothered with vaccination, was responsible for all the deaths which followed.

The merely goes to show that one unvaccinated person can be a menace to humanity.

The only other period of interest, which might show where the trouble commenced was in the fact that just before the Windsor outbreak, there had been a severe epidemic at Chapleau, Ontario, and there may have been some connection between the two.

There were, all in all, 62 cases reported, with among these 32 deaths.

But no person who had been vaccinated at any time in his life, even half a century earlier when the method of administering vaccine were not developed to the high point of efficiency they have reached today, was at any time seriously or dangerously ill

No person, who had at any time been vaccinated, died from the disease. Not one of the fatal cases had been protected by vaccination.

The most severe or hemorrhagic cases were all among unvaccinated individuals and every one of these died. They comprised 60 per cent of the total deaths.

The furniture mover who was the first to contract the disease eventual ly recovered, though he was very, very ill for some time. His wife and the sister mother of whom had never been vaccinated, took the disease and both died. His little daughter contracted it, had been vaccinated by the school authorities for protection, but had been exposed to the disease after the attack on the mother, also was dangerously ill, but recovered and never contracted it.

In another home a man, married, had never been vaccinated. Both he and his wife took the disease. Both died. He died in a few days. His wife and one married daughter, living in the same house, contracted the disease and died.

If you consult your doctor, he will tell you that vaccination is the one and only sure protection you can get from this terrible scourge. Don't take chances. Don't run the risk of your life or the life of your children. Don't be afraid to undergo the simple operation of vaccination. Don't be afraid of the difference between slight sickness and death.

In another family a man and his wife lived with the wife's father, 70 years old. Neither the man nor his wife had been vaccinated. Both died of smallpox. The old man had been vaccinated 42 years before. He had a mild attack and was around soon in three days.

The fifth brother of the family never was vaccinated, and did. His wife had never been vaccinated. She, too, died. All his children, however, had been vaccinated at school within less than 7 years. None of them were ill, all were immune.

The most outstanding single fact connected with this border epidemic, however, is the report of the action taken by Dr. Fred Adams, Windsor's health officer and the other health officers in the near by municipalities.

They prepared to vaccinate almost the entire population. Within a ten day period approximately ninety per cent. of the people in these localities had been given vaccine. The severity of the epidemic was thereby checked and the health officers had the hearty support of the people as a whole.

The epidemic was stamped out "like turning off a tap."

An official report was made in June, 1924. The first case had been reported in the latter part of February. Gen eral vaccination had been carried out, approximately seventy thousand treatments To day Windsor has one of the best protected populations in Ontario. There have been no more smallpox.

Will Found In Old Book

Discovery Leads To Search For Treasure In French Village

The chance purchase of a batch of old books at the part of a bookseller of Metz brought about a treasure hunt in the chateau of a neighboring village which has already excited the interest of all the inhabitants of the vicinity and may have as a result the discovery of long existing of money.

The are said to have been buried by a nobleman who was a supporter of Napoleon, and was shot at Belfort in 1822 The knots are estimated to have an approximate value of 40,000, francs.

The books were bought a number of months ago and being unable to dispose of them the bookseller decided to go through them, select those of value for individual sale and destroy the remainder. He did this, and just as he as about to burn the book in question, which is an old family missal, he noticed that there were two documents between the covers.

He examined these and found that one of which was written on parchment, was the General's will, bequeathing all his worldly goods to the Church, and the other was a diagram showing where he had buried two heavy chests containing gold, family jewels and other objects of value.

The bookseller showed these to friends, who were convinced of their authenticity and offered to furnish money for the excavations, which are now going on.

Has No Use For Watch

Rich Young Man Says Time Means Nothing To Him

I met a man the other day who has never carried a watch in his life, and has no clock in his house, he says. He does not give a darn what time it is, but got up when he wants to If he has an appointment he tells his valet about it or his secretary, and they inform him as to his appointments. If he wants to know the time, he asks anyone who may have a watch during his day he has been given many a ticker, but they are all resting in one drawer and have never been carried. The man which has plenty of time on his hands, he is fabulously rich, young and never worked in his life.

Can Hear Through Ears

Scientists along Long Island sound have discovered a novel way to get their brains when they are in small boats during calm weather. They put an ear to the water glue their ear to the handle and can hear the vibrator on the bottom of the boat. Whenever a motor boat approaches they can hear the vibrations distinctly several miles away.

Prisoners Should Receive Wages For Up-Keep Of Their Families Says W. L. Hughes

Should prisoners be paid wages and these wages be utilized for the upkeep of their families at home? This is the view held by W. S. Hughes, Superintendent of Penitentiaries for Canada, in an address before a meeting of Kiwanians in Toronto it has long been felt that the real sufferers, in the case of prisoners who have dependents are sent to jail are those left at home. The prisoners are well kept and regularly fed but the poor wife and children are not so fortunate and they undergo, in many instances, the most distressing sufferings through lack of support. This would certainly appear to be a great injustice. There is no parsimony reason why the innocent should be made to suffer for the crimes of others and yet that is exactly what in most cases. Were prisoners put to work and paid fair wages and these wages or an equivalent sent from time to time over to the families left unsupported, the situation would be entirely different. There is no reason why a prisoner who is willing to work should not be able to support his family. Woman Asks Why Men Do Not Talk

A "Non-Talker's Wife," correspondent of a Vancouver paper says: "Sir, is your wife a talker? Have you a physician endeavors to explain why we men talk so much. Won't you please tell us some learned man to answer this burning question: 'Why do men not talk enough?'

"Let it be said that it may not always be pleasant for a quiet reticent man to listen to his wife's voluble monologue, but there is no wife who does not read the sporting page, but is it not equally distasteful to a cheerful loquacious to find herself married to a clam?

"Why should a man confide in his wife if he knows he would rather have had gone to 'Tech' than to John Hitchier High, but his mother deceived others into the belief he learned to answer her request for advice on the subject he merely said, 'Do as you please about it.' He did this, and just as he was about to burn the book in question, which is an old family missal, he noticed that there were two documents between the covers.

Seals Are Favored

Where seals are plentiful the Eskimo of the Coronation Gulf prefer an oily greatly concerned about walrus, white whale, or narwhal. Four Grizzlies With Five Shots

The story of a man who, attacked four grizzlies, killed all of them with five cartridges, is one of the stories of to come out of northern British Columbia The above photograph shows Ed Anderson with his quarry after the shooting

Ed J. Langham Land Agent of the C.P.R., tells the story briefly. "Anderson, Ed., as well as from some trappers and others in the vicinity of Mica, had taken up a homestead in the Valley, occupied Anderson and three others went by trail a long time in the Illecillewaet Valley, and Anderson return ed to the camp alone along the edge of the ridge. It was growing a little dark, Anderson says, when he heard a noise behind him and turned to see four enormous grizzly bears making towards him as fast as they could go.

Luckily there was a big boulder and he got behind that aimed his rifle and in three shots killed three of the bears. A fourth also fell dead, but the biggest and angriest one, who, climbed upon the boulder, but the first shot did, and after that did exert ed to breath again.

Anderson assured Mr Lonsdale know more than half an hour before the camp as he heard a bear roaring and he guessed that it was the old man bear looking for his three wives Ed didn't want to have to explain. Back at the camp he asked one of his pals, "Ain't white, Corbett? Pw I am dammed scared!"

The next day Ed and some other men went back to skin the bears, and they got this picture which shows the four bears, Ed and his trusty Winchester

Bad Potatoes

The Superiority Of Certified Seed Potatoes Is Easily Shown

It has been clearly shown during recent years that the seed potatoes certified by the inspectors of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are much superior to the general run of common stock. The rules and regulations governing the production and inspection of the certified seed are given in a new pamphlet on Canadian Certified Seed Potatoes, distributed by the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. The standards set for certification are high and the results from the use of certified seed have been correspondingly favorable. Whether potatoes are grown for seed purposes or table stock, it is essential that the very best seed be handled since good foundation stock is the basis of good crops and profitable marketing. Commercial potatoes, from whose stock is badly infected with disease or contains mixed varieties will find it decidedly advantageous to secure certified seed. The use of such seed would double the yields now being obtained on many farms.

A Remarkable Record

England Has Erected More Than a Million Homes Since the Armistice

The interesting information is contained in dispatches from the old Land. The Ministry of Health has performed the tremendous task of erecting 1,013,787 houses since the day the Armistice was signed. These first class houses have not seem to be such a great achievement, but when one considers Fog Land's record in the years 1914 to 1918 with a heavy debt hanging over her shoulders which she has steadily reduced during the past few years. This the great burden of taxation which the government was compelled to lay upon the shoulders of people. It is remarkable thing that in spite of all this to which of course has been added the cost of living, which is going up to the worst strike the country has ever known, and adding to the difficulties of the time, Great Britain stands in every line of business and social activity—England has been able to face the task and provide over a million homes for her people.

Manners In Three Grades

Two Unaffected By Tone and One Subject To Change

Manners are becoming the subject a matter of life and death that what a contributor to the London Graphic says about them is quite timely.

The difference between good and bad manners is as deep as the difference between impolite and polite, and so deep, indeed, that it would be fair or to grade manners like eggs into three classes: viz., first class, second manners; Class II, fitful manners; Class I, bad manners. The first and last classes are equally unaffected by time and tide, the class midway being subject to certain fluctuations due to circumstance and other full be apply to individual cases.

The truth is that good manners are natural and instinctive, and are the product of any particular process or period, and just as common now as they ever were.

Some Chinese Sayings

Have Ways Of Their Own To Impart Information

Here are some Chinese examples of how to get information. Instead of asking a man's name the Chinaman in forms his friends by saying: "They are tell the name of your honorable Public by the announcement: "He is drawing no salary." An ordinary individual upon dying he said to have become an ancient." After burial, the corpse is referred to as being in the city of old age." In the same way common objects are given names. The mushroom is "a fairy umbrella," and oranges are "golden balls." A banana is known as the "gentlemen of the bean," while to give the hanging is "to acquire sleep."

Not Restricted To Numbers

The prosecuting counsel had encountered a rather difficult witness At length, exasperated by the man's evasive answers, he asked him bluntly or he was acquainting with any of the jury

"Yes, sir," he replied meekly, on behalf of them."

"Are you willing to swear that you know more than half of them do" demanded the man of law

The other thought quickly.

"If it comes to that," he replied, "I'm willing to swear that I know more than all of 'em put together"

Bill: "How shall I address the most beautiful charming, darling girl in the whole world?"

Phil: "Look in my menu book, I think her name and street number's on the second page."

The Carrier Current System

Canadian National Telegraph First To Introduce System Into Canada

The official opening of the "Carrier current" system by the Canadian National Telegraphs, on Wednesday, November 5th, marks the completion of the second link of the installation from Montreal to Vancouver, of the "carrier" system. The first link, that from Toronto to Montreal, was put into active service on April 26, and the system will be extended to Vancouver as rapidly as possible. When it is completed, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, and Vancouver will be so arranged that, by operating a few switches, it will be possible to make any or all of these stations terminals, and, therefore, to transmit messages to any or all of them.

The "Carrier-to-Wire" link of the "carrier current" system is the longest single section of "carrier" now in operation, comprising as it does seven repeater stations. These stations are located at Parry Sound, Capreol, Pelican Falls, Horneyer, Jellicoe, Port Arthur, and Fort Frances, and the system provides ten two-way "carrier" telegraph channels, two one-way three direct current telegraph circuits, and a long-distance telephone circuit.

The telephone is used in the direction of being the pioneer line in linking Eastern with Western Canada by telephone. This line has been completed as far as Winnipeg, and the telephone and headquarters at Montreal and the central Region headquarters at Toronto.

The development of the "carrier" system has only recently, within a per iod of approximately the last five years, reached a point where it is of value in commercial use, and while the Canadian National Telegraphs is the first to introduce it into Canada, as a commercial medium for the quick ness of telegraphic message, the system has been in operation in the United States and Europe, and in the latter countries has come into very extensive use, being restricted to telephone purposes only.

In no case, however, have these systems been operated over the vast voltage which will mark the completion of the Canadian National Telegraph system.

One of the features of the "carrier current" is its virtual immunity from storms. Even in the worst of weather and it therefore involves a continuity of communication which physical lines are subject to, and which, in many cases are encountered. A recent demonstration of this fact took place on October 12 and 13, when storms practically paralyzed all communicating channels. While the Canadian National Carrier system was not then fully completed, it was thrown into temporary service and provided facilities which were of great value to the Canadian National Telegraphs was able to handle automatic multiplex and other Morse circuits on the one pair of wires. The earth currents, which amounted to hundreds of millamperes, completely tied up all physical wires, but the "carrier" system worked throughout with absolutely no distortion to the telegraph signals.

The capacity of the system is practically unlimited, providing a number of child stations to about 140. The only ar ticle required is a pair of wires, and the Canadian National Telegraphs has already in operation over 40,000 miles of wire, capable of transmitting telegraph messages simultaneously, four to a pair. Even on the use of the present wires it is possible to transmit two or more telegraph messages simultaneously over a single pair of line wires.

SOVIET CONSUL IN CHINA HANDED HIS PASSPORTS

Shanghai.—The Nationalist government had handed the Soviet consul at Shanghai his passports. He was requested to leave Nationalist territory within a week.

The passports were given the Soviet envoy by Gen. Pai Chi, National ist vice-minister of foreign affairs.

The action was in line with the re manly statements made by Nationalists under Chiang Kai Shek, to remove alleged Russian influence in Chinese affairs.

In addition to severing diplomatic relations, the Nationalists also broke off communications, demanding the closure of Russian commercial agencies, including the Russian state Bailment, and the volunteer fleet.

Explaining the action the Nanking Government, in its official mandate said:

"The Nanking Government has been informed that the Soviet consulates and commercial agencies in Nationalist territories have been using their premises as headquarters for Red propaganda, and as captains for communists. Fu posters and these facts that have been withheld, in view of the formal relations existing between China and Russia.

"On December 11, in Canton, an uprising took place culminating in the horrible occupation of the city by communists, who cut off communications, burned, plundered, massacred and murdered thousands of people. This was the result of communists using the Canton Russian consulate as a base to direct operations.

"It is feared that similar occurrences will take place elsewhere. Such things are intolerable to China, and therefore the recognition afforded the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics is terminated."

B. Kobinsky, Soviet consul general, refused to comment on the Nationalist order, saying that he was awaiting instructions from Moscow, which will form a statement."

New Calendar Proposal

Fixed Calendar Of 12 Months Is Under Consideration

Ottawa.—Proposals for a fixed calendar of 12 months, each of 28 days, were placed before the External Affairs Department by its adviser, W. B. Cotsworth, from Anne Alexandria he was some of the representatives of the Conference.

In October last the League of Nations asked the different countries which are party to the League to give their opinion on reasons for and against the adoption of a calendar. The reply of Canada was received by the League in January last. Foreign Affairs Minister Lapointe was recently in favor of the proposal, but since then has changed his mind, regards of 12 months each of 28 days, with an extra day at the end of the year, which would not be reckoned in any month, and an extra day in leap years, which would be reckoned as June 29th.

Under the present calendar, the first quarter of the year has 90 days, the second 91, the third 92 and the fourth 92. Under the proposed calendar each quarter would have 91 days. Each month would begin on Sunday and end on Saturday. The first day of each month would be a holiday, and the 29th of June in leap years.

Mr. Cotsworth has been working on the calendar question for 40 years. He has the support of the British Government, and the Australian Government has also given its approval.

Philanthropists Entertain 400 Children

First Street South was the scene of unusual activity on Saturday last, when over four hundred children of the school district were entertained by mine host George Caputes and Billy Pilkie. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the delighted youngsters began to arrive at the premises of the Cabaret de Luxe, where they were welcomed by the genial George, who presented each child with a bag of mixed candies.

With every child well supplied with a full bodied machine material to keep the "inner man" satisfied for at least an hour or two, the joyous throng filed down to the Columbia Theatre, where the boniface Billy, our popular local theatre magnate, bubbling over with boniterous bonhomie, treated the kiddies to a free show, consisting of four reels of snappy, high-class comedy. Judging by the uproarious time which lasted for fully an hour, we presume that there were no complaints from the juvenile audience.

It was a whale of a day for the kids, and we understand that they are willing at any time to accept a similar open invitation.

Sometimes 'a fellow needs a friend' but the verdict of Vermilion's youthful population last Saturday was that two friends in the Genial George and the Beaming Billy.

Malefactors Dread Motor
Echo "Boston Gase"

Oshawa, Ont., Dec. 20.—There is a certain motor car in Ontario (estimated at more than a dozen) the dread of which has become an object of terror to manufactors. Time after time, when it was thought safely out of the city, it has swooped down from no where to nip a crime in the bud or to carry wrongdoers off to the nearest jail. Little wonder is it that the car, an Oakland Six, has been called on to perform some surprising stunts, for it is armed by that overactive force, the Provincial police.

One of the most recent episodes in the remarkable career has been the box-fashioned "Boston Gase." The long penitentiary terms meted out to forcibly respected members of that community, who were concerned in a series of cattle thefts and outrages, closed a case which illustrated the manner in which modern-minded transport enables the police to accomplish a mistakeit dashes and carry their investigations far afield.

On this case alone the police Oakland travelled some 8,500 miles, besides using on the country roads. The long penitentiary terms meted out to forcibly respected members of that community, who were concerned in a series of cattle thefts and outrages, closed a case which illustrated the manner in which modern-minded transport enables the police to accomplish a mistakeit dashes and carry their investigations far afield.

Investigations revealed from this encounter, and which resulted in about a hundred charges being laid, kept the police Oakland travelling night and day. Fewer Traveling Men

There has been little notice of the passing of the traveling salesman. Comparatively their are few left. The commercial who took drummers was employed some years ago. Old Fashioned Christmas

Merry Christmas is the Merry Time Only to Spend "As Used" and Earned

Good old fashioned Christmas cheer, so fondly mourned for in these modern days, is a myth. The new Saskatoon Christmas To Be better, declares the Woman's Home Companion in its December number. "Much has been said and nothing has been taken seriously by any sex, kindness or folly," it continues.

"Bleak hills and Yule log, the fur, stove nightmare over drift piled roads to the house of childhood, the grab ing hand lined with bending faces and lifted in familiar tunes the old-fashioned Christmas.

"But modern cars and cars of the have heated by oil, families remain at home a dozen states sending quick messages by wire and radio, together at the nightly domestic table, the Yule log flaming in the room with hot water pipes, the tree with bulbs from a distant orchard, the new Christmas is here.

"Christmas is the time for the family to be together. Let us make it so. Let us have it as it used to be. Let us have it as it was in the days of our fathers. Let us have it as it was in the days of our fathers. Let us have it as it was in the days of our fathers

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

The closing dance of the School of Agriculture takes place this (Thursday) evening.

Christmas and New Year's days falling on Sunday, Monday, December 25 and Monday, January 2nd have been proclaimed as public holidays throughout the dominion. Stores will be closed on these two days.

Almost reaching the thawing point, the long spell of severe weather terminated last week-end. For the past few days the mercury has kept well above the zero mark.

Dr. J. J. Knoll and Mrs. Knoll left on Tuesday to spend the holidays at the Coast. They took the transcontinental from Wainwright for Prince Rupert from where they go by boat to Victoria for Christmas and will visit Vancouver before returning.

Messrs. George Capatos and W. P. Pilkie are more than satisfied with the response to their invitation to the children of Vermilion that the district be their guests on Saturday afternoon last. Over four hundred kiddies received candies and attended the picture show, and it is safe to say that a good time was had by all."

Invitations have been issued this week for the annual Masonic Ball to be held on December 30th.

"JESSE JAMES" America's most colorful character, with Fred Thomson and Silver King, "the Wonder-Horse," at the Columbia Theatre on Dec. 22, 23 and 24, this week-end.

Playing a whirlwind game from start to finish, which was featured by outstanding combination play, the Vermilion Elks hockey team pulled out a 3-goal victory over the crack aggregation of pork chasers of North Battleford in that city last Thursday night. The score stood Vermilion 5, N. Battleford 2, at the conclusion of play.

Turkeys marketed for the Christmas trade at E. Davies by Mrs. Dave Harrison and Mrs. Fred Firth were among the finest seen here for some time, being absolutely top-notch in quality.

WHAT? WHY?? WHEN???

WHAT? — RIN-TIN-TIN

The Famous Dog Picture

WHY? — Because 20 per cent of the profits are to be donated to the financial stress to give our Young People's Club a good "kick-off."

WHEN? — MONDAY, THE 26TH; TUESDAY, THE 27TH.

THURSDAY, THE 29TH.

Seeing that last week's announcement was read by so many adults who are interested in our Young People's work and social activities, that it was "to be read by young folks only," this week we want you all to read this, and be most interested.

Fortunately, owing to the arrival of the Australian Orchestra, we may postpone our third night to Thursday; yet we still want you to remember these 3 big nights. Two night with Rin-Tin-Tin in his latest feature entitled "Trailed by the Police" and one night with a breathless, exciting, daring and wonderful display of heroism shown by "The Fire Brigade." Trapped in a burning building children are wonderfully saved by the heroic efforts of the firemen of the noble brigade.

Remember, folks, you may never have another chance at the additional surprises we have in store for you. On each night surprise packages are to be given to the person occupying the lucky seat. All the way from a 5lb. box of chocolates to a 25 "pounder." Some in a surprise package, all of good value, will be sorted out for the lucky ones. Those prizes must be won and in fact will be won and donated during the showing of those special feature shows.

All the prize will be on display in the window of Manager W. P. Pilkie's office on Saturday this week. Have a squint, Pilkie's! and if your mouth doesn't water, your mouth and eyes can't see those enough together! Tell to me now, isn't it worth five cents a 25lb box of chocolates—and remember, you're so good a chance as the following week. Fifty cents is all you have to pay to see a rattling good picture and take a free chance on some of those fine prizes. Now whatever you don't look up these nights too far ahead of time, and if friends come in and call on you, tell them you have a most important engagement for the evening. If they fall in with your plans, bring them along as well.

And young folks remember this is for you, that these three nights will prove a benefit, so do your share. Tell the news around town and make sure none of you are absent on these nights.

"Come, Rinny, let's go!"

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker and family are leaving on Saturday night's eastbound for Ontario, owing to word received of the serious condition of Mrs. Baker's father.

Of a bunch of nine bags marketed here Tuesday by C. Friedland of the Telland district, three were graded selects. They were all a Red Ice.

The town schools all closed today for the Christmas vacation, the annual junior rooms each celebrating the occasion with a "Christmas Tree."

"TRACKED BY THE POLICE."—An outdoor story with the greatest of all dog stars, RIN-TIN-TIN. At the Columbia Theatre Monday, Tuesday, next week, December 26 and 27.

There will be a Concert and Dance at Deer Lake school on Friday evening, Dec. 23rd. Everybody come and have a good time. There will be a three hour programme. 26-3x

Dr Scott of the University of Alberta, is in charge of Dr. J. J. Knoll's practice during the latter's absence at the coast. The Doctor and Mrs. Scott are occupying the home of Dr. and Mrs. Knoll.

It is quite likely a public meeting will be held on Thursday evening of next week in connection with the proposed by-law of the Vermilion County school district to borrow $12,000 for the building of a new high school. The chairman states that definite announcement will be made as soon as arrangements can be completed.

The Christmas tree and entertainment in the Presbyterian church hall Saturday evening was attended by over 100 people including over fifty children among girls were all contributed. Presents were also sent to some twenty children living out of town who could not be present. Several entertainment comprised choruses, recitations and games. It was a most successful enjoyable occasion. Refreshments were served during the evening under the direction of the Ladies' Aid and Sunday School teachers.

Arrangements have been completed and posters are out for the return game visit of North Battleford hockey team against the Vermilion Elks, on Wednesday, December 28th. The Saskatchewan boys are coming up determined to retrieve their recent defeat and a good game is assured.

Dr. W. W. Bell moved into offices in his new building Tuesday and occupies the east side with office on the street front and is modernly equipped surgical room in the rear. The west portion has been leased to Mr. Bell and Mr. J. Richardson, who has also taken over his new quarters. There is one main entrance which leads into a commodious corridor for both patients and clients. The interior is well finished throughout with floors covered with corkolinum. The basement contains two large storerooms, heating system, washing machine and toilet. The large store windows are of sand-d glass. Of two-brick and tile construction on concrete walls the premises are fitted with very latest type of office structures.

FUNERAL OF DOROTHY HOPE

The funeral of the late Dorothy E. Hope was held on Thursday afternoon last from the Anglican church to the Vermilion cemetery, the Rev. A. Rose-Soame conducting the service. Dorothy had been ailing for some considerable time from a tumor on the brain, for which it was and-related there could be no cure, and the end came on Saturday evening when the passed peacefully away to the land beyond.

Many friends and family gathered at J. Waring's funeral home to see the girl before the service, and where a large display of beautiful flowers gave silent testimony to the love and sympathy of their many friends, a good number of these attended the service in the church. Four of the Sunday School scholars acted as pallbearers, viz: Maxwood Brimacombe, Derek Rodman, Reggie Porter and William Hall, and Mr. Geo. Law and J. Wotherspoon very kindly gave the use of their cars.

Dorothy was not quite twelve years of age and the sympathy of the whole community is extended to the sorrowing parents in their very sad bereavement.

Young London Financier Recoups Fortune After Big Failure

Three years ago most of his friends regarded Mr. Clarence Hatry, a well-known financier of London, as a ruined man. Young as he was, they believed his career was, if not over, at least held up for a long period. A great company with which he was connected was wound up and Mr. Hatry should need debts of the company amounting to three-quarters of a million pounds.

But Mr. Hatry set to work quietly and has built up a new fortune. He has just started a big new London combine company to link up the many small trade-product companies now in operation. He has taken a share in several of the big drapery amalgamations recently, one of his most spectacular enterprises was a big pile combine which he formed in Dundee.

I found I could cure the blemishes with cosmetics, but that was only a temporary relief. "My druggist recommended your purely vegetable laxative, and suggested my trouble might be constipation. After taking a short while I noticed a wonderful difference. My complexion has improved, also headaches, indigestion and biliousness never bothered me any more."

Mrs. McMann confided in her friend Mr. Larsen, for whom it was all over and the minister came to find out where she came from, how long she had been in Canada and all that, she would tell him a thing. And begged him not to write anything about her in the papers it was queer to see Helmi afraid of anything.

Bill Larsen looked as mediative as anyone could with little room for a frown. "The boy was a Minister girl in Winnipeg about a year and a half ago who raised a lot of grief" he said "she was a fine mountain and got in jail, and all that. I guess that's the name, because I had a letter from her with Finnish on the envelope, and I was at Port Arthur. Of course it's a pretty common name. But Helmi wouldn't be afraid if she wanted to hear of a mark" Mr Larsen smiled correctly to the unpleasant episode which many of the behavior of his acquaintance with Helmi

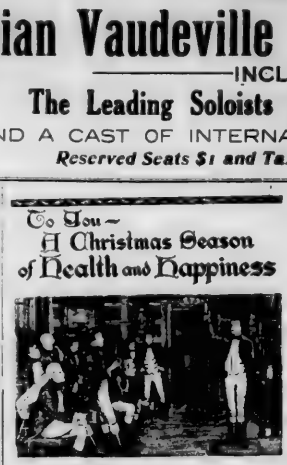
Vermilion Hockeyists Defeat Vegreville

Those who have been watching the hockey at the Municipal Arena entered one of the best games ever played in Vermilion, last Thursday night. There was not a dull moment, indeed at times pandemonium broke out as the playing developed brilliant phases of hockey. This was the second game in the Little Three league fixtures.

Forty seconds after the play opened Jimmy Manine netted a goal for Vegreville in a clever pickup from Mitchell. He repeated the performance one minute later by slinging a tally in a rush from centre. The latter was so fast and the results so real that the 200 spectators expected a clean getaway for the visitors. Two minutes then suddenly lightened up and two minutes further on in the mill Clarence Barr got a long pass from Moody at centre ice gave Vermilion its first count. Open skating followed with some fast dashes on both wings. Two minutes before the half, Clarence Barr singled in the first of the blue line and the period ended on even terms. The second period opened with both teams fighting desperately for supremacy. Although the Vegreville was playing a splendid defence, Manager Pete picked many Moody and pulling a fourth tackle to secure 2 to 2 for the home team. The rest of this period was the fastest and cleanest hockey ever known on Vermilion ice. Vegreville was bent on tieing the score and Vermilion determined to increase their lead, or at least retain it. The second period was a period of team work as is seldom seen at amateur hockey.

The third period was under way for about three minutes when Paul Weber stepped from the home net, picked through neatly for the home defence and tied the score again. In these exciting moments the crowd was on its toes. Again did fast and furious playing for low with both goal tenders changing decisions. Vegreville was beginning to flag while Vermilion seemed to be going away with plenty to spare. Vegreville managed still to play a fine hockey game from beginning to end.

Only five penalties were handed out three to Vegreville and two to Vermilion. The Vegreville all [illegible] Vegreville [illegible]



ter but Vermilion had the playing power and the weight. For Vegreville Jimmy Manine and Emil Weber raced away the most plays while the Barr boys and Moody were the main chancers for Vermilion. Both goal questions. Mead for Vermilion and Lindsay for Vegreville, did great work being called upon time and again to ward off heavy blows from a fast fire shot. Bert Williams handled the game with white satisfaction, keeping the ice clear well within the limit. His decisions on touch decisions have been seen at a hockey match at Vermilion and all became of the fast clean playing by both the contestants. The ice was keen and this added very much to the pace with which the game was played. ADVICE OF A RED CROSS NURSE

Communicable Diseases and How To Avoid Them

PART ONE.

Communicable diseases are what most people call "catching" diseases. Formerly they were called "contagious or infectious," but these terms are going out of use. The Hon. Nurse who knows her communicable diseases are spread will be able to care for a patient in such a way as to ward the danger of the disease to the other members of the family and the community. To prevent the spread of communicable disease is just as important a duty of the home nurse as is the cure and comfort of the patient.

Each kind of communicable disease is caused by its own kind of germ Disease germs are spread by the discharges of the nose, throat, bladder and bowels. These germ laden discharges may be carried to other persons directly by a spray from a cough or sneeze; foods, the common drinking cup, towels, unclean hands, etc., are all indirect causes for disease. Germs enter the body of another person through the mouth, nose, or rarely through breaks in the skin.

The three P's in the transfer of communicable diseases are FLIES, PUS and FINGERS.

The common house fly breeds in filth and may carry on its legs thousands of germs of disease. KEEP FLY OUT, KILL IT. Food handled by unclean hands, or food exposed to dirt and flies soon becomes as dirty as the flies themselves, and may plant the disease directly into the human system. Never handle food without first washing your hands. Fingers collect germs and dirt from ordinary objects of every day use that have been contaminated by the body secretions of some other person. The Nurse are constantly making unnecessary trips to the mouth. Teach your child to avoid thumbsucking at home and school

Every mother should read about diseases common to children and with the excellent Health Literature at her disposal from the Red Cross Society there is no excuse any excuse for ignorance. A package of literature will be mailed to any home in Alberta free of charge. Write direct to the Red Cross, Civic Building for reading on the subject of Communicable Diseases.

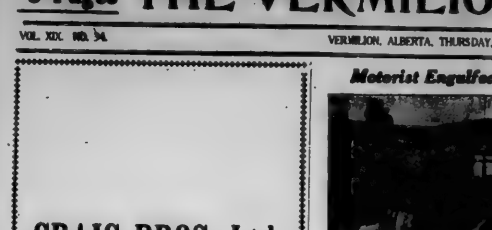
Motorist Engulfed in Flood



When this bridge collapsed a month him as he was driving across. Fred Gallant of Sherbrooke had an astonishing escape. From death during the recent Quebec floods. Swept downstream by the mad waters Mr. Gallant struggled to shore after a fight that lasted a mile and a half. His Chevrolet, after being buried under fifteen feet of water for two days, was found as shown in the picture, practically undamaged, when the floods receded. Only a rear seat prevented the motorist from driving off, as when the car was hauled out a touch of the starter turned over the motor.

Crude Farming In Spain

Crop Of 10,000,000 Acres Mostly Sown and Reaped By Hand

If the old Roman plow is not soon banished from Castile there will be danger of a grave economic crisis in Spain. The average value of the Spanish wheat crop is about 8,000,000 pesetas for an area of 10,000,000 acres, mostly sown and reaped by hand. Thousands of one-mule, hand mown, crouching low as they toil with sickles through vast fields, betoken the unchanged conditions and the simplest wage. As a result of these primitive methods Castilian wheat cannot compete in the world markets, though its quality is conceded through the ages. Wheat harvested thousands of miles away in America or Argentina can be sold in Spanish ports at less than the cost price of the Senegambian grown cereal. The government has had to restrict wheat importation, granting an unsound economic stimulus. The situation can only be met by the extensive use of tractors, deeper tilling and increased fertilization.

The Flin Flon Power Site

May Change Site From White Mud Falls To Island Falls

Intimations from the Whitemyer of New York have been received at the capital indicating that a change in the site of the Flin Flon power scheme may be made from White Mud Falls to Island Falls.

Island Falls are on the Churchill River considerably closer to the mine than the present site, which is 100 miles south, the Whitemyers and the Sherritt Gordon interests, after going into both propositions thoroughly, are inclined to favor the Island Falls site for the development, as it is believed that power can be developed more cheaply here.

The uncertainty of the financiers did not interfere any further, it would seem, as it was learned that the White Mud Falls were never definitely decided upon, and, after the government made it clear that certain restrictions would be imposed if the White Mud were developed, the value of the site to the mine interests was definitely lessened.

Island Falls has a capacity of 85,000 horsepower. At 100 with that less than one-third of the mining development at White Mud would supply more than 250,000 horse power, and there would be a ready market for the power in the mines of Sherritt Gordon.

Fall Fed Spirits

Japanese Vessel Is Burned For Just That Purpose

To foil the devils which Japanese sea-faring men were convinced must have brought bad luck to the ill-fated fishing smack, Taiyo Maru, which drifted on the broad Pacific 11 months while her crew of 12 Japanese fishermen sickened, starved and died, the vessel has been consigned to the flames.

The Rye Yei, which was valued at about $17,000, was secretly towed to an isolated beach on Puget Sound, her hold filled with waste and soaked with oil, set afire and reduced to a mass of smouldering ashes and unidentified metal.

It had been planned to ship the Rye Yei back to Japan and wreckage interests were quick to place the $3-foot boat on the after deck of an American mail liner for the return voyage, but the plans were cancelled when it was learned the families of the unfortunate fishermen did not want her returned.

The fisher folk of Misaki, Japan, where the ship was built, were convinced evil spirits had taken possession of the ship and her return to Japan might bring other calamities. No part of the hull, when cooled, was saved from the flames.

Water As a Lubricant

Better Than Oil For Rubber Bearings In Chine

A discovery has been made which has caused wide interest in the engineering world. It is claimed that rubber bearings lubricated with water can do all that oiled gun-metal or other bearings can do, and that the latter may even be dispensed with. Rubber bearings have now been tested on heavy machines running at 1000 revolutions a minute, and a pair of grit simply rolls across the rubber until it is removed by the water. Such rubber must be made of special composition, and the bearing. Lubricating oil is used on the machinery in thousands of instances, and the use of water as a lubricant would save the expense of purchasing oil. Sugar From Waste Wood

Sawdust Treated With Acid Makes Substance Suitable For Food

Sugar from waste wood is the forecast by a report made recently by Dr. W. H. Ormandy to the Society of Chemical Industry, in England. Dried sawdust is treated in a carefully-designed chemical plant with hydrochloric acid. That treatment converts the cellulose substance of the wood into a mixture of sugars, one of which is ordinary glucose, or sugar. This material (dextrose) is perfectly suitable for human food. Not all of the sugar produced by the process is pure glucose, but that is not important, for although most of it is. The by-product of impure sugar is to be used in a fuel rubbing mixed with flour, and used for motor fuel.

Nothing To Wonder At

"Well, go ahead," said the girl, encouragingly. "It's your cow."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JOHN THE BAPTIST AND JESUS

Golden Text: "He must increase, but I must decrease."—John 3:30.

Lesson: Mark 1.1-15.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 40.3-11.

Explanations and Comments

I. The Work Of the Gospel, verse 1.—"This is the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God. Our word gospel is translated for the two Anglo-Saxon words god, meaning good, and spel, meaning news. The word as used in the New Testament refers to the message of Jesus Christ. Mark, in one of its first four books, to which it was not applied before the second century. It is the good tidings concerning Jesus the Christ, the Son of God, which Mark begins here to recount. This first verse is Mark's confession of faith.

"Every time Christ is born in a man's heart, the gospel has a new beginning. And every other beginning of the gospel story is dependent in the eternal purpose of God (John), its beginning at Bethlehem (Matthew Luke), its beginning at the baptism (Mark) will be of none effect, as far as you and I are concerned, unless it has another beginning in you and me."—J. D. Jones.

II. The Work Of the Forerunner Of Christ, verses 2-8.—Verse 2, 3. These are all ope sentence, and seven words (they) make beginning in the prophecy announcing the coming of the Lord on account of the perverse of John and of his training in the wilderness, both in the prophecy of Isaiah 40:3, and from Malachi 3.1, and is applied in Matthew 11.10 and Luke 7.27 by Jesus himself to John. Verse 3 is taken from Isaiah 40.3-5. John the Baptist was God's messenger sent to prepare the way for Jesus the Son of God. He was the voice of one crying, announcing the coming of the Lord and warning men to be ready. Instead of discouraging upon the material power of the Messiah's reign, he urged the universal custom, John insisted that there were preparations to be fulfilled, and turned men's thoughts away from the outward and material to the inward and spiritual.

"The revival of religion needed today to prepare for the fuller coming of the Son of Man into our earthly life and to secure that transformation of all our relationships in the direction of righteousness. The spiritual and genuinely social revival, rather than ecclesiastical or emotional, is the call issue north, south, east and west, for the time. It would make right relations in the common relations of everyday life! Then all flesh may see the salvation of God!"—Charles Reynolds Brown.

Canada's Divorce Rate

Is Considerably Lower Than Any Other Country In World

Happy Canada! It has the lowest divorce rate in the world. Consider these figures given at a Mothers' Union meeting in London: The United States has one divorce to every two marriages. Figures for other countries are quoted as follows: Canada, one in 31; Great Britain, one in 16; Sweden, one in 33; Norway, one in 30; Germany, one in 24; New Zealand, one in 31; Switzerland, one in 16; Japan, one in eight. Divorce in the United States, it is added, has increased in the past 22 years to 1.6 marriages from one in 17.1. Between 1876 and 1916 there were 2,-250,000 divorces in that country.

Two Men Make Fun Of Highland Crafter To Sign

An amusing story of a Highland crafter was told by a member of the Scottish Land Court, at the annual dinner of the Caithness Association. The crafter had applied to the Land Government for a loan to build a house. The application contained 22 conditions was sent to crafter. The crafter wrote back: "I am sending you back your paper. I will not sign it. Do you think I am going to keep 22 rules for a bit house on earth, when for keeping Ten Commandments God will give me a mansion in the skies?"

Turning to the chief, the interpreter discharged his task with a single sentence "Him say him dam pleased to see you!"

In addition to paying more than one hundred dollars for a dining recess in Germany, the applicant must pass an extremely rigid mental and physical examination.

A Most Dangerous Practice

Some Passionate Periods In Talking About Next War

The talk about an inevitable European war goes on. A French publication says that the showdown will come in 1935. He makes the interesting suggestion that in another war in Europe, the United States will not be on the same side as Great Britain. The difference being that moral competition has driven a wedge between the affections of these nations.

It would seem that there is a regiment or two of European pessimists, who are bound to drum up another war. They persist in talking it day and night. That is a most dangerous practice. If, instead, their time was occupied as industriously in decrying war, in reminding the people of the last world catastrophe, of the sacrifices and sufferings of the population, of the millions of wounded and mutilated human beings, carefully recorded in the history of those days, there would not come. But if these peddlers of calamity continue to preach their sinister message, it is very likely it will happen. There is a new crop of cannon fodder ready for the harvest. No politician or statesman of any age in 1914, are now twenty, able to carry a rifle, capable of being trained to the use of carnage. It only seems to be sufficient for certain Europeans who keep the war pot boiling. No doubt the makers of armament are eager for the harvest.

In well-organized, admirable communities the preachers of dangerous doctrines are locked up in cells of town. That would appear to be the appropriate treatment of these next-war prophets

Immense Crane Built For London Railway

Will Automatically Adjust Itself to Adverse Wind Pressure

An immense crane being erected in connection with the Metropolitan Railway's new $3,750,000 building, is the largest of its kind in the world. When finished it will have a 200-foot jib, the longest type now familiar to Londoners.

It comprises a single "leg" nearly 150 feet in height, and is surrounded by a steel lattice-work jib 100 feet long, while protruding from and running through the centre of the "leg" is a great steel pivot which enables the crane to revolve in a complete circle in any direction.

A feature of particular interest in connection with the crane is that it is so constructed that it will automatically adjust, in the manner of a weather vane and so adjust itself to any adverse wind pressure that may arise.

The arm covered by the crane is more than 80,000 square feet, it is of English construction throughout and is electrically operated by one man

The per capita consumption of alcoholic spirits in Canada for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1927, was 0.4 per cent. below that of the average for the past fifty-eight years, statistics issued by the department of national revenue show. The increase in consumption over that of the previous year was 0.1 per cent. The per capita consumption for the fiscal year 1926-27 was 0.9 gallon. The average for the past fifty-eight years was only 32 per cent. of a gallon.

Helmi was awakened next morning by the first beam of the March sun. It came around the corner of the factory cotton blind, and played over her pillow with a tremulous radiance. It was a jolly little sunbeam that seemed to have a story to tell to every one anyone to listen. But Helmi's heart was too full of its own happiness to listen to any other story. She sprang out of bed and dressed the new day with a song, a strange song, that came leaping out of her far-off childhood. Helmi had not thought of it since she came to Canada, and did not know that she knew it, but today it came without her volition, as far as you and I are concerned, unless it has another beginning in you and me."—J. II. The Work Of the Forerunner Of Christ, verses 2-8.—Verse 2, 3. These are all ope sentence, and seven words (they) make beginning in the prophecy announcing the coming of the Lord on account of the perverse of John and of his training in the wilderness, both in the prophecy of Isaiah 40:3, and from Malachi 3.1, and is applied in Matthew 11.10 and Luke 7.27 by Jesus himself to John. Verse 3 is taken from Isaiah 40.3-5. John the Baptist was God's messenger sent to prepare the way for Jesus the Son of God. He was the voice of one crying, announcing the coming of the Lord and warning men to be ready. Instead of discouraging upon the material power of the Messiah's reign, he urged the universal custom, John insisted that there were preparations to be fulfilled, and turned men's thoughts away from the outward and material to the inward and spiritual.

"The revival of religion needed today to prepare for the fuller coming of the Son of Man into our earthly life and to secure that transformation of all our relationships in the direction of righteousness. The spiritual and genuinely social revival, rather than ecclesiastical or emotional, is the call issue north, south, east and west, for the time. It would make right relations in the common relations of everyday life! Then all flesh may see the salvation of God!"—Charles Reynolds Brown.

Canada's Divorce Rate

Is Considerably Lower Than Any Other Country In World

Happy Canada! It has the lowest divorce rate in the world. Consider these figures given at a Mothers' Union meeting in London: The United States has one divorce to every two marriages. Figures for other countries are quoted as follows: Canada, one in 31; Great Britain, one in 16; Sweden, one in 33; Norway, one in 30; Germany, one in 24; New Zealand, one in 31; Switzerland, one in 16; Japan, one in eight. Divorce in the United States, it is added, has increased in the past 22 years to 1.6 marriages from one in 17.1. Between 1876 and 1916 there were 2,-250,000 divorces in that country.

Virulence Needed To Keep Undesirables Out

Many Ways Tried To Smuggle Them Into England

The British Secret Service department is kept very busy and ever vigilant, in preventing black listed undesirables from landing in Great Britain

Valery, a French communist who is on the Soviet-Red Black List, and who had already been turned back when he tried to land in England, was recently arrested in London. It was found that he had landed from a sailing boat on the beach near Folkestone, says a writer in Pearson's Weekly

Recently Mr. Burnett, the chief immigration officer, received information from an agent that a number of Germans were to be smuggled into England in the liner President Lincoln In consequence the chief arrived at Havana and carefully searched and scrutinized the passengers, but without finding a trace of the men.

The men were on the point of giving up when one of the searchers decided to dump into one of a row of coffins in the hold and which was full of ice. Inside was a young Chinaman lying full length, with food and luggage beside him. Eleven coffins were found similarly filled.

Some two years ago, a crowd, believed to be composed of Chinese immigrants, was chased by a patrol boat and apparently betrayed her guilt by making off at top speed. The boat was but still the patrol boat came on, and at last caught up with the crowd and boarded it.

Not a man of a Chinese could be found aboard, and the patrol boat stopped to the nearest ship to see if the other vessel got in part one of the crew got drunk and talked. His story was quite plain nothing. A few minutes as soon as it was dark, had died a fire-hose to the legs of each of twenty-seven rolls of yellow men and flung them overboard.

Agricultural Research

Canada Ahead Of Other Parts Of Empire in Ploughing Into Farm Problems

A widespread development in agricultural research has followed the honour future by Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture, who was a Canadian delegate at the Imperial Agricultural Research Conference held in London (on England) recently. During the conference Dr. Grisdale declared, it was found that Canada did more research in farming problems than any other section of the Empire, and that in some respects, insanity in grain rust research Canada is a shadow ahead of the world.

Many town animals such as insects and birds, Dr. Wiseman said, have vision incomparably keener than that of man. For example, he said, "boarder are human beings to you, but to a fly they are merely specks."

Mr. McMann saw she had the attention of the table. The time was ripe.

"Well, now" as you're so anxious to hear my troubles, dad, I'll tell you—you should know. I've become a victim of the drink habit—one of nine in Edmonton that you are engaged to a girl there, and all this time I've been writing letters to her just for your own amusement. Isabel' this house and all, and given me all to take to the valley—I mean I do the right thing by Helmi."

Jack stopped eating and looked up at his father from the top of his plate. It was all very humorous now, though she remembered how angry it made her when she heard it sung in Finland She had once been severely whipped by her father for saying that if her own ear dared to strike her she would kill him with a broan and throw his body into the flood. But the whipping had only confirmed her determination. She hoped her father would fall and break his leg or be struck by the blind.

Helmi dressed as quickly as she could. Her hare little roses, gilded now by the warm sunshine, was a paradise to her, because here she had dreamed her glorified dreams. Helmi's radiance of spirit covered every inch of her body. She had made slight use of rice salt the hairpinnon began on her eyes and lips.

Helmi possessed three sunshiny garments, but one, but I know a girl in Eagle Mines that I think a lot of."

Helmi was pausing behind him, and her heart throbbed quickly and took her hand. "Helmi has worked her last day for you, Mrs McMann, by your own agreement work or be dismissed. Will you marry me, Helmi?" he asked impulsively.

Tells Why People Are Near-Sighted

Because Man Has Not Yet Crossed Being a Fish Says Optometrist

Nearsight—Sc. or myopia, is widely prevalent among the human species because man has not yet completely ceased being a fish, it was asserted by Dr. Leopold I. Wiseman of Buffalo, Chairman of the American Academy of Optometry, which held convention recently at the hotel Pennsylvania, New York.

"We have found," Dr. Wiseman said, "that the eyes principal causes of myopia are caused by the fact that the eyes naturally diverge to the sides, but this tendency is not developed straight ahead. The inner muscles of the eye, in trying to correct this and restore the parallelism of the vision of the two eyes are subjected to a strain which produces near-sightedness.

"Dramatic leaps have also been developed which restore this parallelism while they allow the eyes to remain in their natural, slightly divergent, position. Many cases of myopia have been relieved and many others have been entirely cured by this simple method."

Many town animals such as insects and birds, Dr. Wiseman said, have vision incomparably keener than that of man. For example, he said, "boarder are human beings to you, but to a fly they are merely specks."

Play Important Part in Disarmament Negotiations Of League

Women are laying a silent but important part in the disarmament negotiations under the auspices of the League of Nations

Miss Maxim Litvinoff, the pretty and charming wife of the chief of the Soviet delegation is an English girl and is also on the delegation of her husband as an interpreter. Miss Litvinoff, who translates the documents of the Moscovites from Russian into English, was Miss Ivy Low, one of the daughter of Sir Sidney Low She is known to literary circles as the author of a number of novels

Mme. Anatole Lunacharsky, the wife of another Russian delegate, the ex-Red Minister of Public Instruction, is also a well known writer and plays in which she has taken the leading role Another well known Soviet delegate is Mme. Kollontai. When it comes to Count Bernstorff head of the German delegation there appears to be no lady in the party. Perhaps the Count has not yet forgiven the women of the United States and its satellites for the part they played in the war.

Mme. Paul Boncour, wife of the French delegate, is a well known writer and is also one of the directors of the Institute of Intellectual Co-operation of the League of Nations.

THE PROPOSED HIGH SCHOOL.

Public interest is being these days centred upon the proposed high school by law-on which a vote will be taken on January 6th. Briefly, the School Board proposes to borrow by way of debenture the sum of $32,000 for the purpose of erecting and completing a two-storied high school building with full concrete basement. It was contended at a recent public gathering in this connection that the Board should have asked for an eight-roomed structure and none new one at that, at least the proposed building should provide six rooms. The Board states that it invited, some considerable time ago, an expression of opinion from the people on the question and that there being no response it went ahead and formulated the present policy with the view of meeting the situation at the least possible cost to the ratepayers and yet provide adequate accommodation for both the high and public school's. They say the proposed building will take care of the high school population at least for the next five years, leaving the rest and building in take care of the public school population for a similar length of time. There is no doubt the work of both schools is now severely hampered by lack of proper accommodations. A separate high school building will give the public school pupils greater facilities to study. If the by-law, however, is defeated a very serious problem will await solution by the incoming board. It is felt the west end school will have to be abandoned next year and the two grades removed to the Methodist school. In that case the high school would have to be put elsewhere or closed altogether. The latter may be the possible and probably the only alternative. There is no much use in minimizing the situation—it is there and the people will have to decide for themselves on the 6th January. The Board has called a public meeting for the evening of January 6th. Every ratepayer in town should be present and moreover should be prepared to take part in the proceedings. If you are opposed to the by-law be there to state your reasons why; on the other hand let us have your viewpoint if in favor. It cannot be denied that a high school building is wanted; there may be a difference of opinion as to the best plan upon which to proceed and that is why you should be at Wednesday night's meeting

To Settle 20,000 British Families On Canada Lands

Will be Placed in Colonies

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—The coming to Ottawa next month of Hon. L. C. Amery, dominion secretary of the British government, will very probably lead to a final determination of a large program of British migration to Canada. It was privately submitted to the British authorities some months the ago, but the decision was deferred until Mr. Amery came to Canada and had an opportunity of looking personally into matter and securing first hand information.

Considerable reticence is maintained here as the details pending a formal declaration of the question but it is known to contemplate an elaborate extension of the family settlement scheme by which, at the end of the year, three thousand families will have migrated. In the original period set, only 2,500 families either side hence the agreement was extended to cover the balance.

The new plans, however, will be different and, generally speaking, if approved, will look to the establishment of groups or colonies of British settlers in parts of the country where the opportunities are considered promising. While the movement would be directed to unsettled localities it would be designed to involve considerable pioneering, similar to that accomplished by British colonists in the early stages of western development in the situation. A feature of the plan would be that which would provide for expert supervision by experienced people of the location of the groups and for assistance to them in the problems connected with the absorption into Canadian life. The plan would be worked out on a basis co-operative contribution by the British and Canadian governments.

It is stated that the success of the empire settlement plan, confined largely to soldier lands, having been demonstrated, the new scheme, if given effect will eventually lead to the settlement of as many as 50,000 families.

Situation Better Than on December 1st in Any Previous Year on Record

OTTAWA, Dec. 24.—The seasonal losses in employment recorded at the beginning of December, were on a smaller scale than on the same date in any other of the last eight years except 1927 ,and the situation continued better than on December 1 in any previous year of the record. Statistics were published by the dominion bureau of statistics from 6,276 firms employing 586,430 persons, compared with 583,142 in the preceding month.

The most noteworthy losses were again indicated in construction and in lumber mills, while unusually pronounced improvement was reported in logging and trade. Mining, transportation and iron and steel plants were also better.

COMMUNICATION

(The paper does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.)

Editor, The Standard.

Sir,—

The "potatoes" which Dr. Craig offers with regard to the over-crowding of schools and which was referred to in your last issue by Mr. C. Hunt contains nothing that is new. It has been tried out for the past great many years and invariably where a sudden change of condition demanded larger facilities for school purposes than could be immediately given. If the "scheme" had merit one wonders why its adoption has not been more universal than it is. The fact is, however, that centres which are forced to adopt the system put away from it as quickly as possible. If it were not for the element of "human nature" in the theory might possibly work out to some advantage. I take it that Dr. Craig has had not had the experience and therefore cannot speak with very much authority. I have submitted the remarks credited by him to one who had over three years of experience on this double shift system and here in her general summing of how it worked out:

"Pupils who attend in the afternoon become fagged and behind the last hour and as well as the teachers, so much so that during that hour there is little or no studying.

"Teachers and pupils prefer the morning session as that gives them the afternoon off. Constant friction between the staff and town work become impossible.

"The morning pupils will not study during the afternoon and their outside activities are so prolonged that the evening finds them tired and the approach their studies in the morning quite listlessly. These pupils are found running about town during the afternoon or earning more money as errand boys and so on.

It is after all by Inspector Parker said in a recent address before the Trustees' Convention, the matter of economy never arises in the proceedings a new and wonderful theory to make school studies soft and easy for—and please mark the significance of his remarks—there is a royal road to learning; the pupil must study long and hard and the people must pay.

As stated, if there were any merit in Dr. Craig's suggestion it would have been adopted long ago by our councils of attention but I fear it contain no improvement whatever on the old fashioned system of from 9 to 3:30.

Yours truly,
J. W. G. MORRISON.

Presented With Purse of Gold

In spite of the severe weather, a large number of the members and adherents of the First United Church gathered together on Tuesday evening to honor Rev. M. S. and Mrs. Elliott.

Musical numbers were given by Mesdames Stephens, Newbove, Mc-Lean and Hecklert, and Messrs. Vernon Newbove and J. W. E. Meikle. In a few sincere remarks, Mr. Geo. Law referred to the deep regret which all felt at the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Kerr, and Mr. Elliott on behalf of the congregation, Sunday School and Ladies' Aid, presented the retiring pastor with a purse of gold. In reply Mr. Kerr thanked all sincerely for the splendid co-operation he has always received and expressed the wish that harmony might always prevail in the Vermilion charge.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid, and all joined in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Kerr good luck and continued blessings in their work at Mars.

Demand Motor Highways As Actual Necessity

Canada's Diamond Jubilee year is the fitting occasion for her people to register, though the Press, their reserve to build motor highways that will be lasting monuments to the extent of the work which can be accomplished during the year, the contract for the last section of the road having been awarded.

The appropriation for the current year was $8,190,000 and good progress has been made

As the Canadian National last year also got approval of a three-year branch line program, it is not expected that much legislation will emanate from that quarter this year.

The minister of finance will present a bill to ratify the agreement, con cluded some time ago with the Canadian Northern income bond holders

ODD-JOB MAN TO HEIR TO $75,000

VANCOUVER, B.C., Dec. 24.—Robert Currie, a young man has done odd jobs to earn his living recently, has been advised from Ottawa that he is heir to $75,000 left by an uncle in that city. The information was sent to St. Paul's hospital here where Currie had been working but as he had left there a few days ago to seek work elsewhere he did not learn of his good fortune until he read it in a local newspaper today. He identified himself to the police who are putting him in touch with his uncle's executors in Ottawa.

TO VOTE MILLIONS FOR N. R. RAILWAY

Appropriation to Be Included in Estimates at Coming Session

OTTAWA, Dec. 26.—A further appropriation of several million dollars for the Hudson Bay railway will be included in the railway estimates of the coming session of parliament. The amount will not be decided until the engineers report as to the extent of the work which can be accomplished during the year, the contract for the last section of the road having been awarded.

FIND EIGHT GOLD BEARING VEINS IN TUNGSTEN

RED LODGE, Mont., Dec. 24.—Discovery of gold deposits in a tertiary prepared for Christmas dinner by Mrs. A. Pollard, has started prospectors on a search for the mother lode.

Eight nuggets weighing 30 grams laid valued at about $3 were found in the tertiary. The find was raised on the Paul W. W. Cartwright ranch, two miles from Red Lodge, where placer miners obtained millions of dollars worth of dust in pioneer western days.

NEVER LOST SINGLE DAY IN 63 YEARS

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Dec 28. Sixty-three years with one firm without missing a single working day is the remarkable record of William Patterson, who retired yesterday from his employment in the yarn mills at Carrick Fergus. Even when suffering from a broken arm Patterson attended to his work.

He was the father-in-law of Mrs. F. Patterson, who was the victim of the notorious "strangler"

GHASTLY REMAINS FOUND IN HOSPICE

QUEBEC, Dec. 26.—Three carbon tied legs, two arms in a similar condition, and part of a child's skull were unearthed over the week-end by workmen engaged in clearing away the debris of the Hospice Saint Charles.

Whether these represent two, three or more children could not be determined for the present, but the mother who lost her little two in the flames of December 16 will never be known.

THE USEFULNESS OF MAPS

People Are Realizing More and More Their Value

When the art of printing was first utilized for the publication of books only a small proportion of the population in any of the then civilized countries of the world could read and in fact it was a long time afterwards before people generally could use books for the purpose. Nowadays more books are being sold than ever before, but people buy them to read and use. With better prices and also the greater interest in the subject books of all kinds. The same holds good to be true of maps, as the people learn to use them so does the demand increase; and it is equally true that once they learn to read a map and be able to use it, just as soon as they do read and use it they become more interested in it and in the subject of maps and a map is not just a piece of paper, but is a physician's balance, a lawyer's or [illegible] of [illegible] Pilgrim's Progress, and one of the impressions people get is the most complete possible [illegible] of information and skill that [illegible] purposes. It is the record of the natural and cultural [illegible] and one of the finest [illegible] development. Such a map shows [illegible] lands, industrial [illegible] areas, mineral areas, [illegible] and also and storage basins, reclamation projects, irrigation areas, [illegible] communication, etc.

One of the large map making organizations of the Dominion Government is the Topographical Survey, department of the Interior. During recent years this Service has been mainly engaged in the preparation of topographic maps of various areas throughout Canada, all being coordinated in the National Topographic series. This eventually the whole country will be mapped without overlapping or with not any part being missed. Mapping is, however, a slow process, and it will be many years before the whole country will be thus included. As each new map is issued more people are interested in order to inform people of the maps that are available an index of the maps and publications issued by the Topographical Survey will be sent free upon request

Take Necessary Precautions

Canadians have no reason to apologize for the climate of their country, even in periods of severe winter cold, on the contrary they are proud of the fact that, in so many respects, the Canadian winter is a very real asset to the Dominion. The healthy, exhilarating effect of the climate of Canada, its fine sunshine and the dryness of the air, produced it is largely responsible for the fact that Canada has such robust healthy people, full of initiative and energy. It is not a country in which lifers and slackers survive, crooks or wealth thrive, or indigenous people.

It is not necessary for people to take extreme precautions during times of severe cold, but they should take precautions against the effects of extreme cold. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the importance of keeping the feet warm and dry. Rubbers or overshoes should be worn in damp weather. It was brilliantly in the extreme cold that "Jack Frost" nips the ears, nose and fingers.

The Manitoba Government Department of Education has issued a timely warning to parents and householders cautioning them to prohibit children from going to and from school in very severe cold weather, when strong wind prevails causing severe exposure to the head and face. The Departmental warning points out that exposure of the head, even for a short time, is a frequent cause of colds, which may develop into serious illness. Children should be kept at home when the thermometer registers 40 degrees below zero, or when a strong wind is blowing and the temperature is 30 degrees below zero. The Departmental warning also points out that exposure of the head, even for a short time, is a frequent cause of colds, which may develop into serious illness. Children should be kept at home when the thermometer registers 40 degrees below zero, or when a strong wind is blowing and the temperature is 30 degrees below zero.

Superintendents of schools are requested to see that the above regulations are strictly observed, and to report to the Department any cases of infringement of the regulations.

The Saskatchewan Government has issued a similar warning to parents and householders.

Dr. Hall, Minister of Health for Saskatchewan, has issued a timely warning to parents and householders cautioning them to prohibit children from going to and from school in very severe cold weather, when strong wind prevails causing severe exposure to the head and face. The Departmental warning points out that exposure of the head, even for a short time, is a frequent cause of colds, which may develop into serious illness. Children should be kept at home when the thermometer registers 40 degrees below zero, or when a strong wind is blowing and the temperature is 30 degrees below zero

Vermilion Elks and Battleford Stage 3-3, Tie

Two minutes after Clarence Barr had broken the deadlock of 2 to 2 which came over from the second period, and within a few seconds of the final bell, Harper for North Battleford soared through an open defence and tied the score again, making the tally 3 to 3 at which it stood at the end of one of the best games of hockey as yet played at the municipal arena. The play was an exhibition one this Wednesday evening between the Vermilion Elks and North Battleford, being the first occasion upon which a team from the latter city has played at Vermilion. The locals accordingly rattles in the first period, the visitors failing to find the net due to brilliant goal work of Charlie Ivy, an old Vermilion player who arrived a few days ago from California. This was his first appearance on ice for over two years. He got into the swing of the game from the very start. Ivy took the place of the regular tender, Mead.

The period opened with the puck swiftly interchanging ends until Jimmie Habkirk, by a dash on right wing swept down the ice and made the first tally for Vermilion. This edged Battleford on and fast hockey followed. After three minutes play Habkirk again broke the line and teased in the rubber for the second count.

With the opening of the second period Battleford was bent on evening things up while Vermilion took matters a little easy. At that there was fast and scintillating moments when a fine brand of hockey was meted out. From a mix up in Battleford territory Mullin picked up, and signalling his way to Vermilion's blue line passed to Davidson who got by Ivy and the score stood 2 to 1 Vermilion, for the remainder of the period displayed wonderful hockey but failed to tally, being stopped time and again by Harry Hallwood starring in goal.

The final stanza saw fast hockey and clever stick handling, with fine combination work on both sides Harper for Battleford carried the puck up the ice, passed to Mullin at centre who got away and beat Ivy with a fast one. It was a fine play, and the score was tied. Soon after Habkirk, in a right wing, rush, got by the visitors defence, passed to Clarence Barr who broke the spell and the count stood 3 to 2 In the first of this period Battleford had the best of the ice, but in the last part were outskated and outplayed by the home team from almost every angle. It was while defending their territory, Vermilion's defence being left wide open that Harper evaded the line and tied the score. This proved one the best honors of the evening if not of the season. It had lots of combination, hook checking, swift passes and clever stick handling. The teams were pretty well balanced, Vermilion perhaps finishing the game with an advantage in weight and condition, Battleford followed up with greater speed but were somewhat wild in shooting. For the locals Habkirk, Mooney and C. Barr were the outstanding players, while Mullin, Harper and Davidson outshone for the visitors. It was a great treat to see these players in action. Vermilion had two players over the 16 year limit while Mullin for Battleford has seen 42 and yet he was all over the ice last evening. The Elks appeared in their new uniforms boasting the colors of their sponsors, the Vermilion Elks. The ice was keen and not a dull moment was seen from first to last. The only penalty of the evening was given Battleford. Bert Williams handled the game with acceptance to all.

The line-ups were

Concert and Christmas Tree Held At Canton School

The pupils, parents and friends of Canton district met in the school on the evening of December 23rd. The school was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the Christmas tree being bedecked down with a great assortment of gifts. The teacher, Miss Frieda Wetters, merits praise for the efficient way she had her pupils train for the programme being one of the shortest and completed distances, songs, recitations and choruses. The following are the names of those who took part. Freddy Webber, Harold Webber, Charlie Lyons, Brenda Lyons, Caroline Kostmeier, Thelma Lyons, Marion Merfeld, Ina Ford, Shirley Trevethan, Clifford Oldenburg, Margaret Ford, Arthur Lyons.

Mrs. O. A. Webber with her usual liberality, sent a gift to each child. At the close of the programme the chairman, Rev. Mitchelson, called for three cheers for the teacher, also for the pupils, after which all rose and sang God Save the King.

Jingle bells set all ears astir at the appearance of Santa, when each received a gift from the tree.

After a sumptuous lunch all parted for home in high glee.

Greater Trade Opportunities Beckon Canada

In the New Year's survey of general business conditions in Canada, the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, reviews the accomplishments for the past year and says "that while this review of national progress should strengthen the faith of every Canadian in his country, the Department urgently desires to point the way to the larger opportunity — export trade."

"Canadians are exercising thrift, industry and intelligence—the cardinal virtues of business. The results are that almost without exception the statistics show 1927 to have been a prosperous year. Our trade has increased. Crops have abounded. Our rocky shields, our forests, seas and lakes have yielded more of their riches. Industry has expanded. Relations between employer and employe have been agreeable. Work has been plentiful. Taxes and debt have been decreased. We have a solvent country with our dollar at par or better the world over.

LOOK BEYOND OUR BOUNDARIES

"But what of the future? Our nine million people cannot consume more than a fraction of our ever-growing production, both of natural products and manufactures. We must look beyond our boundaries for markets if we are to continue to be prosperous. Today, Canada stands near the hill top. In total trade our country ranks fifth among the nations of the earth, while in population we are but twenty-seventh. As their forefathers blazed the trail into the wilderness,

C. N. Team Wins In Fast Game On Monday Night

Edmonton Railroaders Edge Home in Front by 5-4 Score

VERMILION, Jan. 3.—A picked team from the C. N. R. Interdepartment league of Edmonton clashed with the Vermilion Elks at the municipal arena here last night, and after one of the hardest fought games of the season won out by a score of 5 to 4. It was a speedy game in the first two periods, both teams being fairly well balanced, but in the last session the visitors had the edge on the playing, the Elks putting up a brilliant defence with Ivy in goal checking one shot after the other.

The brand of hockey meted out was the best witnessed here this season, and on the night's play the better team won. The visitors were light and excelled in speed, but the Elks had it in weight and staying powers. The outstanding player of the evening was Jimmie Hablkirk, right wing for the home team. Besides playing the full sixty minutes without being rubbed, he finished as trunk as he began. He scored three of the goals; his rushes were effective and his stick handling high class.

For the visitors, the Pirrie brothers, McGreevey and Black carried the weight of the playing. They rushed fast and their combination work was a brilliant feature of the game.

Besides Hablkirk, Manson Barr, C Barr and Mooney played the game very well for the Elks. They gave fine exhibitions of fast hockey and clever combination work. Ivy in goal for the Elks showed great coolness and successfully combated the efforts of the visitors, especially in the last period, to roll up a decisive score. Billy McLeod for Edmonton made brilliant stops throughout the game and his work saved several tallies being registered against his team.

Seven penalties were handed out—four to Vermilion and three to the visitors, all for minor offences.

Bert Williams again handled the game with acceptance to the fans as well as to the contestants on the ice.

The line-up was as follows: Edmonton—McLeod, F. English, J. McGreevy, R. Dalzell, G. Pirrie, Ed. Pirrie, Dan Hislop, Borden Tisdell and Seagan. Vermilion—Ivy, M. Barr, W. Barnett, C. Barr, Hablkirk, Mooney, Rowbotham and Roblick.

In a field-day after the game between Manager H. W. Hooper, of the Elks, announced that he was to leave his position. The exact form in which the Elks have played this season has been due to the uncertainty of Mr. Harper stated he found it necessary to devote more time to his own business interests of work. The Department of Trade and Commerce has an active organization in the principal trading centres of the world. Working under the direction of the Commercial Intelligence Branch at Ottawa, this organization has already enabled Canadian firms to obtain profitable and permanent markets in foreign lands. Canadian officials, strategically located, search out opportunities for the sales of Canadian products, and investigate all conditions under which these may be transported and offered for consumption. These official Trade Commissioners stand ready to assist the Canadian producer or manufacturer. Their whole effort, co-ordinated from Ottawa, is designed to create new markets for Canada, and help hold those we already have. Such a service is at the call of every Canadian who asks it."

Over 500 applications have been made for permission to witness the murderer's execution on January 13. In the majority of cases those seeking this permission are women. Not a few are from out of town. The authorities are not even answering such requests. Only prominent relatives, the officials reporting the execution, coroners and jury will witness the final chapter in the elimination of Nelson.

Britain Forges Ahead

Those pessimistic gloom-w... have been predicting the rapid decline of British power and prestige throughout the world, and those who watch the wind to ascertain which way it blows, will have their worst fears confirmed shortly by reading the results of the latest census. For evidence accumulates, and fact is being piled upon fact, which go to demonstrate the virility prestige and power of the Old Land and the Empire as a whole.

Notwithstanding the fact that Germany was particularly bitter against Britain for entering the world war, and using its hymn of hate because it realized that the British empire was the greatest obstacle to its ambitions, it is a fact today that ... more friendly feeling exists in Germany toward Britain than in entente-ridden, for any other nation which was mixed up in the war.

For while the anti-British feeling in China was temporarily at its height largely an anti-British feeling for the cultivation of which world-wide events have largely responsible. But the inevitable reaction has now set in, and the designs of Russia and the true nature of British policy is becoming daily more and understood.

At the meeting of the Institute of Pacific Relations held at Honolulu last July, Sir Frederick Whyte, chief unofficial spokesman for Great Britain, presented a memorandum on the history of Anglo-Chinese relations from the time of Lord Macartney's mission in 1793 down to the famous memorandum of Sir Austen Chamberlain of a year ago. This memorandum dealt fairly with the mistakes made by both nations, and it demonstrated from the past acts of Great Britain that the conciliatory attitude of Sir Austen Chamberlain at present was the logical outcome of those acts.

It is interesting to recall at the time when the Nationalists of China are breaking off diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia, the manner in which Sir Frederick White's memorandum was received by the Chinese National delegates at the Honolulu meeting. These delegates had distributed in advance a printed circular entitled "Twenty-eight Points," which was replete with sharp strictures on British foreign policy. But when Sir Frederick presented the other side, an impression arose that the Chinese delegates by it fairness and by the British point of view that they withdrew their own document, and asked for the return of the copies distributed. This is hardly a sign of hirsute decadence in world affairs, or an evidence of loss of prestige. The fact that anti-British feeling in China is dying down is the truth.

Surely as Lt.-Col. Ernest Brittain is regaining her position as the financial centre of the world. The pound sterling has returned to par, even in New York, and the flow of gold, which has been almost continuous to the United States for some years past, has recently had an effect in the first gold to ... New York ... London. Great Britain continues promptly on due date to make her enormous payments to the United States on account of war obligations and with ever payment made her position becomes stronger.

British financial institutions and industrial concerns are more and more regaining their position in world markets, and whereas during the war British investments and securities in foreign lands and in the overseas Dominions had to be withdrawn in order to carry on the grim struggle, British investments are again active throughout the world.

As carriers of the commerce of the world, and the great commercial clearing house for all nations, British remains supreme. In ship building, despite all the efforts of other nations, British retains the leadership by a wide margin.

And in this general improvement in position the overseas Dominions of the Empire, led by Canada, are contributing an ever increasing share.

Tilted Taxi Drivers

Many Russian Nobility Are Chauffeurs In Paris

There was a time when the Paris taxi drivers were usually bachelors of art and candidates in philosophy. This has all changed. They are now Counts, Dukes, Marquises, Colonels and Generals. The Russians have aristocratized them. But there are also many genuine Russian among them. They may be picked out by their gracious manners, their broad minds, their knowledge of the map, and I believe they swear by St. Anastasia instead of a real Gallic Saint Taxi-Driver. Vol. Populaire have written to the papers recently that these Russian ex-Grand Dukes and Cherubian Hetmans are not only ignorant of the Paris labyrinth, but that they refuse to learn their geography. One lady reports that the driver took her for a long ride, altogether out of the direction of the address she had given, and pointed to nothing unusual at his charge with a broad smile. As he kept up a brisk pace and a brisk pace in Paris, she considered that she did not venture to jump out. Finally they were halted by a signal at a crossing, the lady called a gendarme.

What do you mean?" asked the latter of the chauffeur. "Don't you know the street?" "Yes," replied the Count, "but I am a Russian ex-General, "your Commander-in-chief has never sent me to Paris before. I've never been in a taxi before." A phrase reminiscent of the Russian front, perhaps.

Better Handling Of Cream Would Reduce Losses

Saskatchewan farmers lost considerably more than a million dollars during the year ended October 31 as a result of cream being graded down for various reasons, according to F. Cancer Research

Investigations Carried On In England For Quarter Of A Century

The 25th annual report of the Imperial cancer research fund recently issued in London, tells of patient investigation which for a quarter of a century has been in progress. Unhappily there is as yet no indication that the goal of the work is in sight.

Dr. Murray, the director of the fund, deals at some length in the report with the disputed question whether or not cancer is a military invader of the body that is to say, whether or not two or more cancers can be implanted together and results do for example, warts. Dr. Murray believes that the evidence he has obtained disproves that the hypothesis of "military view. This is a matter of some importance because if it be true that a second cancer could easily grow in a body in which a cancer is already established, then presumptive evidence that the human race can make an attempt to rid itself of cancer, and hope is engendered of being able some day to make use of this natural healing power.

The Wonder Of Dry Ice

New Product Evaporates Slowly and Leaves No Liquid

In a recent electrical exposition in New York, a castle was shown made entirely of ice. One of the wonders of the new product is that it does not leave any liquid as it slowly evaporates. It is called carbon dioxide and is made by frozen to a temperature of 109 degrees below zero.

It is believed one of dry ice is for the refrigeration of perishable foods in transit. This may be a plot of ice cream which the housewife is carrying home from the store, or a refrigerator car of fruit speeding from the west coast of Canada.

To carry home the ice cream, the pint package of the cream is placed in a slightly larger package of ice which permits a piece of dry ice to lie against the package of cream. On reaching home the housewife can leave the package of cream standing on a table for six hours because the dry ice lasts that long.

Next summer on those hot days you can carry a piece around in your pocket and keep cool.

Tibet Closed To Foreigners

People Are Angry Over Statements Made By Explorer

The secretary of the Royal Geographical Society is unable to confirm the statement made by Captain Odell in New York that a new expedition to climb Mount Everest was being organized. Captain Odell was a member of the society's 1924 expedition.

The India Office states that the next expedition to Mount Everest will not be made for some time, owing to the anger of the Tibetans at statements made by an explorer following his return from a secret trip to Tibet. This explorer is said to have exhibited on European lecture platforms two Tibetan royal members as priests of the Dalai Lama, ruler of Tibet. When these statements drifted back to Tibet the Lama was so enraged that he refused to permit any more foreigners to visit the country. Under an agreement with the British officials in India foreigners are kept back from the gates to Tibet by the British.

The latest explorer is said to have broken his word to the British, causing the Lama to lose confidence in them and to deny entrance to all foreigners.

At that time the British Government was negotiating with the Lama on behalf of the Royal Geographical Society which desires to continue the exploration of Mount Everest. The society was forced to postpone the expedition, but when the Lama again decides to receive visitors in his mysterious country, they will probably be the first guests.

The India Office said no negotiations were being carried out at present, but it received an inquiry some time ago from a German, explorer connected with the Berlin Museum, about as to the steps necessary for making the trip by way of British India.

Some interesting figures appear in connection with the plant operated by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company at Trail, B.C., have been made public by W. E. Payne, secretary of the Vancouver Board of Trade, following a recent visit into the interior.

The smelter has a capacity of 750 tons of refined metals per day, and it is the largest metallurgical plant in the world.

The lead output is 410 tons daily, or one-tenth of the world's entire output.

The copper output runs 70 tons daily.

Soviets Are Blamed For Chinese Trouble

Canton Leaders Accuse Russian In Vain Efforts To Foreign Consulates

Canton.—A note stating that the Russian representative of the Soviet Communist outbreak here and the burning of the city was handed by the Chinese Nationalist now in control to foreign consulates.

Arms, bags, and marked military cape were found in the consulate, the Soviet Consulate was headquarters of the Communists, the note said. It was stated that the Soviet consul general, instead of being released as planned, would be held until the incriminating documents were translated.

The note served as a reply to the statement of Mr. Tscherbersky, Soviet consul, for foreign affairs, that the Soviet was not engaged in any plot to overthrow the Canton government. It was stated that the Russians had extensive plans for bringing in a peasant army from the surrounding districts.

MISSIONARIES ARE RESCUED BY BRITISH MARINES

Hong Kong.—Arrested December 22 for preaching and practising Christianity, and held prisoner for nearly a week near Swatow, 60 miles from Hong Kong, a party of 10 Italian and Chinese priests and nuns has been rescued from Communists by the British destroyer Seragh.

A Chinese convert, who came here from Swatow reported to the Catholic Bishop that one Chinese and two Italian priests and seven nuns were held prisoners and that the Chinese priest had been sentenced to death. The Bishop communicated with Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt, commander in chief of the British naval forces, who immediately ordered the Seragh to proceed to Swatow where the prisoners were rescued.

The Communists were at first reluctant to give up a Chinese priest and nun, but on being informed that unless this was done the destroyer would be conducted through the hangars by force they gave way and explain to them the various types of machines used in modern air travel.

Famine In China

Four Million In Shantung Facing Direst Extremity

Pekin.—Over 4,000,000 in the province of Shantung and part of Chihli are facing extreme famine, which unless relieved by much more severe as winter progresses, a committee of observers has reported.

The report grew out of the Chinese International famine relief commission's appeal to the Red Cross for aid in the famine area, and the Red Cross for more exact information.

A survey was then compiled by foreign and foreign authorities and observers.

Thousands in Shantung were found already subsisting on bark of trees, chaff and grass.

While the Chinese famine relief committee has been organized, the committee thought that "civil war, banditry and exorbitant taxation" were largely to blame for Shantung's plight.

The peak of suffering was said not to have been reached. It will grow more intense from the Chinese New Year, January 23, until spring.

MANY BRITISH SETTLERS COMING TO CANADA SOON

Ottawa.—The coming to Ottawa next month of Hon. L. C. Amery, Dominion Secretary of the British Government, probably will lend to a final determination of a large program of British migration to Canada. It was privately submitted to the British authorities some months ago but the decision was deferred until Mr. Amery had an opportunity of looking personally into the matter and securing first-hand information.

Considerable reticence is maintained here as to details pending a formal discussion of the question, but the plan is known to contemplate an establishment of the family settlement scheme by which, at the end of this year 3,000 families will have migrated. In the original period set, only 2,500 families came and hence the agreement was extended to cover the balance.

The new plan, however, will be different and generally speaking, if approved, will look to the establishment of groups or colonies of British settlers in parts of the country where the opportunities are considered most promising. While the movement would not be confined to unsettled localities, it would be designed to involve considerable pioneering, similar to that responded by British colonies in the early stages of Western development in the nineties. A feature of the plan would be the special pamphlet drawn up by the Canadian League of Nations Society.

Famine In China

Four Million In Shantung Facing Direst Extremity

Pekin.—Over 4,000,000 in the province of Shantung and part of Chihli are facing extreme famine, which unless relieved by much more severe as winter progresses, a committee of observers has reported.

The report grew out of the Chinese International famine relief commission's appeal to the Red Cross for aid in the famine area, and the Red Cross for more exact information.

A survey was then compiled by foreign and foreign authorities and observers.

Thousands in Shantung were found already subsisting on bark of trees, chaff and grass.

While the Chinese famine relief committee has been organized, the committee thought that "civil war, banditry and exorbitant taxation" were largely to blame for Shantung's plight.

The peak of suffering was said not to have been reached. It will grow more intense from the Chinese New Year, January 23, until spring.

Noted Russian Scientist Bequeaths Brain To Noted Collection

Moscow.—"The brain of Lenin," founded by Prof. Vladimir Bechterev noted Russian psychiatrist, to study the source of talent and genius, will shortly have a fourth brain added to the three already preserved — that of Prof. Bechterev himself.

The noted scientist, who has been devoting much time in recent months to organization of the brain institute which had been approved by the Soviet Government, died recently from heart failure, but left word in his testament that his brain should be added to the three already preserved — that of Prof. Bechterev himself.

The brains already in the collection are those of Anton Rubinstein, the famous pianist and composer Dmitri Mendeleif, naturalist and chemist, and Alexander Kolmi, writer

No Other Power Could Settle Polish-Lithuania Dispute Says Senator Dandurand

New York.—No power on earth except the League of Nations could have effected a settlement of the differences between Poland and Lithuania that led to the episode of Senator Raoul Dandurand, Canada's representative on the council.

The leader of the Canadian Senate returned from Geneva on the Mauretania. Acceptance by the two countries of the League's decision to send a commission to settle the boundary dispute between them, he declared, was a triumph for the League.

Strengthen Canadian Navy

Government To Seek Authority For Purchase Of Two Modern Destroyers

Ottawa.—The Government will seek authority at the coming session of parliament for the purchase of two new modern destroyers to be delivered within three years. The new destroyers will replace the Patrician and Patriot. The Patriot and Patrician will be sold out of the Canadian navy.

Construction of the first of the new destroyers is to be commenced at once. In the meantime, arrangements have been made with the admiralty to obtain two destroyers to carry on with until the new ones are built. They are H.M.S. Torbay and Toreador, and the Canadian Government has authorized the commencing of the work forthwith at Portsmouth to recondition the vessels and bring them forward for Canadian service.

It is expected they will arrive in Canada in time for the end of March.

The Torbay and Toreador were built in Thornycrofts and belong to the same group as the S class of which Canada formerly had four. They compose the eighth destroyer flotilla in commission on the China station. There are in commission and on the list in reserve in the Australian naval service. One is in reserve commission on the Mediterranean station.

Compensation For Lindbergh

Estimated That He Has Earned Quarter Of a Million

New York.—The New York Sun says: "Since his Paris flight Lindbergh has earned $250,000. The Ortieg prize was $25,000; the profit from his book "We," and his newspaper articles was estimated at approximately $200,000 and it was said that he received $25,-000 from the Guggenheim fund to finance his tour of the United States

The Sun also says a director of one of the largest fruit companies in the United States told of offering Lindbergh a job at anything he wished at any salary, and named his price.

"I don't want any more money than I am worth. I won't take any job just to capitalize my name. I should decide to work for you I want to be paid what I can actually earn. I'm not worth much, except my name, and I won't sell that."

British Cattle Infected

Foot and Mouth Disease Breaks Out In Several Centres

London.—Twenty-six outbreaks of foot and mouth disease in six counties distributed centres of infection has necessitated declaration of a "standstill" area by the ministry of agriculture. The effect of the declaration is to prohibit movement of cattle, sheep pigs and goats in the area without a license. The movement of milk from the "stand still" area is free from restriction and markets will be strictly regulated.

The "stand still" area covers practically the whole of the Midlands and part of Yorkshire and Lancashire.

Employment Situation Improves

Ottawa.—The seasonal losses in employment recorded at the beginning of December were on a smaller scale than on the same date in any of the last eight years, the percentage of trade unionists continued better-than-on December 1 in any previous year. The decrease, however, is not as great as that shown by returns from 6,276 firms employing 548,145 persons, as compared with 492,145 in the previous month.

would provide accommodation for 180 students. The present enrolment was about 90. Removing the high school would enable the east end school to be utilized wholly for public school purposes. The board will be forced to close the west end school as the building had become unsanitary. If the by-law is defeated, he wondered what the incoming board would do. As far as he could see the only alternative would be to close the high school or find school facilities in other buildings in town. The situation to his mind was a serious one. The question of increase in our taxes should not be considered when it was a matter of providing the best educational facilities for the boys and girls of Vermilion. Some would oppose it because their children having passed out of school they were no longer interested in higher education. The view was a selfish one. We must all work together or quit. He was surprised that there was any opposition at all to the granting of the proposed by-law. He would remind those that in voting against the proposal they would be saying to the boys and girls of the town "You are not going to have the facilities you require to educate yourselves and fit you for life's battle if we can help it." Remember, he said, in cancelling a spirited and convincing address, that when you go to the poll on Friday next, those boys and girls will be watching you and with anxious hearts will await your verdict as to whether you are going to give them a high school or not. The responsibility is yours.

Mayor Fallow in a short address accepted the judgment of the school board as being possibly correct and was prepared to support the by-law. He felt the board must have adopted its policy only after giving it every due consideration and he was quite willing to abide by their decision in the matter.

Mr. J. H. Bell wondered if it would not have been better to provide four rooms on the one floor and then arranged for the erection of an additional story to be finished as required. Several speakers felt that the facilities provided in the proposed scheme were more than adequate. Dr. Scott of the board pointed out that the premises of the high school would give twelve classrooms, or room for 480 pupils on closure of the building on the South Side, or a total of 615. The attendance was now 355. There would be then room for 100 additional pupils. Mr. Morrison stated they had been advised the cost of heating such a building as Mr. Bell suggested would be more than the one proposed, and as for the building of an area to be used as required it simply meant that we would be paying interest on a building from which were not deriving any benefit. He felt certain the Utility Commission would not approve of it.

Remarks were made and questions asked by Mr. Pilkie, Mr. Snape and others.

The chairman, in summing up the outcome of the addresses, felt that there did not appear to be any argument as against the building of the high school—there appeared to be a difference of opinion as to the kind of building to put with the assurance that the proposed 4-room building would provide the increased accommodation for 180 pupils and judging by the record of the past five years, there did not appear to him to be any choice but to support the proposal submitted by the board. He was not, however, urging his views upon the meeting. Those present could give expression to their own opinions in the matter. Mr. Morrison, in closing the meeting, appealed to the people to get behind the scheme. "We have a real silicent risk. Why? To give the boys and girls a chance of receiving what they should urge the building of a dormitory in connection with the School of Agriculture and would be a splendid asset to the town, and we should build this high school to give our children the best that can be provided to enable them to fit themselves for life's battle. With taxes growing to the north of us, and before long to the south, we must move forward and make this a big educational centre, and when we do that Vermilion will grow and prosper. If we fail to grasp these opportunities we must of necessity drop back."

Big Attendance At High School Meeting

Keen Interest Is Taken In Question

The public meeting held in the Community Hall Wednesday evening in connection with the proposed high school by-law was largely attended, all evincing a great deal of interest in the question at issue. R. D. Cooper was elected to the chair and after explaining the purpose of the meeting, called on Secretary Long for some remarks. Mr. Long gave an outline of the financial side of the situation. The proposed debenture is 20 years would cost $41,280.00 for principal and interest. Under the present assessment as a basis, the retirement would mean a mill rate of 3 and 1-10ths or $13.50 on each $1000 assessment for the first year. The total payments would decrease each year. The by-law would not affect the rural areas as their assessment is fixed by statute.

The chairman of the Board, Mr. Morrison, followed. He referred to some minor changes that had been made in the plans to provide for natural cloak rooms. It was intended to instal either steel or frame lockers of to each room. The space provided for a cloth room would, in connection with the science class room, be utilized as a small laboratory for students desirous of doing special work. With the exception of this one, which would have a connecting door with the class room, all the cloak rooms would open from the corridors. The building

Outlook Bright For 1928

Will Witness A Great Development Through Surrounding Country

A general survey of the business interests on Saturday evening disclosed a feeling of optimism regarding the year which was born in a few hours later. The concensus of opinion was that 1927 was one of the best years in the history of the town. Business all around averaged at least twenty five per cent more than 1926 and in many instances the increase was as high as fifty per cent. About a year ago there was a feeling that the development of the new railway to the north might effect things adversely in town, but the experience has been quite to the contrary.

The intense cold of the month of November and also of December with the exception of a few days before Christmas delayed the shipping of grain and consequently there has not been that general liquidation of collections that otherwise would have taken place. A few days of mild weather Christmas week enhanced trade in every direction, making it by a long way the best the town has ever had. Since then, with the recovery at from 35 to 40 below things have been at a standstill more or less.

The new C. P. R. line was practically completed to Whitford and this season's grain is being hauled out. Lack of cars and water facilities, however, hamper shipments considerably. The cold weather setting in so early prevented the erection of the elevators along the entire portion of the road built during the year. At that, millions of bushels will be taken out before spring. In 1926 the hamlets of Chauvenelle, Dewberry and Marwayne were little boxing and are now thriving business centres. In 1927 Derwent, formerly known as Monitan, led the way and bids fair to become one of the busiest locations on the line.

In Vermilion the building of the municipal areas at a cost of about $10,000 was perhaps the most forward event of the year. In 1928 it is expected to see the erection of the proposed high school, a dormitory in connection with the school of agriculture, and possibly an addition to the electric light and power plant of the town. If these three signatures are proceeded with they will mean a possible expenditure in the town of about $180,000. The people as a whole are looking forward to much growth and development in 1928

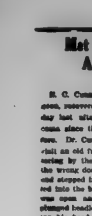
WOLF CUB NOTES.



Scrubless Wolf Cubs turned out to the first meeting in the new year. Though this was not the whole Pack, with numbers 24, it was more than could be easily accommodated in the room kindly loaned us for the occasion. Wolf Cubs need to be assured as well as instructed, and success in running a Pack must necessarily depend to a certain extent on the amount of room we can have at our disposal. While the Cubs are enthusiastic and ready to co-operate with the C. M. to make their Park worth while, their ardour is somewhat dampened when they have to squeeze into a small room, or crowd round the stove for warmth at the weekly meetings. Offers of a room loaned for two hours once a week during the cold weather only) would be very gratefully accepted.

At this first meeting in 1928 the following prize were drawn up:—

1. A Cub must obey the Old Wolf Instantly.

2. A Cub must obey a Sixer as soon as possible and in a pleasant manner.

3. A Cub must arrive in time to the meetings (by 20 minutes past four).

4. A Cub must remain silent during Instruction or while a story is being told.

5 No nonsense will be tolerated Now laws will be made as the occasion arises.

Vermilion Farmer Found Dead

David Enson, a farmer living a few miles west of Vermilion, was found dead in his home on Friday morning of last week. It appears that he got up as usual in the morning and must have dropped dead almost as he did so, as his body was found near the stove with a brake on the head where he fell in falling. He had struck a chair. The fire had not been kindled this wife, who was unwell, did not get up for some time after and to find her husband dead. The deceased was about 66 years of age and leaves besides his widow, one daughter, May Enson, and a brother, Alex ander Enson.

For any law broken a black mark will be given. Two black marks at a day's game Wolfie proved refer to Vermilion, while Mooney, Badger Cooper, Fallow and Bell each denied the soft impeachment.

The game at Manville proved much closer a game at Vermilion just scoring out on the long end of a 6-5 score. The game was one packed with fast skating trick stick-work and flashes of nice combination play. For the local boys Cooper looked the best and Badger and Wiebe came next. The line-ups were the same as in the game here except that Mooney was missing from the Vermilion sextette.

It is expected the next match will take place at the municipal arena on Monday, January 9th.

Vermilion Juniors Win Two Games

Scores of 7-1 and 4-3 Against Manville Hockeyists

Last Friday evening, Dec. 30th saw the first appearance of the Manville Juniors hockey aggregation at the local arena, when they clashed with the Vermilion Juniors in the first game of the McLean Cup series. Although the game saw some fast hockey it proved to be a scoring bee for the local boys. Evidently the Manville lads were somewhat "at sea" in the covered rink, as they gave the homesters a hard tussle in the game at Manville on Monday last. In Friday's game Wiebe proved referee for Vermilion, while Mooney, Badger Cooper, Fallow and Bell each donned the net once. For Manville, Burel was the only player to get one past Clarence Welch in the local goal

SOCIAL GATHERING AT WATSON SCHOOL

The children with their parents and friends, met in the Watson School Hindville, in a social capacity on Friday evening, December 23rd, when Mr John Fowler and his teachers of the Sunday school entertained. The Christmas tree was splendidly decorated for the occasion All kinds of games, songs, recitations and other amusements were gone into with great zest and glee. The children received gifts of fruit, candies and other things and an ample and splendid lunch was served.

When the hour came to part, all agreed that they had spent a happy evening and one to be long in the best of spirits and feeling they had at least helped to weld the bond of friendship closer one to another.

COUTTS — TILL

A very pretty wedding took place in the Anglican Church in Lashburn week when Miss Winnie Till and Mr Noel Coutts were united in marriage by Rev Mr. Willis on December 31st 1927.

The bride looked very dainty and attractive in peach colored satin with hand colored georgette overdress embroidered in pearls, the true lovers' knot design being tastefully carried out in pearls and fancy colored sequins. She wore a hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of roses and maiden-hair fern. She was attended by her cousin, Phyllis Harding who was dressed in pink taffeta with silver trimmings and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The groom was attended by Bertrand J Riddell, brother in-law of the bride.

Amongst their friends in Lashburn were Mrs. James Dillon, Mrs. (Dr.) Moran, Mr. and Mrs. Garmsey, Mr. and Mrs. Riddell, Mrs. Gosling and daughter Phyllis from North Battleford.

The groom's friends from Vermilion (in charge of Mrs H. Armstrong and daughter Franklin, Mr. Wilfred Wallake of Hardisty, Mrs Sadie Carrol Mrs D Harrison, Mrs J MacGinnis, Mr and Mrs. Norman McClellan, Mrs T. Moore, Mr. T. Sherwood, Mrs. Lewis, mother of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coutts.

The groom's gift to the bride was a sterling silver necklace and pendant, to the bridesmaid a gold bar pin and to the groomsman gold cuff links. A very dainty buffet lunch was served after which Mr Norman McClellan proposed a toast to the bride, in which the groom responded in a few well-chosen words.

Among the many presents received by the bride were some especially fine pieces of silver and china.

Accident Results In Death

Funeral of Dr. E. T. Cunningham Held Yesterday

A large number of friends and relatives assembled at the Anglican church Wednesday afternoon to pay their last respects to the late Dr. E. T. Cunningham who passed away last Sunday morning under rather tragic circumstances. The Rev. A. Rees Sage, B.A. conducted the service and spoke very fervently of the great life beyond, and emphasized the change from this mortal to the immortal, and the need for all to be prepared. It was a solemn service throughout, marking the end of one of the earliest settlers in the district.

A number of cars were offered for use by friends of the deceased, and Mr. John Craig and Mr. C. Robinson very kindly rendered the family and mourners.

The body was on view at J. Warling's funeral home before the service where a number of people came to take a last look at their lost friend. A beautiful wreath of choice flowers gave expression to the deep feeling of the family, as did also a nice display from the Adair family, and a horseshoe design from the Turf club.

The sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to the sorrowing family in their very sad bereavement.

The late E. T. Cunningham was born at Grand Valley, Ontario. He graduated from the Ontario Veterinary college at Toronto in 1894 and for seven years following practised at Dundalk, Ontario, after which he came west, locating at Vermilion as one of the pioneers of the district Since that time he has practised at Weyburn, Melville and Battleford in Saskatchewan and Edmonton and Vegreville. His first wife predeceased him some years ago.

He was a prominent member of the Masonic association and in politics was a staunch Conservative

EMINENT AMONG TENORS

(From Victoria Daily Times)

Mr. Dales has gained an eminent position among the tenors of the day. He is a singer with a voice, who sings, and to sing demands more than a splendid voice, a rare vocal organ. He wants in determined by the degree of his warmth, emotion, color, power and flexibility. More than this a singer must command his audience, he must touch the chord of their responsiveness. And besides the equipment of a singing talent, musical intelligence and the art of interpretation are other requisites, and so, too, is the capacity, singularly lacking in many a singer, the faculty to enunciate the text—the story of the song. Mr. Dales is happily possessed of all these. He has, moreover, a pleasant and charming manner of announcing his song or acts prelimin ary to their delivery.

Confessing astonishment that Canadians laughed at him when he predicted the time would come when Canada would walk southward and annex the United States, Morley Roberts, Englishtraveller and author, holds fast to his view in his book "On the Old Road." His tussle is that the hardy, sturdy northern nation will some day grow so strong in the regions south of Hudson's Bay that economic pressure will force it to expand southward

As a variation upon an old theme the prophecy of this English writer is amusing and refreshing. Heretofore most of the annexationist talk has run in the other direction. What Mr. Roberts says on this subject is about as sensible as what any other professional annexationist has ever said. After all, probably the proposal that Canada should annex the United States is about as reasonable as the proposal that the United States should annex Canada. The one would serve as well as the other. However it is, the question of international politics has to do with annexation as it is such a topic as a possibility for merriment only. Serious talk about annexation is a waste of breath, and as practical logic it is certainly said it is good to laugh at. I dragged out and revealed for the thickness thing it is.—Regina Leader.

Tradition Of Seven Sisters

Trees Planted Four Centuries Ago Have Name To London Street

Seven Sisters Road, London, takes its name from seven old trees in a row on the pavement, which were planted in a single day four centuries ago, according to tradition. Legend says that the seven daughters of Mr. Mc Rae, of Tottenham, planted their slim lances and saplings, which in time grew to their present stature.

Even the implements seem to laugh at time. I was shown a hammer which the maker said was worn to perfect thickness with the use of a hundred years. The head was at least three inches thick, and the side used for beating the gold was burnished like a mirror. There were marble blocks on which the gold was laid to be beaten, and the finer thickness of the gold leaf. Today a skilful beater can produce from a square inch of gold a piece one-hundredth part of an inch, or a hundred times thinner than a cigarette paper.

WORLD'S OLDEST CRAFT

Gold Beating Has Not Changed Since Time Of Pharaohs

The gold beater of today is doing things in exactly the same manner as the gold beaters under the Pharaohs did 5,000 years ago.

"These ancient Egyptians did fine work," he will say with artistic relish. "A marvellous chair was found in the Tut-ankh-Amen tomb in a state of perfection and the gold looks as bright as if it had been applied last week.

"If any of these ancient workmen were resurrected to-day, he would understand at once the theory of our methods. The principle might into my workshop and carry on the task they left unfinished centuries ago. I am one of the few crafts untouched by the hands of science.

"There have been attempts, hundreds of them, to introduce machinery, but in the end it has been found that here is a craft in which man's right arm is the only perfect machine. There are a few machines in my workshop, it is true, but they are used only for the earliest process that of drawing out the gold bar into a long ribbon. All the essential work is done by hand."

Apart from this minor innovation the workshop would perceive no change save in the substitution of an iron hammer for the wooden one. The tools, and in the finer thickness of the gold leaf. Today a skilful beater can produce from a square inch of gold a piece one-hundredth part of an inch, or a hundred times thinner than a cigarette paper.

Courtesy An Asset Worth Cultivating

Courtesy On Business Dealings Brings Big Returns

Mr. Leon Fraser, Secretary of the Ontario Tourist Association, has written to the Department of National Revenue expressing appreciation of the courteous treatment accorded by the Department's officials at ports of entry to the many thousands of visitors with whom they have come into personal contact."

Courtesy is an asset which does not cost anything, but brings big returns. Visitors from the United States during the past summer have spoken of the courtesy of police, of other officials, and of the people in general. It has been so notable as to improve itself upon them, and they must have departed from the country with a most kindly feeling toward its citizens. If the officials at the border have been able to earn credit for courtesy when they are hard pressed for efficiency and effectiveness, and when the floodtide of tourist traffic is at its height, the Department of National Revenue is to be congratulated upon the type of men in the service. The courteous customs officer is extremely busy and zealously watchful in a trait worth possessing, for it is rare. There are prevailing circumstances every day, but the Customs officials must have themselves well in hand when they conduct in general become the subject of a commendation every letter such as was written by the Tourist Association.

Mr. Fraser is entitled to the thanks of the citizens for passing along his information to headquarters. Courtesy is worth cultivating, and rewarding promptly. It is well to let the authorities know that good points in the service are recognized also.—Toronto Globe

JESUS AND SINNERS

Golden Text: "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners."—Mark 2.17.

Lesson: Mark 2.1-17.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 32. 1, 2, 5-7, 10, 11.

Explanations and Comments

I. An Instance Of Persevering Faith, verses 1, 2.—When Jesus returned to Capernaum and it became known that he was in the house, so great a crowd gathered that there was not room for more even about the door. Four men who had brought a palsied friend to Jesus, finding that they could not come near him, succeeded with their burden to the roof. They made an opening through the roof and let the man down before the Great Physician.

If it was one of the better homes in Capernaum, there was a central courtyard in which the crowd gathered, and Jesus spoke to them from the gallery, or veranda, which extended around the wall of the house. In that case, it was the work of the roof over the veranda which were removed. If it was a poorer house, there was only one room, with an outside stairway leading to the roof, where in warm weather the family slept. The roof could be easily opened, or dug through, for it was almost flat, sloping only enough to let the rain run off, and was composed of mortar, tar and gravel, rolled until hard. Sometimes the joists were covered with stone slabs, and if this was the case in Peter's house, the men had not only to dig through the earth but to lift up the slabs.

The bed was but a mattress, padded quilt, or blanket, and as the roof was low the four men could hold on to the corners and by stooping could lower down the sick man without the aid of ropes (as the pictures of most of the pictures of the event). Probably in bringing the man the bearers carried him on the bed, upon a bier, or stretcher.

The four men were persevering and they were inventive. Most men would have been discouraged by the crowd and satisfied that they had done all that could be done. Would have carried the sick man home again. Could they be expected to do the impossible.

"If you find that one door is blocked, try another; and if no ordinary way is open, contrive an extraordinary way. Tear up the roof, make a new departure, play by inventive and enthusiasm is persistent."—Samuel Chadwick.

Not a Modern Dish

Ice Cream Was a Delicacy in Italy Nine Centuries Ago

Promoted suddenly to public favor during the past 20 years, ice cream is popularly regarded as a comparatively new delicacy in America. Most people are surprised to learn that it was esteemed a delicacy in Italy nine centuries ago by princes.

To reconcile the ice-cream bricks and cornets of today with the vicomte delights and dripping bombes of mediaeval Europe is difficult for modern domesticated minds. But in all probability Nero, the Emperor Richard Coeur de Lion, and many another popular hero cooled parched throats with cream after a dusty fray. Ice cream, was merely re-discovered in America.

The cooks of the tyrannical Catherine de Medici are said to have introduced the secret recipe for ice cream into France in the 16th century, and to them alone is attributed the invention of the delicacy by certain authorities.

That the Pilgrim Fathers carried an ice cream recipe on their voyage in the Mayflower is unlikely, to the best of our knowledge the secret was unknown in America when they weighed anchor.

In 1715 ice was cut on Lake Wenham, near Boston, and sent to New York for use in the manufacture of ice cream.

MacDonald "Not exactly quit, Hind. But matches are verra dear and the last two-three days have been too much-like a-lonely for the burning glass."

Sometimes the less a woman has to complain about the more she complains

"How dear it happen that you have shot nothing this season?"

"My game finder won't allow me credit any more." Dorchard—Tee Bo.

Baffin Island Little Known

Area Over $20,000 Square Miles and Is Owned By Canada

The fifth, and next to the third largest island in the world, is almost unknown. It is Baffin Island in the Arctic circle, and its area is estimated at from 200,000 to 240,000 square miles. It is owned by Canada. The Norsemen probably knew it in the year 1,000. In 1576, when Martin Frobisher was seeking the Northwest Passage, 100 Eskimos, who had actually tried to make [illegible] were on its beach south-eastern coast. When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

CONTINUOUS LIFE HELD POSSIBLE BY SCIENTIST

After Experimenting For 16 Years, Gives Means Of Maintaining Tissues Of Body

Man pays for his brain power over lower forms of life, and the price he pays is death, in the opinion of Dr. Alexis Carrel, internationally known biologist of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

Addressing the third race betterment conference here, Dr. Carrel revealed the results of his scientific experiment in keeping alive for nearly sixteen years the cell tissue of a chicken's heart and described its isolation to the life of man.

"The cell," said Dr. Carrel, "is immortal. It is merely the fluid in which it floats which degenerates. Renew this fluid at intervals, give the cell back what it needs, and the cell and so far as we now know the pulsations of life may go on forever

"Quickly, then, the thought comes: Why not with man? Why not purge the body of the worn out fluids, develop a simple method for renewing them? And so win immortality?

"Although the body is composed of elements that are potentially homortal," the speaker said, "it is said although the body is composed of elements that are potentially immortal," the speaker said, "it is said although the body is composed of elements that are potentially immortal," the speaker said, "it is said although the body is composed of elements that are potentially imm

Board of Trade Urges Dormitory For V. S. A.

Following is a copy of a resolution passed at a recent meeting of the Vermilion Board of Trade:

WHEREAS the School of Agriculture at Vermilion has this term an attendance of 156 students, while over 300 applications for enrollment had been received;

AND WHEREAS boarding and lodging by students in town is at best an unsatisfactory arrangement, in our opinion, a great deal of hardship, especially on the lady students due to the distance the School is from the Town;

AND WHEREAS a canvass has shown that under ordinary circumstances not more than 125 students can be comfortably placed in the town by under present conditions many are driven there and keep on a route, a situation which is not in the best interests of either the School or the boys.

AND WHEREAS it would have been impossible to accommodate all the students that are in attendance this year were it not that several of the rest decided to look in private as an accommodation, which otherwise they would not do;

AND WHEREAS under such circumstances as these the School cannot do its best work;

AND WHEREAS the builder of a dormitory to provide accommodation for at least 200 would obviate this state of affairs as a fact the need is in our opinion most urgent;

AND WHEREAS such a building would show greater attendance at the School as well as greater convenience to the students and more effective work by the School in general.

AND WHEREAS in order to provide for the increased attendance which must of necessity follow, the said dormitory should provide facility which could be used as a classroom in the event of the present school building becoming overcrowded;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED that this Board pressing the opinion of the people of the town and district of Vermilion do urge upon the Government that it erect a dormitory suited to the requirements of the School on a basis of at least 200 students;

BE IT THEREFORE FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to Premier Brownlee, Hon. R. G. Reid, Hon. M. H. Ferguson, the Hon. the Minister of Municipal Affairs and Hon. Mr. Perley, Minister of Public Works.

Predicts New Airship Service

Bishop Will Leave Montreal and Britain Daily, Says Commander Borsig

There will be a regular airship service between England and Montreal and between England and New York, similar to the present shipping services and perfectly practical from the flying point of view, declared Commander Borsig, prominent British aircraft authority, in an exclusive interview with the British United Press recently.

He added that he was going to the United States and Canada to arrange a preliminary flight for the Rigid and that after a demonstration flight it was proposed to establish a regular trans-Atlantic service.

Commander Borsig said the airships will leave each side of the Atlantic each day. Five instances of one and one half hours England to Monday it will arrive at Montreal or New York on Wednesday night, while a ship leaving Canada or the United States on Monday will likewise reach England on Wednesday so they will have only one night on board. Passengers had be from 100 to 125 pounds of sterling. Montreal which is receiving the first hall, will be the center of north traffic.

The date for the start of the service has not been settled, but the proposed flight of the Rigid will probably take about a month after the arrival of the airship in Canada.

Commander Borsig said the airship would be ready to start on the trans-Atlantic flight in March.

Things That Make Life

Using Our Initiative Is Better Than Being Helped

Anything that calls for initiative, that prevents us from taking charge of ourselves lives and facing up resolutely to our difficulties, is a thing to be avoided as never by any chance being much help. Multitudes of lives have been ruined and made worthless by the habit of depending on others instead of using their own resources. Many people have wanted to be chosen for this or that position, or to have certain things done for them instead of making the effort themselves. They imagine that anyone can help you to get on or get ahead, but the things that you can do for yourself are the things that make life

Potato Resembles 'Plane

Fresh Has Been Christened "The Spirit Of St. Louis"

Lindbergh evidently had a much more profound influence upon the country than his most enthusiastic admirers ever suspected. Recently Mrs. Frank Fenton, Fenton, Inc., says the Philadelphia, dug up a huge Irish potato to his patch which resembles an airplane in the general outline Patter Standalized resemblance stopped "The Spirit of St. Louis."

The potato resembles a monoplane with high wings, fuselage body, and even the pilot perched in the fuselage. The potato plane measures seven inches from wing tip to wing tip. Although the State Agricultural College has not rendered a scientific opinion on the subject, one of Patton's neighbors says there is little doubt that the spud's shape was influenced by Lindbergh's recent flight over the state

Has No Illusions About Foreign Legion

Lieut. Hanbury Tells Of Much Hardship In French Service

John Harvey, the young English man who recently "pardoned" by the French Foreign Legion, after being sentenced to eight years imprisonment for desertion, is quoted by the Evening Standard as saying that he now has no illusion about the Foreign Legion

"Stories which I am told are in Brain Crete only begin to tell you what the life is like," Harvey is quoted as saying. "The French Foreign Legion is a fighting machine and it is made to fight. It fights everywhere France has any fighting to be done in her great possessions, and it suffers all the time

"I have been struck by officers and have been kicked while lying down with my hands and feet in chains. I have crawled about the desert with 4 those that would break a man's heart. I have been starved and I have lastly in French prisons that seem incredible Now that they are behind me, do you wonder why I am so bitter about the Foreign Legion?"

Harvey was released unconditionally from the Foreign Legion after the British Foreign Office intervened in his behalf. Bennett J. Doty, the spectacular Mississippian, who was also pardoned from the Legion after having been sentenced to eight years imprisonment for desertion, said upon his arrival in the United States that while the French Foreign Legion accorded him a "square deal," it was no "young ladies' seminary."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JESUS AND THE LAW

Golden Text: "Think not that I came to destroy the law or the prophets: I came not to destroy, but to fulfil."—Matthew 5.17.

Lesson: Mark 2.15-22; 3.1-6.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 119, 33-40.

Explanations and Comments

1. The Higher Law Which Jesus Taught In Regard To Fasting, 2.18-22.—The law prescribed one day in the year (the Day of Atonement) for fasting, but two fast days a week were observed by the Pharisees (Luke 18.12), and the disciples of John the Baptist. John's disciples, already jealous of the Teacher who was so much greater than their master (John 3. 26), and therefore willing to find fault, the Pharisees, came one day with the inquiry, "Why do we fast, but thy disciples fast not?" Their question was like our modern one, "We have always done [illegible] and why should we not?" By their question they aimed to show how more religious Jesus was than Christ and John's disciples than were Jesus and His disciples, and also to obtain an answer which would cause John the Baptist to repudiate Jesus. The answer of Jesus, "Can the folk for Jesus to defend His disciples against condemnation He said, "Can the sons of the bridechamber fast while the bridegroom is with them?" The "sons of the bridechamber" were the friends of the bridegroom who attended the bride and her companions to the home of the bridegroom at which time and there for the following festivities, which often lasted a week. As the bridegroom was the friend of Jesus' disciples. The disciples of John must also remembered that it was the Great Master who had called Jesus the bridegroom. John 3.29. In Christ's Martin refers to the fact that the people of Jesus' day were living under an old God's covenant with Israel as a marriage covenant, and thinks that Jesus may have referred to suggest that he had come to establish a new covenant, and so figuratively claimed for his work the privileges of a wedding day. Jesus' disciples could not fast when He whose presence at this time was like that of a bridegroom, was a joyful creature of divine grace, who worshipped God with a face radiant with "happiness."

ADVICE OF A RED CROSS NURSE

A Rural Child and His Treatment

Mothers must exercise unceasing vigilance over their children in connection with fire risks. Remember that the little ones do not appreciate the danger they are in when they try to play with inflammable materials. Hence it is up to every parent to recommend some precautions daily, as follows:

Keep all matches in a safe place out of your child's reach. Never let him play with them, or with fire at any time, nor carry lighted lamps around the house, or candles, nor play near an open ungrounded fire or oil stove.

Most fires are preventable. Clothing ignited by careless smokers spent fire is exceedingly dangerous. Lamps on shelves too near the window curtains or draperies have caused many tragedies. Beware of over-heating the stove with the risk of red hot pipes and the wall or ceiling catching fire.

Whenever a fire starts, close doors and windows and thus prevent any draught which would fan the flames and set all ablaze in a moment. Often a fire may be smothered at once with a rug or blanket or heavy coat. Should anyone catch fire lay them on the floor, and smother fire with anything available, as tablecloth, curtains or anything heavy. Roll patient closely over, beating out flames with hands or towel or such.

Burns are caused by dry heat and moist heat too, hence see that children are never left alone near boiling water. Shock is often severe and will end in death if not cared for. Get the doctor if at all possible. Treat shock as follows: Lay your patient flat with head slightly lower than body. Cover with blanket, put hot water bottles, well covered, to feet and between thighs and under arms. Give one half teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in one half glass hot water. NO ALCOHOL. No STIMULANT. For the burns make thick paste of baking soda and cold water, bandage. At our last meeting K-nosh Hut and Akela-Wolf were presented as Tenderpads. Kenneth now belongs to the Tawny Owl and Akela to the Brown Owl.

Cubs.

Two new recruits joined the Pack Billy Hinchcliffe and Bert Hurst.

Akela is pleased to note that all Cubs are trying to get to the meetings on time. Cubs that are "boys in" at school on Tuesdays are not very popular with their Sis, and get black looks on their arrival as well as the black mark against their name.

The C. M. now has an assistant as Akela-Wolf has kindly consented to help with the Pack, which will make it better for everyone concerned. We must now put on an extra spurt to pass the tests before spring —only 1st and 2nd star cubs will be taken camping in the summer.

THE VERMILION FLOCKS ASSOCIATION

Is Rendering Valuable Service To Members

An event of unusual importance to local poultry fanciers took place when the Vermilion Accredited Flocks Association was organized in this district in March, 1926.

For some time a number of individuals had been keeping poultry very successfully, and a sentiment in favor of some form of organized effort to improve the flocks had developed; coupled with this was the feeling that problems of common interest in the purchase of supplies and the sale of products could best be solved by an organization. The assistance offered by Mr. Cornish of the Dominion Live Stock branch, and the form of organization outlined by him commended itself to the judgment of those met, with the result that the above named organization was formed.

Each member purchased at least 250 day-old White Wyandotte chicks from accredited stock; these were fed and cared for throughout the year under instructions issued by Mr. Cornish. The pullets are carefully selected during the winter, culls being from Record of Performance dams purchased, and breeding pens of high quality mated for the coming year.

The Association formed consisted of 21 members: over 3000 baby chicks were purchased and 8 one-thousand brooder brooder stoves. In the fall over 1½ tons of cockerels were shipped to Edmonton to be fattened. The pullets developed into birds forming the original outlay on the chicks. The pullets started to lay at 5 months old and produced from 150 to 200 eggs. Increasing until at present some of the flocks are laying more than 50 per cent.

A contract has been drawn up with the Alberta Hatcheries, Vegreville, whereby they will purchase all hatchable eggs from the Association here, at a price which will return the members about 30 cents a dozen. Bonus being paid on the hatchability of the eggs. These prices will prevail until early in June.

Those wishing to avail themselves of the advantages of the Association should write to get in touch at once with the secretary, W. Gordon Wilson, Premium. Prompt action is necessary, as appointment in securing chicks and other supplies is to be made. The Association is giving valuable services to its members, and all those wishing to take in its benefits are invited to do so.

LOCAL ELKS TOO FAST FOR BUFFALO BRETHREN

Went On Scoring Rampage To Win 9 - 1

The Elks Manicured the Wainwright boys here last Friday night by a score of 9 goals to 1. The ice and the weather were ideal for fast hockey and our boys demonstrated how the game should be played, several of the goals resulting on combination efforts. Clarence Barr with his hook check working to perfection, was the outstanding local player, while Aylsworth, Wainwright's centre ice man, was best for the visitors. Wainwright fans penetrated the locals' defence sometimes themselves with numerous long shots which try in goal handled with ease.

ELKS TURN IN WIN AGAINST LLOYDMINSTER

Border Town Gets Into Action for First Time This Season

Lloydminster's pride and the Elks' latest foe in the Inter-Town hockey league, here last night, the score 9-2 in favor of the locals. Although Lloydminster's team has had very little practice this season, they are by no means a set club to be taken lightly, and the Vermilion boys step at a fast clip to end in a win.

Manson Barr, on a solo rush, scored the scoring for the winners in the first period, and Eddie Mooney on a pass from Bill Mead made things look rosy for the boosters, the score standing 2-0 at the end of the first.

The Lloydminster boys were weak in the game, and following a penalty rush the left defence man notched the visitors' first counter, the only one of the period.

About midway through the final session, Mead scored the goal of the evening, netting the puck after a rush from mid-ice end of the rink, but this was quickly followed by another Lloyd goal, the game ending 3-2.

Bill Meade, Manson Barr and Jim Mac Hablich were the pick of the locals.

Grain Crop In 1928

The prediction which is made from many sources, and with but few reservations, is that the Canadian crop of 1928 will be one of the greatest years in the history of Canada—a history marked by super-efforts of thrifty men and women, by building water-power developments, transcontinental railways, and a rising tide of immigration. Authorities in banking and finance are a unit in declaring that Canada is now in a position to take a great step forward, and that apart from the financial ability and resources of Canada itself, both British and United States money will be available for trade and development purposes.

What of agriculture, the basic industry of Western Canada, and upon the prosperity of which much of the growth and prosperity of all Canadian industry depends?

In the main, all conditions point to a more than normal crop. Rainfall has been plentiful, and in many districts has been more than sufficient. Some have been steadily improving year about, more so in the dry districts, but generally speaking the situation will continue that if 1927 is to prove a successful year for our Western farmer, then 1928 promises to be the best, for it will be built on the foundations of that success. It is true that the increase is on the prairies and the cooperative movement is not as strong there as in Ontario, but the good crops of the past few years have given the farmers of the prairies a splendid financial start.

Later in the year, reports will be received from farmers well pleased with the prospects for bumper crops, ready for an abundance of fruits as a result of their brighter outlook, and for good weather for harvest and threshing. But a combination of all these favorable conditions will not in themselves assure the West a bumper crop. Something more is required, and now is the time for the precautions to be taken. The conditions mentioned above are not within the power of man to determine, but, fortunately, it is within his power absolutely to provide the first essential requirement, namely good seed. This seed, possessing a maximum of germinating qualities.

Unless the best of clean seed is sown the best and cleanest crops cannot be obtained. If weed seeds are sown in weeds and not wheat, oats, or other saleable grain will result. This is self-evident. What would seem quite unnecessary to say any seven years ago, is not what is the situation?

All Western farmers can profit from the lessons learned from a seed drill survey conducted by the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture. In this survey in 23 townships samples of grain were taken from the seed drills of the farmers and tested. A complete report of each ten samples submitted is given. Of these, three graded No. 2 feed, 2 graded No. 3, and five graded rejected.

The rain being sown did not make as good a showing. 16 per cent. graded No. 1 or No. 2, 16 per cent. graded No. 3, and 68 per cent. rejected. As in the case of wheat, the main cause for rejection was the presence of noxious weeds. In other words, only three out of every ten farmers were sowing good, clean seed wheat, and only 16 out of every 100 farmers were sowing good, clean seed oats. Under such conditions, how can Western farmers expect to obtain large yields and a highly profitable return from their labor?

Ninety-seven per cent of the farmers in these townships were using cleaning machinery of some kind, while 82 per cent. were using one or another of the recognized methods of treating grain for smut. It was established that the success or failure of the operation of seed cleaning machines did not lie so much in the make of the machine used as it did in the man operating it. Another factor of course, was the extent of the pollution of the seed stock. The more foul the seed, the greater the chance of overload their seed cleaning machines and make a close study of the best methods of operation of major importance in the obtaining of the cleanest possible seed to put through the drill.

There is a lot of truth in the claim of the Canadian Seed-Trade Association that an investment too often overlooked is the item of cleaning and seed selection in the matter of seed. Such attention is made that one dollar invested in better seed during the spring should return at least six or seven dollars in the fall, and with high conditions and care it may return as high as ten or fifteen dollars.

Good, clean seed will not in itself assure a heavy and profitable crop for there are many other factors involved, but unless good, clean seed is sown it is certain that such a crop cannot be harvested. It is necessary to begin at the beginning, and the seed sown is the beginning, whether it be of a crop of hard wheat or noxious weeds.

OUR WINTER WEATHER

A Trying Time For People With Weak Watery Blood

Our Canadian winter weather is a trying time for debilitated, run-down people. The close air of shut-up houses, lack of out-of-door exercise, the dry, heated air we breathe, all have their effect on weakened systems. There always in such cases the danger of severe colds, attacks of influenza, or the still more dreaded pneumonia. There is no other time of year, when a bountiful supply of rich, red blood is so necessary, and the one way to keep the blood rich and pure and thus avoid serious trouble is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In an enjoyable musical program Miss Irene McDonough and Mr Markinendered songs which highly pleased the gathering while Mrs H. Stephens and Mrs. S. C. Heckbert sang a duet for the pleasure of those assembled

Altogether the evening was enjoyable and inspiring and much credit is due those who gave of their time and energy that the young folks might be brought together for their mutual benefit and enjoyment.

NOTES FROM THE COLLEGE

This week to date has been a very busy one around the School of Agriculture as the annual photographs were taken in order that cuts may be made for the V. S. A. Yearbook that is shortly to be published by a committee of the students. Mr. Burgess, promising photographer of Edmonton had the work in hand and if the usual satisfaction is obtained there will be some excellent photos in the annual magazine

Additional prizes for competition among the student body have been received from the Dairy Farming Board inc Co. in the form of a $15.00 first and a $10.00 second prize for seeing. Messrs. Crosby Bros., local merchants have kindly offered similar prizes for sewing competition, all the material used to have been purchased at their up-to-date store

Mr. Heckbert and Mr. Andrew report to attend the annual meeting of the Mannville School Fair and Prime Club which is being held at Mannville on Saturday of this week, while Mr. Heckbert is addressing the Clover Bar School Fair Association at Edmonton on the 25th inst.

The Stuff team met the Rose Creek at the Municipal drome on Tuesday evening and went down to glorious defeat, taking the short end of a 6-1 count. Dr. W. W. Bell refereed to the satisfaction of all except those assigned for short periods and for an errors alleged (??) offence, to the penalty box.

Vermilion Enjoyed Musical Treat

The recital given by Mr. Walter Sloan in the Canadian Theatre on Friday evening attracted a large and appreciative audience. It was undoubtedly the finest musical treat we have had in Vermilion for many years.

Possessing a powerful voice of exceptional flexibility which he controls with remarkable ease, Mr. Sloan brings an intelligence to his interpretation of songs which stamps him as an artist of the first rank. He was assisted in the programme by Miss Jean Sugden who delighted all with a well-varied selection of songs.

Her fine contralto voice, rich in tone-color, and revealing an unusual command of technique, has won for her an enviable position among Canadian vocalists and on Friday night she fully sustained her high reputation. Mrs. Walker was the very efficient accompanist.

The concert was held under the auspices of the Vermilion Elks, the proceeds being devoted to their Annual Kiddies' Day fund, and was a distinct financial success

JUNIORS GET FIRST SETBACK OF SEASON

The local Juniors absorbed a 4-3 defeat in their own back yard at the hands of their Mannville adversaries last Thursday night. There was nothing of stake on the game as the Hawks pushed the cup by taking four games to a row The local boys were supposed to have had their strongest line-up of the season on the ice.

Meanwhile around the first goal on themselves when a pass from behind the net went away, struck the goalie's skid, and slipped into the net. Dunbar soon made this good by scoring on a solo rush the rest of the period remaining scoreless The visiting ranks had hardly opened before Dunbar again scored, the only goal of the period The Vermilion boys were not to be outdone most of the time and had got a portion of the combination when unruly characters threw their play

The final frame saw things start with a rush, Dunbar, the like star of the night, making the count 3-1 for Mannville, but a suspension a penalty Ade Fallow put a ray of hope in the fans by notching the Hawks's second goal This rose was quashed when Elrich scored a soft goal With two minutes to go, Cooper again dented the net for Vermilion, the game ending 4 to 3

Following the game ... were treated to refreshments by the ... this part ... Mannville ... and Mannville ... Smith, ... Vermilion ... Mannville ... Vermilion ... Mannville ... Vermilion ... Mannville

Government vs. Private Ownership

It does not call for the vision of a seer, or the wisdom of a seventh son to appreciate that a battle royal is looming up on the horizon of Canada's national life involving acceptance of one or the other of the two ideals noted in the heading of the article. It will be a battle of giants, in that nearly millions or tens of millions, but hundreds of millions of dollars at stake.

The initial stages of the gigantic financial battle are now being waged in the subject of control and development of vast water-powers in various parts of the Dominion. In more than one instance these are linked up with problems of navigation, as for example, the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterways scheme, and the Welland, discussed Georgian Bay Canal project. Although both of these undertakings must be carried out in the East, they are of a matter of vital interest to Western Canada.

From the commercial and industrial interests in Montreal and Toronto over the border, and more or less directly affected by the deepening of the channels of navigation between the present head of ocean navigation at Montreal and the head of the Lakes ports of Port Arthur and Fort William, are the natural concern of these cities and their trade is restricted and upon the development of the huge water-powers which will be made available as part of the undertaking.

The West is not yet so much concerned about the greater waterways features and the deepening of the water channels between the heads of the Great Lakes and the Atlantic seaboard will have on freight rates both by water and rail on the huge exportable surplus of Western products.

So far as the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence project is concerned, it is not strictly a domestic matter for Canada. It is an international matter, inasmuch as a portion of the St. Lawrence belongs jointly to Canada and the United States, and the consummation of the proposed deep canal system will affect approximately forty millions of the people of the neighboring republic.

Eastern financial interests whose real concern is to secure private control of the vast water-powers to be developed, are busy raising the bugaboo of United States interference in Canadian affairs if United States control of Canadian resources and are urging all the possible dangers of entangling alliances. The old, worn-out stock arguments used at the time of the Reciprocity campaign are being trotted out once more, and the Old Flag is to be waved, and all and sundry who do not see eye to eye with the financial magnates and with a certain type of the wealth of water-powers are to be branded as traitors to the Dominion.

There is one reassuring fact, and as on former occasions when questions of great national moment were up for discussion and decision, attempts will be made to cloud the real issue by agents raising despicable cries of race and creed, and seeking to set one section of the Dominion against another.

The frequently in the past with great national policies at stake, the people of Canada have allowed themselves to be swayed by these cries and have been made the victims of their own shortsightedness and foolishness in giving heed to such unworthy appeals. Now that Canada has largely put those things into the background and is moving forward to a development and prosperity unsurpassed in its past history it is to be sincerely hoped that any such dishonest agitation will receive no quarter from the overwhelming mass of the Canadian people, that as a people, they will put their foot down, and put it down hard, upon any such campaign, the originators of which are the real enemies of and traitors to Canada.

We are not proposing to discuss the respective merits of public and private ownership. But we would most earnestly ask the people of Western Canada to be on their guard, and in the discussions which are bound to take place within the next few years to keep their minds persistently on the facts of the case and not be influenced one way or the other by catch cries, sectional sectarian or partisan appeals. It is the national good of all Canada, present and future, that is at stake.

Experimental Farm For North

Establishment in Meadow Lake District Has Been Approved

Of interest to the settlers in the far north of the North Battleford federal constituency is the news that the federal department of agriculture has sanctioned the establishment of an experimental station at Meadow Lake. The farm will be selected, and will be put in operation during the coming summer. The telegraph line from Big Island, linking up the Meadow Lake district with Battleford, and Loon Lake is now in operation, and is already proving a boon to the people in this remote part of the province. With better farming facilities and improved conditions for the settler, the development of the agricultural possibilities is expected, resulting ultimately in improved railway and highways.

Says Canada Needs Commercial Air Line

Or Country Will Drop Behind Opinion Of Major-General MacBrien

Any country which does not use aircraft for commerce and defence will be rapidly left behind in the coming generation, and Canada alone among civilized countries has not one properly organized mile of air line or one organized air port. This was the declaration of Major-General J. H. MacBrien, former chief of staff of the Department of National Defence, in addressing a meeting in Ottawa.

Outlining the aims of the Canadian Air League, General MacBrien said efforts would be made to have aeronautics incorporated in the curriculum of technical schools and colleges.

Dramatic Ending To Lawsuit

The famous lawsuit, in which the Vermilion Masonic Lodge sought an injunction restraining H. Savior's Dramatic Club of Vermilion from producing a play on Feb. 20th in the Columbia Theatre, came to an end with dramatic suddenness on Tuesday last.

The case was one of unprecedented importance, and had stirred the press of eight provinces to unusual interest in Islay and Pilkerville.

The plaintiffs, and A. W. Abbott, heading counsel for the defendants, showed signs of nervous strain as the court opened, while A. Y. Law, K. C., who had a watching brief for the Vermilion Elks' Lodge, was obviously overburdened by the responsibility of his position.

The quaint little court-room, with its high-backed benches, was effectively crowded in Pilkerville, it was arranged to hold court at a central point, the Town Hall at Clarkson's crossing having decided upon by mutual consent.

The Standard's special correspondent was present at the proceedings, and his graphic account of the case follows:

"The bitterest legal battle in the history of Alberta was fought in the Clarkson Town Hall on Tuesday last, when the case of 'Vermilion Masonic Lodge' versus 'H. Savior's Dramatic Club' was heard before His Honor Judge Crook. An imposing array of counsel had been engaged by both sides, and it is stated that this year's fees alone will run well into two figures.

Never before has there been such a crowd in an Alberta court-room, various estimates placing the figure at anywhere between seventeen people and nineteen hundred. Every newspaper in the province will remain an unforgotten day.

Brawny society women sat cheek by jowl with calmly clad farmers from the north, while ragged lumbermen elbowed [illegible] in their unaccustomed masticators from the backwoods. Gowns to the foresight of the janitor, who had placed large quantities of yeast on the seats, everyone rose with one accord as His Honour entered the court. The moment was impressive. Not a sound broke the stillness of the court-room, except the occasional audible 'crow' of [illegible] and [illegible] wear. Not a perfume pervaded the atmosphere. If we allow for the faint odour of garlic from the hard hands, and the pungent scent of mothballs from the lawyers' gowns.

U.F.A. MAY SPLIT WITH COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURE

Calgary.—Early severance of relations between the United Farmers of Alberta and the Canadian Council of Agriculture loomed as a possible development in the passing of a resolution at a session of the United Farmers of Alberta convention, following presentation and acceptance of a report on the year's activities of the council.

The resolution, which was introduced at the instance of H. W. Wood, president of the U.F.A., instructs the executive of the organization to prepare a report containing recommendations as to the future relationship with the Canadian Council of Agriculture and to reveal its findings at the annual convention of the organization next year.

This recommendation was submitted as a substitute for another resolution which urged the immediate creation of a committee with powers to enter into negotiations with other provincial farmers' organizations, in an effort to bring into being a new central body.

Following brief discourses by a number of delegates in which the merits and shortcomings of the Council of Agriculture were set forth, Mr. Wood was appealed to for advice.

The president admitted that to connect the organization with the action which involved the repudiation or the "tearing down" of another agency was a serious fault.

"Personally I don't think the Canadian Council of Agriculture has produced the results most of us anticipated," Mr. Wood declared. "However, believe this is due to the fact that certain commercial organizations are connected with it. I very much doubt whether that is the primary cause. I am more inclined to believe it would have something to do with the personnel.

"I made up my mind about three years ago that the council could not be of sufficient benefit to the movement to warrant my attendance at its meetings," Mr. Wood added.

The veteran leader warned the delegates it would be better to leave things unchanged rather than to precipitate the movement into greater confusion.

Served In South Africa

Duke Of Richmond Dies At Home In England

London (Canada) Henry Gordon-Lennox, Duke of Richmond and Gordon, and aide-de-camp to King George, died at his home, Goodwood House, Chichester, after a brief illness. He was 83 years old.

The Duke of Richmond and Gordon served as aide-de-camp to Queen Victoria, King Edward and King George. He was a former member of parliament and was a colonel in the Sussex regiment. He was Lord Lieutenant of Elgin and Banff, and had been chancellor of Aberdeen University since 1917.

He served in the South African War and was mentioned in despatches.

Television Established

London. — Television already has been successfully established in Germany and New York, according to C. O. Hutchinson, director of the United Television Company. Prior to sailing on the Aquitania for New York Mr. Hutchinson announced secret experiments had been in progress for six weeks and that recently "contact" with New York was made on several occasions, being possible to see the faces and hands of individuals, although the features were indistinct.

World Safeguard Public

Toronto. That definite results followed United States legislation prohibiting the sale of eye-glasses by unqualified persons, was the statement of Dr. Leo Mayer, president of the Association of Optometrists of America, speaking to the Ontario Association here. He advocated that Canadian colleagues make attempt to have similar measures adopted as a safeguard for the public as well as a benefit for qualified opticians.

Millions For Manitoba

Winnipeg.—More than $130,000,000 came to the province of Manitoba from the field crops for the direct year ending April 30, 1927, according to the annual report of the department of agriculture placed before the legislature by Hon. A. Prefontaine, Minister of Agriculture.

Spies Are Convicted

Two Men Are Sentenced In Britain For Espionage

London.—An Old Bailey jury convicted two men of trafficking in British official military secrets in the interests of Soviet Russia and dealt a heavy blow to what the prosecution termed "a dangerous spy organization operating against the safety of Great Britain."

Wilfrid Thomas McCartney, variously described as an Englishman and as an Irish-American, and Oderge Hanson, a youthful German, were sentenced to ten years' penal servitude each on the conviction.

McCartney was accused of being the chief spy and Hanson his aide, in obtaining and communicating information useful to opponents of Great Britain in warfare. While admitting that not all those engaged in the espionage organization had been trapped, Attorney-General Hogg declared the activities of the arrested men had been halted before material damage could be done the country.

Sir Douglas, the Lord Chief Justice said the accused had been convicted of "terrible offences" and declared them for trafficking in official secrets for gain, unimpaired by any thought of serving their own countries.

Want More Prize Money

Would Have Exhibition Boards Boost Prizes For Shorthorns

Regina.—Calling upon the Saskatoon and Regina exhibition boards to increase the prize money for the shorthorn classes at the two summer fairs, delegates to the annual meeting of the Sask. Shorthorn Club here expressed appreciation at what had been done for them in the past. It is with the desire to encourage the small breeder to show at these summer fairs, that the boards will be asked to increase the money prizes for Shorthorns bred and owned within the province.

Jorn Brandt, Edenwold, was re-elected as president, with Mr. A. D. Hopkins, Hurbiston, as vice-president and Chas. Hartley, Belle Plaine, as secretary.

Reports from the secretary and president indicated that the club is increasing in numbers, and that there is a greater interest in the breed being developed in the province.

No annual sale will be held this coming fall, as it has been found that weather conditions prevent a large number of breeders attending.

May Study At Scotland Yard

Winnipeg. The Provincial Government and the city of Winnipeg are considering sending some senior officers of the provincial and city police forces to England to take advantage of a special course of instructions to be given at Scotland Yard at the invitation of Old Country authorities

Beer By the Glass

Toronto The Ontario Legislature will open in three weeks, and, according to The Toronto Star, it is possible the question of sale of beer by the glass may be a live issue at the session.

MANY WESTERN MATTERS ARE TO BE DEALT WITH

Ottawa. — Western matters will take considerable prominence in the legislation of the forthcoming session of parliament. There will be a large annual vote for the Hudson's Bay Railway and of the anticipated agreement is reached regarding the policing of Saskatchewan, legislation may be required, although it may be effected by order-in-council. In any event, the subject will be before the House.

Alberta and British Columbia also figure in the seasonal program and in legislation defining the boundaries of national parks in Alberta. An agreement on long standing points of dispute will be sought.

The reasons for the disfigurations made in the last few months paves the way. The fundamental interest in the parks which the Dominion possesses to retain will be the scenic beauty, leaving to the province the water powers and minerals to a large degree. The Dominion Government is willing to exclude Spray Lakes and other power sites from the parks, along with the principal coal fields, providing it is guaranteed against future claims by the provinces regarding the mineral deposits which may be included in the essentially scenic portions of the domain. In other words it is proposed to establish a new boundary and exclude the villages, water powers and coal deposits now within the parks, providing the title to the remainder is left inviolate in the Dominion. An agreement along these lines is probable. The resources to be excluded would be held by the Government until such time as the resources generally are returned.

Meanwhile, in regard to the latter question, there are no new developments. Conferences on the subject last week between Premiers King and Brownlee are expected to result in a pronouncement one way or the other, when the latter has consulted his colleagues. The Dominion Government is desirous of having the constitutional issue finally determined, after which it is prepared to return the resources, but difficulty has been encountered in getting the cases before the Privy Council without some one intervened. The obstacle arises from the unusual procedure of the federal government appealing a judgment in its own favor.

In regard to British Columbia's case for better terms a report from Mr. Smith is desirous of having the constitutional issue finally determined, after which it is prepared to return the resources, but difficulty has been encountered in getting the cases before the Privy Council without some one intervened. The obstacle arises from the unusual procedure of the federal government appealing a judgment in its own favor.

Asks For Wider Powers

Regulations Governing Soldier Cases Not Flexible Enough

Toronto. As a result of the report of Col. T. Hacker, on their recent investigations into the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment here and in Hamilton, Leader Graham and Monsell, the Minister, Hon. Dr. J. H. King, will ask Parliament for greater discretionary powers in dealing with the cases of the veterans under the Civil Re-establishment Act.

At the present time it is said the regulations are not flexible enough so that investigation exceptional cases may be made by the Minister.

Manitoba Will Adopt Immigration Scheme

Bringing Boys From England For Placement On Farms

Winnipeg. The Provincial immigration scheme has been adopted by the Manitoba provincial government, and about 50 lads will be brought here in the spring for placement on farms in the province. Hon. A. Prefontaine, Minister of Immigration, has announced.

Temporarily, the boys will be placed in Manitoba Agricultural College where they will receive training to enable them to [illegible]

Fee Of $25.00 Now Charged All Persons Entering Canada

Ottawa. Before a person of any nationality can appear before the Immigration officials at any port of entry in Canada, he must be in possession of a fee of $25 and secure the visa of a Canadian representative in the country from which he comes, it was announced here by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE NOTES

Mr. Andrew addressed the members of the Manville Swine Club on Saturday last and Mr Hechbert spoke to the School Fair Association. The meeting of the two bodies was held jointly and all members were enthusiastic with regard to the work of the coming year. Unfortunately the Manville School Fair was cancelled in 1927 owing to the prevalence of epidemic of infantile paralysis, while the absence of the Swine Club, which is held at the same time as the school fair, was also called off. Arrangements are rapidly being completed for the 1928 School Fair and Swine Club exhibit and this year's competition promises to be the best ever held. The speakers from the College made the run to Manville by car and report the roads in excellent shape.

A through train is to be run on certain days through the province in February and it is hoped that a representative of the Vermilion School of Agriculture will be one of the several lecturers at the various points concerned in order that the courses offered to Alberta boys and girls may be discussed with those taking advantage of the tour of the train.

The annual yearbook of the School is shortly to be published by a committee of the students and every effort is being made to surpass the splendid publication of last year. Several cuts are being made of the beautiful College grounds, from photos taken when flowers and shrubs were at their best. Interesting articles and anecdotes of the happy school days will fill the pages of the magazine, which will find its way into the keeping of many hundreds of students and former students of the Vermilion School of Agriculture.

The V. S. A. hockey team, accompanied by about twenty-five rooters went to Minburn on Friday last for a game against the Minburn team. Three twenty minute periods were played, the first and second stanzas ending scoreless without a score. Play was even all the way through, in the last period no score was made until within seven seconds of the end of the game and then a flanking shot dribbled into Vermilion's goal, giving the Minburn team a win in what might as well have been a scoreless game.

The College supporters are justly proud of the showing made by their team in its initial away-from-home game. The Minburn contests will probably be in Vermilion for a return game the latter part of the week and a thrilling contest is promised.

The V. S. A. team has, through its manager, Mr. Hechbert, asked for a game with the local Junior team and judging by the success attained by the Juniors the real merits of the college aggregation will be tried to its capacity if the two teams meet.

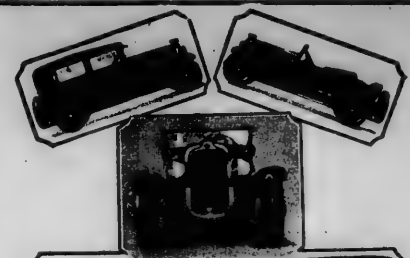
The second year men at the School have formed a club which has as its aim the bringing to Vermilion of outstanding speakers from all walks of life. The Hon. Geo. Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, has been asked to address the Club and its friends and it is hoped to have him come to Vermilion in the near future. This club was formed on the sole responsibility of the students themselves and credit is reflected on those to whom its inception is due.

Arrangements have been made to give all students a two-day course in the killing, dressing and cutting of hogs and lambs. Every step from the actual killing to the making of sausage, the rendering of lard and the handling of head cheese will be carefully gone into and a practical demonstration of utilizing everything in the pig but the squeals will be made. Mr. W. F. Stevens, formerly of the Hyndman branch, will have charge of the demonstration and his wide experience will provide an interesting and instructive course for the students.

The second year boys recently accompanied Mr. Andrew to the farm of Mr. Burr who they judged classes from the fine herd of Holsteins.

A set of horizontal bars and the punching bags have been placed in the assembly hall and are proving very popular with the boys. There are rumors of new white hopes being developed and Ed. Barber promises startling hand and foot work by some of the boys. It is expected that a boxing night will shortly be held and elimination bouts are now being staged. Pot-social Tuesdays and Dempseys are rapidly getting into shape to provide an interesting programme of bouts from heavyweight to bantam classes.

Mr. F. C. Long of Long's Drug Store has kindly offered a prize to the second year girl standing highest in work of the apartment, which consists of planning, ordering, cooking and serving meals for seven persons for a week. On completion of the time the cost per meal per person is figured out together with the method of best carrying on the work. The girl standing highest in this class after all have had the opportunity of running the apartment will be the recipient of a suitable prize from the popular drug store proprietor.



The past year has been an extremely successful one for the Pontiac six, and the fruits of this success are seen in the new series Pontiac, announced this week, which incorporates numerous improvements and refinements at no increase in price. The four models illustrated above include the graceful lines of the new car. At the upper left is the two-door sedan and at the upper right the handsome new sport roadster, with its convenient folding seat. A head-on view of the roadster, showing the deep, narrow radiator and two of the four-wheel brakes, appears in the centre panel. At the lower left is the beautiful cabriolet and to its right the new four-door sedan.

SUDDEN DEATH OF KITSCOTY WOMAN

KITSCOTY, Alta., Jan. 21. — The sudden death of Mrs. E. P. Morton which occurred soon after noon on Friday, was a severe shock to this district. Mrs. Morton, accompanied by her husband and son, was just leaving for town by auto and an opportunity to speak with those who was stricken. Death was due to an acute heart attack. Her death will be mourned by her many friends especially at Kitscoty and Vegreville, where she had made her home recently. The body will be removed to Vegreville for interment.

ALBERTA SOIL PRO. DUCTS TO BE SHOWN

Arrangements are being made by the publicity branch of the Department of Agriculture to have an exhibit of Alberta's soil products included in the Western Canada Agricultural Show to be held by the T. Eaton Co. at their Winnipeg Store, February 6 to 18. This exhibit will be similar to that which attracted much attention at the Provincial Seed Fair in Calgary during the past week and will include grain and grasses, grains, coal, oil, tar sands and many other natural products of the province. Special features of Alberta's contribution to the show will be samples of the Alberta oats which won the world's championship at the recent Chicago International and of the other prize winning grains at the same exhibit, as well as a miniature reproduction of the Prince of Wales ranch at Bow Island.

FAIRS ASSOCIATION TO MEET FEBRUARY 6TH.

The annual meeting of the Alberta Fairs' Association will open in Edmonton on Monday, February 6, and will be attended by fairs officials from all sections of the province. Arrangements in connection with the program are in the hands of ...ager Hunday of Lloydminster, secretary of the association.

A Paradise For Crippled Children In Alberta

As event of great significance to the province of Alberta took place Monday evening, January 16th when His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Egbert officially opened the new wing of the University Hospital, Edmonton, named the Junior Red Cross Wing for Crippled Children. Before a large and representative gathering His Honour declared that he knew of no other work in any field whatsoever, which he could so conscientiously commend to the sympathetic support of the people of Alberta, as the Red Cross work amongst the crippled and ... of the province.

With His Honor on the platform supporting the strong appeal for a better understanding by the public of the great and varied humanitarian service of Red Cross in Alberta were Dean Kerr of the University, who brought cordial greetings from President Tory; Mr. D. M. Duncan, M.L.A., who spoke on behalf of the Red Cross Executive thanking the citizens of Edmonton for their splendid support in the form of endowed cots, maintaining especially the Junior's newest work of raising funds through their outside branches. Mr. A. C. L. Adams the new Commissioner for Red Cross in the Province who occupied the chair and acted as announcer for the C. K. U. A. Broadcasting concert program which formed the first part of the program.

The story of the $8,500 for collection for the construction of this splendid wing reads like some remarkable dream coming true, for by small rural here and there donations there the boys and girls of the city of Edmonton have demonstrated to the world at large that they have a keen realization of their duty to "those less fortunate."

Added to their weekly efforts in schools have come the annual events of tag days and Christmas seal selling campaigns all successfully showing that where there's the Red Cross will, there is the Red Cross way.

The beautiful appointed wards with their thirty little cots are made very dear to many people's thought and practical sympathy. Endowed cots speak of the desire of Service Clubs of Edmonton sharing the joy of ministering as it were. Three wards are held aside by disease and infirmity. One was fed bounty the name "Tiny Tim" tells the world that the Rotarian Fellowship desires to do its part to help "one of the least of these." Great credit is due to Mr E A. Corbett who during the past year acted as Red Cross Commissioner for the achievement in establishing in Alberta

Dominion Secretary Predicts Edmonton Will Be Northern Depot

The Rt. Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, British secretary of state for Dominion Affairs, foresees the day when hot aviation will be the northern depot for a great British air line service across the Atlantic, north through the Peace River Country and across the Rockies to Vancouver.

It is to a passage stated by the adult entitled "Air Communication," in which he sets out an outline across the Atlantic, which he says is not at all impossible. The first section is to start in London, go to Toronto and then to Winnipeg. The second section is to start from Winnipeg to Edmonton, the third from Edmonton to Vancouver.

A CANADIAN RIVER THAT LOSES ITSELF

Maligne River, In Jasper National Park, Has Interesting Feature

A river that loses itself so completely that no trace of its course can be found for several miles, is one of the interesting features of Jasper National Park Alberta which, with an area of more than 5,000 square miles, is the largest national playground in the world. The name of this river is the Maligne. From here "dead" and given out it reappears within a few miles of Athabaska then runs a fond which has much favored by the trappers and guides for many years in western history.

The Maligne River finds its source in Maligne Lake which is thirty-four miles long before than a mile wide and the largest glacial fed body of water in the Canadian Rockies. From this lake the Maligne River flows swiftly down hill for about fourteen miles to empty into Medicine Lake. Much of water flow from here and flows a half to a mile wide This lake in some places, reaches a depth of 100 feet.

Out of this lake there is no known outlet. At the foot of it and for a mile or no below there is the dry course of a river bed. But this bed is dry and there is neither sight nor sound of water to be near it. After about a mile a trickle of water makes its appearance and within a comparatively short distance a river is once more flowing through the valley.

This is again the Maligne River, although from this point to the Athabaska, the volume of water is never as great as that which flows into Medicine Lake. A mile above the Athabaska River, the Maligne hurls itself down into a great canyon, hundreds of feet deep and, in places, less than a yard wide at the top.

London-Dublin Air Service

Would Cut Journey From Ten To Four Hours

An air service between London and Dublin is the object of negotiations now in progress between Imperial Airways, Limited, and the Department of the Irish Free State. Passengers would fly from London to Liverpool in air expresses. A fast train they would change from land-plane to a 15-passenger flying-boat. The next journey should be accomplished in about four hours, compared with ten hours by boat and train.

Some people are proud of their past —probably because it is past.

Exchange Of Visits Between Canada and United States Creates Good Feeling

The significance of the many recent exchanges of official and unofficial visits between Canada and the United States were enlarged on before the Canadian Club, Montreal, by Hon. William Phillips, United States Minister to Canada.

Mr. Phillips referred to the visit of Col. Lindbergh to Ottawa at the time of Canada's diamond jubilee celebration in July, the dedication of the peace bridge across the Niagara River in August, the erection and unveiling of the monument to United States citizens who fell while serving in the Canadian army during the war, in Arlington Cemetery, the laying of a wreath upon the altar of remembrance at Ottawa by himself, and the visits to Washington of the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon, and Premier King.

Mr. Phillips reminded his audience that these personal visits were to be returned in February by the United States Secretary of State, Hon. Frank B. Kellogg.

THE GROWING FAME OF JESUS

Golden Text: "The common people heard him gladly."—Mark 12:37.

Lesson: Mark 3:7-12; 6:53-56.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 60:1-5, 6, 9.

Explanations and Comments

7. Why the Crowd Followed Jesus' 3:7-12—Because of the hostility of Scribes and Pharisees, Jesus withdrew with his disciples to the Sea of Galilee. The opposition of the religious authorities was growing, and at the same time Jesus was becoming increasingly popular with the masses. Great crowds followed Him, for His fame had gone throughout the land. Crowds came from Galilee and from Jerusalem; from Idumea and beyond Jordan; from the region of Tyre and Sidon. One day when the pressure upon Him of the throng was great Jesus bade the disciples secure a boat in which He could take refuge. It was in the fame of Jesus as a wonder-worker which drew them. They knew about His wonderful cures and about the special concern He showed upon Him to touch Him. Those afflicted with unclean spirits fell down before him crying, "Thou art the Son of God." He charged them not to make Him known. Popular enthusiasm was dangerous for His cause; it might lead to a false breath.

What attracted the crowds? His power to heal? Yes. His sermons that were so easily understood? Yes. But above all it was Himself. It was His personality. It was the Christ that attracted the people. And isn't it true today that where Christ is held up to the people, there we do find the crowds, and there we do find the Spirit of God taking for part in the life of the people."

Find Germ Of "Moon Blindness"

May Be Possible To Produce Serum To Stop Disease

Discovery of the bacteria which is believed to cause moon blindness in horses, and which results in the death of many valuable animals, was announced recently by Dr. Edward C. Rosenow, of the Mayo Foundation Rochester, Minnesota. Speaking before the 29th annual meeting of the American Bacteriologists, Dr. Rosenow declared that through tests and experiments he had found means to inoculate which he fed into animals, produced symptoms identical to this disease.

Dr. Rosenow said if further tests corroborated his findings, it should be possible to produce a serum to stop the spread of the disease.

LAVA TRAINS ARE SAFER THAN AUTOS

Railways Are Not Dangerous Says Railway Official

"The most dangerous part of the machinery of transportation is the one that must holds the steering wheel of the automobile," So says W. Jones, of Montreal, Assistant to the Director of Safety and First Aid on the Canadian National Railways. Speaking in Winnipeg recently before a meeting of 100 certificates, vouchers, medallions and labels, as well as a number of special prizes to Canadian National employees who had won them through proficiency in First Aid work and home nursing, Mr. Jones drove home the point that the system spent a good deal of money and energy in protecting people who neglected to protect themselves.

"Railways are not dangerous," said he. "It was once thought they were, and perhaps this was true, but today we spend a safer elevation in the world. We are highly organized and ready for any emergency. The danger is not in the railways, but in the general public, which is not yet educated away from its carelessness and reckless-ness.

"Among its employees the National system stimulates an interest in First Aid work, and I think I may say our department has succeeded in its efforts when I tell you that of the 8,000 on the system more than $7,000 are ready to give first aid to the injured promptly when the occasion demands it. And every year sees an increasing membership in the Canadian National branch of the St. John Ambulance Association.

"Next to First Aid, and perhaps even before it," said Mr. Jones, "is Safety First. The call 'first aid to the uninjured.' Some day we shall get the careless motorist to see that it is better to be safe than sorry."

Air Route Via Yukon

Great Northern Airway Is Predicted By Dr. Thompson

The Yukon will some day be one of the main air routes of the world, providing an airway between Asia and Europe if the prediction of Dr. Alfred Thompson, former member of parliament for the Yukon, comes true.

"The airway will be routed leaving the Northern parts of British Columbia or the Yukon to the Aleutian Islands" said Dr. Thompson. With Siberia to the North and China, Japan and the Philippine Islands to the west the route will be free from fog, wind or snow. Airships will probably be the main means of travel and situations will be established in the summer months in the Yukon when the rivers are open.

Helmi's eyes were two deep pools of wonder and delight. Then over them swept fear, like a rear cloud.

"But Jack, have you to go? Will you have to leave me and go away to the north? I don't want you to go, Jack, I just want you—big fat money-makes only trouble."

Jack kissed her and laughed. "O Helmi, you will not mind my going This man I am going with knows the North. He has lived in it for fourteen years, and he has been very kind to me and it's a great thing for me that he is taking me with him. There's hundreds of fellows who would wish they were in my place if they knew. But it is just the two of us and a half-breed guide. We have to keep it dark, because the oil syndicate are watching him. They know that he knows where the oil springs are. Helmi, he told me of a hot spring valley there where the rocks are always warm, and tropical plants grow, and the country is not getting out of the mountains. He is a wonder, this man and to think he asked me to go with him, and to let me in for stake my claim with his and give me a share in everything."

Helmi looked at him with deep terrible in her eyes. "I wish you had never seen gold in the ground, and never met this man with it in his dark, because the oil syndicate are watching him. They know that he knows where the oil springs are. Helmi, he told me of a hot spring valley there where the rocks are always warm, and tropical plants grow, and the country is not getting out of the mountains. He is a wonder, this man and to think he asked me to go with him, and to let me in for stake my claim with his and give me a share in everything."

He is a wonder, this man and to think he asked me to go with him, and to let me in for stake my claim with his and give me a share in everything."

"And then I seemed to lose her," continued Jack "for when the summer came she had such extravagant notions about the way a home in the north should be run. I tried to explain to her that what was going to marry a man with money and she did, a very decent man, I admit, but who wouldn't do, I can understand that, too, for she was a way with her, I can tell you. She is not a bit selfish, but she is awfully selfish The home mostly means than anything on earth and would be a terrible principle for it. Now, I may love this husband of hers I hope she does but I know this that if he had taken her the world and have looked at him.

"I must tell her about you Helmi and tell her some things of you. She would love you for your beauty and I observe with you good heart you will fall in love with her, for she is simple dear. But I like to imagine her face when she was such a good sister I love before. It is a shame I am going to write to her about now."

That was Sunday afternoon when Jack had this talk with Helmi. Her beauty clouds. There was no place to go, and so they stayed in the house all day. Jack wrote his letter to Ethel and Helmi sat with her head on the table. Once Jack looked up from his writing and saw that she was crying softly, with her face hidden in her arms. The problem of separation and blinding storms and lost men going mad with loneliness

Helmi cursed Siwhan, the prospector who had put this wild scheme before her Jack. His wished the light-hearted smile with which he had interrupted Jack's writing. "What is the name of this man you will go with?"

"His name is Keith, Tom Keith. He has his home in Winnipeg, but is out most there. His wife and family live on the tronnett."

Helmi's eyes blazed with resentment with anger Keith a prospector [illegible] the N.hanni! Again she could hear Minnie, poor little Minnie, weeping and ashamed, telling her pitiful story. She said to herself she was a chin for me if I would never tell.

"He's a devil he's a devil and a liar," Helmi screamed "I know about Mister Tom Keith!" and she poured out curses in Finnish which made Jack shudder, even though he understood not a word.

Helmi, Helmi! What is wrong? How do you know this man? How could you know him?"

"I know Minnie," she said, spoke of her pitiful story. "Minnie, the poor little girl he fooled. He's a devil, I tell you and you are not to go with him."

"Come here, little wildcat," Jack laughed; "calm down and tell me what you know. Don't scream like that; Mrs. McIlann will think I am beating you. I may have to yet, too, if you are that."

Helmi stood looking at him she would tell him everything, she must tell him. She had sworn never to tell, but surely when one is married it is different. Jack would keep no oath, too, with her. It could not be kept! Oh, it would be such a relief to tell her dear Jack! He would be sorry for all she had suffered. Yes, she would tell him everything. Her face was all gone now, and the happy light had come back to her eyes I must be no use to tell him.

She came over to him and put her arms around his shoulders and [illegible] Jack, I will tell you something that will grieve you. Have you [illegible] for? No? Well, I will wait"

Finances Of Town And School District Good

The ratepayers' meeting held on Friday evening last was well attended. J. H. Ball was appointed to the chair. The first item of business was the reading of the financial statement of the town by H. P. Lenf, the secretary treasurer. Incidentally this was the 15th of such reports read by Mr. Long during which time there have been 6 mayors and some 37 councillors serve on the board. The report showed that during the year the total receipts on the general account amounted to $71,897.16, the municipal bank balance at the end of the year being $1,902.52 with $1200.00 in the school trust account and $2000.00 in provincial savings certificates. The revenue account totalled $20231.74 the surplus balance there being $3,300.75. The electric light account showed a net profit after paying debenture instalment and running expenses, of $6,923.23 which with a balance brought forward placed $7,490.92 to the credit of this utility. No questions were asked with respect to the statement as presented and which appeared to be quite acceptable to the gathering. His Worship Mayor Pallow followed with a general survey of the condition of things obtaining during the year. The big item was, of course, the building

"SECOND TO NONE"
A Romance of the Royal Navy

"Second to None," the Britannia Films production which features Moore Marsh in the role of the sailor-hero, opens with the burning of a tramp steamer, from which the only survivor is an ungainly stowaway who is picked up by the battleship "Thelatrix" and adopted by the vessel's commander.

On the way to the home of the officer, the child meets her former playmate and best pal, Bill, a newspaper boy who is persuaded to become a sailor Fired with the ambition to be worthy of his sweetheart in her new life, he works hard becomes a petty officer and returns to renew his boyhood courtship. He finds that the girl has become engaged to the commander of his vessel, and, his hopes dashed, he deserts. The news of the outbreak of war brings him back to his ship and whilst reconnoitring, the latter unexpectedly discovers a paper of enemy force and "hands on." Possessive natures of sailors make the ship's deck a shambles and from then action is intense.

"Second to None" is founded on stories by "Bartlett" and was filmed by the sanction and co-operation of the Admiralty, on H.M.S. Thrush, Champion, Tara and Tarpon and ex-tensive auxiliary vessels. It will play at the Columbia Theatre, Vermilion, next week (Feb. 9, 10, 11) Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the regular price

Dr. C. W. J. Haworth "Chaired"
By V. S. A. Students

An unusual scene was witnessed at the station on Monday when Dr. Haworth, the genial and popular lecturer on veterinary science at the V.S.A., left town for Edmonton. A number of the student body, both freshers and grads, invaded the hotel and "chaired" the Doc. from the lounge to the station in the approved style and proper form, complete with procession and banner.

Such a spontaneous expression of appreciation and esteem must have been as gratifying as it was unexpected. The event is an interesting glimpse of the spirit beneath the surface of the great work for young Albertans of which but little is known and realized by the public generally.

Dr. Haworth takes with him to Raymond B. A. the heartiest of good wishes from the student body of the V. S. A.

of the municipal areas. This the council undertook in pursuance to a resolution passed at the public meeting a year ago. He felt the rink was a distinct credit to the town. He expressed his appreciation of the services rendered in this connection by all those who in any measure contributed to the erection of this building. For the present year he left something had to be done regarding the electric light plant. The council had been interviewed by representatives of the Mid West Utilities company and the Calgary Hydro-Electric, but neither had submitted any definite proposition and consequently he was not in a position to say what he would do in the matter. He pointed out that the present plant last year showed a net profit of over $1,000.00 and he was sure if we had a larger area to sell larger profits could be had. The plant was operating with a profit and without any expense to the ratepayers the personal viewpoint was that the town should retain the utility, but to meet pressing requirements and ensure safety to the public by way of lights and power there should be a debenture issue of at least $25,000 to provide for the erection of a new unit of at least 150 horsepower. He did not think Vermilion would have an difficulty whatever in floating the loan

He then dealt briefly with matters pertaining to the government road through town. Surveyors were now at work and he thought it likely that before any change this was the time to express their desires. The question now was in by Wilbey and in the event that most about Main street the town would have to bear one-half the cost. Some discussion followed as to the advisability of the Mayor calling a meeting of a number from the council and the ratepayers to discuss the matter, but finally it was decided that no meeting be called at present.

Mr. Haworth was then called upon to make the presentation. He said that he was pleased to see so many present on such an occasion as this. He thought it was a very good thing that the students should get together in this way. He thanked them for the kindness shown to him during his stay in Vermilion and for the assistance rendered him in his work. He thought

Substitute For Human Tendons

German Doctor Has Had Great Success, Says Wide Use

According to a reliable Munich medical weekly, Prof. Fritz Lange, of the University of Munich, has found a successful way of using silk to support and even replace tendons.

In a Munich orthopedic clinic, 855 silk grafts have been attempted by the Lange method, with 97 per cent of the cases successful. One remarkable formation that attends this grafting is a natural tendon growth around the silk substitute, thus protecting it from wear over the bone angles. Silk is also used successfully in stitching torn muscle bands.

LORD SELKIRK AND CANADIAN PLACE-NAMES

His Activities In Various Parts Of Dominion Are Commemorated

Perhaps no figure in Canadian history is more widely commemorated in the place-nomenclature of the Dominion than Thomas Douglas, 5th Baron Daer and Shortcleuch and Earl of Selkirk in the peerage of Scotland. The name of the Scottish peer, who controlled the Hudson's Bay Company and colonized in three provinces, is preserved in the four quarters of the Dominion. In Prince Edward Island in the east, Selkirk settlement and Selkirk point mark where he personally established 500 Highland settlers in 1803. In the west, Selkirk water has been shown on charts since 1846 as the name of a portion of Victoria harbor, Vancouver Island. In the British Arctic explorers have bestowed Lord Earl's name on several bays and islands. Selkirk a bay in Melville peninsula; and Selkirk, a cape on Boothia peninsula. In the south, in mid-continent, Selkirk, named after one of the British estates in Wigtownshire in Scotland, is a memorial of the small city, and there is Lord's town Selkirk Land, Lake Selkirk, Selkirk Creek, and Point Douglas a district of the city of Winnipeg recall the settlement in the basin and home in December 1927. ENGINES AND MOTOR CARS

Former Has Greater Drawing Power But Latter Greater Speed

A remarkable fact has just been performed by the Hon. Vincent Dunn and his wife, driving alternately to break the world's record for 10,000 miles.

Using a British made car, they drove a two-litre Frame and around 2 speedway the whole 10,000 miles at an average of over 60 miles an hour, and but for the fact that they had to stop twenty-one hours, owing to a mishap, they would have averaged over 70 miles an hour, the broad time actual running speed. They broke the existing record by forty-eight hours, notwithstanding that the attempt was made in wintry weather and on one occasion they had a bad skid when going at 70 miles an hour.

During that time the plaintiff travelled 27,000 piston miles; the engine made 25,218,250 revolutions; the magneto received 53,000,000 times, and supplied 106,000,000 sparks.

Throughout the test the engine has improved, it has never approached, and probably never will, the standard of performance attained at 11 degrees of 80 miles an hour within a limited time. On the other hand, the gasoline has never had anything like the probably never will, the hauling power of the railway engine.

The chief design of coins when the ingenuity of man will succeed in combining the principal features of these two methods of transport. If it does, travel will be more revolutionized than it was when the horse first had a rival. Then again, when the principles are applied to the air, the limits of speed and power will have been reached, as the limitation of elevation can envision, unless it be that humanity and merchandise are transported.

Additional Post Offices Opened in Manitoba

Two Have Been Established in Gold Fields Of North

Inspector A. Bishop, chairman, of the Winnipeg postal service, recently visited the gold fields of Northern Manitoba to oversee establishment of two new post offices, one at Narrow Lake, and the other at Woman's Lake.

The post office at the latter place is known as Jackman Mission. Mail to this district will now be carried by dog team, eliminating the dog team mail which has served the miners for the past two years. Once a week a plane of the Western Canada Airways Company will bring mail to the miners. The service was inaugurated Jan. 25.

The longest railroad line is between Lourenzo and Vladivostok — 6,438 miles.

THE DANGERS OF LEISURE

Most Accidents Happen When People Are Off Duty

The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company has a relief department system and the annual report of this service is gratifying to the corporation. It shows that accidents are decreasing, as while in 1926, 40 per cent. of relief benefits paid were on account of accidents, only 9 per cent of the payments last year were so made.

On the other hand deaths due to accidents while off duty greatly increased in the same period. Last year there were sixteen; over three times as many as in 1926. The additional information is given that of the sixteen deaths ten were due to automobile accidents. Another interesting statistics that employees accustomed to the management of railway trains, the operation of which are made practically safeguarded, find themselves at the mercy of motor vehicles which are operated by pretty nearly every person who can secure even temporary possession of one.

The company seemed greatly impressed by the steady increase in the number of fatalities occurring to the employees who are off duty, who are starting to enjoy the leisure which is rightfully theirs, but it shows that leisure is a dead more dangerous proposition unless the employment is especially fraught with danger. If proof is required of this it may be found by examining any issue of a daily paper for any Monday following a clear Sunday. In summer, on the home for July 5, or that for the day after Labor Day. It seems to be an established fact that more persons are injured or lose out for a holiday they leave their usual caution at home

Seventy-Year-Old Mail Man

North Dakota Postman Still Keeps On With Work

Frank Gilby, of Grand Forks, North Dakota, figures he has walked 175,000 miles as a postman in the last thirty-five years, and at seventy he is as actively on the job as ever. In his years of experience Gilby says the equipment he has lost but one day because of illness.

Gilby delivers mail twice a day to an average of 1,000 addressees. He climbs thirty-six sets of stairs twice daily and covers a route of seven miles in mail each week.

In the last thirty-five years he estimated he has delivered 10,500,000 Christmas cards, and says he will never retire on pension as long as he can walk.

Ted: That's my roommate's tie.

The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby something that did not have the reputation of being harmless, especially when a few drops of Baby Soothing Syrup will relieve colic and end almost any little ill. Purely vegetable, it is safe. It cannot be used until everything is severe.

That's the beauty of Castoria; its gentle influence seems just what baby needs. I find that castor oil might accomplish, without shock to the system. Without the evil taste. It's delicious! Being purely vegetable, you may give it to babies as young as a few days. I've used it myself several times.

Just one warning: It is genuine Fletcher's Castoria that physicians recommend. Other preparations may be just as far from all desirable as the child of this writer's is going to see them. Besides, the look and name and feeling of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

JESUS'S MISUNDERSTOOD AND OPPOSED

Golden Text: "He came unto His own, and they that were His own received Him not." But as many as received Him, to them gave He the right to become children of God, even to them that believe on His name." John 1:11, 12.

Lesson: Mark 3:19b-35; 6:1-6.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 8:6-8.

Explanations and Comments

I. Jesus Accused By His Family Of Being Out Of His Mind, 3:19b-21. So great was the crowd which tried to see and hear Jesus at His home in Capernaum, that He and His disciples could find no opportunity to eat. His friends became alarmed and tried to have him put under restraint. A man's foes shall be they of his own household. (Matthew 10:36). Micah 7:6. "For even His brethren did not believe in him."

"He is beside himself." He is out of His mind. His mind is unbalanced, they said. So Festus said of Paul: "Paul, thou art mad; thy much learning is turning thee mad." Acts 26:24. This was one of the cruelest things which Jesus had to bear. His own friends, who should have spared him every distress and sorrow in their power, who knew his heart, his mother, brothers and sisters, turned him to be insane and quite unbelief and cruel explanation of his goodness.

"What cracked-brain fanatics," was the remark the practical men of the eighteenth century made about Wesley and Whitfield. When Christian and Faithful refused even to look at the Fair of Vanity Fair, but turned their eyes to heaven, what could the onlookers do but say, "What madness!" Whatever as the only things worth having, think of these but that they were madmen? Even Paul was accused of when men like Henry Martyn in modern times let themselves burn out for God, when they cheerfully sacrificed every hope of worldly wealth and fame, and think only of the soul and salvation and the kingdom of Christ, what can men who regard worldly wealth and pleasure and fame as the only things worth living for think of them, except that they are beside themselves, are fanatics?

HAVE STARTED CAMPAIGN AGAINST COMMON COLDS

John Hopkins University Would Find Cause and Discover Cure

Johns Hopkins University, of Baltimore, Maryland, is now mobilizing the many units of its great medical school, and organizing a concerted co-operative campaign against the common cold for the purpose of finding its cause and discovering a cure. At first thought the cursory reader may be inclined to ridicule the proposition as something akin to employing a steam hammer to crack a peanut, more especially when he learns that this major offensive will be launched by a $100,000 gift from the Chemical Foundation, its President, Mr. Francis P. Garvan, having in your 1925 address, declared in chemistry as a weapon in the war on disease. But when it is remembered that the so-called "minor" respiratory ailments, because of the working days thus lost to industry, result in a heavier economic handicap than any other single variety of disability, the reason for the campaign becomes plainly evident. Surveys of the United States Public Health Service reveal that colds yearly disable four in every ten men and seven in every ten women—a direct loss to industry of 1.4 days a year for every man on the pay roll, and 2.1 per annum in every ten women. This does not include the loss due to the lowered efficiency of those who manage to give in and bungle through their jobs. This has never been computed, but cannot be other than huge.

Despite the fact that every doctor handles more cases of colds than of any other disease, and despite the attempts it exacts from industry, not to speak of the inconvenience and discomfort to the victim, the common cold is little or nothing is known of their cause or cure. Johns Hopkins investigators declare that they will certainly have to start at scratch or zero. The common cold occupies the field completely, hurling defiance at all comers. Like the weather, closely associated with cold, every one talks of it but no one does anything. Nostrums and panaceas, or the main reason, for the lack of real knowledge concerning colds, is the plurality of the forms and the many funny names given its various manifestations, referring rather to the symptoms in patient's condition where he feels worst, than to the nature of a cold. Among the most important of the different forms of complaint will be carried on in the Johns Hopkins hospital with the definite object of fixing the exact symptoms of the common cold, with particular attention to the bodily organs affected and determining what they actually are. WOLF CUB NOTES.

The Tuesday evening the Cubs were invited by the Kings to join with the Scouts in a social evening at the Arena.

The whole Pack with the exception of one Cub, turned out and met at the Rink at 7:30 p.m.

The C.M. was glad to see how quiet the Cubs sat while the speeches were given on and hoped it was natural Cub behavior and not that they were awed by the two schoolmasters acting so close to them.

After the speeches the Cubs did the things which took the form of the hockey game three racquets which were used by a few Cubs, also Lester on Billy Watson and Arthur Hutchinson in a boxing bout in the first round Billy got rather knocked about but in the second he put up a good fight and gets an equal decision. Claud Bowman and Mark Norris also had a fast and strong bout, but time was then took their places.

After a short supper the arrival of hot dogs and dough nuts was greeted with great enthusiasm by all the Cubs and a hard time of it Lou Hall might just would have to say he had the most, even though his capacity was not the largest.

So by call one Green Bitten of Carsten the Pole. We should like to see more Green and also the Black Cub's colors—blue—so get busy, you Hawks and Browns, don't let the Grays and Tawny beat you.

Our next meeting will be on Tuesday as usual—and remember our friend Lou very low so bring along your 5c to help the poor dime that is all we have lying in our Bank at present

ELKS LODGE TAKES OVER SPONSORSHIP BOY SCOUTS

Interesting Event Takes Place At Rink Gymnasium

An event of more than usual local interest took place Tuesday night at the rink gymnasium when the local Elks Lodge formally took over the sponsorship of the Vermilion Day Scouts association. The Boy Scouts have been "drifted from pillar to post" since the inception of the movement, for the past few years, but with the Elks assuming the responsibility of looking after the financial obligations of the organization it may be expected that a permanent quarters will be provided and the entire course materialized to scouts' work carried out. The occasion was marked with addresses by His Worship Mayor Pelow, Mr. Morrison, chairman of the school board, Principal Stewart of the public school and Mr. Scarborough of the high school, all of whom complimented the Scouts and Cubs on finding big brothers to look after their interests. L. G. Tunaway, district commissioner, was also present and in his remarks approved of the change and felt that great good would follow

Mr. A. J. Law, on behalf of the lodge, said that while the Elks were taking over the sponsorship of the Association, there would be no change in so far as leaders and scout masters were concerned. These would continue on to carry on as usual. Footing, however, that the Elks were behind them, no doubt greater interest would be taken in the work of the association. They proposed to place the Day Scouts on a better footing in Vermilion.

Clever exhibitions of drill were then given by the Cubs under the direction of Mrs. Bodington, assisted by Mrs. Chisholm, and by the Scouts under Don Taylor and others. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening's programme

PROVE VACCINE ABLE TO HALT TUBERCULOSIS

Details Are Given Doctors of the World

PARIS, Jan. 31.—The French academy of medicine is publishing a report to be broadcast to doctors over the world announcing that a vaccine has been proven by tests to eliminate entirely the danger of death by tuberculosis among children, even those born of tubercular parents and living in the worst slums.

The vaccine named the "Bacille Calmette-Guerin," after its discoverers, and referred to in medical circles as "B.C.G." has been used to inoculate 52,772 children, of whom 5,749 lived with tubercular families.

During the first year of the test the death rate among these children was 0.9 per cent. and during the second year of the tests 0.2 per cent., in the third year there was not a death from tuberculosis among the inoculated children.

Before the tests were made, tuberculosis was the gravest danger facing new born French children. Children of hereditary bad living in unsanitary conditions or with tubercular parents were dying at the rate of 24 to 30 per cent.

DEATH OF EARL HAIG.

The sudden and unexpected death of Field Marshall Earl Haig shocked the Empire. Broken when preparing for sleep, he collapsed, being conscious only for a few minutes and unable to speak. His death at the age of 66 years is attributed to overstrain during the war and to his work after the armistice. Up to the day of his passing away his life was devoted to the welfare of the army and particularly for those who served with him in France and Belgium. In 1926, Hart Haig visited Canada and was the founder of the British Legion and Canadian Legion. He was beloved by all. A HIGH SCHOOL POLICY FOR TOWN AND COUNTRY

Editor, Standard,

Dear Sir,—Those who have had to think at all about provisions for high school education know that it is a real problem. I refer particularly to the villages, towns and country. Our situation in this respect is similar to that in regards to hospital accommodation some years ago. The need for hospital requirements has now been met to the general satisfaction of everyone, and the financing has no doubt been burdensome. Can we not meet our high school needs in the same way?

Now there is nothing new in the idea of a district high school modeled after the plan and regulations of the district hospital, which would be the property of the district and be governed by the district.

There is one situation, however, that this plan does not meet, and so far as I know, has never been considered. It is this—the pupils who live too far away to go back and forth from home to school find it costly and hard to get accommodations in town, and there are other other obstacles to effective school work that naturally arise out of this condition.

In talking with some who fully appreciate the needs and feelings of the country in this matter, it has been enunciated that a school home in connection with the high school would meet the situation. This, under proper supervision and management, would provide a suitable home near the school for those pupils who could not go back and forth from their own homes.

Now those who know something of the cheese school home are aware that it has proven to be an excellent thing for those pupils who have to attend school from a distance. The only reason that this plan is not in more general operation today is that the high school self-supporting and the cities have found it to be a financial burden such that they hesitate to undertake to carry.

Covering a part of this plan the cost has been worked out at various times and found to be very light on the last payers. Considering this, and knowing that at present the maintenance of the high school is met by rural districts it is apparent that for both the school and the school house, the financing would be comparatively light when spread over a large area.

A tax similar to that for the district hospital could be arranged for a school policy like this.

Everyone recognizes the needs for an acceptable scheme of high school education are pressing. Just as the needs for a hospital are pressed; and we should all get together to meet them. If we do, we shall meet them. Besides, this move would prove a great factor in advertising the district and thereby attract desirable prospective settlers. Opportunities rome and go. As I see the situation our opportunity to settle the vacant lands in this district has come ,and a sound policy to provide high school facilities for all at a rate that all could afford to pay (I would suggest, would have much weight with the kind of settlers that we want.

Yours truly,
W. B. CASH.

Dramatic Ending To Lawsuit

"ON WITH THE PLAY" IS VERDICT IN FAMOUS CASE

So "Are You A Mason" Will Be Presented at Columbia Theatre Feb. 29th—At Islay Feb. 16th

(Concluded from last week)

Miss Hall broke into a brief but impassioned speech, which lasted for 2 hours, the gist of her harangue being that she did not give a darn for anybody, and moreover, that she thought every Mason should go to the show on February 29th, she was loudly applauded, and as an encore, she recited the Quarrel Scene between Brutus and Cassius, from Charles Dickens' famous poem, "The Ancient Mariner."

J. W. Coe, counsel for the plaintiff, then addressed the court. He contended that the Lodge were entitled to a favorable decision under the Criminal Code, Section 4, Sub-section 19, Paragraph 6, Act 2, Poem 5: and he added that the injunction be granted, or, alternatively, that a writ of Habeas Corpus be issued; or, failing both that all the defendants be impounded and kept in jail, in cells, and at labor.

A. W. Abbott then arose from his seat, and was about to speak, when the dinner bell rang.

An anxious hush hung over the little courtroom. The silence was so intense that one could have heard a pin drop. The hush was soon turned in the direction of the centre aisle, where a little golden-haired mite of probably six summers and thirty-four winters, was slowly making her way towards the Judge's bench. With dimpled arms and bonnet back on the right and the left (the poor little thing was cross-eyed) she walked up to the Judge's bench, and after depositing her toll-worn hand on his shoulder, she piped out, in her deep baritone voice, "Please, your honor, he must if you don't let me see Don Taylor and Miss Bury do the stunt on Feb. 29th."

The effect was magnetic. The poor old judge—the hard-hearted man who had often sentenced men to life imprisonment without the slightest of a ten-nail—broke down completely. Tears as rained down his cheeks and he wiped his eyes with the ermine in his throat, although he was successful in swallowing his quid of chewing tobacco.

He threw any right anon publican an old man in tears unless it two old men in tears."

From the lawyers' table Counsel Abbott rose to his feet, protesting for the benefit of posterity, that he was not a Mason, but a resident of Vermilion and wrote out a couple of fifteen cents for the Elks' Kiddies' Xmas Party in favor of the defendants.

The spectators exhibited a perfect silence while the venerable judge nodded his head out, and the sympathy of all went out to the old man as he slowly arose to his feet, and said in a low tone of voice: "The injunction cannot be granted; IN WITH THE PLAY!"

The audience knew that counsel had understruck. The supporters of the Dramatic Club, many of whom had been sitting on the fence, now jumped over, outside pocket, and landed on the Government House lawn in front of the court house.

The case is ended.

It was certainly a great victory for the good citizens of Vermilion, and indeed fortune—that it will be able to see the play of operation in it. Standard play of the century at the Columbia Theatre on Monday evening, February 29th. A good play a good cast, a comfortable theatre, a good cause. What else do you need for a pleasant evening? Remember the date—Feb. 29th.

"Are You A Mason" will be presented at Moore's Hall, Islay, on Friday evening, Feb 17th, and in the Orange Hall, Manyberries on Tuesday, Feb. 21st. Watch for posters and announcement of ticket sale.

ISLAY ITEMS

A very encouraging annual meeting was held in Knox United Church at Islay on Monday evening, January 30. Mr. D. C. Nelson occupied the chair. The devotional part of the program was conducted by the minister, Rev. T. A. Bowen, who also reported to the session. The session was gratified with the success of the board of management being able to report a substantial balance at the close of the year, but hope to see a corresponding advance in the spiritual interests as the church and that the ministry might attend the regular services. The session had revised the Roll of Communicants and start 1928 year with 57 communicants. It is our hope to have a catechism class formed and a larger number of our young people united with the church at the Easter communion. There is a good Sunday School at Islay, open all the year, and Mr. J. W. Rankin conducts a well organized Sunday school at Tilley school. On January 15th a new prayer meeting was started in the home of Holyrood school with Mr. M. Forbes superintendent and Mr. McKinley and Mrs. Teachers.

W. T. Gunn for 3 months' stipend, Rev. J. W. Bell for one month and Rev. T. A. Bowen 6 months stipend, and for all the incidentals of fuel, light, horses, taxes, seed, etc. and also raise a note at the bank for $150 and start the year with $76.00 on hand.

Mrs. T. M. Stephens, secretary, reported for the Ladies' Auxiliary that they had raised in the year the sum of $285.00 and had been able to pay over to board of manage ment $215, and for school church repairs and incidentals $20, leaving a balance in hand of $15.

Mrs. R. H. Mee reported that a very promising Junior band had been formed and under her leadership held seven meetings recently, and hoped to see the interest increase among the children.

Peace and Agriculture

Every country in the world is still staggering under the enormous burden of the war debts which each and everyone is carrying. Even countries that were not actually engaged in the Great War were no doubt put to heavy expense and sustained huge losses as a result of that titanic struggle. The people of each country, even while struggling under the load of taxation, which they have assumed, have been anxious and desirous to see their respective governments make such arrangements as would lighten the burden of taxation. Many proposals have been made, and many efforts have been put forth to bring about a reduction in the expenditure of each country, but so far without any appreciable success. Reports have come to us from time to time of reductions in the expenditure of the United States Government, but the Treasury's report for the present year shows that the reductions have been comparatively small, and that the expenditure for the present year will be greater than the ordinary revenue of the government.

In other words, as one paper puts it, "Taxes eighty-two cents of every dollar earned by people in power and ambitious war." Purposes such as these are necessary in order to make provision for the maintenance of peace, agricultural research, erection of public buildings, scientific investigation, the maintenance of departments, the making and enforcing of laws, and all the multitudinous items of ordinary civil functions added together.

These items would seem almost incredible even for a country in war-ravaged Europe, but detailed statements of the United States Government, applying to that country enjoying such a large measure of isolation from the entanglements formed on many European nations and most particularly separated from outside the limits of the Dominion, which there is every reason to believe.

Farmers, with whom agriculture is, or should be, the business of the world, are crying desperately for relief. Many of them are losing their farms, and the number increasing alarmingly. Statements are made, and statements are denied, claiming to find some reasonable basis of economic agreement.

But, notwithstanding, unfortunately, very much what is already has been, and no, where the world is crying for peace, and the United States' heavily advertised efforts at the great agencies of peace, and the United States' heavily advertised efforts at the great agencies of peace, and the United States' heavily advertised efforts at the great agencies of

Elks Defeat Lloyd -Tie Up League

Before the opening of the game between Vermilion and Lloydminster Tuesday night in the Little Three League fixture, Manager Harper of the home team filed a protest against the visitors, basing his protest on the fact that Lloydminster was playing Morel, McMillan and Billy McLeod, all Edmonton hockeyists who could not possibly qualify under the residence clause. Under this protest the play opened and in sixteen minutes Hubbirt scored for Vermilion, but the touch was disallowed. With two minutes to go Clarence Barr accepted a pass from Hubbirt at centre and dropped the disc behind McLeod. It was a brilliant play. The period developed fast hockey with Vermilion successfully checking the members of the imported stuff who were out to earn their money. The second stanza produced probably the best hockey of the evening and perhaps of the season, with Lloydminster trying to force the play. After twelve minutes of work, Kirkpatrick, the speedy left wing took a pass from Hib

Krupps Are Kept Busy

Makers Of War Material Find Profit In Peace Time Products

Ir shifting from the manufacture of cannon and war materials to the making of such peaceful articles as false teeth, tangents, locomotives and motor cars, the Krupp Works, at Essen, have made a paying change.

The annual Krupp report shows a net profit of 13,099,980 marks- about $3,100,000 compared with a deficit for 1926 of 2,000,000 marks.

The Krupp Works, so recently famed throughout the world as purveyors of munitions of war and hyped for the production of weapons in tremendous quantity, have accomplished readjustment to peaceful productivity with extraordinary rapidity

Almost the same day and night activity prevails as in days before the world War, but today the works are filling orders for railway locomotives cars and parts for motor cars, harvesters, razors, knives and forks, cash registers, artificial teeth mounted on a platinum-like steel alloy and a hundred and one other such commodities of peace-time worth.

Britain is Following

Hare Decided To Abandon 10,000 Ton Vessels For the Present

The British Government, it was announced at London, has decided to go still further in its policy of naval disarmament indicated after the failure of the tri-partite conference.

The building program passed in 1925 provides for the laying down of one 10,000-ton cruiser and two 8,000-ton cruisers in each of the three years, 1927, 1928 and 1929. The First Lord of the Admiralty Right Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, recently announced that it had been decided to abandon all the 10,000-ton cruisers for the present and that one of the projected 8,000-ton ships might be carried over until 1929. Now it has been determined to abandon the latter vessel altogether.

The result is that in the two years in question only three 8,000-ton vessels will be laid down, instead of four as this class, as originally proposed Together with the elimination of the 10,000-ton ships, the will mean a saving of about £3,500,000 ($17,500,000). It is understood that the program for destroyers and submarines will remain unchanged and that construction of nine destroyers and six submarines will be included in next year s program.

New Western Radio Stations

Will Experiment With Transmission Of Radio Pictures

A radio broadcasting station, controlled from a studio in Winnipeg, will be erected this year just within the eastern boundaries of Saskatchewan, it is announced by D. F. Mc Coutcheon Moose Jaw. The station, Mr. Coutcheon said, will be erected by a commercial company but aside from the regular concert features experiments will be conducted in transmission of radio pictures. He believes television, by which the listener will be able to see as well as hear radio artists, will follow closely on the perfection of picture reception.

The Saskatchewan site, Mr. Coutcheon explained, had been selected to overcome interference encountered by stations adjacent to cities.

A novel experiment in civic enterprise may be tried out at Port Alberni, B.C. soon if plans for the operation of a municipal coal mine materialize.

It is believed that a large bed of coal lies under the city and the proposal has been made to diamond drill the property and ascertain the feasibility of the mine project. Should the drilling show that the coal is available at a reasonable depth, then the project could be operated at a profit by the city, it is believed. If the drilling shows the coal is at too great a depth to be worked on a small scale, negotiations will be entered into with a private company.

JESUS PICTURES THE KINGDOM OF GOD

Golden Text: "Thy Kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth."—Matthew 6.10.

Lesson: Mark 1.14, 15; 4.1-34.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 145. 7-13.

Explanations and Comments

I. The Growth Of the Church Of God Is Sure: It Depends Upon God, verses 26-29. A definition of the phrase, the Kingdom of God, can only be gleaned by studying the various ways in which Jesus used it. In His parables we learn that it has to do with man's spiritual statures and possibilities, his inner life. We might define it as the reign of God in the hearts of men. "The Kingdom of God is within you," said Jesus.

There is no geography in the Kingdom of God. On an ancient Syrian fragment the familiar words of Luke 1.33 read, "and to His Kingdom there shall be no frontier"; it is for all the world. Its growth is organic. There is no chronology in the Kingdom of God; it is both present and future. As Alexander Maclaren writes: "It is present, wherever with love to God it is future as to complete realization, in the heaven from whence it comes and to which, like its King, it belongs even while on earth." In the earthly province of the Kingdom its subjects are fighting the good fight; in the other they receive what they gained their crowns of righteousness.

A parable is a story told for the purpose of illustrating a truth. The parable of "The Seed Growing Secretly," or of "The Blade, the Ear, the Full Corn," as it is also sometimes called, portrays the slow but sure growth of the Kingdom of God in the hearts of men. "So is the Kingdom of God," Jesus began His parable. That is, what you see to be God's method of working in nature is also the method of working in the spiritual realm. So is the Kingdom of God. If a man should cast seed upon the earth (as Jesus and the Apostles and His later followers have explained the word of God in men's hearts); and should sleep and rise night and day, that is, lead his customary life, leaving the result of his sowing with God; and the seed should spring up and grow, he knows not how. Such is the kingdom of God conneth not with observation," Jesus told the Pharisees

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

LENTON JUNKET BAVARIAN

1 package lemon junket.
1 tablespoon confectioned sugar
½ cup chopped walnuts.
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 pint milk.
½ pint cream.
Marshmallows.
Tart jelly or cherries.

Cut marshmallows in quarters with shears and place in bottom of dessert glasses. Whip cream, almond extract and sugar together until stiff, add chopped walnuts. Warm milk slightly, in separate dish, dissolve in it the junket powder, quickly pour this into the cream mixture, stir a moment carefully. Pour at once into the glasses. The nuts and marshmallows will rise to the top. Let set until firm. Then chill. Top with bits of tart jelly.

Scalloped Ham and Potatoes

Into a well-buttered pan put slices of raw peeled potatoes and a little pepper. Then a layer of uncooked sliced ham. Add another layer of potatoes and ham and pour on this cream sauce (1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter, to 1 cup milk). Sprinkle bread crumbs on top and bake in a moderate oven until brown and potatoes are well done. Serve hot.

Left enough ham can be used to give the desired flavor, which has the advantage of making a little ham go a long way. For picnics this can be baked at home in a heavy tin dish with a cover and reheated over hot water on a camp fire.

Breaks the Spell

The male members of a certain tribe in India sometimes contract marriages with a tree. When a bridegroom has lost two wives by death and wishes to take a third he naturally fears that she too may die. So before the marriage he is led up to a healthy-looking tree and with it goes through the full marriage ceremony. The tree is then cut down and mourned over. says The Child. The tree is classed for his marriages with the new wife and she is considered free from all evil influences.

WHAT MAKES A NEWSPAPER

Cannot Be Successfully Run Without Help Of People

A mistaken idea with some people is that the newspaper is an individual proposition. If they don't like the editor, they feel they must knock the paper and stand in the way of its success whenever possible. They do not realize that the local paper is just as much a part of the community as the schools, churches or anything else. The newspaper is different from any other business. It is a community affair. It exists to serve the people and not for any selfish object.

You may not like the editor and the editor may not love you any too well—but the paper he is responsible for is bound to be the people as the service rendered others. There is nothing personal with it; it is here for the purpose and that purpose is to do what good it can in every way it can and the greater the support of those undertakings to serve the better service it can render. It takes the people to make a good newspaper and without the help of the people no one can run a successful newspaper. It requires money to operate any kind of business—even the churches and the papers are no exception and for this reason they must have the patronage of the business interest as well as the good will.

Few newspaper publishers make more than a comfortable living and scarcely one is reported wealthy from money made in the newspaper business. They are human beings like the rest and to be understood by the people—It is the editor and not the plant that makes a newspaper a real force in a community, though a liberal patronage is necessary if the paper is to be a credit to the town.

Cannot Make Public Speeches

They were in the kitchen, Mrs. McMann peeling a tub of potatoes for the evening slaughter, and Helmi dampening clothes for the next day's ironing. The latter lifted her dreamy eyes from the basket of clothes. "Ain't clean clothes beautiful?" she said, "all full of nice smells of good air and sun. I like clean clothes like flowers."

Mrs. McMann regarded her with a puzzled look. "I sometimes don't know about you, Helmi, dear," she said kindly, "you seem so queer, and hard, by all there. You don't seem to have what people are saying to you—with your dreamy looks and the queer things you say."

"When you speaking to me, Mrs. McMann?" Helmi asked politely, "I am sorry if I did not answer right. What was it you wanted me to tell you?"

Though outwardly pleased to have Helmi back with her, Mrs. McMann's anger burned against the girl because of the fervent expression of joy her return brought from Steve. Never on thanksgiving was expressed the first day she was there to wait on the table

"Helmi at the helm again!" one Hunkie Jew cried out. "Don't leave us, Helmi—we missed you so! Don't leave us even if you did get married—we are willing to forgive you anything but desertion "Oooh, I'm glad to see you," said the time-keeper, a man who seldom spoke

"See here!" Mrs. McMann broke in, "what's the matter with you all? Didn't I feed you?—Darn you! Didn't I allow grub here every day and hire a Chinaman to cook?"

"It's just we're glad to see her back —she's a pretty, young thing, and we like to look at her, Mrs. McMann," said the mine boss, whose special duty it was to keep peace. His wife had gone East and he was taking his meals at the boarding house. "The boys don't mean no harm to you."

Mrs. McMann's eyes narrowed. Helmi's agile movements, her boyishly slim figure, her perfectly rounded face, and the brilliancy of her coloring gave the man quite a few bitternesses the old hatress feels when her theatre studies with appliance for the new star. Mrs. McMann, in her young days had "queened" among a camp, where the youngest woman already past the prime of life. Now by contrast with Helmi, she was merely a grandy-pot—and some others, young and beloved by them, were growing old and hated by them. She knew all the men and she knew it, and with the thought came a smouldering hatred of the unconscious cause of it.

One day when Helmi came in Mrs. McMann noticed the color of her cheeks was not so brilliant, and her eyes looked heavy and red.

"Pritthi', are you Helmy?" she said; married three months and pretties already. That's not good for a girl to worth prettie over. By Gosh! I'll bet Jack's not prettie. If there's a pretty girl in sight, Jack will be squatting on his hunkers and makin' her think she's the only girl he ever looked at. Men are all the same don't I know them! I'd shoot, I've had three men in my day, what people are saying to you—with your dreamy looks and the queer things you say."

Mrs. McMann, with her hair in flaring curl papers, dressed in a faded and shrunken old wrapper which had had some of its buttons in the course of its career, with shoes unlaced and the heels trodden down, did not look much like the lady who would command abject homage.

Helmi looked thoughtful as she went about her work.

Juniors Snap A 2-1 Victory Over Seniors

The old oaken bucket of depa was shot full of holes at the Arena last Thursday night when Mister Scarborough's Juniors plastered a 3 to 1 defeat on Harry Harper's senior and hired tribe, before a large number of frantic fans. Twas a battle royal from gong to gong, neither team having noticeable advantage in territorial play.

The Juniors started with the rush that characterized their play throughout and within minutes from the opening clang Eddie Mooney broke up an Elk rally and rushed the length of the ice, passing out Iron bolted Mead's rage to Art Weber, who made no mistake with his shot. From then on it was hot stuff, just as good if not better than anything seen here this winter Another Bye minutes had barely elapsed when Jimmie Habkirk showed his way through the Elk defenders and gave Welsh no chance on his shot. The fans then were treated to minutes of scoreless hockey, and it looked as if things were going to be forced into overtime Two minutes before the final gong, Rosh Hesler, Junior centre man, followed in fast on his own long shot and rammed the old rubber disc past Mead for the winning goal.

Jimmie Habkirk starred for the Juniors while the Juniors were a pulley of brave every man playing bang-up hockey Line-up

Canada To The Fore

Canada's amazing progress in the last few years is challenging the attention of the world. That progress is based not only on the great variety, extent and richness of this country's natural resources, but is founded in the general faith of Canadians in this Dominion and in the confidence they have in themselves a faith and confidence to be largely of the really tremendous achievements of Canada during the years of the Great War In that time Canada's people and Canada abroad, a fact of luxury, displayed great resources, unsuspected energy, and hitherto undreamed of power and strength. Thrown to a large extent upon its own resources financial and otherwise, the Dominion's management faced all problems and did so with marked success.

For countries, if not whatever, the storm days and difficult conditions of the aforesaid war and reconstruction years are successfully as that this Dominion, because of its wonderful time of those years, has developed great strength, prosperity, national soul. Their former doubts and hitherto these self-depreciation and what has commonly been termed their inferiority complex disappeared in, has been replaced by courage, confidence and prospect faith.

In former years the Canadian has occasionally stopped with large and prosperous Republic, but in these more recent years the Dominion has come to be recognized as the worlds great Dominion, today it is the Commonwealth of Nations' most outstanding one its place in the League of Nations is outstanding, and assisted The more and more pronouncing the Pan-American Union, including the United States and the countries of South and North America, are anxious that the Dominion should join them and give added prestige to the Union. Canada's natural resources are amazing the establishment of direct dynamic representation of the country.

That recognition is essential of many Canadians felt, realize the rapid growth and steadily increasing importance of their own country because, as a rule the average citizen pays little attention to world-life dry statistics in which the growth of country is set forth. But when Sir Robert Borden, Hon. Arthur Meighen, K.C., eminently and industriously set forth a few facts and figures with his repeating. He noted, for example, the following:

Every [illegible] establishes bank from their rests, pro-ducts valued at $[illegible].

From mines the bank $200,000 daily.

Every [illegible] day increased their capacity for manufacturing pulp and paper by more than Canada now manufacturing one-third of the world's requirements of newsprint.

Every working day they added 700 horsepower in hydro-electric energy to the power already installed, and at the same time began work that will add 1,000 h.p every day in the first six months of 1924.

Canada's export trade last year, with less than 10,000,000 people, was equal to the export trade of the United States, when the latter country had a population of 25 years.

Commenting on these and other statements Mr. Beatty's striking summary, a Winnipeg paper says, is in any wonder that in the past two years the Canadian people have been putting $200,000 into the savings banks every banking day, increasing deposits in financial institutions correspondingly, investing in life insurance at the same relative rate, buying back millions in securities formerly held in Great Britain and Europe, providing a most unlimited capital for manufacturing enterprises, and have developed the spirit of solid confidence and self-reliance?

Now is it surprising that these people are emigrating from the British Isles to Canada, than to any other country, many thousands more than to Australia.

Speaking at the opening of the great 5,500,000 bushel terminal elevator just completed by the Canadian Grovers at Port Arthur, President T. A. Crerar pointed out that while Canada was now producing approximately 500,000,000 bushels of wheat annually and is today the world's greatest wheat exporting country, yet there was room for further increased production. He was confident that the time would come when Canada would produce 1,000,000,000 bushels annually.

And the thought for Canadians to keep ever in their minds, and to put into practice, is that Canada is only beginning to get into its stride.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE NOTES

The College hockey team continues to uphold its good record and on Tuesday evening journeyed to Manville where they took a one to nothing victory over the Manville Aces. The game was fast from start to finish, few penalties were handed out, the V. S. A. team returning to tripe to the fence. The first period ended without a score while in the second stanza the sturdy defence of Smith, Norman Hughes, managed the twine for an orphan. This goal popped up the game and for the remaining three-and minutes the ice was the scene of a fierce struggle, but the Aces could not get through the V.S.A. defence and the Manville goalie could not take the same as a real tribunal as he was eventually peppered with shots and duly turned them aside

About four minutes from the end, Boggs, captain of the College team, playing defence, was severely injured and was drawn from the game His place was taken by Syvatuck, and playing three-man defense the boys really held their opponents in a walkout. A return game will probably be played with the Aces on the College rink on Friday evening of this week and fast hockey is assured. The high school students are invited to attend the game and to be present at a dance in the auditorium of the school at which the members of the Manville hockey team will be the guests of the V S A Athletic Committee.

"BEN-HUR," WORLD'S MIGHTIEST ATTRACTION, DUE HERE MARCH 7 - 10

SCENIC EFFECTS IMMENSE

Twelve Teams in Chariot Race; Sea Fight Provides Thrills on Spectacular Scale

[illegible]-Goldwyn-Mayer, in arrangement with A. L. Erlanger, Charles Dillingham and F. Ziegfeld, Jr., offers the world's mightiest attraction at the Columbia Theatre for four days next month, March, 7, 8, 9, 10, in the celebrated picture version of "Ben-Hur" to which old New York has crowded for many months and which equally delighted Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia in its many record-breaking runs. This wonderful [illegible] cost over $4,000,000, three years' time and the labors of 150,000 persons in Italy and California.

It culminated in the construction of the gigantic Circus Maximus and reproduces of Antioch and in the Stadia thrown of the thrilling chariot race. Instead of eight horses and the old-time mechanical illusion of the stage show, the new and greater "Ben-Hur" cheers twice as many of four horses.

The details of General Lew Wallace's famous "Tale of the Christ" have been reverently followed. Not only that, the picture heightens the powerful melodramatic and love interest of the play, centering in the four romantic characters of Ben-Hur, Messala, Esther and Iras, enacted by Ramon Novarro, Francis X. Bushman, May McAvoy and Carmel Myers.

The one millionth person entering the London Theatre to see this picture two weeks ago received £25 as a present. There were no seats at less than $2.00.

HEAVY VOTING AT THE MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Mechanic Tops Poll for Council and Cooper for School Board

Although there were no outstanding issues either in the town or school elections on Monday, a surprisingly large number of votes were polled, 176 ballots being cast. W. E. Mackenzie was the only newcomer seeking re-election and he topped the poll, securing 156 votes. Next to him came J. Gordon Watson with 154, then Lloyd Cameron with 152, and John Waring 139. The first three will be the new councillors. The voting proceeded around Mackenzie and he got them [illegible] last point.

For the school board L. G. Dunaway was the trustee seeking re-election, and he suffered defeat, securing 101 votes, while E. R. P. Cooper headed the list with 142. Cooper has served for several years on the board and he was the ages of the voting. M. G. Brimacombe who also has had experience on the board, came next with 132 and John Welch with 124. Cooper, Welch and Brimacombe will be the new trustees. Next Tuesday will see the election on the school by-law and it looks as if another heavy poll would be registered. The issue here will be discussed at the public meeting in the Community Hall on (this) Friday evening.

New Angle On Annexation

English Author Has Idea That Canada Will Annex United States

Confessing astonishment that Canadians laughed at men who predicted the time would come when Canada could walk non-hand and hand across the United States, Mr. Roberts, English traveler and author, holds forth on the subject in a book "On the Old Trail." He says it is not to be laughed at, and is worthy of serious thought.

Some day there may be either a United States of Britain, or a United States of America, he says, but the economic pressure will be too great to stand apart.

As a variation upon an old theme Mr. Roberts's prophecy is stirring and refreshing. Heretofore most of the annexationists talk that way in the other direction, where the Canadians are to be the under-country barely. What if the tables were turned on the subject, and Canada should become sensible as what she is—the proper field of annexation has ever said!

After all the proposal that Canada should annex the United States is about as reasonable as the proposal that the United States should annex Canada. the one has about as much chance of taking place as the other.

If our Canadian friends laughed at the Englishman's suggestion we of the United States can afford to smile with them. For, indeed, the annexation of Canada by the United States would be a proposition with enormous possibilities. Canada is a country which has a priceless opportunity for phenomenal growth, not to be had. Although it is a country which has sometimes been taken for granted, it is good to have it dragged out and considered for the ribbon it thing it is.

Aged Woman Had Queer Mania

House Was Packed With Furniture From Auction Sales

Mrs. Hayden, a respectable woman of advancing age who recently died at St. Albans, England, lived alone in the house for 20 years and had a mania for collecting furniture, yet no space remained available as what she had was piled up to the ceiling in every room.

Mrs. Hayden would chairs, bedsteads, tables, and in fact, anything she could lay her hands on. Although she had many beds she never slept in bed because there was no room in which to place one. She never squeezed about in a passage, but where it came from was a mystery.

Canadian Wool Production

Production In Canada For 1927 Totalled 16,677,766 Pounds

Production of wool in Canada in 1927 totalled 16,677,766 pounds as compared with 17,923,870 pounds for the 1926 production. By provinces the wool clip last year was: Prince Edward Island, 313,852 pounds; Nova Scotia, 1,440,541 pounds; New Brunswick, 873,724 pounds; Quebec, 4,956,118 pounds (extra), 3,226,451 pounds; Manitoba, 765,079 pounds; Saskatchewan, 907,458 pounds; Alberta, 2,053,181 pounds; British Columbia, 717,802 pounds; and Indian Reserves, 17,410 pounds.

It took a postal card, mailed by Pauline Prior, 50 years to reach the addressee, Helen Sharp, although the card travelled only 40 miles. Miss Prior mailed the card in Boston, Ill., to Miss Sharp in McLeansboro, on February 2, 1906.

Predicts Civilization Of North

Stefansson Foresees Thriving Industries in Arctic Circle

An Arctic civilization with communities and industry thriving in the frozen northlands was pictured by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, explorer, author and lecturer, in an address before Chicago business leaders of the Executive Club.

The search of progressives as ever been northward, the explorer said. At present, Stefansson said, the expansion of industry is in abundance toward into upper Canada and Alaska. Winnipeg, he said, already handles more wheat than Chicago. Duluth, said the Twin Cities combined, and western Canada had only started to go.

Among the resources of the Arctic circle he mentioned oil, as yet undeveloped, in great quantities in abundance, and gold, with vast acres of grazing land. The whites in the Arctic circle have been supplied from Winnipeg and all the activities of Winnipeg are possible there.

The present Eskimo population of the world in the great northern lands, with the streets routes from Chicago to Europe, Stefansson said, is greatly by airplanes over the north pole.

Canada Crushes Flight

Royal Air Force Pilot Will Attempt Non-Stop Flight From Vancouver To Halifax

After landing a lone 7,000-mile air trail from England to India, the first ever accomplished solo in a light aeroplane, Flight Lieut. Leslie Hall, Royal Air Force pilot, is now in Canada seeking further adventure, and will soon endeavor to fly from Vancouver, British Columbia, to Halifax, Nova Scotia, in one hop.

Hall, who is now visiting Montreal, is leaving for New York to test the endurance powers of a new engine which is being installed in a Waco Ten light aeroplane. He hopes to fly the plane across the continent to San Francisco in a non-stop flight, afterwards flying to Vancouver for a take off on his non-stop flight across the Dominion.

Made King Albert Explain

Belgian King Suspected Of Being Motorcycle Thief

King Albert of Belgium lives at Laeken, the fashionable suburb of Little Paris, of Brussels, Belgium. He does not always drive in one of the State limousines, but frequently uses a motorcycle to go to his office in the morning like many of his subjects. One morning the Brussels police were keeping a sharp lookout, as epidemic of motorcycle robberies had been reported the previous night. King Albert passed by and was halted to the toll gate that separates Brussels from Laeken. The officials stopped him, and demanded to see his pass. The King had to admit that he did not have any. Upon this grave and suspicious circumstance he was asked to come inside the toll house and explain matters. In the course of the questioning the King was asked for his identity papers. He did not have these either but he had a letter addressed to him personally, would that do, he asked. The official told him to show the letter. When he read the address the double fold of his eyes and he started to shake and tremble all over. Needless to say, the King was allowed to proceed on his way.

Manitoba Department Of Mines

Premier John Bracken Will Be the Minister In Charge

Manitoba will have a department of mines and natural resources, Premier John Bracken will be the Minister in charge and Prof. H. C. Wallace, of the Manitoba University, will be the commissioner.

The new department will look after grants to mining institutes, assistance in surveying for prospectors, prospectors' short courses, mineral exhibits, publications and industrial development, as well as power site exploratory work and natural resources

Creation of the department was announced by Premier Bracken in the Legislature. That the province may be able to devote sufficient time to the new work he will relinquish the position of minister of telephones and this probably will be taken over by Hon. W. W. Chubb, minister of public works, as an additional office.

FEBRUARY 19

TWO MIRACLES OF POWER

Golden Text: "Who then is this, that even the wind and the sea obey Him?"

Lesson: Mark 4.35-5.20.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 104: 1-8.

Explanations and Comments

I. The storm, 4.35-37. On the day that Jesus spoke many parables (our last lesson), he said at evening to his disciples, "Let us pass over unto the other side," Did he would escape the multitudes and rest. They took him with them in the boat, even as he was. What an insight into the humanness of Jesus that little phrase even as he was gives us! The day had severely taxed his physical strength, and He was tired out. He needed rest even as do we. The boat had been his pulpit, and when his discourse was ended and the disciples set sail from the shore, he sank down in the stern and fell asleep.

"What strikes us here is that he has learned to relax—to use the language of today. No sooner was His work done, than He composed Himself to sleep, and as comfortably as possible He used the cushion as pillow. Some flome people break down because they have never learned to relax. Their work done, they cannot rest. Their minds are still busy. If we are to work to the full, we must learn to shut off the yoke swiftly and to rest with both mind and body. Jesus is an example in this also."—I. C. Gillie.

Suddenly there came a great windstorm, and drove the waves into the boat so that it began to fill. There have always been sudden and violent storms on the Sea of Galilee

WEIGHING THE EARTH

By means of some complicated instruments in Washington the earth can be weighed. The long accepted figure for the weight of the earth is 6,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons. Weighed more recently it is discovered that the earth is lighter than had been supposed. It is now scales at only 6,652,000,000,000,000,000,000 tons. Does that mean anything to you? At least you can rest your mind on it when you have been worrying about our income or other small figures.

Peace River Country

Premier J. E. Brownlee declared here that in the Peace River country there were at least 12,000,000 acres of the finest wheat-growing soil, easily capable of the production of 100,000,000 bushels of wheat a year, which is not much less than the production of Alberta last year. This region has room for 100,000 farmers, and could produce 9,000,000 bushels of wheat from 300,000 acres under cultivation, the yield now being unusually heavy.

WAS SO NERVOUS and SHORT OF BREATH COULD HARDLY SLEEP

Mrs. Louise Eagle, Golden Lake, Ont., writes: For several years I was greatly troubled with my heart, and had such attacks of short breath I could hardly sleep at night, and I did sleep for a while I had bad pains.

CHAPTER XIX

One day in August, when the train came in, the conductor ran into the station and shouted to the operator, "Say Ted, there's a war in Europe! What do you know about that?"

Ted took his pipe from his mouth and spat at the floor. "Quit your kiddin'," he said briefly.

The conductor handed him the paper. "What do you make of that?" he said, as he pointed to the staring headlines. "Maybe you'll believe me when you read that."

The operator grudgingly admitted that there seemed to be more in it than he had at first believed. "Well, there will be, if what I've heard is true," conductor; "whose row is it anyway?"

The conductor tried to explain.

"Tain't any of our business, is it, if someone shoots an arch-duke," said the operator. "Isn't it about all some of these arch-dukes is good for? Are they scarce of them?"

He was deep in his desk with a large handkerchief as he spoke, and that was a sure sign of mental activity.

"It looks bad, Ted," the conductor said, gravely; "there's lots of excitement in town—flag-waving and bands playing and all. I know some of the boys that are just itching to go, but I assure you it isn't me. Well, so long, Ted; I guess we should worry if it's a long way from Northern Alberta."

Old Sim, the night watchman, took it more seriously than anyone in Eagle Mines. "I'm too old for service, for sure what it is about, but just while it lasts in one cares. To these here English I'm sorry for them more than a war. Then it gets done when everyone is dead or lame, or blind, and tired you wish some one would write him up the latest rifles, gets the sick feeling when well those rifles get the legged men and takes eyes for the blind and provide for the widow and the orphans. And then there's great councils and meetin's to find out who started the darn thing, and maybe don't you get some one pinned on that he knew what there it all the time"

The war I was in," Sim continued, was started by the sinkin' of a ship boat called the "Maine," and we was told to keep on saying "Remember the Maine." If ever we got chicken-hearted or a bit scared the enemy, or tired or homesick we'd down to the mouth That was to be what they called our slogan, and we stuck to it pretty well It almost came to the day in the last my leg my best one it was, too but ain't that always the way?

"I tried a doctor's treatment for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. The sample helped me a lot. I used more and in five months I was healed." (Signed) Miss A. Yarenko, 9824, 96th Ave., Edmonton, Alta.

Cases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases — of consumption — of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick or scratch where the wound, being thought not serious enough for any first treatment, had been neglected. Blood poisoning and death resulted.

When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood-poisoning, etc. Hence no time need be lost from work or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. All dealers, 50c. box.

The present tender which the game of Feb. 7th (Lloydminster at Vermilion) was played was an undesirable arrangement between the management of the two teams, in fact was arranged by Lloydminster to day before the game, to eliminate such a possibility of Vermilion losing points or standing in the league. Lloydminster refused to use some new players, but did so only after giving advance notice to the other teams interested. We have always considered Lloydminster to be the paragon of clean sport and the instance hereby referred to is no exception to the rule. In all likelihood the remaining games in which Lloydminster participate will be played under a similar arrangement.

Settler Killed North Town

Struck by Bullet from Accidental Discharge of Rifle

Fredrick Thomson, who came out from Scotland with the family and the three thousand family land settlement scheme and settled in the Chatsworth district about 20 miles north of Vermilion, was fatally shot yesterday afternoon by his eighteen-year-old nephew, and died about half an hour later. Thomson and his two nephews were out hunting the land and while engaged in this work one of the boys saw a coyote, aimed a 30-30 rifle which they had with them, before firing, he exclaimed to the other brother it was loaded and in so doing it accidentally discharged, the full contents entering the head. Dr. Sparrow and Sergeant Hopkins were called to the scene of the accident but deemed it unnecessary to hold an inquest.

Thomson was a very progressive type of farmer and was making good under the settlement scheme.

One of the most popular features of the modern newspaper is the collection of news published under the heading of "Sixteen Years Ago Today"; but interesting as these items invariably are, I cannot help thinking that they would nevertheless be more interesting to the present generation if they were brought down to date. Take for instance a few years ago a lady acquaintance of mine told me, in the course of a conversation, that she was 22 years of age. You can imagine my surprise when I read in the next issue of the local paper that the same lady had graduated from high school 16 years ago—at the age of six years! Surely, a most interesting history to tell out of the newspaper altogether, and that it be replaced by a summary of future events. I have no doubt that the Editor of the Vermilion Standard, as the acknowledged leader of progressive journalism in Alberta, will act upon this suggestion, for which I make no charge.

The following sample items will serve to show what can be done along these lines

From the Standard Files, February 20, 1913

His Worship Mayor W A Fallows celebrated his 116th birthday yesterday and incidentally completed his 11th year as mayor of Vermilion. In accordance by a Municipal reporter as to the secret of his long life and healthful mind of rest, His Worship stated that he attributed his great age to the fact that he was a total abstainer. He was also very busy, smoked eight pounds of tobacco every week, and never did anything else.

Eight Years Of World Service

With the conclusion of the Great War and the assembling of the Peace Conference, a new chapter was written in the history of this old world when the League of Nations was formed and the Covenant of the League written. By that, it is new conception a new ideal of international relationships and a hopeful, new spirit being

On January 10th last the League of Nations observed its eighth anniversary. Although eight years is but as a fleeting second in the life of the world, there is interest and value in glancing back over that brief period and seeking to measure the accomplishments of the League and in endeavoring to find the answer to the question whether it is worth while and whether there is to be found in it the basis for the needful improvement.

The general opinion today from those who would be expected to be most disappointed if the League had failed, is not realized the extravagant hopes of its more enthusiastic supporters, neither have the doleful prophecies of the opponents of the League been fulfilled.

The League has not been a failure in making the world safe from the continuing conflict of hostile wars although it has been instrumental in mediating, at many dangerous junctures, which might have developed into world war. On the other hand it has not abolished all the dire prophecies that would inevitably accompany a number of quarrels and recriminations. Indeed it would be impossible to estimate any previous period in its short history

How far in which the programme of the League has had two main objects, these great principles which, from the first, it has sought to establish, namely, the reduction of armaments and the settlement of international disputes by arbitration. It has done much to secure acceptance by all nations of these principles. But that cannot be considered its accomplishments to date of Last.

It has supported international jurisdiction. It has struck some effective blows at international evils. It has resolved some hundreds of thousands of cases, which, otherwise, might have developed into serious international disputes. It has done much to remove the misunderstandings which exist in Europe, it has secured states from falling into a dangerous position.

The League's greatest and highest purpose, its greatest task, the prevention of persons which would destroy war. If it has, as yet, failed fit, has not demonstrated that such a dream and war still a dreadful possibility, the most serious of the world. The League has brought itself to a position where it can

The measure of success must be derived from and determined by the character of the principles. A thousand Quakers will not make an effective navy, but one not a thousand bookmakers an effective anti-gambling society. The impressibility of gathering grapes from thistles is not to be tested even by blessing a thistle field a vineyard. And since the League is a collection of governments, its character and its work depend inevitably upon the nature of those governments. Its collective will is formed by their individual will. It must be in practice, in interest of their policies.

Or, to quote Lord Cecil once again:

"The task of the League is to destroy war—a task of enormous difficulty. It cannot be accomplished at a single stroke or in a few years. It will need constant energies all our courage and all our faith. The first step is to get rid of the notion that it is just for one nation to make war on another at present and not at present. That step has been taken so far as the members of the League are concerned. It is implied in the very terms and conditions of membership. It is expressed more than once in resolutions of the Assembly. It is the basis of the whole policy of the League in international relations."

The League of Nations membership of forty or fifty nations in the world is the great majority of the world, with the exception of Russia and the United States. It is not to be expected that these nations have been accustomed to the idea of arranging their differences by peaceful methods, and of arranging views with the utmost frankness. The new principles, with another sovereignty. There exist international jealousies, racial animosities, and to develop a genuine and co-operative international conscience, time must be taken. In the meantime, the League and its organization have been shaped away and a spirit of goodwill and co-operation has been established.

To League must be regarded as a powerful educational influence in many parts of the world, and especially in those among lines of peace and international co-operation. And that, after all, is the most important consideration. The real desire for peace on the part of the peoples of the world must be sufficiently organized.

Empire Marketing Board

Campaign In Old Country To Create Demand For Empire Products

The Empire Marketing Board is carrying on a most useful work in endeavoring to educate the purchasing public of the Old Land in products of the Empire. One of the striking methods used is a series of illustrated advertisements depicting typical scenes in connection with marketing and transportation of various products from distant parts of the Empire.

These striking advertisements recently issued deal with apples from Canada, and are calculated to bring very forcibly to mind the many excellent qualities of this imported Canadian fruit. No better method could be devised for creating a demand for this product of Canadian orchards, and should materially assist in stimulating trade within the Empire.

ARE YOU RUN DOWN?

All That Is Needed Is a Tonic To Build Up the Blood

There are many people who have been feeling run down for so long that they accept their condition as a life burden. They have periods of depression, broken sleep and a generally run-down feeling, and what they have given up hope of again enjoying good health. What they need is a tonic to enrich their blood, fresh air and a tonic to build up the blood would do wonders for them. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the tonic. No other medicine can compare with Dr Williams' Pink Pills for bringing back to any a spot in Canada where you will find good men and healthy, happy people who has found new health through the use of these pills. Mrs. Theodore Ince of Mrs. Thomas Ahearn, St. John, N.B., is one of these. She says: "I have the greatest reason to be thankful for what Dr Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I was in a very weak and nervous condition. I felt miserable, I would faint and my legs would swell badly. I was unable to attend to my household. It seemed as if my blood had turned to water. I was this weak and dependent condition for about two years. Dr Williams' Pink Pills. A few boxes proved that they were helping me. I continued taking the pills until I had used a dozen boxes, by which time I found myself a completely restored woman, able to do my work without fatigue. I believe Dr Williams' Pink Pills are a cheerfulness where before I had been despondent. For all this, thanks to the health-giving qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

If you are feeling run-down, give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial and new health will be yours. You can get the pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Bolds Greatest War Plane

French Machine Can Carry Two Tons Of Bombs 300 Miles

France is developing and is now testing the greatest aerial warship ever built, armed with eight machine guns and capable of carrying two tons of bombs in a radius of 500 miles, rising with that weight to a height of 18,000 feet, out of range of all land guns.

The ship is a mystery plane, built in absolute secrecy, and it was not until the tests were started that French engineers told of its remarkable strength.

Despite its size, it has a fine profile which makes it less of a target in the sky. A double set of wheels permits landing in fields in which ordinary planes could not land. The propellers need not be swung by hand, but start like an automobile motor with simple foot pressure.

There are many novel features, such as a balcony for the crew, sending and receiving wireless, a dining room and a special cabin for the bomber with controls permitting him to drop a single bomb or an entire load at once. It can be transformed into a seaplane within an hour.

Drives Out Many Burglars

Dog In Geneva, Switzerland, Has Made Thieving Unprofitable

Much of the credit for the fact that no case of burglary or theft was brought before him in 1927, has been publicly ascribed by Judge Marc Cuttat, Geneva, Switzerland, to the agacity of a wolfhound named Wigger, owned by a gendarme named Cartier.

The dog made thieving so unprofitable that the number of malefactors speedily diminished. He traced and scented the arrest of more than twenty burglars and thieves in the Canton of Vaud, and also found many missing persons. After scenting the trail of a man who had been missing for three days, Wigger traced his footsteps to the edge of a lake, beneath whose waters the body was discovered.

Sending Movies By Radio

Taken In New York Can Be Seen In London One Hour Later

When a new British invention a wireless-operated tele-cinematograph—has been developed it is predicted that it will be possible to see a film in London one hour after it has been taken in New York.

The film cannot be transmitted at the same speed at which it was taken, but it can be sent at the rate of two "stills" a second. After reception on the other side it can be developed and screened at the normal rate of sixteen pictures a second.

The inventors assert that it will be possible to broadcast a football match at Glasgow to movie fans all over Great Britain the same afternoon.

COMMONS DEBATE CLOSES WITHOUT A VOTE TAKEN

Ottawa.—After ten days of debate and without a division, the House of Commons adopted the address in reply to the speech from the Throne. The last day was a day of incidents and threatening storm although the end came quietly.

Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, participated in the debate in the evening.

Scarcely had debate been resumed in the House, when Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, signalled a statement made in the House as "absolutely false." There were loud Conservative protests.

Hon. R. R. Bennett, Opposition leader, demanded withdrawal.

"I think it would be better to act as an example to the House," gravely observed Speaker Lemieux; and the expression was withdrawn.

Thomas McMillan, (Liberal, South Huron), introduced the financial measure of the Government. The Liberal Government, during its period in office, had decreased the national debt by over $100,000,000 and had turned the railway deficits into surpluses, Canada's credit stood high, the international field during the last ten years had been little less than marvelous.

A. M. Young, (Liberal, Beauharnois), believed the appointment of ministers to Tokio and Paris would prove successful. These representatives would be equally as important as the Canadian minister at Washington.

"I am not particularly enamoured with the Board of Railway Commissioners," commented Dr. Young in referring to the transportation of Alberta coal to Ontario. Despite legislation passed in 1925 for the removal of discriminatory freight rates, the board had only added one cent to the two crops of grain to be moved without taking the necessary action to remove discrimination. He suggested a suggestion for the adoption of a statutory rate on coal less than the official fashing of the Board.

Canada was enjoying prosperity, and there was less unemployment to the Dominion than we had had for some years.

"They are all gone to the United States," interjected Peter McGibbon, (Conservative, Muskoka).

"You are not thinking of going, too?" retorted Dr. Young, while the House showed its amusement.

"We did not," he said, "but come to social legislation in the interest of

KELLOGG HAS A KIND MESSAGE FOR CANADIANS

Ottawa.—"With no imperial designs, with no desire to be territorial of any other country, with a common history, common hopes and aspirations, we have in our hearts the desire will in the future adjust our difficulties by peaceful means. If we have mutual misunderstandings with each other's institutions, respect for each other's rights, tolerance and patience, there is no question which cannot and will not be adjusted between us."

In these words Hon. Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State for the United States, expressed to the Canadian people the feeling of American fraternity towards this and other countries in a banquet here, tendered in his honor by the Ottawa Board of Trade on Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

Proposing the toast to Mr. Kellogg, the Prime Minister referred to the appreciation of Canadians at the honor done this country when Hon. Mr. Phillips was selected as first minister to Canada.

"We felt at the time he came," said Mr. Mackenzie King, "knowing his life career at Washington and abroad, that we had every reason to extend to him a warm welcome and that we would be among us for some months, we feel we can extend to Americans generally the same welcome, due to the representation which Mr. Phillips has given us of the United States."

Replying to the toast, Mr. Kellogg declared President Coolidge had specially commanded him to express to the Government and the people of Canada his very best wishes and most sincere regards and asked him to express his thanks for the visit of the Governor-General and the Prime Minister. He expressed thanks for the reception accorded him, a "reception the people of Canada you have to trust to the Liberal Party to get it," said Dr. Young after brief reference to old age pensions. Dr. Young advocated encouraging immigration from the British Isles, but said we should not discourage those immigrants from other countries who could be assimilated.

Premier Baldwin's motion was carried after Ramsay MacDonald, Labor Leader, who associated himself with Mr. Baldwin's tribute, moved an unsuccessful amendment to the Premier's motion, whereby a committee should be appointed to consider the best form of memorial, in view of the field marshal's concern for the welfare of ex-service men, their widows and dependents.

He said he thought that Europe need fear no certain chill in the relations between Great Britain and the United States because of the fact that the two countries were represented at the Geneva naval conference, but that this official chill was not reflected by the people of the United States, who feel goodwill for Great Britain.

Mr. Spender would not offer any suggestion for the solution of the problem of the United States' naval parity with Great Britain, but he said he thought that there should be a reduction in armaments.

The presentation was made in a few choice remarks, by Mrs. J. W. G Morrison as president of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Curry, who was taken greatly by surprise, expressed her deep appreciation of the gift and which she assured them would always remind her of the pleasant years spent in Vermilion. Mr and Mrs Curry are removing shortly to Morinville, where Mr. Curry takes over the provincial police attachment. Mrs. Curry has been the indefatigable secretary of the Auxiliary for the past few years, proving herself a very capable and painstaking official. JUNIORS TROUNCE COLLEGE

"Happy" Taylor, College net comedian, spent a hectic evening on Monday last, when his team mates clashed with fast-traveling Normals on the local arena. Happy succeeded in turning aside fifty of the fifty-four shots directed at his citadel, some of them fairly-taking saves, while Welsh had a spot time of it in the Juniors' cage, having 13 shots rendered in his direction and only letting one slip by. The score 6-1 about tells the trend of the game. Ade Palmer of the Normals drew the two penalties of the game, while Bourg of the V.S.A. earned a like amount but got away with them.

The scoring was as follows

1st period — Juniors, Wiebe from Cooper.

2nd period — Juniors, Mooney

3rd period — Juniors, Fallow; College, Doupalov; Juniors, Hetzler

Played To Full House-Scored Great Success

The St. Saviour's Dramatic society added another triumph to their list of successes on Monday night, when they gave a fine presentation of Leo Ditrichstein's famous play "Are You A Mason?" at the Columbia Theatre. A crowded house greeted the players, and, judging by the continuous ripples of laughter and the unstinted applause which was accorded the artists, it was apparent that "a good time was had by all."

The sole aim of the play is obvious it is to amuse, and it is all done, when once you get the plot centres around a much married man, Amos Bloodgood who has succeeded for a number of years in passing himself off as a member of the Masonic order. He swears all the oaths that his associates, Frank Perry, is trying to do the same thing. When they are confronted by a genuine Mason, it takes all their ingenuity and the assistance of their friends to keep the truth from their wives.

Of course it all ends as it does in but not before the two culprits have passed through countless awkward situations, which are the e cause of keeping the audience in a state almost verging on hysteria for the greater part of the evening.

Sidney Rankine, in the part of the son in law, gave a finished performance of a difficult role. His speech gestures, and stage deportment were excellent and he gave the impression that he has had considerable experience in the histrionic art.

As Amos Bloodgood, the deceitful husband, Don Taylor had a splendid opportunity to display his talent, and he certainly took full advantage of I

A Forward Step

The development and growth of Canada politically, economically, in commerce and finance, in production from its natural resources of the field, the forest, the mine, and the waters of the Dominion has, during the first sixty years of Confederation, been most gratifying. This is now fairly generally recognized. It is also the general belief that Canada is just entering upon a still greater era of expansion and development in many directions leading to a greater growth and larger prosperity

The question, however which, to an increasing extent, is calling for serious consideration is: What policies should be adopted and steps taken to insure that future development shall proceed along lines that will result in building up a strong nation, and in such a way that maximum benefits from such development shall accrue to the whole people of the Dominion?

During the pioneer stage in any country's development it is inevitable that its people devote their energies largely to the production of primary articles, largely raw materials But with increase in population, the presence of adequate means of transportation, and the accumulation of wealth, a country should move forward in the work of not only producing such raw materials in increasing quantities but in utilizing them in the manufacture of finished articles.

It is important that crude methods in production of raw materials be discarded for those best calculated to give larger quantities, better qualities, and at least cost. And all possible waste be eliminated, that as many by-products as possible be reclaimed, and that use be made of low-grade and out-of-the-way materials. It is perhaps of even greater importance to ascertain the nature and other qualities which now operate to destroy our raw materials at the source and to discover effective means for their eradication.

The discovery of all these things can best be brought about through the painstaking effort of the expert in scientific research Such work may require years of study, investigation and experiment in many, perhaps most, cases it will call for costly laboratory and other scientific equipment. In the past Canadians have not fully appreciated the importance of such work, and as a consequence have not been prepared to provide the necessary funds for the purpose. Now, however, as a people we have become more alive to the particular problems, and demanding immediate solutions of them, that we have been important of ideas based on long and expensive scientific research. As a result, Canada today lags behind other nations in this respect, national bodies which have not nearly the wealth of natural resources calling for development which Canada possesses

It is, therefore, highly gratifying to learn of the action of the House of Commons in unanimously adopting a resolution favoring the establishment of a National Research Institute by the Dominion Government, and of announcement by the Government of its intention to proceed with the erection of the first wing of a National Research Institute building on a tea acre plot at the central experimental farm at Ottawa.

Last year, it is stated, Canada spent $250,000 for research as compared with $100,000,000 by the United States and $2,000,000 by Great Britain This year the Government will, on the recommendation of the Research Council, increase the vote for research work to $750,000, and the Minister estimated that three million dollars would be required during the next five or ten years to construct and develop laboratories.

In the way the splendid support initiated by many of our Canadian universities is served by private capital, will be supplemented, and the whole work of research in Canada co-ordinated and developed When it is realized that Canada is estimated to be worth twenty million dollars a year through its one rust alone, the possibilities of greater gain through research work can be grasped. A few millions a year spent in research work may not merely mean a gain of ten times so many millions through discoveries made.

OVERTIME REQUIRED IN LLOYDMINSTER-JUNIOR HOCKEY CAME

The border town intermediates won a ding-dong overtime struggle from the local Juniors Tuesday, 2 goals to 2. "Twas a game lovelyites of real hockey, with little to choose between the two teams, the game being decided by the "breaks."

Lloydminster scored in the first period when Welsh's shooting shot struck Mooney's stick, rebounding to the front of the net, and was poked past Welsh by Sully

Early in the second stanza the wholelocal forward line worked in a beautiful combination goal. Cooper to Hoover to Whaley, who dented the board from left wing, tieing up the score. The border town boys soon broke this though, netting a soft counter from a face-off near the Hornets' goal. The second period ended 2-1.

Up until about four minutes from the final both it looked as if the scores were going to remain at 2-1, but Biddle

The first five-minute overtime period ended with the score unchanged, but the second had barely started when the visitors got the winning rounder. PHASES OF THE SCHOOL ISSUE.

The defeat of the by-law for the erection of a four-roomed school as submitted by the Vermilion School Board, for the second time on Tuesday is conclusive evidence that the ma,jority of electors of the district are not in favor of such a building. The vote is a hard one to analyse—for by one fact is indisputable, namely that 184 supported out-and-out the building of the four-roomed school. The 139 vote against is claimed to be made up of those in favor of carrying on under present conditions and of others favoring a larger building—just what proportion of each cannot be determined.

Should the school board decide to submit a by-law for a larger building then would the 1st four-roomed votes go? I do we these would be cast in favor of a larger building any such by-law will undoubtedly suffer defeat. The two votes taken have left the building issue under a cloud. A straight plebiscite as to whether the Vermilion Centre S. D. shall erect a new school building, with a question-aire as to the size her of rooms, allows to our mind a simple and inexpensive means of reaching a definite attitude. At the same time it would positively determine whether a majority of electors are against the building of a school.

SCOTLAND RESIDENTS HONORED ON DEPARTURE.

On Tuesday evening, February 7th, the people of Scotland and the surrounding districts, met in the Scotland school house to bid farewell to Mr. & Mrs P. J. Cameron, and to show their good will and appreciation for the service and con-sideration received by them from Mr. Cameron, during his term as agent for the C. N. R. at Scotland, which has been for the past two and a half years.

The evening's proceedings started with a dance, music being furnished by the Scotland school orchestra. A display lunch was served by the ladies, after which the gathering was called to order by W. J. Cameron, who introduced the following speakers, viz: C. Jones, Wm. MacDonald and St. Clair Saxon, all of whom expressed regret at the loss Scotland district was sustaining by removal of Mr. and Mrs. Cameron to Vermilion. The chairman then called on Mrs. I. C. Driscoll and J. L. Fletcher to make the pre-sentations, Mrs. Cameron receiving a silver entree dish and Mr. Cameron a cream ber's cabinet.

Mr. Cameron, in replying on behalf of Mrs. Cameron and himself, thanked the many friends present for the kind feelings shown them and also voiced their regrets at having to leave.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will be greatly missed from the depot and the district as a whole, as they took a very active part in all social events and the tennis club will miss them. Mr. Cameron being its organizer.

They left on Friday of last week with the best of good wishes for their success at Vermilion. — Big Valley Journal, Feb. 15th.

SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE NOTES

Principal Elliott has been confined to his home for several days with a severe attack of throat trouble.

It was learned with regret on Tuesday that William Alfred Merrick Card, one of last year's British boys, had accidentally shot himself on a farm near Greenshields. The wound proved fatal and all those with whom Mr. Card had come in contact during his stay at Vermilion sincerely regret the accident and the sad result.

Mr. Heckbert and Mr. Gentleman are representing the School of Agriculture at the funeral of William Card at Wainwright on Thursday.

Kenneth Lamb, a popular member of the British Boys' group is at present convalescing from an operation for appendicitis in the Municipal hospital.

Miss Margaret Whitson, Port Stanley-town member of the first year girls' class has suffered from appendicitis but it has been found necessary to operate at this time and we will welcome her back to complete her year.

The College Hockey Team will again face the local Juniors at the Arena rink (Thursday) evening.

The annual yearbook will shortly make its 1928 appearance and as it is taking the form of a souvenir book there is every prospect that it will be enthusiastically received by the student body and the public in general.

The report of the "Little International" held at the V.S.A. Saturday will be published next issue.

VERMILION WINS AT LLOYDMINSTER

LLOYDMINSTER, Feb. 21.—The Lloydminster hockey team again went down to defeat before the onslaught of the Vermilion Elks at the local arena on Saturday evening when the visitors piled up a 5-0 score against them. Although the local boys played a good game, and all worked hard, the speed of the western aggregation was too much for them. Ivy, who played in goal for Lloydminster, was the star of the local team, his work was great and had it not been for his ability to turn them away the Vermilion boys would have been able to boast of a larger score. Lyle Lindsay, Lloyd's star defence man, was also instrumental in keeping the visitor's score down.

Annual Meeting Vermilion Valley

The annual meeting of the ratepayers of Municipal District of Vermilion Valley No. 482 was held in the Britannia Hall on Saturday, February 18th for the purpose of discussion of the affairs of the district for the year 1927. The meeting was called to order by the Secretary and nominations asked for chairman. On motion W. J. Casterton was the selection of the meeting. The secretary read out the minutes of the annual meeting held in Isley in February, 1927 which was, on the motion being put, adopted as read. The financial statement was read and explained in detail and on motion was adopted by the ratepayers. The chairman asked the ratepayers in each division to ask any questions of their councillors.

The following councillors were in attendance Norman McClellan, Acting Reeve; Frank E. Cameron, Arthur Lord, John W. Graham and David McPhee. Various questions were asked and answers given. The main questions were as to the method of dealing out the road work to the ratepayers. This was answered by the acting reeve, who stated that it was left entirely to the councillors when laying out plans for the season's work and that there was no set rule in this matter.

At the hour of 3 p.m. the chair was taken by the Rate ning Officer, W. E. Simmonds who asked for nominations for Councillors in Divisions 1, 2, 4 and 5 also Hospital Representatives for the Municipal Hospitals of Vermilion and Isley. On nominations being closed, the results were as follows: Division 1, William Davis and George W. Beeson; Division 2, Norman McClellan (acclamation); Division 4, David McPhee (acclamation); Division 5, John W. Graham and William R. Dass

Division 1 will go to the poll on Saturday, February 25th from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at H. R. Ross's house on S. W. 1-51-5; deputy returning officer, H. Lambert.

Division 5 will go to the poll on Saturday, February 25th from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Trimbleville school house; Deputy Returning Officer, Rena Boomer.

The following were elected to be Hospital representatives: Norman McClellan by acclamation for the Vermilion Municipal Hospital; George W. Beeson by acclamation for the Isley Municipal Hospital.

After some further discussion, the meeting adjourned.

MELBERTA MINUTES

One of the shortest sessions in the history of Melberta was held by the council at its regular meeting Monday, Feby. 6th. It took about half an hour, to transact the business and the last meeting of the old council came to an end.

Items of business dealt with: J. C Tarbet's resignation as poundkeeper in Division 1 was accepted and Mr. Daley appointed to take his place with the pound situated at N.W. 22-2-5. payment to Mrs. Melland for work done from this council of $61.50 for the keep of Daily Brother, a ward of the municipality, for the year 1927 was passed and a committee to make settlement with the Royal Victoria Hospital re Mrs. Daley's bill of $100.00 was made a balance on Mother's Allowance to Fannie Nicholson as claimed by the Department.

Since the meeting an order came through from the Dept of Municipal Affairs ordering the clerk to call for new-ting applications of a husband son, daughter mother or father to be paid in the Act. If they are not on the list, the cannot vote.

THE GIRL GUIDES

The Girl Guides wish to thank the members of the Ski Section of the Rotary Club for their permission to sell candy on Monday last, and also those who patronized us, with special mention of Geo. Copaire.

Although we were sold out of candy all too quickly, we handed over to the Treasurer a net profit of $12.05. We feel tremendously encouraged and expect before very long to have paid for our badges, uniforms, patrol and tin selling flags.

To date, we have twenty-eight cents on the roll, with a number more enlisting at Easter, and we think that Vermilion will have reason to be proud of its company of Girl Guides when we turn out in full uniform on Empire Day — (which is also Girl Guides' day.)

We have arranged preliminary with knots and wicked stakes for the next few weeks, but promise more interesting and trouble and exciting adventures.

This was unknown and by no means was it the intention of the committee to have the boxes sold in advance. The committee would be pleased if those who purchased tickets would call at the hall on Monday evening, when the boxes will be sold and the tickets redeemed. Hon. Geo. Black Says Ottawa Visit Was Most Enjoyable He Ever Spent

Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg on his return to Washington, after a trip to Canada, said he never enjoyed a visit more in his life. Speaking of his reception at Ottawa, the secretary said that while Canadian hospitality was proverbial the manner in which he was received by the governor-general, Viscount Willingdon, the prime minister, Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and the editor and members of parliament, had been beyond his anticipation. The secretary was particularly interested in the archives building at Ottawa which he thought was one of the most interesting exhibits in the world.

Protecting B.C. Fruit Crop

Counter-Parasites Are Now Imported into Orchard Regions

Bug will fight bug this season to protect the Okanagan fruit crop from destruction. Counter-parasites are being imported into the orchard regions in a campaign to decimate the codling moth and earwig.

The counter-parasites, according to F. Buckle, provincial entomologist at Vernon, will be obtained from Wenatchee, Wash., the United States government having entered into an agreement to operate fully with the British Columbia authorities. Parasites inimical to the codling moth and earwig have done effective work in the past, although they have to be handled with a great deal more care because of the danger of introducing secondary pests with them.

Unless the codling moth is suppressed, growers fear that it may bring about destruction as extensive as in the state of Washington, where losses due to the activity of this pest were $5 000 000 in 1926. Eight hundred carloads of apples were classified as culls in the Yakima district for same season.

FACES ACROSS THE SEA

Image Of Woman Transmitted By Television For First Time

New words were opened up when faces were flashed across the sea by television in a way which was never foreseen even by Jules Verne in his fanciful imagination. For the very first time the image of a woman was sent across despite the fact she left her position in front of the transmitter a few seconds to glance in a mirror and to make certain her hair had not become messed in the excitement. Dummies and men's faces had been flashed across in previous tests but never a woman. John L. Baird, inventor of the talevisor explained that the feat was accomplished without willing to attempt to sit still for twenty minutes or half an hour. The transmission was accomplished from Baird's Television laboratories in London, direct into the receiving station at Hartsdale, New York, which had been rigged up for the occasion.

Baird himself was the first sitter before the transmitter. Afterward, W. C. Cox, of the London Press Association sat for the camera. The reports came back from the United States that Pox was showing up well.

Then Mrs. Hower, wife of Tom Howe, of the Associated Bureau of the Associated Press, took her seat in front of the seventeen glaring incandescent lamps. The transmission operators were all ready.

Suddenly the face of a woman appeared on the usual tribal funeral rites, and not one for the burial ground. When the coffin was being lowered into the grave it accidentally parted against the bottom and the sudden fall precipitated the occupant back to consciousness.

Realizing that he was imprisoned, he began to beat furiously on the coffin, which was immediately broken open by the astonished Indians. The supposedly dead man emerged with the mourners, apparently none the worse for his experience.

The dead chief served the provincial and federal governments as a guide for years and as a boy accompanied many prospectors through the Cariboo during the gold rush. He was the only full-blooded Indian ever employed by the government of British Columbia. That was in New Westminster in the early days of the province.

Besides being known as a great medicine man among the Indians, Baird-Tait was very much liked. He could speak, read and write fluently and also had a good knowledge of French, Spanish and Chinese.

Truth About Cancer

"Neither X-rays nor radium has ever cured, or will ever prove of service, as a cure for cancer. Few of both of these appliances I have had supplied me."

"It is no use experimenting upon a disease unless we first know something of its natural history; and yet the general ignorance of opinion amongst surgeons, which they have no hesitation in circulating as to the cause of cancer, is not known. Yet they continue to treat it by methods which, much to my regret, I was forced to adopt for a number of years before my eyes were opened to the truth of evil."

"The fact remains that operative treatment has always been practiced from time immemorial and from my knowledge of the disease I affirm that the knife has never cured cancer in a single instance. On the contrary, has only succeeded in aggravating the disease and adding to the misery of the poor patient; and also shortening his or her life, which latter, perhaps, should be looked upon as a godsend in the circumstances."

"Now cancer is a blood disease—and there is no gainsaying the clinical manifestation being merely secondary to the malignity, the cause being prolonged toxic condition of the blood."

"Love of humanity and truth impelled me to investigate, and I found British cancer surgeon Dr. Robert Bell, M.D., F.R.C.P.S., &c., to sharp practice, and, with convincing proofs of his above quoted statements this eminent authority successfully opposed and defeated the whole orthodox methods of treating the deadliest known disease."

Before passing at an advanced age in 1926, wishing to ameliorate the condition of cancer sufferers in Canada and the United States, Dr. Robert Bell kindly authorized the writer to use his printed works and personal letters in humanity's service and a book of valuable information concerning the successful treatment of cancer without surgical operation, radium or X-ray torture or expense can be obtained, without charge, on application to Charles Waller, 31 Brunswick Avenue, Toronto, 4, Ontario, Canada.

OTHER MIGHTY WORKS OF JESUS

Golden Text: "Thy faith had made thee whole."—Mark 5:34.

Lesson Text: Mark 5:22-43.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 5:14-20.

Explanations and Comments

I. The Triumph Of Love Over Pride, verses 22, 23.—When Jesus reached the western shore of the lake, after the events of our last lesson, Jairus, a ruler of the synagogue (perhaps of the one which had been built by the centurion of Luke 7:7) came to him and fell at his feet in supplication. "My little daughter (as only child, Luke 8:42), is at the point of death; I pray Thee, that Thou come and lay Thy hands on her, that she may be made whole, and live." The ruler was a proud Pharisee, and we have seen how bitterly hostile to Jesus the majority of the Pharisees had become by this time. No thought of what other and about Jesus deterred Jairus from seeking him, and no thought of his own station had been back from throwing himself in an attitude of worship at the feet of the Rabbi. There was no act of humility he would not render if only his beloved child might be restored to him.

II. The Triumph Of Faith, verses 24-34.—Jesus assented to the ruler's urgent request, and was on His way with him to his home, followed by a great crowd of people, when an interruption came. There was a woman in the throng who had been ill for twelve years and had spent all her means upon physicians, none of whom treatment she had suffered much, but had only grown worse under their care. This recalls the ancient Jewish saying that "Even the best of doctors deserve Gehenna." This woman pushed herself forward and touched the garment of Jesus in the belief that the touch would cure her.

"If I touch but his garments, I shall be whole." She was not content to be herself. "Daughter, they faith hath made thee whole; go in peace, and be whole of thy plague." The woman's forgetting words the woman heard.

While Jesus was speaking with the woman, there came a messenger from the house of Jairus, the synagogue ruler, "Thy daughter is dead; why troublest thou the Master any further?" "Fear not, only believe," were the comforting words which Jesus addressed to the stricken father. Jesus then continued his way to the house where He was allowed to enter to come with him save Peter, James and John, the three disciples who especially seemed his confidence. On reaching the house Jesus found there the tumult which was usual at such a time, the weeping and wailing of hired mourners. "Why make ye a tumult and weep?" Jesus said to them: "the child is not dead, but sleepeth." By these words Jesus did not deny that physical life had departed. The people in the house took the words of Jesus literally, and in their scornful laughter said that they saw she was really dead. Jesus put them all out of the room, allowing only his three disciples and the father and mother to remain. Then he took the child by the hand and said in Aramaic "Talitha, cumi, that is, Damsel, I say unto thee, Arise." At once the twelve-year-old maiden arose and walked.

1 teaspoon salt.
½ teaspoon sugar.
1 teaspoon sugar.
¼ teaspoon soda.
2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
1 cups Sweden's St. Charles Milk.
½ cups water.

Add seasoning to tomatoes and simmer fifteen minutes, strain.

Melt butter in double stir in flour. Dilute milk with water, pour slowly into butter and flour, stirring until it thickens. Continue to cook five minutes. Just before serving, add soda to tomatoes, gradually add tomatoes to white sauce, stirring constantly, serve immediately.

All or any of the vegetable seasonings may be omitted, but their addition gives a smooth, well-blended flavor to the soup.

How She Saved

A poor blind woman in Ireland put ten shillings into a plate at a missionary meeting. "You cannot afford so much," said one. "Yes, I can," she answered. On being pressed to explain, she said, "I was blind, and I thought when I had saved so much because I am blind, and do not need a lamp I'll give it to shed light to heathen lands."

Back Seat Riveted

He had just bought a car. His wife went with him on a few errands alone, and did not hesitate to criticize her husband's driving.

"Hello, old man!" said a neighbor one evening. "I see you've got a car. What do you get out of her?"

"About 60,000 words to the gallon," answered the husband.

OTHER MIGHTY WORKS OF JESUS

Golden Text: "Thy faith had made thee whole."—Mark 5:34.

Lesson Text: Mark 5:22-43.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 5:14-20.

Explanations and Comments

I. The Triumph Of Love Over Pride, verses 22, 23.—When Jesus reached the western shore of the lake, after the events of our last lesson, Jairus, a ruler of the synagogue (perhaps of the one which had been built by the centurion of Luke 7:7) came to him and fell at his feet in supplication. "My little daughter (as only child, Luke 8:42), is at the point of death; I pray Thee, that Thou come and lay Thy hands on her, that she may be made whole, and live." The ruler was a proud Pharisee, and we have seen how bitterly hostile to Jesus the majority of the Pharisees had become by this time. No thought of what others and about Jesus deterred Jairus from seeking him, and no thought of his own station had been back from throwing himself in an attitude of worship at the feet of the Rabbi. There was no act of humility he would not render if only his beloved child might be restored to him.

II. The Triumph Of Faith, verses 24-34.—Jesus assented to the ruler's urgent request, and was on His way with him to his home, followed by a great crowd of people, when an interruption came. There was a woman in the throng who had been ill for twelve years and had spent all her means upon physicians, none of whom treatment she had suffered much, but had only grown worse under their care. This recalls the ancient Jewish saying that "Even the best of doctors deserve Gehenna." This woman pushed herself forward and touched the garment of Jesus in the belief that the touch would cure her.

"If I touch but his garments, I shall be whole." She was not content to be herself. "Daughter, they faith hath made thee whole; go in peace, and be whole of thy plague." The woman's forgetting words the woman heard.

While Jesus was speaking with the woman, there came a messenger from the house of Jairus, the synagogue ruler, "Thy daughter is dead; why troublest thou the Master any further?" "Fear not, only believe," were the comforting words which Jesus addressed to the stricken father. Jesus then continued his way to the house where He was allowed to enter to come with him save Peter, James and John, the three disciples who especially seemed his confidence. On reaching the house Jesus found there the tumult which was usual at such a time, the weeping and wailing of hired mourners. "Why make ye a tumult and weep?" Jesus said to them: "the child is not dead, but sleepeth." By these words Jesus did not deny that physical life had departed. The people in the house took the words of Jesus literally, and in their scornful laughter said that they saw she was really dead. Jesus put them all out of the room, allowing only his three disciples and the father and mother to remain. Then he took the child by the hand and said in Aramaic "Talitha, cumi, that is, Damsel, I say unto thee, Arise." At once the twelve-year-old maiden arose and walked.

WENER — ROBIN

Deep interest was evinced in the marriage of the popular young people of the town on Sunday evening, February 19th, when Miss Fanny Rosin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Rosin, became the bride of Mr. Joseph Wener, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wener, of Vermilion. The wedding ceremony was originally fixed to take place at Mr. Wener's residence, but the large number of guests who assembled made it necessary to use the Dreamland Hall.

The Rev. A. Pinsky, of Edmonton, officiated.

The bride was escorted to the temple by her sister and bridesmaid, Mr. and Mrs. Saul Olyan, while the groom was attended by his brother Emil and his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lyons, of Viking.

The bride's dress was of beautiful white taffeta with a veil of white shadow lace and chaplet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses, lilies of the valley and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid, Miss Anida Wener, wore a dress of peach georgette and taffeta velvet and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The Wedding March was played by Miss Sonia Wener. At the close of the ceremony, Mr. L. Brickner sang "O Promise Me" accompanied by Mr. L. Pinsky, of Edmonton.

The groom's gifts were: to the bride, a beautifully fitted hand-bag; to the bridesmaid, a vanity case; to the groomsman, a gold knife watch charm.

Succeeding the ceremony an elaborate wedding supper was spread before the guests. The tables were decorated with daffodils and taper candles. The supplies were ample and the appetites in prime condition and the excellent menu served met every demand. Emil Lyons acted as toastmaster and called upon many guests for brief addresses. Those who spoke included Rev. Mr. Pinsky, Harry Olyan, Saul Olyan, L. Podersky, A. W. Fraser, J. Pinsky, H. S. Hurlburt, A. L. Wener, and others, all of them expressing pleasure at being present and extending their warm congratulations to the bride and groom. [illegible] a number of telegrams from friends who were unable to attend.

Out of town guests present were from Edmonton, Viking, Vermilion

Vermilion Tops Hockey League

Vegreville Loses Out 4-5 In Great Game

The curtain rang down Monday night on the Little Three league when Vermilion scored five to four against Vegreville, their old-time rivals, in perhaps the most exciting game of the series. Vermilion tops the league and the championship will now be decided by home and home games, total score to count.

In the first period Habkirk made the initial score for Vermilion on a pass from Manson Barr. This was a few minutes after the fixture opened. Two minutes later he added another on a lone rush from the blue line. The disc distanced the sheet and came back with a whirl led by Habkirk who passed to Clarence Barr and the score stood 2 to 0. Vegreville toward the close rounded on Vermilion netting and Emil Wener notched the first tally for the visitors. Two minutes later Bobby Lee 16 a new made the score 3 to 2 at the end of the period.

The second stanza opened fast with Lee breaking through and tieing the tally. Within a few minutes of the bell Habkirk received a nice pass from Ree Beck and the score stood 4 to 3

The Water Powers Of Canada

In the "forward look," which is now almost universally characteristic of the Canadian people regarding their Dominion, and which offers such a sharp contrast to the less optimistic,—in fact the rather pessimistic,—view entertained a comparatively few short years ago, the subject of power, and power development schemes, looms very large, coupled with the question of improved and cheaper means of transportation which has always bulked largely in the national policies of the country.

The development of power through the generation and application of steam made the nineteenth century noteworthy, and introduced the age of machinery in the west, of production as contrasted with the old methods of handi-craft and manual labor. The closing years of the last century saw the begin ngs of the development or power through electrical energy, largely derived through the primary utilization of steam. The internal combustion gasoline and oil engines also had their origin.

During the first quarter of the present century development of electrical energy and of internal combustion engines, proceeded with amazing rapidity, particular attention being paid to the harnessing of water-powers throughout the world for the production of electrical energy in its cheapest form and in enormous quantities, until it is now recognized that those countries possessing ample water-powers, and those natural resources that use the basic requirements in manufactures, are, and will to an ever increasing extent be the great industrial nations of the world.

In extent, variety and wealth of natural resources required in manufactures, and in the magnitude of its available water-powers within reasonable distance of such resources, Canada is probably the richest country in the known world, and the development of its water-powers for use, and the consequent utilization of its natural resources, is going ahead by leaps and bounds. The value of these water-powers and resources are only beginning to be fully realized by the people of Canada, and what they may be made to mean in the future of the Dominion.

Men of wealth, captains of industry, financial magnates, are alive to the importance of these great sources of potential wealth They realize they are the foundations upon which great enterprises and an abounding prosperity can be built. As a result a scramble, a struggle, for possession and control of water-powers is in progress, and it behooves the people of Canada to give close attention and direct study to the many issues involved

Naturally two seasons of thought have arisen as to the policy which should be followed in relation to possession, development and control of water p wers, one advocating retention by the Government, whether Federal or Provincial, and development and ownership by such authority as a matter of public policy, the other strongly urging private ownership, development and control. It is argued probably with truth, that development will be more rapid through the investment of private capital than can possibly be expected if left soley to Governments. It is further argued that, through the re sultion of a large measure of Government control over operations and rates, the interests of the public and the country at large can be protected.

Advocates of complete Government ownership, on the other hand, contend that these water-powers are the property of and an asset to the whole country and should not be alienated; that these water-powers will run on forever and not be dim nished or exhausted as coal mines may be; that even granting that development might be more rapid under private ownership and private initiative shown through the investment of private capital the Canadian people will be well advised to take the longer look into the future of their country and protect that future by retaining complete possession and direct control of these sources of industrial greatness and national wealth and prosperity

Ontar o is practically committed to the policy of public ownership, Quebec on the other hand has definitely followed the policy of development through private investment. Manitoba has both public and private development schemes under way Saskatchewan has a Power Commission studying the whole subject Manitoba and Alberta are both striving to obtain control of certain water-powers idle to which new rents with the Federal authorities And loong ng over all is the great issue of development and control of the huge water powers along the St Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers

The whole subject is so vitally important to the future of Canada that it is well that all citizens should give earnest and careful consideration to it, and not be stampeded by private interests or by political catch-cries into either approval or condemnation of any policy now presented until it has been most thoroughly examined and demonstrated to be sound and wise, or, on the other hand, inimical to the country's best interests

Tribute To Sun Life President

Mr T B Macauley, president of the Sun Life Assurance Co., who recently celebrated his fiftieth year of continuous service.

Extraordinary Expansion Of Sun Life Assurance

Business Has Doubled On An Average Every Five Or Six Years

The extraordinary expansion of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada during the last few years has been revealed in a report to be submitted with unusual interest, not only by the policyholders of the Company, but by a large section of the general public.

Perhaps a sentimental interest attached to this expectation this year, for the President, T. B. Macaulay, in October celebrated his fiftieth year of continuous service and it was known that the world-wide organization of the Sun Life Company had determined to spetially honor his name as a tribute to his great fruitfulness and most of its strength, whether this tes is called "Orange Pekoe" or not.

In this age of well-edited newspapers, when the daily press and the trains accurate knowledge on a great number of subjects transmitted rapidly The advance of science has hobbled the feet of superstition and fossilized many fond beliefs. Today, in accord with enlightened knowledge, the best tea is always sold in sealed air-light packages, thus preserving it from deterioration in flavor and contamination from outside sources Canadian tea-drinkers are today getting their dyed and pasty tea than ever before. The sales of well-blended and carefully packed packaged tea, are constantly increasing as a result of the growing intelligence of those teas being advertised to the public."

Colonel Lindbergh Can Exactly Qualify For This Title

At Havana Colonel Lindbergh completed a journey of the length of American visits. Twelve independent nations a British colony, two major possessions of the United States and the Panama Canal Zone have been visited by him since December 13, when he rose from Bolling Field in Washington under weather conditions that to many seemed insurmountable, but which to his trained intelligence were propitious. Each trip was a pioneer voyage. Each journey changed the status of makeshift affairs for he blazed the trail over uncharted wilderness. The official seal is a state of peace, but never enjoy. Inexpensive and mid almost everywhere.

Schemes For Aerial Signs

Principal European Cities To Use Signals Flashed From Air

Giant equipped aeroplanes and rigid airships of new designs are soon to be employed in organized schemes for flashing aerial night signs above the principal cities of Europe.

One project nearing completion is for a powerful multi-engined night-flying plane with a device underneath its widespread wing which will permit huge gleaming letters to be spelt out by an operator as the machine rushes through the darkness.

Another plan is active preparation for a super-giant ingeniously equipped airship to be stationed permanently in a big shed at Friedrichshafen, and to set off on long distance flights during which it will appear suddenly in the night sky above one great city after another.

On either side of the monster's hull will be immensely long frames containing countless electric light bulbs of various colors. As the machine sails majestically above a densely populated area, electricians in a chamber within its keel will tap keys and cause great letters to flash out along the airship's sides, spelling words which will be seen by the throng gazing up.

Yet another plan being worked upon is for a new type of picture machines of a perfect type, wirelessly controlled to be sent up on night flights.

These massive craft, emitting a luminous smoke stream, would go up and repeat automatically a series of prearranged evolutions which would form easily seen letters at great heights in the darkness.

Origin of Term "Orange Pekoe"

Thousands of people every day read of and ask the "Orange Pekoe" but rarely know what this term means. Mr. Spalding Black, of the Salada Tea Co., gives the following information on the subject:

"At one time China produced practically all the tea used in the world. There the tip leaves of the tea tree looked silvery in color and when curled were airy in shape These tip leaves were called by the Chinese 'pak-ho' (meaning silver hair). In the latter part of the nineteenth century, when the growing had spread extensively to Ceylon and India, tea growers discovered that the color of the tip leaves on the Ceylon and Indian tea bushes was changed by the climate to a slightly more orange shade, so the Ceylon and Indian tip leaves came to be called 'Orange Pak-ho.' This was soon Anglicized to the term we now have—"Orange Pekoe." This word should be pronounced "Peek-o."

"To the ordinary buyer of tea, when asking for "Orange Pekoe" expects to receive a Ceylon or Indian Black Tea. However, there are so many qualities of "Orange Pekoe" offered to the public, and frequently at bargain prices, that a word of warning is necessary.

Everyone is familiar with the merchant who has peradding fruit skin who sells for very low prices the last few days of the season's fruit. The freshness, which the merchant wants to be rid of to avoid loss. Something applies to tea, which also is very perishable, and the tea test Then you see cheap tea, it is either very poor quality or has lost its freshness and most of its strength, whether this tea is called "Orange Pekoe" or not.

In this age of well-edited newspapers, when the daily press and the trains accurate knowledge on a great number of subjects transmitted rapidly The advance of science has hobbled the feet of superstition and fossilized many fond beliefs. Today, in accord with enlightened knowledge, the best tea is always sold in sealed air-light packages, thus preserving it from deterioration in flavor and contamination from outside sources Canadian tea-drinkers are today getting their dyed and pasty tea than ever before. The sales of well-blended and carefully packed packaged tea, are constantly increasing as a result of the growing intelligence of those teas being advertised to the public."

Life's greatest illusion is that money brings contentment and felicity. Nothing of the kind. It brings responsibilities and worries.

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, it has remained the standard with physicians for in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disapp ar at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the ease and effectiveness of this scientific antidote. Be sure to get the genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correct forms acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggists.

Manitoba Old Age Pensions

Illness To Be Ruled By Special Levy On Property

Monies for the payment of the old age pensions will be raised by a special levy on property in the province based on the equalized assessment, Premier John Bracken told the Manitoba Legislature, when introducing the bill one half of the total amount necessary to finance the scheme will be paid by the Dominion Government, but the province will have to pay the other half, and in addition will have to bear the cost of administration, which will be placed in the hands of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

China Hopes For Improvement

People Looking For Better Times During This Year

Canton.—There is said the "year of the rabbit" just closed is behind them, the people of China today are looking forward to the opening of a fiery watch of the mystic dragon now presiding over the current year.

The rabbit year, which ended in the midst of crippled domestic trade, curtailed shipments abroad and in a general air of depression, saw Shanghai and Canton and South China ushered in the New Year hopeful but with grave apprehensive misgivings.

The new lunar year however much to China and her more than four hundred millions of inhabitants in addition to being practically her only holiday of the year, it is the chief commercial setting day when all accounts of the dying year are "reckoned up and paid."

Ottawa.—If the symbolism of the great pyramid of Egypt are reliable they foreshadow a great cataclysm approximately at midnight of the 29th of this year, according to T. R. Ransome, Toronto, organising secretary for the British Israel Federation of Canada.

Addressing a gathering of Ottawans, Mr. Ransome made it clear that he was uncertain just what form the cataclysm would take, "but if the Scriptures and the Bible were indeed the true word of God, and current history was a guide" then he was afraid it was the "war to the end."

Supervision Of Rural Schools

Important Changes Advocated At Saskatchewan School Trustees Meeting

Saskatoon.—Supervision of rural schools and other important changes in the education system of Saskatchewan were advocated by C. E. Little, president, at the annual convention of the Saskatchewan School Trustees' Association. Between 700 and 800 delegates were present.

"We must face the fact that in spite of the great improvements in the educational system of Saskatchewan and the efforts of our professional department officials, inspectors, teachers and trustees, our rural schools are not yet in a position to give factory condition," declared Mr. Little in his presidential address. "One of the greatest needs of our rural districts is the lack of adequate supervision."

Mr Little said the services of an expert were required to undertake the supervision which he estimated would cost from $200 to $300 a year, depending upon whether one or two municipalities were placed in charge of an expert. For such a sum educational cost they could give country children an equal chance with city children he declared.

Estimating that 74,500 of the 205,-000 children in Saskatchewan elementary schools were of school age for various defects, Mr. Little urged that the nursing staff should be increased immediately, so that it would be able to inspect all the public schools in the province annually.

WOULD REDUCE THE NUMBER OF PORTS OF ENTRY

Ottawa.—A number of recommendations dealing with the re-organization of the Department of National Revenue are contained in the report of Messrs. Clarkson, Gordon and Dilworth, chartered accountants of Toronto, which was tabled by the Hon. W. D. Euler in the House of Commons recently. This firm acted under the authorization of the order-in-council of August 7, 1926, as auditors to the Royal customs commission.

The report says that from time to time the Minister of National Revenue has put into effect a number of improvements recommended by the investigators, and that these have to the efficiency of the department.

One of the chief recommendations declared that "to utilize effectively such a body of experienced officers as there should be concentrated in about 100 ports the examination and appraisal of all importations of commercial scale should be carried out at the hands of all ports having a staff of less than four persons except where the special nature of the business thus could not be practical.

Other recommendations are that a special revenue staff be established to deal with suspected evasions of duties and taxes or other frauds; that the duty on tobacco be paid more promptly and in more liberal amounts, while those to officers be abolished, and that the commissioners of customs, excise and income tax, as a consolidation, be given power to transfer suitable members of their staffs without approval of the minister or governor-in-council. It also is recommended that a board of appeal be established to protect employees against any possible misuse of such powers.

C. E. E. Usher Had Been With Railway For 50 Years

Montreal.—C. E. E. Usher, general passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, died suddenly at his residence in Westmount. He was 71 years of age.

ANSWERS GIVEN TO QUESTIONS ON IMMIGRATION

Ottawa.—A number of questions dealing with immigration were answered in the House of Commons, that range extending from the admission of Asiatics to the cost of transportation from Europe to Canada.

It is shown that from 1921 to 1927 there were 787,408 immigrants arrived in Canada from Great Britain, the continent of Europe and the United States. Of these 301,524 came from the United Kingdom; 248,521 from the continent, and 176,053 from south of the international boundary The cost to the country for bringing in those immigrants was $7,704,986, of which over 50 per cent. was spent in connection with British im...gration.

The figures disclose that the banner year in immigration into the Old Country was that which closed on March 31, 1921, when 74 262 newcomers came to Canada. In the fiscal year, ended March, 1927, the number of foreigners coming into this country from European continental ports was 71,873, a figure that exceeded by 370 the combined totals of British and American immigrants during that period.

Since 1922, the year in which the system of assisted passage was adopted, to December 31, 1927, there were 61,267 new settlers brought in, at a cost of $1,534,534.

Husky Twice Saves Master's Life

"Mountie," leader of the Chinook team of Prentiss' dog team, is a favorite with friends, but none who has ever met with more interest than Sergeant Willard Grennon, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police The Sergeant who is six-foot-three and the owner of the finest specimen of the husky breed in the province, has related an exploit in his life when he created with an unusual act in the rescue of his master from certain death.

Over thousands of miles through the snow bound country in the winter, the realization that the ice is a cracking and bending and the knowledge that it was too thin to allow the sleigh and driver to stand still long enough to rifle. There was no retracing, they must go on. Other exploits of this husky are recounted by the same master, who has companied Sergeant Grennon. When Mountie left five years ago for Quebec, the Sergeant was heard to say that he had lost his most faithful and his best beloved friend

Federal Aid Cancelled

Contributions To Unemployment Relief In Provinces Was War-Time Measure

Ottawa.—Withdrawal of Federal contributions to the provinces for unemployment relief is announced in a letter from Premier King to Premier Bracken, of Manitoba, dated February 20.

The Prime Minister in part says that the policy of the government as set out at the Dominion-provincial conference was "that such assistance as had been given from the Federal treasury had justification as a wartime measure to meet conditions arising out of the war and the re-establishment of returned men in civil life."

Mr King continues

"It was stated at the conference that the justification for Federal assistance in the matter of unemployment on this ground no longer exists. In our opinion other circumstances have not arisen which at the present time justify contributions from the Federal treasury to either the province or to municipalities as an assistance in dealing with the problem of unemployment."

The letter was in answer to inquiries from Europe in connection with proposed arrangements as to what aid could be expected this year

The committee in refusing to provide for subsistence turned a deaf ear to pleas for the raising of a fund for the relief of the unemployed, stating that members representing the Mounted Police, Dominion Command, Canadian Legion, Salvation Army and the Canadian Red Cross Society had been consulted and were of the opinion that the situation revealed no otherwise serious hurts.

British Aviator Reaches Australia From England In Fifteen Days

London. — Bert Hinkler, British aviator who arrived in Australia Feb 22, is acclaimed in London as having performed one of the most remarkable feats of flying skill and endurance that has yet been accomplished Under the date named the 15-day flight established five new air records, being the fastest flight between England and Australia; the longest flight plane flight ever made, the longest solo flight in any kind of an aeroplane; the fastest journey between England and India, and the first nonstop flight between London and Rome Hinkler's achievements was appropriate by about $10,000 than he would have been if he had completed arrangements for a policy with Lloyds which he previously was stated to have taken out. The underwriters had practically had arranged for a policy of about £2,000 against reaching Australia within 16 days, but few people left without completing the negotiations

The plane he uses is fitted with double wheels and an undercarriage which swings back when the wings are folded enabling the flier to house the plane in a garage and making it easy for one man to handle

Hinkler sent a message to London saying he never had the least apprehension in mowing the machine since he started

Daytona Beach, Fla.—Frank Lockhart internationally known race driver of Indianapolis narrowly escaped death when his car lost control of his powerful Stutz Black Hawk Special during an attempt to set a new world's automobile speed record and hurtled with it into the air while travelling at 160 miles an hour A medical examination revealed no otherwise serious hurts

The 25-year-old racer suffered a severe shock but otherwise was not seriously hurt This was the pronouncement of physicians at the hospital to which he was taken.

A BIG CUT IS MADE IN U. S. NAVAL PROGRAM

Washington. — Blasting Secretary Wilbur's recommendation for 71 new warships, the house naval committee decided to authorize the construction of 16 ships, one of them an aircraft carrier, and the remainder cruisers of the 10 000-ton class. It turned the "thumbs down" on new submarines.

This action, taken after a protracted executive session, was described by Chairman Butler as practically unanimous and in line with the annual visit's Hales proposal to the limitation of Geneva arms conference

Wilbur had urged the committee to approve a building program of 25 cruisers five aircraft carriers nine destroyer leaders and 32 submarines representing the program as having the backing of President Coolidge

Butler announced the committee's program would cost $274 000 000 as compared with $3 000 000 for the Secretary's proposal. Figures regarding the cost of the new ships and personnel for which the additional $3,000,000 call

The committee in refusing to provide for submarines turned a deaf ear to pleas for the naval secretary for the construction of 9 of that type. Several committee members Representative McClintock, Democrat, Oklahoma

The committee provided that the 16 cruisers should be started within the next year in order that they may be built and that the aircraft carrier be started within two years

Butler said he also adopted a provision that in the event of an agreement for further limitation of naval armaments by the International conference to which the United States is a signatory power the President would suspend in whole or part any of the naval construction authorized under this act."

Quite a number took advantage of the opportunity to examine the display of Pantile parts and listen to the instructive and highly interesting talk on the development of the pantile at Community Hall last evening and arranged by Geo. Law, local dealer W. G. Burgess, factory express manager, Mr. Lambkin-Dale & Co., Pantile Agency, was followed with the closest attention as he traced the marvelous developments in the manufacture from the days of the horseless carriage to the present manufactured article. Dealing with the new Queen Pantile the speaker commending with the honey comb radiator, practically demonstrated every part of the car, which he assures many outstanding engineering features. Four reels of motion pictures of the 1,500 acre operating grounds of General Motors the men at the world and where all makes of cars are subjected to gruelling tests under every and all conditions, were shown. It is here where engineers keep complete records of every car, bear on that further improvement may be embodied in our manufacture. Mr. Burgess was accompanied by Mr. Sumpter of the Edmonton sales district. The new luxurious Pontiac is now on display at Law's Garage.

We are pleased to learn that the baby of Mr and Mrs. Anne Gobeil which was badly blistered around the body in the fire last week, is doing nicely at the hospital and the parents expect to have the little one home next week.

ISLAY ITEMS

(Held over from last week)

Friday night, Feb. 17th, Moore's hall was well filled to hear the Dramatic company from Vermilion put on a very amusing comedy "Are You A Mason?". Every actor and actress had their part down to perfection and in point and elocution would equal professionals of a high order. It would be hard to choose the star, for they were all stars with a perfect adaptation to the several parts they played. And we are sure if they return to Islay they will have an appreciative welcome. The play was under the auspices of the W. A. of the Anglican church which is indebted to the troupe for their kindly help towards the funds of that society.

Miss Jean Beecroft entertained her associate students, boys and girls from the advanced school, in a very enjoyable valentine party at her home on Feb. 17th. Mr Beecroft came in for the young people. Dancing, cards and other games were enjoyed. A very dainty lunch was served at 12 and the boys and girls were brought back to their own abode, being unanimous in voting Miss Jean as a capital entertainer

The rink that went to Lloydminster report good luck with no prizes, but won a large percentage of the games they played.

The W. A. of the United Church held their monthly meeting at the Manse on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. H. Manse presided very gracefully, she conducted the devotional part of the program and opened the subject "Christian Fellowship" with an interesting paper Mesdames Bothwell Stephens and Rodgers also gave short papers. Discussion on the missionary phases of the work took place of a very helpful character Mrs Stephens, Miss Thee Stone and Mrs. D C Nelson were appointed to attend the Vermilion Presbyterial Women's Missionary Convention at Lamont Saturday, 25th. About $20.00 was taken in the offering

OBITUARY

A very solemn service on Monday afternoon, February 20th, marked the passing of one of our newest settlers in the Ottawa district. The late Frederick Thompson came from Scotland only last June, bringing his wife and three children, and arranged to settle on a farm eight miles north of town. He was an experienced farmer and showed every prospect of making a good settler, when the Grim Reaper decided, recorded two weeks ago, brought instant death.

The funeral was held from the Baptist church at Ottawa, the Rev. E. Reimer conducting the service. In a very sympathetic address he drew all the comfort possible to the bereaved family, pointing them to a Father who would not forsake them in their trying need. A good number of neighbors and acquaintances attended the service and were full of sympathy for the bereaved family. A very nice wreath from the district showing their kindly feeling. Some beautiful flowers were also sent by Mr and Mrs. Gilbert, relatives of the family, from Calgary

The funeral of the late Alfred Isle Mot Morris, popularly known as Colonel" was held from the Anglican church on Friday afternoon, 9th 17th the Rev. A. Ross Snow conducting the service. A large number of veteran comrades were in attendance, together with friends and acquaintances who had known the deceased during his stay in the district. Mr. Hoge spoke kindly of the many sacrifices that had been made by men of all ranks for the sake of their country, and emphasized the action given at the recent Memorial Service to "play up and play the game."

The day was fine and a good number of cars went out to the cemetery where the service was concluded in military style. Comrade S. G. Brass reading the committal. All veterans present dropped their poppies into the grave and stood in silence to "turn or the dead" after which Comrade J. Wm. Scott sounded the "Last Post". The casket was draped with the Union Jack and a reversed cap, with the Colonel's medals. Six of the local veterans acted as pallbearers. Interment was made in the Soldiers' Plot at the Vermilion Cemetery, the local branch of the Canadian Legion taking full charge. Some beautiful flowers were sent by different comrades and the veterans' poppy wreath made a very appropriate setting.

Mr. Morris has no relatives in this country but an aged mother is still living in London, England. Deceased served during the war with the 63rd Battalion C. E. F. and since his return has taught school and worked in rural communities in the district

Preparations are being made to make the College grounds more beautiful than ever this summer. New beds have been added and some of the larger trees will be moved to new locations so that flowers will be more easily seen. Several comfortable lawn benches have been made by the boys in the school shop and will be placed to provide a shady resting place.

What was, a few years ago, merely a plaything has developed into a procedure wonderful results and it is hoped that the Vermilion district people will have at least public knowledge of videos and friends about the institution.

AN INTERESTING DAY AT THE COLLEGE

On Saturday, Feby 18th a most interesting day was spent by the Vermilion S. A. students and a number of town and country folk who visited the school while the "Little International" was being held. Following the custom inaugurated last year the second year boys fitted and showed the livestock from the School of Agriculture Farm, in addition to which the first year men presented the livestock from the Dominion Experimental Farm, Lacombe. Both lots in the carpentry and barksmith shops and in the selection and showing of the stock the students displayed much skill and knowledge. The livestock judging was the best held to date at any of the Schools of Agriculture, surpassing even the expectations of the staff and the student body.

Mr. T. P. Devlin, B.S.A. a graduate of the University of Alberta and a pupil representing the Dept. of Colonization and Development of the Canadian National Railways at Saskatoon, was present in his capacity as an expert livestock judge. While in the rink Mr. Devlin pointed out some to some evening after 7, to practice. of the finer points of the animals and gave reasons for placing them as they were finished to [illegible] many students. Explanations and Comments

I. The Choice Of the Twelve, 3.13. 13 One day Jesus went up the mountain to pray; he continued there all night in prayer. Luke tells us. Then as companions for Himself and as messengers to the people he chose from among all His followers a little company of twelve men "The number is significant and symbolical, a clear allusion to the tribes of a new Israel. And by that choice of twelve Christ did two things (1) He made stupendous claim for Himself. Every Jew knew in a moment what the choice of twelve implied. It implied that there was the promised and long expected Messiah. It meant that he was the Father of an ancient prophecy. And . . . it invited the apostles themselves with a consent ruinous to their own hopes, to take their stand with Him in the front rank of His battle for the promised kingdom. (2) He made their appointment final. They did not choose Him; He chose them. They did not offer themselves; He invited them. He looked them over, spent a night in prayer, and then He gave them authority to do. He knew that only when listening and turned into action does the best character He made the heralds of His kingdom and they were in after years to do the announcing of coming. Lynn H Hough

Jesus found twelve ordinary men and discovered extraordinary capacities in them. They had little or no prejudices. He knew their opportunities; they did not. He saw a great possibility that they might have a great future. He looked them over, spent a night in prayer, and then He gave them authority to do. He knew that only when listening and turned into action does the best character He made the heralds of His kingdom and they were in after years to do the announcing of coming. Lynn H Hough

Report Against Gland Treatment Of Livestock Is Given

A committee of experts appointed by the board of agriculture, of London, Eng., has issued an adverse report on Dr. Serge Voronoff's gland treatment of livestock. The report admits that the claim is possibly justified, that the effect of the treatment was rejuvenation of aged and grown it made sheep and similar animals, but considers the evidence was not based on critical examination, and that, therefore, the data given fails to warrant an estimate of economic value.

The bodies of six Japanese who attempted to smuggle themselves into the United States were found in the hold of the Tashio Maru, which reached Tokio from Seattle, Washington. The ship's crew discovered the bodies in the hold on December 20 when the Tashio Maru sailed for Seattle. From brief notes the men left it was believed they suffocated before the ship left Yokohama after which their condition frightened and kept their death secret until the ship returned to Japan.

Porcupine quills indirectly caused the death in Hazelton, B.C., of William Loring, a former government telegraph lineman. The quills, entering his flesh some years ago, worked through his body and eventually pierced the lung. An illness developed that kept him a semi-invalid for a number of years.

The Englishman stretched out his arms dramatically. His voice quivered like a violin string. "The British Empire is my country," he said; "I was born beneath the British flag, and so were my people for generations back. I love it. The British Empire is in trouble and has called. I do not reason, I go. It's like your mother calling—would you wait to reason that if your mother called? If you knew your mother was attacked by a bully would you go back to the store where she had been to blame in any way—would you? My mother couldn't be wrong—not to me. That's what I mean."

Helmi was coming in from the kitchen with the dessert on her big tray. She paused, arrested by the strange voice speaking with such terrible earnestness.

Bill Larsen had not stopped eating. Empires might rise or fall, but Bill believed in getting his food while they were hot. "Well no," he said, "I can't say as I feel that way toward any country. It's a case of show me—I'm from Missouri, first, last and all the time."

Helmi watched the Englishman's face. He was staring helplessly at the complacent big giant before him, who serenely buttered a slice of bread on his broad palm as he spoke.

"I ain't no fussy over your old British Empire, anyway," added Bill, "I don't know that I'd just as soon see Germany win."

Arthur Warner, walked over to where Bill sat. His face was white and his eyes very dark. Helmi knew just what was going to happen.

"You cursed insult my country in my presence," he said quietly, and slapped the Swede's face with his open hand.

With a hoarse oath Bill sprang from the table.

Helmi screamed and darted forward but the Swede's closed fist had already landed with smashing force on the Englishman's face, sending him reeling to the floor.

It was Helmi who was first beside him. "Oh you big stiff, Bill Larsen," she cried, indignantly, "he only gave you a little slap, but you smash at him like a fellow twice your size. You big bum, Bill Larsen, that's all you are! Maybe you've killed this man, and he's a good man, ready to fight for women and children."

The men were gathered in a knot around the injured man, when his white and still face had resting on Helmi's knee.

"Bring me water!" she cried, "and stand back."

Bill Larsen sometimes out jaunty, biting a disk from his plug of chewing tobacco. "No man can slap my face and feel as good as ever right after," he said. "Damn him and his British Empire."

Mrs. McMann was diplomatic. Bill Larsen was a boarder, regular and sure, paid in advance. Because, he came from the States, and from Nebraska. "Bill, maybe, is too long-ugy," she said, "but sticks and stones mayl break your bones, but calling names won't hurt you." The English man struck the first blow, so he will have to take what's comin'."

Arthur Warner certainly did not seem disposed to resist as he lay limp and bleeding, his eyes closed, one arm hanging lifeless

"He'll never never make a soldier if he folds up like that with one touch," said Mrs. McMann scornfully.

"Big Bill hits too hard," said Helmi, binding the pallid face "Mr English only bit a little slap."

The men had gone back to the table, helping themselves from the blue coffee pot on the stove outside They were satisfied that the Englishman was not seriously hurt Florist seemed too common to attract very much attention, parts utterly at mealtime

Well, here's a pretty how-do-you-do, I do say," said Mrs McMann, as she began to carry out the dishes "Let the yellow hair of this and it goes to house a bad record. And who's to look after the fellow now, supposin' Bill has knocked him crooked? I guess maybe he didn't go far to go, but that won't make it easier for Bill"

Bill had come back to the scene of his triumph and now stood leaning against the kitchen door, smoking a tranquil pipe. "Me?" he queried. "Don't worry about me—I always bury my dead!" Bill laughed a little nervously, not feeling quite as unconcerned as he appeared. The face of the Englishman was as corpse-like.

"Well, he said, stay here," said Mrs. McMann, decidedly; "I am provisin' meals and beds, but only for well people. This is no hospital."

"He can come to my house," said Helmi, "he is a brave man, ready to fight for Canada, and I will take care of him and be glad to do it. He is not a coward, like Big Bill Larsen, who hits like a lacking mule."

"You chuck that gab, Helmy," said Mrs McMann severely; "it ain't your place to interfere in gentlemen's politics, anyway."

Big Bill regarded Helmi with an angry eye. "Cursing against your own country, eh, Helmi," he said to her in Finnish, "you turned me down for Jack Doran, that didn't take long to get tired of you and quit, and now I see you're turned against your own country"

"Canada is my country," Helmi replied, with flashing eyes, "and I would fight for it if I could. I wouldn't stand back like a big coward"

Arthur Warner was not able to leave on the train that day, nor for a week, during which time he was carefully nursed by Helmi and old Sam, the night watchman

Mrs McMann discussed the matter in its social aspect with her boarders. "Helmi is a queer girl, but she's goin' to get herself talked about this time, takin' a strange man into her house when her own man is away. I told her—I've warned her all along—but do you think she'd listen? Her and Old Sim are hand in glove, and no one can tell them anything. She says it's her duty to care for a soldier who is goin' out to die for all of us. Well, he don't need to die for me—I'm an American citizen, and I guess Old Glory will always protect me. I wonder what Jack Doran would say if he came home right now? If I know men, and I certainly should a thing like this will take a lot of explainin' Poor Mr. McMann would have short any man whom he found in his house like this. He was so impulsive where I was concerned. He didn't even like to have me left alone with the ice-man. I told him it was nonsense, but nothing could change him."

But Helmi and her guest were not concerned over public opinion. Strangely enough, neither of them had thought about it. The doctor from Hamerman had set the broken arm, and advised him to lie still until the dizziness in his head had gone.

The time passed pleasantly for Helmi. She was glad to have someone to care for, and "Mr. English," as she called him, was so grateful. When he tried to pay her, Helmi firmly refused to accept anything. "You are a brave man," she said, "leaving everything and going to fight for us. I am glad to help you. I wish I could do more."

It came to the last day, and Arthur Warner was sitting in the rocking-chair watching Helmi as she packed his valise. She had taken out his things, washed his shirts and socks and mended them, and pressed his clothes. "By Jove, Helmi" he said, in admiration, "you are a born nurse and capable. There are plenty of nurses over there one can't you come along? I have lots of friends who haven't forgotten me, I'm sure, and they would get you in as matron of—of—Helmi, you know I love you."

Helmi held up a little garment which she had been making, and she frankly told him why it was impossible for her to go

The Englishman apologized humbly

"Oh, no," said Helmi "I'm right I do not mind telling you. You know knows yet, but I am going and about it. I am glad I am only and about going away."

I love what you mean," said Arthur "Helmi, you sweet—"

At this moment there was a knock at the door. Helmi opened it, and there stood Bill Larsen, his face very red and shamefaced. He looked at Arthur Warner, and then at Helmi, and began to speak in Finnish.

"I think all decent men that way," Warner said.

Has Many Underground Rooms

$30,000 In London County Have Ceilings At Street Level

A recent census in one London borough alone reveals the existence of 7,000 basement rooms, of which 1,200 have ceilings at street level and are death-traps, therefore, if floods come. It is estimated that there are 20,000 basement rooms in the whole city of London.

Of course, not all are used as sleeping apartments, but the majority are habitations for day use and are let to people who cannot yet find other homes. One can scarcely call this condition of things "shameful." It is as unwholesome legacy of the war, and borough authorities are in sheer mercy, are compelled to turn a blind eye to the law until arrears of building, particularly of workmen's dwellings, have been wiped out. They cannot turn the people into the street.

Why is Red Rose Tea so fresh and flavory? The answer is that it is a blend of the choicest, juiciest leaves, picked when only ten days old—and sold by your grocer in clean, bright aluminum. No tea can be expected to retain its richness and strength unless packed in this modern metal container—the only package worthy of Red Rose quality.

Little Helps For This Week

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE CAN OBTAIN RELIEF

By Enriching Their Blood With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Rheumatism is a disease of the blood. It is caused by poisons in the blood which irritate the nerves and muscles, causing pain and stiffness in the joints. Rheumatism is not a disease that can be cured by rubbing with liniments or by taking purgative medicines. These may relieve the pain for a time, but they cannot reach the cause and the pains are sure to return. What people who are troubled with rheumatism need is to enrich their blood. Then the poisons will be driven out of the system and the pains will disappear. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do just this and that is why they have cured so many cases of rheumatism. Mrs. Thomas Dumais, Ste. Agathe, Que., says: "I was troubled with rheumatism for about two years. I had pains in my back and limbs and was so stiff that I could hardly get around. I was under the doctor's care for a time, but got no relief. I then began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking a few boxes I felt much better. I continued using the pills for a while longer and was entirely cured. I have had no return of the trouble since."

You can get these pills through any druggist or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

VERMILION — NORTH BATTLEFORD — TURTLEFORD

The local Elks came through with a threezone win at Vegreville last night but lose out in the two-game series on a total score of 5-3, total goals in the two games deciding the winners. Thus the Vegreville team is the winner of the Elks' league and hold the Craig cup, emblematic of the championship, until next season at least.

In the game last night Manson Starr was the big noise for the local outfit, scoring all three goals on his own. Ivy, who learned all his hockey in Vermilion, and Wener, another local product, were the mainstays of the Western gang.

Providing the weather holds out as at present, hockey fans are due for some more first class hockey before the season closes. Wire arring been received by the local management from the Edmonton Elks, runners-up in the city league, and also from an all-star C. N. R. team who both wish to play exhibition games here. North Battleford also have one more game to play in Vermilion to finish off a home and home series.

Plymouth Brethern Bay Grace Church

The Grace Methodist church, one of the oldest places of worship in Vermilion, has just been sold to the Plymouth Brethren and will hereafter be known as the Gospel Hall. The Brethren for the past several years occupied the hall on Main street which was purchased a few months ago by the Presbyterian congregation. The Grace church has been closed since the time of the Union. In the readjustment of properties following the Union, the local Presbyterians were awarded this church by the Property Commission but the United Church refused to acquiesce in the finding and it has remained vacant since.

PRAISE FOR "BEN-HUR"

Following is the statement of a citizen of Vermilion who was asked for a second "The film 'Ben-Hur' is an exciting at the Colonial theatre this week-end. It has proven to be an artistic triumph from start to finish. The story of the Prince of Hur, told by Lew Wallace is familiar to thousands of people but no one could have anticipated the amazing success afforded in the first performance. There are few departures from the book version and the changes that have been made add greatly to the dramatic effect. It is to be hoped that every one will take the opportunity of seeing this picture. The story is wonderful the acting is artistic and one would feel very sorry indeed for anyone who would not be [illegible] by the marvellous exhibition of moving picture art."

Where Is The Money To Come From?

With the Dominion Parliament and practically all the Provincial Legislatures now in session, the people of Canada are having their attention directed to questions of public policy, public finance, and public administration. The budget speech at Ottawa, and the annual financial statements of the several Provincial Treasurers, with the debates which arise thereon, are of outstanding interest and value in focusing attention upon, and compelling due attention of, the vital subjects of revenues versus expenditures, and their effect upon taxation and public debt.

Prior to the opening of Parliament and the Legislatures, members of the various Governments were busy receiving deputations from organizations of all kinds, including financial, commercial and commercial institutions, organized labor bodies and numerous social reform and benevolent societies. In the vast majority of cases these deputations advocated certain changes in existing laws calculated to advance the interests or causes in which they were severally especially interested. Also in the majority of cases, representations were made in support of reductions in existing taxation, and, coupled with such representations, Governments were urged to embark upon additional services, or provide new institutions, all of which called for large increases in public expenditure and the creation of new administrative services.

The problem with which all Governments are thus confronted, and which is presented to them every year, is most complex, and it is to be feared that many of these deputations do not give serious enough consideration to it. Many ask bounties for these deputations seem to labor under the delusion that it is fairly practical use,—that Governments have some means of finding money without making it by means of taxation.

For example, in all Provinces there is a persistent and growing demand that very much larger amounts be spent in the construction of good, all-weather, highways. Once built such roads must be maintained, thus for every mile constructed there is an increased annual charge for up-keep. But coupled with these insistent demands for roads, and to be fair to them, many of these deputations do not give serious enough consideration to the fact that many of these deputations are for additional services which, while undoubtedly desirable, are now beyond the financial ability of the people to meet. In many instances these demands are for services which should be provided by the municipalities. In other words, the Government should spend more and collect less.

Most members recognize the people of Canada demand the establishment of a system of Old Age Pensions. The Federal Government agrees, and undertakes to pay fifty per cent. of such pensions, provided the Provincial Governments pay the other fifty per cent. Only British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba agree to enter the scheme. All parties in the Legislatures are in favor of doing so. Then, in Manitoba, the Government proposes the immediate establishment of an additional tax in order to raise the money wherewith to pay such pensions, and immediately objections are raised.

In Saskatchewan within recent months the Government has been asked to provide for a free consultative clinic, for a school for the blind and the deaf, for an institution for the care of juvenile delinquents, larger facilities for the training of teachers, extension of the educational system, another sanatorium to combat tuberculosis, a large extension of the road building programme, including the gravelling of roads, etc., etc. The Government proceeds to some extent to give effect to a number of these requests and to assist in securing the necessary funds required, but in doing so it does so in accordance with approval, but immediately a demand is made that the extra income fee be substantially reduced the effect of which would be to largely offset the increase in revenue to be derived from the gasoline tax, and leaving the Government without the means to provide those very things the people had demanded.

Referring to the all too general attitude on the part of people, and the interesting demand for "free" services of one kind and another, the Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan took occasion in his budget speech to point out that "there ain't no such animal" as a "free" service. Any service if not paid for by the individual must be paid for by the state, and if the state pays, then the money with which to foot the state's bills must be secured from individuals in the mass by way of taxes.

The responsible heads of all our Canadian institutions and organizations should devote a portion of their time in training for such responsible posts by taking a course in economics.

Canadians Going To U.S. Would Do Well To Investigate Working Conditions

An Eastern paper recently had an interview with a gentleman who had spent several months in California. The statement was made by him that there was a great deal of unemployment in that much-advertised state.

A short time ago there was also a good deal of unemployment in the city of New York. The paradox carried banners worded, "We Want Food, Not Figures," "Give Us Food and Shelter," "We Want Food, Not Words."

Many reports from the labor bureau show that these paradoxes were not out merely for the sake of taking exception or finding fault with the official returns show that there were 225 men for every 100 positions that are vacant. From every part of the state and country the report is very much the same.

Despite the enormous wealth of United States, economists claim that there is as much unemployment there as in Canada.

These figures, we believe, should be placed fairly before the people of Canada, especially for the benefit of those who may be thinking of crossing the line without having made ample inquiry in advance.

Expects To Leave For South Pole In September

Commander Richard E. Byrd has practically completed his plans for his attempt to fly over the South Pole. He said he expects his party will leave New York on September 10 and that he will be back in time at least eight months and possibly a year and a half.

The party will consist of 55 men, Commander Byrd said, and among these will be 12 scientific specialists. They will study and collect the many data, and three Eskimos. The ship will carry three aeroplanes.

RICH, RED BLOOD A REAL NERVE TONIC

The Source Of All Nervousness Is Weak, Watery Blood

Many people, both men and women, feel nervous run down, weak, thirsty overwork, or sasicties. Such sufferers find themselves tired, low-spirited and irritable. They never seem to be worn out and they suffer from indigestion, constipation and headache. All this comes from starved nerves.

Among the most common symptoms sensitive is a terrible mistake The only real nerve tonic is a good supply of rich red blood. Therefore when nervous people start to regain health Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be taken. They actually make new blood which tones the nerves, improves the appetite, gives strength and energy and soon makes hitherto despondent people bright and cheerful. Miss Lena Dennis, R.R. No. 1, Bloomfield, Ont., tells what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her. She says: "I suffered for a long time with my nerves and I seemed run-down completely. I grew so weak that I had to lie in bed for part of every day. I could not do any work and was taking medicine all the time, but nothing seemed to help me. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am glad I did, as I can truthfully say that I acted on this advice, as this was the first medicine that helped me and I kept on using it a comparatively short time restored me to the blessing of good health. When I think of the marvellous good these pills did me I feel I cannot highly recommend them to all weak, nervous, run-down people."

If you are at all run-down, or weak you should begin at once to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you will soon feel better. Remember these pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

THE ART OF MAKING TEA

What To Do and What Not To Do To Get the Best Results

Mr. Spalding Black, on the staff of the British Tea Company, recently prepared an interesting leaflet entitled "The Art Of Correct Tea Making." Approximately 36,000,000 cups of tea are consumed every day in Canada, and yet it is doubtful if one-tenth of this number is prepared with the necessary care to bring out the full flavor of the tea leaf so that this stimulating and refreshing drink may be thoroughly enjoyed. The following is from "The Art Of Correct Tea Making":

"Tea is one of the kindliest blessings of Nature. In its comforting indulgence one can lose the worries of the day and forget the fatigue of effort.

"The full joy of a cup of this grateful beverage can only be realized when fine quality tea is used and ceremonial care exercised in its preparation to draw from each leaf the essence of flavor and refreshment with which it has been endowed by Nature.

"In the countries of the East, where the drinking of tea has been enjoyed for a thousand years or more, the subject of preparing the leaf for consumption has become a fine art and a ceremony has been built around refreshment and healthful stimulation. The Japanese instruct that the first ten-leaves if the following rules are followed exactly:—

"Rule No. 1:—The best quality of tea must be used. The leaf must be fresh, to yield the full goodness.

"Rule No. 2:—The quality of the water will affect the flavor of the beverage in the cup. Draw fresh water and bring it to a full 'bubbly' boil. Never use water that has been boiled before. Never allow chlorine put in water to purify it will completely change the flavor of the tea. The water is to blame, however, that not the tea.

"Rule No.3:—It is proper that only a crockery or china teapot be used. Never use one of metal or any substance, if the pure and delicious flavor of the tea is to be drawn forth. Tea it'swirtie should never be enclosed in a metal tea ball.

"Rule No. 4:—The teapot must be heated not with boiling water, but while it is warm place in it one level teaspoonful of tea for each cup required.

"Rule No. 5:—Now pour the boiling water on the tea leaves. Allow to steep in a warm place for five minutes. Stir well sufficiently to diffuse the full strength of the tea. Then pour the liquid off the tea leaves into another heated vessel, unless served immediately. If poured off the tea leaves, the tea will not take on a bitter taste which even the finest tea will do unless prevented from so happening. Tea made according to these rules will be fragrant, delicious and completely satisfying."

Pilots Are Well Paid

Directing Ships Brings Average Earnings Of Over $1,000

There is a story of a woman on board a ship who, on hearing that the pilot was about to be dropped, remarked, "I suppose once he's set the ship off in the right direction, there's no more steering to be done"!

She gave the pilot credit for even more than he can do. But his job is an important one, and during the last year a considerable proportion of the 21 Port of London pilots had great average earnings of over £1,000

Mount Amery

Mountain In Alberta Named To Commemorate Visit Of Secretary of State For the Dominions

To commemorate the visit of Col. the Right Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, Secretary of State for the Dominions, a mountain in Alberta, having an elevation of 12,900 feet, has been named Mount Amery by the Geographic Board of Canada, with the concurrence of the Government of Alberta. The mountain overlooks the junction of the Alexander River with the Big Bend Creek, and rises from a point just south of Alexander.

When a mother detects from the writhings and fretting of a child that worms are the cause, she will promptly procure a reliable remedy in Miller's Worm Powders which will expel all worms from the system. They may cause vomiting, but this need cause no anxiety, for it is but a beneficial manifestation of their thorough work. No worms can exist where these Powders are used.

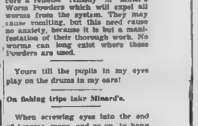
The BABY



Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful upsets and illnesses that used to be used to worry mothers through the day, and sweet they then up fine at night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach And its gentle influence seems to tell all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good.

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely at first sign of colic or constipation or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria.

The doctor often tells you to do just that; and always says Fletcher's. Other preparations may be just as pure, but no free from dangerous drugs, but why experiment? Profiting the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold!

DUNNING REPLIES TO CRITICISMS OF THE BUDGET

Ottawa.—Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of railways, replied in the House to conservative criticisms that in abandoning reductions in the net debt, the minister of finance had not taken into consideration Canadian national boost guarantees.

Mr. Dunning's speech was made in continued debate on the budget. From the Conservative benches Hon. Arthur Pictou, objected to the budget because, he said, it failed to safeguard Canadian industry. H. C. Hocken, of Toronto West Centre, urged child immigration, criticizing in this regard, the action of the immigration department in regard to Barnardo boys.

Mr. Dunning, in the course of his speech, said critics sought to make it appear that the accounting system had been changed. The fact was that the general form now followed in the estimates originated with the Conservative government in 1871. The government guaranteed loans of $61,000,000, not one dollar of which was taken into account in the net public debt.

"Was the present method a correct and sound business procedure?" Mr. Dunning asked. He said it was and that it was followed by the provincial governments of Canada, in carrying on their business dealings.

"What is the objective of these attacks?" asked Mr. Dunning. "Their object is to create the impression that finance and the government of the credit of having reduced the net debt by $106,000,000. The fact is," he maintained that the taxpayers of Canada were now paying interest on $106,000,000 less than they would if the national was paying interest on its obligations to the public.

Every person who has loaned cash from the Conservative side of the House had been "The old plan for higher and higher protection," Mr. Dunning continued. "The one remedy the Conservatives have for any disease, real or imagined, is the high protective, higher protection." Since this was the case, why had the Conservatives not put the matter into effect by their amendment. That amendment was being used in Western Canada to support the contention that the Conservative opposition had at least abandoned the principle of protection.

Speeches of the opposition members, Mr. Dunning thought, were good advertising for the United States. They emphasized the prosperity of that republic at the expense of Canada. There would not be so many Canadians going to the United States if the Conservatives did not depict it in such an attractive place. As a matter of fact, there had been a growth of unemployment in the United States and a decrease of it in Canada.

Mr. Dunning gave figures in support of this statement. He showed, he said, even the Province of Ontario can farmer was in a better position than the Canadian.

Oldest Motor Car For Sale

French Model Of 1891 Still In Working Order

Paris.—The oldest motor car in the world, built nearly forty years ago and still in working order after having covered more than 200,000 miles, is up for sale by auction. It is a one-horse power Panhard with a chain drive and tiller. It has never had to run in 1931, and the engine was taken down and completely overhauled in 1912 That is the only occasion on which it has been to the garage for repairs. The owner of the car is Abbe Claude, for many years curate of the Belloy-Saint-Leonard, in the Somme department, who bought it in 1895 for the sum of 4,000 francs. He has ever since Several times he has exhibited it in Paris at the Motor Show, driving it down the Champs Elysees amid the stream of traffic of modern luxury cars

Abbe Claude wants to build a new church in his village in the old war area dedicated to St. Christopher, the patron saint of motorists, and he has confided the "old bus" to the Automobile Club of Picardy for sale to the highest bidder for the benefit of the able to be used towards the building of the new church.

Predicts B.C. Will Use Coal Resources

Crankcase Mixture Between Oil and Gasoline Will Be Manufactured In Province

Victoria, B.C.—British Columbia will some day manufacture all its oil and gasoline from its vast coal resources, in the opinion of N. A. Wallinger, Cranbrook member of the Legislature and a veteran mining man.

"We should follow up the use of pulverized coal as a fuel and the use of coal for gasoline and fuel oil," said Mr. Wallinger. "Experiments already made indicate that the best idea to prevent a dream but a practical opportunity to utilize natural resources at Cranbrook hardly realized. McKenzie Mackinnon, self-contained in the matters of oil and gasoline, would become one of the richest industrial mines in the world."

Mr. Wallinger deplores the fact that few coal mines have been discovered in British Columbia during the past 30 years. "The prospector is not encouraged as he used to be. Most of the prospectors I run across these days are 60 years old, or older.

UNITED FARMERS STRESS VALUE OF THE H. B. ROAD

Saskatoon. — Initial steps leading toward the creation of a co-operative wholesale society in this province were taken by delegates attending the annual convention of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section.

Following a debate, a resolution was adopted calling for the urgent need of organizing a co-operative trading department from the parent body. The board of directors also was authorized to appoint three representatives of the association as members of a provisional board which will be entrusted with the task of formulating the details of the proposed plan of organization.

As a fitting commemoration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, the organized farmers of Saskatchewan endorsed the proposal to construct a consultative clinic in the province, the report revealed.

The main object of the clinic would be to bring the best medical skill within the reach of all, and provide complete laboratory investigation of the said X-ray service.

In commenting on the subject the report says:

"We believe that a free consultative clinic would encourage people to have medical examination in the early stages of disease and would be of inestimable value in preventing disease.

On the question of transportation, the directors voice gratification in the reduction of rates on grain and grain products which has been effected during the past year. The rate on grain, on what is commonly known as the Armstrong route, has been lowered and the rate on coal, giving the farmer a reasonable all rail rate to the Atlantic ports."

The lowering of this rate, the report states, will also have a decided effect on lake transportation charges.

Equalization of the rates North and South, governed by the Crow's Nest agreement, had also meant a saving of $2,000,000 a year to the producers of Northern Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The report concludes: "We are now being rushed to completion the long hoped for Hudson's Bay Railway. Organized efforts of the Saskatchewan farmers has been largely responsible for the initiative of the federal government in undertaking the completion of this road.

"It is impossible to estimate the value to Western agriculture to be gained by obtaining cheap ocean transport, thereby placing us 1 100 miles nearer our consuming mark ets. If we are to profit to the benefits of this outlet organized work sufficiness must be our motto where the Hudson's Bay Railway is concerned."

Walked Narrow Ledge Across Niagara Gorge

Woman Takes Dangerous Path To Enter U.S. Illegally

Niagara Falls, N.Y.— How she flirted with death to enter this country illegally from Canada was told by Anna Putriunia, a pretty dressmaker of Montreal. She is a native of Lithuania.

She claimed she was lowered by a rope over the gorge's bank on the Canadian side to the lower cables and supports of the Michigan Central Railway Bridge and then, accompanied by an alien, made her way across the gorge on the narrow steel ledge forming part of the under section of the bridge, more than 250 feet above the swirling whirlpool rapids

The girl and her escort landed safely on the American shore and she was taken to the home of Frank Dagostino here to await four other women who were brought across the river in a rowboat the following night.

All five of the women were held as witnesses against the five men charged with smuggling aliens

Ban On Submarines

British Government Reaffirms Position On This Question

London.—Right Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, when asked in the House of Commons if he had considered the desirability of abolishing the submarine if all other countries do the same replied that the attitude of the British Government remained the same as enunciated by Lord Lee of Fareham at the Washington conference in 1921. At that time Lord Lee urged abolition of submarines

This attitude the First Lord added, was reaffirmed by himself at a plenary session of the recent naval conference at Geneva.

The service station prices have dropped to 25 cents for the low test and 31 for the high, inclusive of the government tax.

The new prices were initiated by teh British American Oil Company, the Prairie Oil Company and the Imperial Oil Company The average reduction throughout the province amounts to three cents, while at some places a drop of five cents has been reported. Members of the trade give the opinion that the price drop will have an early repercussion in Southern Saskatchewan

AMERY SEES A GREAT FUTURE FOR DOMINION

London.—"I have returned home with a truer perception of what the Empire means, namely a girdle of free nations linked around the globe," declared Lieut.-Col. L. C. M. S Amery, secretary of State for Dominion affairs, speaking of his recent Empire tour, at a dinner given in his honor here by the Canada Club K. B. Peacock, endured London financier, who was born in Glengarry county, Ontario, and lived for some time in Toronto presided

Speaking of Canada, Lieut-Col Amery stated that he knew not what Prime Minister Baldwin's visit there had meant to him and he was glad to hear that a party of 40 parliamentarians were to visit the Dominion this summer

In Canada today," continued the secretary for Dominion affairs, "there was the first great revival of Imperialism which marked the pre-war years. Experience has given us leadership and in the Imperial Conference we calculate to advance the interests or causes in which they were severally especially interested Also in the majority of cases, representations were made in support of reductions in existing taxation, and, coupled with such representations, Governments were urged to embark upon additional services, or provide new institutions, all of which called for large increases in public expenditure and the creation of new administrative services.

"The problem with which all Governments are thus confronted, and which is presented to them every year, is most complex, and it is to be feared that many of these deputations do not give serious enough consideration to it. Many ask bounties for these deputations seem to labor under the delusion that it is fairly practical use,—that Governments have some means of finding money without making it by means of taxation.

"For example, in all Provinces there is a persistent and growing demand that very much larger amounts be spent in the construction of good, all-weather, highways. Once built such roads must be maintained, thus for every mile constructed there is an increased annual charge for up-keep. But coupled with these insistent demands for roads, and to be fair to them, many of these deputations do not give serious enough consideration to the fact that many of these deputations are for additional services which, while undoubtedly desirable, are now beyond the financial ability of the people to meet. In many instances these demands are for services which should be provided by the municipalities. In other words, the Government should spend more and collect less.

"Most members recognize the people of Canada demand the establishment of a system of Old Age Pensions. The Federal Government agrees, and undertakes to pay fifty per cent. of such pensions, provided the Provincial Governments pay the other fifty per cent. Only British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba agree to enter the scheme All parties in the Legislatures are in favor of doing so. Then, in Manitoba, the Government proposes the immediate establishment of an additional tax in order to raise the money wherewith to pay such pensions, and immediately objections are raised.

"In Saskatchewan within recent months the Government has been asked to provide for a free consultative clinic, for a school for the blind and the deaf, for an institution for the care of juvenile delinquents, larger facilities for the training of teachers, extension of the educational system, another sanatorium to combat tuberculosis, a large extension of the road building programme, including the gravelling of roads, etc., etc. The Government proceeds to some extent to give effect to a number of these requests and to assist in securing the necessary funds required, but in doing so it does so in accordance with approval, but immediately a demand is made that the auto licence fee be substantially reduced the effect of which would be to largely offset the increase in revenue to be derived from the gasoline tax, and leaving the Government without the means to provide those very things the people had demanded.

"Referring to the all too general attitude on the part of people, and the interesting demand for "free" services of one kind and another, the Provincial Treasurer of Saskatchewan took occasion in his budget speech to point out that "there ain't no such animal" as a "free" service. Any service if not paid for by the individual must be paid for by the state, and if the state pays, then the money with which to foot the state's bills must be secured from individuals in the mass by way of taxes.

"The responsible heads of all our Canadian institutions and organizations should devote a portion of their time in training for such responsible posts by taking a course in economics.

U. S. STRONG FOR THE ABOLITION OF ALL WARS

Washington, D.C.—An invitation to Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and Japan to join the United States in forming a league to outlaw war outside the League of Nations was contained in the note handed by Secretary of State Kellogg, to the French ambassador, Paul Claudel, for transmission to the French Government.

The United States firmly puts aside French suggestions that the proposed agreement recognizes the right to make war under certain conditions "If such a declaration were accompanied by definitions of the right of aggression, and by exceptions and qualifications stipulating when nations would be justified in going to war, the effect would be very greatly weakened and its positive value as a deterrent of peace virtually destroyed," says the United States note

The note reiterates that the United States stands ready to enter into a separate agreement with France on the subject but wants direct British and other great powers to be included

"If the members of the League of Nations cannot without violating the spirit of the covenant of the League, agree among themselves and with the government of the United States to renounce war as an instrument of their national policy, it seems idle to discuss either bilateral or multilateral treaties which would leave it open to nations to be the judge of their own political policy. The debate between Dewberry Local U. F. A. and Riverton Local took place on Friday, March 2nd at Riverton schoolhouse. The subject was "Resolved that the Dominion Government should have a more aggressive Agricultural Immigration Policy." - A. E. Robson and H. Wood, representing Dewberry, accepted the challenge to uphold the latter local parcel's views and, after a very considerable struggle with the cur through ditto, arrived and met the Riverton men here. The judges acclaimed Riverton the winners by a small margin. The debate proved interesting. I. T. Green and A. H. Wood, debating Riverton, spared no pains to demonstrate their points.

Other features of the concert were rendered by D. D. Sherbiby, and a good one-act comedy by Mr. and Mrs. W. Hanson.

Sixteen Years Ago Today

Interesting Items gleaned from the Files of The Vermilion Standard
MARCH 8th, 1912.

March the first was a red-letter day in the annals of Vermilion in the completion of the electric light plant and switching on of the power. Customers were agreeably surprised at the brilliancy and steadiness of the lights and the street lighting was a sight to behold after the long spell of darkness. Besides the seven large lights there are 30 smaller lights scattered judiciously throughout the town, and for the future it will be a pleasure to move about the town after sundown.

VEGREVILLE LEADS IN PLAY-OFF SERIES

Wins from Vermilion 3-0 in Opening Game for Little Three League Title

In the first game of the home-and-home games for the championship of the Little Three (Edm.) hockey league Vegreville won from the home team Saturday night by a score of 3-0. It was one of the best exhibitions of hockey ever seen on Vermilion ice. The ice was fast and the play was full of thrill after another. Vegreville won by hard work and an air-tight defence backed by Ivy in goal playing the best game of his young life.

It was not until within five minutes of the first half that Weber made his rare rush from home territory and dented the net for the first goal.

The second period saw a little more open work. After ten minutes Vegreville carried the disc down the ice, and a melee followed over the big boy after receiving a pass from Weber. The disc bounced out Mead and back to Ivy in the net for the second goal. In this period Vermilion was clearly outplayed and outshated.

In the final stanza Vermilion tried hard to find a break and overcome the odds then standing against them. They forced Vegreville to play to defend their lead, but Ivy and his defenders successfully withstood the attacks. With the play in progress for about ten minutes, most of which was on Vegreville ice, Lee broke away and making a long shot from centre, scored the third score, at which it stood when the bell rang and the game was over.

Ivy in goal for Vegreville handled the game. Over 600 people rested from the boards.

VERMILION COLLEGE DEFEATS MINBURN

MINBURN, March 6—On Saturday evening Minburn witnessed a fast, exciting and hard-fought hockey game when the senior team met the Vermilion College team on the Minburn ice. At the end of regular time the game was a draw 1-1 and the overtime resulted in another draw 1-1, making the score at the beginning of the game 2. Park, Minburn centre, received a bad cut about the eye from the puck, which necessitated unfavorable re-arrangement of the team. This was the third meeting of these rivals this season.

PROMINENT OLD-TIMERS LEAVE FOR NEW HOME

Honored by Friends Throughout the Neighboring District

On the evening of February 25th over one hundred old timers assembled at the Queenie Creek school house to bid God-speed to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Doupe on their leaving the district to take up residence near Red Deer. After a very enjoyable dance instigated in by old and young alike, a dainty lunch was served by the ladies of the district. Mr. C. H. Thompson was then asked to make the presentation. On arising, the speaker reminded those present of the good work that had been done by Mr. Doupe in connection with the U.F.A., the Co-operative Wheat Pool, and as President of the Alexandra branch of the Ive Stock Pool. He also spoke of the valuable services rendered by Mr. Doupe as councillor for Division 5 of the Municipal District of Mellaria, and said that he would be long remembered further afield by the cowboys who assembled from time to time at the old stampede grounds, as he had been one of the founders and most active workers of the Queenie Creek Stampede Association. He then presented Mr. and Mrs. Doupe on behalf of their many friends, with a well-filled wallet, together with the good wishes of all for health and prosperity in their new venture. In a few well-chosen words Mr. Doupe very feelingly expressed their heartfelt appreciation for the token and good wishes extended to them by their friends of the community.

Mr. David McPhee then spoke of the loss to the district of such public spirited citizens and pointed out that although it was our loss it was Red Deer's gain. Those present then all joined hands and sang "For he is a Jolly Good Fellow" after which a short program was rendered by local talent. The evening was brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne" which marked the call to distant fields of yet another old-timer after toddling twenty-two years in the district.

HOLLIDAY — AMBURY

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Ambury, Calgary, when their eldest daughter, Bessie A'nn, became the bride of John Wilson Holliday, of Chamberlain, on Wednesday, February 15th, 1928.

The bride looked very charming in a dress of white crepe de chene and carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. She was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Jean Ambury, and supported by Mr. Edwin Nicholson. After a dainty breakfast, the happy couple took the afternoon train to Vermilion and motored to their home in Paradise Valley.

The people of the district join in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous married life.

JUVENILES IN BATTLE ROYAL AT MINBURN

Our Juvenile hockey players invaded Minburn on Friday last but were successfully held at bay by their Minburn rivals to the tune of 5-4. The score read 1-0 against the local youngsters at the end of the second canto, but Kirk Corson took off the goal posts and took the centre ice position, and from then on a different story was told, young Ken tallying five times. However, Minburn managed to shove over a winning counter near the end of the period.

Despite the difficulty of travel, the church was filled with friends and acquaintances, and the display of beautiful flowers was real testimony of the love and respect in which the deceased was held in the neighborhood. Besides her husband, who is well over 80 years of age, two sons are left to mourn the loss of a very loving mother.

The flowers included a wreath from the "Hindmarsh Family", a beautiful pillow of flowers from "Old-time Friends"; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. E. Hubbard; wreath, A. L. Oratorial Contest At Mannville

MANNVILLE, March 5.—A pleasant entertainment took place in the Union church, Mannville on Monday, March 5th at 7:30 when a large crowd of townspeople gathered to hear Joan Arnold and Doris Taylor give their addresses on "The Future of Canada" in the international Oratorical contest. Joan Arnold was the first speaker, and she touched on the pioneer days in Canada, the present prosperous condition of the country and particularly on the west, and gave a bright prospect for the future of Canada, ending with Tennyson's lines "And I dipt in to the future." Judging by the continuous loud applause given by the crowd the address was heartily appreciated by all present.

The second speaker was Doris Taylor of grade ten. Doris had a very easy delivery and clear enunciation a her address. She showed careful study and preparation and the applause again continued for several minutes showing that her address was appreciated in a like manner.

While the three judges were summing up their remarks, which took considerable time, several musical numbers were given: a solo by Mrs Thirel; duet by Meadames Colbert and McKinnon, and several solos by a group of high school girls.

When the judges returned their leader gave a few remarks on the difficulty they had in deciding, as the two students had done so well and were very evenly matched, but that they had decided that the winner was Doris Taylor. The winner received many handshakes and congratulations at the close of the entertainment. There were many expressions also of the pride that Mannville should have in its youthful speakers.

Principal Wm. B. Poapo was chairman.

The Vermilion Curling Club take this opportunity of thanking all who donated money and prizes to the annual bonspiel, and helped in any way in making it the great success that it was. How The Sun Life Made Thirty-Eight Millions Profit In The Year 1927

Participating Policyholders Receive Ninety-Five Per Cent. of Profits—Dividends to Policyholders Again Increased —Company Seeks Legislation to Maintain Canadian Control.

Montreal March 10 - The phenomenal record of the Sun Life Assurance Company is an inspiration to all Canadians. Its income of $102,000,000 is already equal to 7 per cent of the total revenue of the Government of Canada in the year 1910, and $36 for every man, woman and child in the country. Not many corporations anywhere can report such figures. The President's intimate, practical comments at the annual meeting explaining how these huge profits were made were illuminating.

Of even greater moment, however, were his statements regarding the danger that this great Canadian institution may pass from Canadian control. Some months ago Mr. Macaulay referred to the activity of Wall Street in the purchase of Sun Life shares, and cautioned policyholders and shareholders of the necessity of maintaining control of the business in the hands of those who had founded and developed it. Canadian management, Canadian investment, Canadian control, he declared, had established these misgivings, and he was glad to say that the Sun Life directors are seeking legislation at the present session of Parliament which is intended to effectively meet this danger.

Precautions to Maintain the Company Canadian In Character.

In concluding his address to the shareholders and policyholders the President made the following reference to the matter:

"There is but one road on our horizon. Our success in the past has created a remarkable demand for our capital stock. We have been advised that the great Canadian risk, always remain strictly Canadian, and that we will not in particular that the investments shall never come under Wall Street domination. A few months ago we have introduced into Parliament what we considered to be proper approval. It will be passed, it will give us the protection we consider necessary, and I think we can rely on the whole-hearted sympathy and support of the directors of our sister leaders and policyholders here present and of our policyholders throughout the country."

The meeting unanimously approved of the measure in question. It is important also to note that Canadians are the interests at stake is the interest in the prosperity of the Dominion, the meeting of the Company.

In moving the adoption of the report, President Macaulay said:

"You gentlemen have been so accustomed to our presenting every year a steadily improving record over previous records that you are prepared to hear another report of that description. I am quite sure, however that not one of you in his most optimistic mood expected a report more favorable as that which you now have - one record for 1927 which is a remarkable one. Let me touch on the main features:

Remarkable Growth, Strength and Profits.

"The new assurances completed amounted to $329,000,000 an increase of over $42,000,000.

"The amount in force at the close of the year had risen to $1,467,000,000, and at the present moment is well over $1,500,000,000.

"The income exceeded $51,000,000 an increase over 1926 of $5,000,000, the year of $23,000,000. To me this is very impressive. Not only that but this item passed the one hundred million mark but the increase alone is equal to what was the total income but eight years ago, which had been a cumulative of forty-nine years of growth. A fit company with a record to become greater than our increase would be an impossible corporation.

"The assets have increased by $256,000,000 and now exceed $400,000,000.

"But the most wonderful of all these wonderful figures is the amount thereof as profit, $38,000,000. How great this figure is may be judged from the fact that the earnings of the previous year, in which we set up a record, were $29,500,000. It would be hardly responsible in stating that since our earnings of future years will be on a much more conservative basis, and that we have therefore set aside a larger part of this sum to provide for future contingencies

Large Surplus and Contingency Fund

"Our securities have been valued on a very conservative basis but even then the moderate value we have set aside another $5,000,000 to provide for any depreciation, making the total deduction under this heading $10,000,000.

"We have also set aside the following amounts:

"Another $1,500,000 for unforeseen contingencies raising that fund to $2,500,000. $1,000,000 to provide for possible greater longevity of annuitants and pensioners, raising that fund to $1,250,000 to increase our reserve on original business besides the writing off another $1,000,000 on our Head Office and other buildings.

"We have distributed $11,100,000 in profits to our policyholders, and the profits which we have also set aside are the interests at stake in the control in the prosperity northward in the annual meeting of the Company.

JESUS FEEDS THE MULTITUDES

Golden Text: "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to Me shall not hunger, and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst."—John 6.35.

Lesson: Mark 6.31-44; 8.1-10.

Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 34, 11-16.

Explanations and Comments

I.—The Need For Rest, verses 31, 32.—The disciples returned from their mission tour flushed with success, but they were physically wearied and needed rest. They needed likewise an opportunity for taking counsel with their Master. Neither rest nor communion was possible, however, so great was the crowd that continually came and went about Jesus. They had no leisure even to eat, Mark tells us. "Come ye yourselves apart into a desert place, and rest a while," Jesus bade. Accordingly, they set off in their boat with for an uninhabited spot (for the literal meaning here of the word desert), on the other side of the lake.

There come times even in the lives of all Christian workers when they need to heed this counsel of Christ's to go apart and rest a while. Rest is not the regular program: it is only the temporary adjustment. Work bodies and weary brains must be given a chance to recover if they are to do effective service. He maketh us to lie down in green pastures: he restoreth our souls. Dr. Jowett recalls how Dunbia after a time spent in some great art gallery found that his eyes were irritated and confused by the changing colors and the accuracy and sanity of the artistic discernment were lost. To correct all this he carried in his pocket a tablet of neutral hue, the restful color of the meadows, and gazed upon it until the irritation subsided and again the keenness of his perception was restored. "In a certain sense my eye went apart, and in the retirement he found a new competency for his work. And surely in our own day, when the rush of life is so fierce, when everything is so intense, when our besetting interests are so many, we need to go apart and be refreshed. It is imperative that we get apart and correct our moral and spiritual vision. The strain impairs our power, and they need the rest of the neutral tints."

A Power Of Its Own—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has a power all of its own. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment known. Its uses are innumerable and for many years it has been prized as the leading liniment for man and beast.

Few people realize that their neighbors could b worse.

Why suffer from corns when they can be painlessly removed out by using Holloway's corn Remover.

A woman stated in court that she had never in her life listened to a word of gossip. It must be dreadful to be deaf.

A man has less trouble watching his step when he has been hoeing his friends in line.

Demonstrates How Camera

Spark Instead Of Shutter Gives More Exposures Per Second

Moving pictures taken at the rate of 20,000 exposures a second showing a bullet apparently barely moving as it shattered a glass bulb were shown to a meeting of the Optical Society of America.

Professor Alexander Klemin, of New York University, who gave the demonstration at Columbia University, said the camera used was similar to an ordinary one except that a spark vibrating with high frequency took the place of a shutter.

Pictures of a whirling aeroplane propeller, taken at the rate of only 2,100 a second, showed the blades turning at a rate not much faster than a slowly revolving door.

The pictures of the bullet shattering the glass bulb taken at the high frequency exposure showed the splintered glass apparently falling through air so slowly as to be hardly perceptible.

It was strange for Arthur Warner, after all his lonely years, to be sitting here talking so intimately to a woman who was to him a complete stranger, and receiving from her confidences which she had given to no one else. He thought of his own lonely house—so precious to him, so eagerly acquired, so patiently worked for—how a woman's touch would have brightened it and graced it with her presence. She was so calm, so brave, so gallant.

When their eyes met Helmi smiled encouragingly at him, though sadly too, as if the tears were not very far away. Were they tears because he was going?

"Helmi," he said, "we are both facing the eternal things of life, and it draws us together. We are facing the hardest things that men and women ever have to face. Whatever will be to give life, maybe at the expense of your own. Mine is—God forgive me—to take life. Are you afraid?"

Helmi shook her head. "No," she said, simply, "I believe in God,—I believe in Him. I believe in Him. Every day I say my good words. I learned them in His house. They are, Christ's truth; Jesus' truth; Mary's truth; God; Serve others.' Then I say, 'Please God, bring home my Jack.' It is good to pray, Mr. Englan, when one is afraid."

The first ragged whistle of the train came booming down the valley. "Tell me your name Helmi," he said, "I want to say good words for you and for your Jack."

Helmi took his hand and impulsively kissed it. "Helmi Isoran," she said, "I am glad you will say good words for my Jack. Maybe you will see him over there- I know he will get."

"I hope for your sake that it will all be over when Jack comes home at Christmas."

He was standing up now with his cap in his hand. The train was whistling again as it came slowly down the grade. Helmi looked at him reverently it was not merely a lonely, weather-worn homesteader who was standing before her; she saw a brave man who was willing to give every thing he possessed, not excepting life, for the cause of human liberty, and on his face she saw the unmistakable majesty which belongs to those who are appointed to die.

Arthur Warner bent over and kissed her shining hair "Good-bye, dear Helmi" he said.

"Good-bye, God bless you, dear Mr Englan"

When Arthur went out he met Mrs. McLean coming in. She had come precipitately to ask Helmi what she had done with the tape-line.

CHAPTER XX.

It was in December that Helmi decided to delay no longer, she would go to the city Jack had got the two to go his mine boss and got the two hundred dollars which was due on his wages. She had not needed it until now, and had felt it best to leave it with him. She had hoped that Jack would be home to her before this, and then he could go himself. Helmi had secured seventy-five dollars from Mrs. McMann, too, and she had often imagined the proud look which would come to Jack when she would hand him the fifteen five-dollar bills in the pocket of her black valise. Helmi knew what she was going to buy for Jack. Had she not marked things in the catalogue? But the days had worn wearily on and there had been no word from him, and hard to keep from crying, but it must be all right—God would not let her down like this.

The Blue Book was a comfort, too. It was so full of happiness. The Blue Book was one everything would come out right. She wondered if the people who wrote the Blue Book ever had to face such a time as she was in, and stay so long. She had found the Blue Book was right in what it said about prayer. She had prayed much time with God. Helmi had been happiest in her little garden, every sad thought she could unload herself. All the summer evenings she had worked there until it was so dark she could not see, and every day and thoughts came to her then.

Helmi took it as a sure sign that Jack was pleased with her when he explains grew so beautifully and the half-storm which broke windows in April of this year did not hurt the little garden at all. Helmi was proud of her garden, too, because it was the first garden she had ever had, and also because the women said nothing would grow in that way her beautiful letter, because the cabbage and carrots and beets were something of a triumph But best of all was the square in the middle, where stocks and asters and nasturtiums grew. Every day there were bouquets from this garden for the Long Mines and boarding-house, and although they were nothing like the flowers which Mrs McLean gathered in the woods of Lincoln, Nebraska, either in color size or perfume yet even Mrs McLean admitted they were very nice flowers as flowers go in Canada. Helmi did not mind what Mrs. McMann said, and she wondered sometimes if they were wonderful flowers. The mountains had looked down upon her in her lonely old manner, she knew they were pleased.

There was no dearth of praise among the men, who were glad to have fresh instead of canned vegetables for their meals, and twenty-four dollars was the sum Helmi had in the pocket of her black valise to prove that her garden had been a success Even after the vegetables were done the asters and stocks flared and bloomed, and Helmi hoped that by some chance Jack would come to see the asters and stocks flared and bloomed, and Helmi hoped that by some chance Jack would come to see them in the sunshine of her flowers. They seemed to grow more showy and brilliant as the night frost grew severer and nearer But every night, while she slept, the frost slipped down the mountain, without a sound, and laid low every stalk and leaf and bloom in her garden, and having done its work went back the way it came. The morning sky was blue and bright, the sun was warm, and playful Bille breeze turned the dead flowers over, just to be sure that they were dead indeed. When Helmi came out and saw the work of the night she wrung her hand—but only for a moment. That day she raked the dead stalks into a pile, and she burned them when they were dry and dug the garden for her next year's planting.

Helmi had not yet bought herself to ask for the two hundred dollars Jack had left. She wished the timekeeper would give it to her without asking for it, but the days were so long and she knew she must go soon. She would not let Mrs. McMann or anyone think that she was grieving or distressed. Jack had told her that the greatest thing in married life was to be cheerful and to keep a clean house and a gaiety she did not feel, which quite deceived the "elite" lady.

"It was positively indecent," she said to Mrs. Sannel from Jim Dawson Mrs. Dawson told me. Well, of course, I don't expect much from these foreigners, their standards have never been like ours. Mr. McMann thinks Helmi a little silly, but it was the proud Weekes way!"

Helmi waited until the middle of December, when Jack's letter came. Then she knew she must go.

Helmi went to the timekeeper's office. The same answer was inevitable. "Not yet, Helmi." he said, simply, "I believe in God,—I believe in Him. I believe in Him. Every day I say my good words. I learned them in His house. They are, Christ's truth; Jesus' truth; Mary's truth; God; Serve others.' Then I say, 'Please God, bring home my Jack.' It is good to pray, Mr. Englan, when one is afraid."

The timekeeper looked at her and embarrassed "I'm awful sorry, Helmi." he said, "but I can't do it. I'm responsible, and I've been a mistake here once place. There was two hundred dollars owed to the Long Mines, and a man came one day with a letter from Jack and I gave him the money. He said he was a friend of Jack's, but he found there were some who he needed. It was about a year after Jack left. If I'd known Jack was in order here, if you would forgive me. You see, I didn't know you were his wife. If I'd known anything I'd have refused this fellow, but I had the order and I couldn't very well do anything but pay it. Forgive me."

A Lady and a Diplomat

Difference Between Them Is Defined By U.S. Minister

Hon. William Phillips follows the methods of the public men of his country who provide at least one funny story to a speech. In paying tribute to Canadian women's organizations at the Women's Canadian Club reception in Toronto, in honor of Mrs. Phillips and himself at Chan Lions, the U.S. Minister declared he could never say "No" to them. That reminded him of the story in which he quoted the difference between a lady and a diplomat:

"A diplomat says 'yes' when he means perhaps; but when he says 'perhaps,' means no; and when he says 'no,' he is no diplomat. On the other hand, a woman says 'no' when she means perhaps; says 'perhaps' when she means yes, and when she says 'yes' is no lady."

Seek New Variety Of Wheat

Wheat With High Degree Of Resistance To Stem Rust Is Desired

The production of a variety of wheat combining high yield and good milling characteristics with a high degree of resistance to stem rust, is one of the most pressing problems at the present time according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Careful consideration is being given to crossing assistance in new varieties and strains developed by the Dominion Experimental Farms. New varieties of Agricultural crossing of the medium of artificial crossing of carefully chosen parent varieties, the crossing being carried chiefly at the Central Farm at Ottawa and to the Rust Research Laboratory at Winnipeg.

MISTAKES MOTHERS MAKE IN CARE OF LITTLE ONES

Many mothers give their children such foods as candy, cake and pie, and say proudly that their babies "eat everything that grown up people do." This is a mistake. Candy is certain to bring on indigestion and take the appetite away from the child for the little one.

Other mothers administer harsh cathartic purgatives which in reality irritate the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels and at the same time weaken the children with all medicine.

An absolutely no meat should be given to a child until it reaches the age of 18 months, and then only approved by the doctor. Beef juice is all strong digestionable oils and powders such as salts and Fruit-a-tives or Fig Tablets given instead.

Fruit-a-tives (Fruit-a-tives especially) made for little ones. These are pleasant to take, and contain all the valuable safety from the medicinal properties of fruit juices. Children love them and indigestion breaks up colds and simple ailments vanish. Starting off to fresh eyes. Then air, still by medicine, the doctor's fee. Send 25c (stamps accepted) to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ogdensburg, N.Y., for a box of Fig Tablets. Sold by druggists everywhere.

The Palace Of Augustus

New Excavations on Palatine Hill Are Expected To Reveal Treasures

The new excavations which have been staged in the Palace of Augustus on the Palatine Hill are expected to reveal many treasures. The work is being carried out by the Italian Government, and it is hoped that the results will be equal to those obtained in the Forum.

Already nearly one-third of the Palatine Hill has been excavated, and the remains of the Palace of Augustus are now being uncovered. The building was adorned by marble and bronze statues, while the walls were decorated with paintings of flowers and birds. Many of these paintings are still in good condition, and the colors and tints are as fresh as when they were painted.

The Standard has received an interesting letter from Tom Hobbis, ex-while Vermilion old timer who resides now in the Pacific coast with his family in Ocean. Tom is now settled at Burquitlam, near Westminster, where he has gone into the poultry business and which he says does not look very promising at present. Producers receive 25c per dozen extras, but feed is very high in price. Unemployment was quite noticeable and the Brunette Lumber Mills, which circled down this winter, have 500 out of work. Talking to one of the large feed merchants, Mr. Hobbis was informed that they got their best oats from Vermilion, Alberta being superior to what they had been getting from the South, and that it was spoken of as a good quality by the Coast. Mr. Hobbis says that Mrs. Hobbis found a small nugget in one of the turkeys that they shipped out in the Coast.

Canada's Future

Canadians should take a big view of their country and its future. There seems to be nothing narrow or small in their conception of the Dominion present or future, but rather our vision should be broad, large and courageous. The individual man who permits himself to look only on life through the spectacles who can foresee no early possibility of success ahead because of the failure in the past is not the type of man who will ever make a success of anything, that is a failure. And what is true of the individual is equally true of a nation.

The early days of Canada's existence are familiar both in public and private life of companies. Canada suffered as a province of history as a confederated unit with the United States, as it is to-day. Western Canada and Canada with its rich heritage of fertile prairie land, has been developed and settled more rapidly than the United States, as it has to contend as a whole unit, for a merchant controlled one year in business and with five employees to compile a that its business turnover would exceed eight. That of another merchant with a business of many years standing and with five employees ten times as large. Yet many people persist in saying that Canada to-day with the United State of today, instead of repeating itself, will follow the United States when that country was of the same age of development, namely the same population.

A glaring fallacy in the above statement is not shown as given, the latter the advantage, but the difference in which each is composed of. Canada and the United States at the same age or with an equal population. Even existing full and ample all-round for changed conditions resulting from science and invention discoveries and advancements of all kinds, the contrast is decidedly and greatly in Canada's favor.

For example, it was not until the United States had a population of seventy millions of people that its trade reached the figure which Canada now enjoys with a population of [illegible]. When the United States had a population only [illegible] Canada today. It did not cut into [illegible] world figure. It was not a factor in the world's trade, or in the world's commerce, rather it was engaged in the lowest rung of its own trade development and would have been just as reasonable to decry the United States and its future as it is to decry Canada and its future. Even in the older nations of Europe as to the accepted theory and the future because it has not already attained to the stature of the United States.

Young in years as is Canada, it is to-day a real factor in its world affairs it has developed the fishing industry and all other countries in the manufacture of pape [illegible] has become the world's greatest exporter of wheat, it is the third wheat [illegible] of nickel and a factor, year by year of importance as the United States in the production of [illegible] and is not even far behind. For some years past employment has been at present as in the United States and in the last two years has been even better. Canada has losing industries itself to an extent the United States was not able to do until it was many times over [illegible].

Nowhere else in the world are there two nations living side by side, speaking the same language, with the same monetary system, and having similar customs and ideals. Yet there are people who profess surprise that there is a constant exchange of population across our international boundary line, and that the larger and more powerful magnet of the United States should attract the greater number. It would be against all reason and nature if it were not so. Yet we make bold to predict that the day is not far distant when Canada will prove the more powerful magnet of the two, and population will flow from the United States into Canada in a greater and more steady stream than has ever been the case.

Paradoxically many of the very people who deplore any exodus of Canadians to the United States, at the same time object to United States people and capital coming to Canada for the reason that Canada will thus become Americanized. Others object to Canadian capital being invested in the United States or other countries claiming it should be kept at home for investment and development purposes.

In all this is to be seen the attitude of doubt, of fear, a spirit of "little Canada nism," expressive of an inability to stand on one's own feet. It is an attitude with which it was at all general, would inevitably retire the self-reliant, forward-looking youth of Canada out of the country. Such people would do well to throw away their side spectacles and realize that Canada is on the map of the progressive nations of the world to stay, and that she should become in the calculations of the commercial opinion of the Prince of Wales who recently declared "Canada is on the threshold of one of the most satisfying eras of expansion and development ever seen. Exactly how that will take place of us he is not certainly it will occur in the lifetime of many of us."

Sowing New Trade

Most of the imported things that Canadians buy come from the United States But our neighbors are not set satisfied and that U.S. Department of Commerce is opening an agency in Winnipeg for the promotion of the greater sale of American goods in western Canada believing that once into this that both the trade shall be given

To the unanimous national protest against the objectionable practice of persons and institutions in refusing to recognize such a thing as a "Canadian" nationality, the government must pay heed. Machine Preserves Secrecy Over Radio

New Method Has Been Tested and Found Satisfactory

Secrecy in voice transmission by radio was successfully demonstrated by the use of a combination of high and low frequency transformers to distort human speech and jumble it to make it unintelligible to the human ear.

The test was accomplished in a demonstration before a group of engineers, scientists and business men at the City Club, by Sergius P. Grace, vice-president and engineer of the Bell Telephone laboratories.

An electric translating "brain," which is the distinguishing and determingled high and low frequencies, rearranged them in their proper sequence, modulated them and sent them through loud speakers in proper relation, did the trick, and conquered the danger that one may tap a real dyeing with just as perfect results, if you will just use the true Diamond Dyes

NEW STRENGTH FOR ALL WEAK GIRLS

Comes From the Rich, Red Blood Made By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There must be no guesswork in the treatment of pale, anaemic girls and children. If your daughter is languid, has a pale, sallow complexion, is short of breath after slight exertion or on going up stairs, if she has palpitation of the heart, a poor appetite, or a tendency to faint, she has anaemia—the medical name for a poverty of the blood. Any delay in treatment may leave her weak and sickly for the rest of her life. When the blood is thin and watery give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, coupled with nourishing food and gentle outdoor exercise. The new, life-giving blood which comes from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, increases the appetite, stimulates the sound beating of the heart, gives a healthy glow to the cheeks. Mrs. Robert Jackson, R.R. No. 3, Shubenacadie, N.S., praises this medicine for restoring her daughter's health. She says: "When my daughter was nine years old she was so weak and thin that I feared we would lose her. She was very nervous, and going to school seemed too much for her. Often she would have to stay at home for days at a time. At times she would have a very high fever, and the doctor's treatment did not help her. I tried several remedies, but with no good results. One day a friend advised me to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I did so. It was not very long after she began taking the pills that I could see a change for the better. She kept on taking the box for several months, and through them grew into a strong healthy girl. Since then, if a tonic has been needed at our home it has always been Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

The pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Northern Saskatchewan Development

Provincial Government Is Planning To Aid Mineral Prospectors

The new department of industries of the Saskatchewan Government is planning to aid mineral prospectors in the northern sections of the province. In conjunction with the Dominion Government, aerial surveys will be continued, and it is hoped that the whole north-eastern mineral area will have been surveyed and reduced to geographical maps by the end of next year. The department is getting itself in the position whereby it can be of every assistance to the prospector and trapper. At the present time there is very little accurate information of Saskatchewan northern mineral areas. Recognizing that great development can be looked for both in these areas and the western mining areas of Northern Manitoba, the provincial department is speeding up aerial mapping of the territory as well as the plans for its own provincial activities in the coming season. The minister state it is the intention of his department to place its facilities at the disposal of the prospector and the investor. "The miner will be given every possible assistance," said Mr. Spence, "at no cost to himself to develop his prospectors. We will assist him through our experts at the university and do everything possible to place him in the position of developing any proposition which appears to have evidence of successful working out. To the capitalist the department will be prepared to offer assist, in developing water, powers and coal fields and to co-operate in every way."

Rushing Work On Flin Flon Railway

Road Will Be Completed To Mine By Spring

With 1,250 men on the job, work on the building of the Flin Flon railway into Manitoba's rich new mineral area is being pressed day and night.

Seven bridges have been driven, the steam shovel is working at Mile 4 and grading gangs are being opened at Miles 10 and 15. Grading has been completed to Mile 42. Camps have been built, clearing is completed and ties are piling up even at Mile 50. The drag-line is at Mile 50. Ninety teams and four Linn tractors are hauling supplies.

Twenty-seven hundred tons of supplies have been delivered to camps and there is no fear of the railway reaching Mile 31.

Because much of the country is muskeg, the contractors are making the winter work for them and are laying the tracks on the ground. Because of this the steel will be reached the mine and all supplies will have been deposited ready for the laitering of the track when spring arrives.

Curious New Lifeboat

Invention Of Ship's Carpenter Said To Be Unsinkable

A ship's carpenter, after 50 years at his trade, has invented a new lifeboat which he says cannot sink.

It is practically two broad, shallow boats fixed bottom to bottom, so that if one half is capsized the other half is righted. It is said, however, to be practically impossible to capsize it, still more to sink it. In the ends bottom are valves which will let the water out but will not let it in which, your way up the boat is; and there are tanks for fresh water and food which can be reached whichever side the boat may be uppermost.

Birds Make Wonderful Flight

Lapwings Complete Non-Stop Flight Across Atlantic In December

An astounding non-stop performances by hundreds of lapwings that flew the 3,000 odd miles from England to Newfoundland in December gales has just become known. This flight is easily the most wonderful of any recorded in bird life. The lapwing is known in the north of England and Scotland as the "peewit," and its eggs are sold in London as "plover" eggs. It is not the first time that a lapwing had crossed the Atlantic, but never before have hundreds crossed together. Strugglers got across by unknown means, but a flock would have to make a non-stop flight. To realize the inefficiency of their performance it must be understood that only hunger would drive them from their country. Then it is that they must have begun their flight in a semi-starved condition.

For part of the way they would be assisted by having the gale behind them, but it was impossible for them to have such a gale all the way. In the last stages of their marathon flight they must have fought against heavy odds.

Use Better Seed

BY DON H. BARR
(President, Alberta Seed Growers' Association.)

There is no question but that the farm revenues of Alberta would be increased this year by a vast sum if the farmers could only be induced to plant better seed grain. The three prairie provinces last year shipped over four million bushels of dockage to the head of the Lakes. This one largely weed seeds of which Alberta furnished her share and the quantity is undoubtedly increasing very rapidly each year. This dockage is largely controllable and think what a loss it means in threshing bills, haulage and freight, all of which the grower pays, to say nothing of the decreased production of the weeds. The reduced yield, for which the weed losses are responsible, must amount to another vast sum annually.

A surprisingly large number of farmers neither clean their seed grain nor treat it for smut. There is small excuse for this neglect, for better attention to these details is not only fairly inexpensive but it is the one remedy that will greatly assist in the reduction of the dockage.

Many will also use clean seed for vitality and germination. Heavy cleaning usually improves both of these factors by eliminating small, weak, shriveled kernels with the weed seeds. If one is bound or forced to use his own seed, too much stress cannot be placed upon the necessity of cleaning it heavily—and a word right here about cleaning may not be amiss. When using the fanning mill keep the lower screen clean and free from clogging. If the right sized lower screen is used it will always clog easily but there is nothing that reduces the efficiency of one's cleaning so much as this one factor. The clogged lower screen forces all of the small weed seeds into the clean grain.

Another great loss is caused by the use of mixed varieties. This hardly always results in the loss of a grade or two when the grain is sold, for no two varieties mature at exactly the same time or have exactly the same milling qualities.

The way to remedy the present situation, to put more dollars into our pockets and defer the spread of weeds in the province is TO PLANT BETTER, CLEANER SEED ON CLEANER LAND.

If you need new your own seed clean it heavily and have a germination test made and treat it before planting. If the need you have to fool with weeds, at your germination or badly mixed with other grains or seeds of other varieties, by all means purchase better seed if you can. Then there is good seed for the future buy a sufficient quantity of Registered seed to grow your entire seed requirements for 1929. Plant this on clean ground and keep on cleaning it heavily and if further disease is found it will have done your part and are bound to reap a rich reward for a very small expenditure of time and money.

Red Cross Reports Busy Year In 1927

With His Honor Lieutenant Governor W. Egbert in the chair, Calgary, the Canadian Red Cross in Alberta, Mr. A. C. L. Adams gave the annual reports of the Division for the year 1927 before a large and representative gathering of delegates from the town and rural districts of the Province.

Increasing understanding of the peace time policy of Red Cross has made the work progress most satisfactorily, especially in the Junior Red Cross Department and in Home Nursing Classes.

Teachers and educators are ready and willing to have Junior Red Cross branches organized in all schools, knowing that by this means the pupils learn hygiene and citizenship in a manner that benefits them for life. The Normal Schools at Calgary and Camrose include in their studies the teaching of Red Cross as part of the ... course. From the standpoint of healthy scholars and a clean classroom there is no better system possible than the formation of Junior Red Cross hospitals in Calgary and Edmonton where over 250 sick and crippled children have been given the best medical and surgical aid.

Home Nursing Classes in Alberta in English and Ukrainian have made great strides during 1927 and every where young mothers are testifying to the value of the instruction. Over two thousand five hundred women have been instructed in the care of the sick at home, in mothercraft and the better care of children. In every class are found women of all ages, from the young bride to the grandmother.

Rural Nursing and Outpost Hospital Service report a very active year's work, with an increasing desire on the part of country women to avail themselves of the facilities of care at childbirth. This has made a decided improvement in the maternal and infant mortality rate, and it is hoped that it may be possible to extend rural nursing service during 1928. Excellent reports were also to hand from the Health Education Bureau in connection with the Radio and the Free Health Package library available to anyone in Alberta who applied to Red Cross, Civic Block, Edmonton

The other contestants were Owen Demarore of the Claysmore school and James Lawrence of Minburn. All the contestants were commended by Mr. Mackenzie on the showing made. The subject of the discourses was "Caleb's Future."

Doris Taylor, the winner, combined numerous strong points with a fine, easy delivery, the combination of the two undoubtedly won her the verdict. James Lawrence, a whom much local interest centred gave her speech in a decided conversing manner, only perhaps for lack of going very far into the future rendering her effort lower than first. James Lawrence, the Minburn entrant, covered the subject most comprehensively, falling only in the manner of delivery.

A Bright Outlook For Dairying

Market For Dairy Products Developing In United States

While the Old Country has been looked upon as the principal market for export dairy products, the experience of the past few years would indicate that it is shifting in the direction of the United States. During the past fiscal year, which ended on March, 1927, the United States took practically one-third of our total exports of dairy products including cheese, milk, and cream. This is an increase of about 23 per cent. since 1919. Addressing the Western Ontario Improvement Association at their annual meeting held in London recently Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner, pointed out that the proportion will be considerably larger during the present fiscal year. The increase is particularly noticed in regard to cream, which is crossing the American boundary not only from Quebec and Ontario farms, but also from the provinces of Manitoba. Overlooking his address, Dr. Ruddick said: "It looks as though Canadian producers are very favorably situated with the great world's market within easy reach of the United Kingdom, and with the largest consuming country in the world next door, a population rapidly increasing its imports and which is now pay a premium on the quality of our products. The opportunity is not know it can with our improved dairying to carry something much more valuable."

Alberta's Big Wheat Crop

Claim Is Made That Alberta Produced More Wheat Last Year Than Saskatchewan

It is contended that Alberta has now for the first time in history raised a larger wheat crop than Saskatchewan. The latest estimate of the North-west Grain Dealers' Association, as furnished by the Sanford Evans Statistical Service at Winnipeg, shows that in 1927 Alberta had 7,273,000 acres of wheat, which, at the average of 27.4 bushels per acre, totals 199,346,000 bushels. Saskatchewan, with 10,999,000 acres, at an average yield of 17 bushels per acre, raised 184,978,000 bushels. According to this estimate Alberta's wheat crop by 12,400,000 bushels greater than Saskatchewan's.

Egg Production Increases

Canadian People Eating 23 Per Cent. More Eggs Than Formerly

The hen population of Canada is in a decidedly healthy condition, according to official reports had before the sixteenth annual convention of the Canadian Produce Association, at Montreal.

The production in Canada has grown by leaps and bounds in recent years, it was announced by the president, H. B. Clemes, Toronto. This increase meant increased flocks of new chicks. Canadian people nowadays were eating 25 per cent more eggs than they were five or six years ago. The only problem the president pointed to be that of exports

Saskatchewan Coal

Expect That Production Will Reach 300,000 Tons This Year

Saskatchewan's output of coal will this year probably exceed 300,000 short tons according to the latest report of the Provincial Department of Trade and Commerce. During the first nine months of 1927, the output of coal in this province reached 204,951 tons, or about two per cent of the total output of the Dominion. Saskatchewan has been employing 100 and 150 men employed in the coal mines. During September there were 112 routine workers and 325 underground men employed.

Alfalfa Coming In Some Lands

Forage Crop To Supplement Native Vegetation

At the present time many ranchers on the range lands of southwestern Saskatchewan and northern Alberta are faced with the alternative of either disposing of a portion of their live stock or growing some forage crop to supplement the native vegetation. In most cases the latter course has been adopted with the result that the production of forage crops has now become a definite problem in the ranching areas. To aid in the solution of this problem the Dominion Department of Agriculture has published a circular on the "Production of Alfalfa On Range Lands Of Saskatchewan and Alberta." It is pointed out in the circular that while the greater part of the range lands are too dry for the successful cultivation of many forage plants, most ranches have at least a small area which is more favorably located with regard to moisture than the rest of the land. Sometimes these areas permit of irrigation from a nearby stream. In some places the watershade is near enough to the surface for deep-rooted plants such as alfalfa to take advantage of the subirrigation offered. On any of these areas alfalfa can usually be grown to advantage. The circular, which may be obtained from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, gives concise information on the growing of this valuable forage plant.

Boon For Glove Lovers

People Can Purchase Odd Ones In London Store

So many right hand gloves are lost in the London underground regularly that a business has grown up in which odd gloves may be purchased to match the remaining one. Forty thousand gloves were left in the underground and tube trains during the last twelve months.

The business figured next in the figures announced by the "palace of lost leavings" as the house where lost articles are ascertained is called. There were 12,000 umbrellas and 500 canes.

The lost articles are kept six months, and, if not claimed, are sold.

Antelopes Large Population

Extension In Mining Activities Means Growth For Dawson

The past season in Dawson has been the most active in ten years and it is predicted that within two or three years, owing to increased mining activity, there will be a larger population there than during the boom days of the late nineties, when gold was first discovered in the Klondike.

Every man who could swing a pick and shovel was working in the Yukon district during the past summer, and as a consequence, they have money enough to buy their winter's outfit and because there is no unemployment they will be able to remain mining.

United States interests are quietly acquiring numerous gold and silver claims in the Mayo-Kesse Hill area and important developments are anticipated in that field soon.

While most of the mining in the Yukon country, so far as production is concerned, is in the hands of placer operations are carried on largely by individuals, the capacities of the hydraulic method in the practice of his profession. It is a problem which has already occupied the attention of the American Medical Association.

Beet Growing Expands

Alberta Farmers Are Favoring Beet Production More Strongly

Taber-Barnwell beet growers have, after considering every phase of the beet industry, gone on record as favoring beet production more strongly than ever. As a result of crop-sharing contracts many settlers have been induced to plant the beet crop. The land is fertile and has made several hundred dollars per quarter section more than it would have if put to other crops. The cost of feed per pound of gain is the lowest on the farm.

Doctors Passing Of Personal Physician

Rural Districts Would Feel It More Than Cities

In a speech before the National Clinical Congress, which was held at New Haven, Dr. Morris Fishbein deplored the passing of the personal physician. Under existing conditions he said, the skilled practitioner and the specialist are being transformed into medical robots. Yet there is advantages of our modern hospital system tend to become out-weighted by the depersonalization of the patient.

Dr. Fishbein might have extended his remarks to apply to the country doctor. Even more than the city, the passing of personal physicians would be a cause for the deepest regret in the rural districts. Yet there is a tendency in this direction. It is hard for country districts to get doctors who measure up to the standards which they rightfully demand, for the type of man who used to be content with a living income is being drawn into the city, lured there, not only by hope of fame and fortune, but by the opportunities for self advancement in the practice of his profession. It is a problem which has already occupied the attention of the American Medical Association.

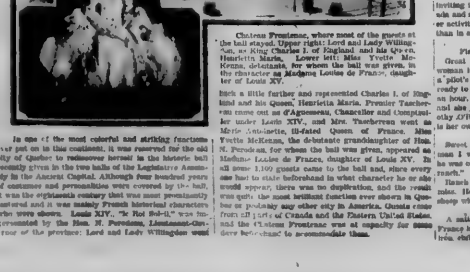
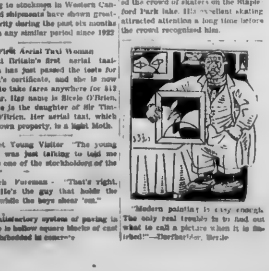
Recreating Old France at Quebec



In one of the most colorful and striking functions ever put on in the country, it was announced that the city of Quebec to rediscover herself in the historic ball recently given in the two halls of the Legislative Assembly in the Ancient Capital. Although four hundred years of costumes and personalities were covered by the ball, it was the eighteenth century that was most prominently in evidence and it was mainly French historical characters who were shown. Louis XIV., "le Roi Soleil," was represented by the Hon. N. Perodeau, Lieutenant-Governor of the province; Lord and Lady Willingdon went



Chateau Frontenac, where most of the guests at the ball stayed. Upper right: Lord and Lady Willingdon, as King Charles II. and Queen Ste Queen Henrietta Maria. back a little further and represented Charles I. of England and his Queen, Henrietta Maria. Premier Taschereau came out as d'Argenteuil, Chancellor and Comptroller under Louis XIV., until Mrs. Taschereau came out as Marie Antoinette, ill-fated Queen of France. Miss Yvette McKenna, the debutante granddaughter of Hon. Sir Pierre Evariste Dubuc, for whom the ball was given, appeared as Madame Louise de France, daughter of Louis XV. In all some 3,000 guests came to the ball and, since every one had to state beforehand in what character he or she would appear, there was no duplication, and the result was one of the most brilliant functions ever shown in Quebec or probably any other city in America. Guests came from all parts of Canada and the Eastern United States, and the Chateau Frontenac was at capacity for some days before, to accommodate them.

MAY BECOME BIG INDUSTRY

Development Of Reindeer In Alaska Would Bring Canada Large Revenue

Acroplanes are now being used to herd vast numbers of reindeer in the big Arctic stock farms, according to Ralph Loman, pioneer of the reindeer industry in Alaska.

"It's a new idea and it's not being practiced regularly, but herding by aeroplanes seems feasible," said Mr. Lomen. "Our best herdsman will not recruit and in two hours accomplished as much as would otherwise have required a week's work of seven men."

There is room for 12,000,000 reindeer in the northern tundra of Canada, in the opinion of Mr. Lomen, who added that such a vast herd would be worth 300,000,000. "It could be done in fifty years," he said. "If Canada started now in a very modest way."

"Up in Alaska we have room for about 4,000,000 head and we hope to have that number within ten years," said Mr. Lomen. "That will mean an annual revenue for our company of close to $20,000,000."

"Development of the reindeer on a big scale in Canada would be a tremendous thing for Canadian people," said. "Besides utilizing waste land it would provide employment for the nomadic Eskimo tribes and give the country a steady revenue from a vast territory that at present contributes little to the national wealth.

"Canada is also fortunately located to export the meat to various parts of the Empire. There would be no competition in this vast market, as the Alaskan producers sell their entire product in the United States, where there must is not sold in competition with beef, mutton and other standard meats, but as a delicacy and extra diet. It has been introduced into England from Norway, but not in large quantities."

Reindeer," continued Mr. Lomen, "are the world's oldest domestic animal and are handled in the same manner from central China. They were introduced into Alaska to provide food and clothing for the Eskimos, and they have been an important factor in improving life morals. Today many Eskimos earn a good living as herdsmen, or operate small herds of their own."

Old Custom Passing

Indian Weddings At Frontier Post Are Becoming Modern

Albert Jay, B.C., which of the few places in Canada where weddings are still carried out by the Indian inhabitants in accordance with the ancient ritual of pre-jubilee days. Such a ceremony was held recently when Peter Antone, Indian farmer, 24 Mission, married James Sewed, of Village Island.

Just before the wedding ceremonies are largely interlaced with Christian rites and about all that remains of the old customs are the feasts and the dances. The festivities opened with two or three Indian dances. The first one was danced by the bride and her maids in front of the bride. This was a dance of gratitude supposedly to signify the bride's joy at receiving the bride into the tribe.

Even the dances seldom form a part of the Indian wedding nowadays. The picture-que feature of the old-time ceremony must have been dropped altogether, nothing of the sort being seen here and feasting there was a stiff-piece orchestra led by the village s-bo-master and a six-liter wedding cake.

Buying Show Canadian Cattle

More than 5,000,000 head of cattle from the farms of the province of Alberta were exported to the United States between July 1st and December 30, 1927, according to the report of the American Consul at Calgary. The shipments include some 12,000 head, comprising stockers, feeders, and butcher cattle. The American markets at the present time are very inviting to stockmen in Western Canada and shipments have shown great-er activity during the past six months than in any similar period since 1922

Runs Into Millions

Exports Show Figured Up Yearly Trade Is Huge

Exports have been busy showing us how much money we waste in a year, says an English writer. Starting with cigarettes, they tell us that out of a population of over forty millions, at least ten millions men and women smoke on a tavern-ge ten cigarettes a day, and waste not less than one-fifth of each cigarette. Thus an equivalent of twenty million cigarettes is wasted daily. At a cost of one shilling for twenty, the yearly waste is nearly £13,000,000.

The habit of putting salt on the side of the plate instead of sprinkling it on food means that one spoonful in two is wasted. As practically all the inhabitants of the British Isles use table salt there is a yearly loss of 50,000 tons, worth £3,000,000.

Waste in matches is amazing. Quite three-quarters of the wood used in the manufacture remains unburnt. Assuming that no more than ten million people each use two boxes a week, approximately 1,000 tons are scrapped every year. If the wood were taken to £20,000.

"Development of the reindeer on a big scale in Canada would be a tremendous thing for Canadian people," said. "Besides utilizing waste land it would provide employment for the nomadic Eskimo tribes and give the country a steady revenue from a vast territory that at present contributes little to the national wealth.

"Canada is also fortunately located to export the meat to various parts of the Empire. There would be no competition in this vast market, as the Alaskan producers sell their entire product in the United States, where there must is not sold in competition with beef, mutton and other standard meats, but as a delicacy and extra diet. Raising Of Bacon Hogs

Improvement Found In Quality Of Bacon Hogs In 1927

In a recent statement issued by the Dominion Live Stock Branch, commenting on the present situation of the live stock industry, it is pointed out that in spite of the present general depression of the world's economic conditions there has been a substantial marked improvement in the type and quality of hogs sold off farms in the United States in 1927. Also the live stock movement in the year just closed was a very appreciable increase in the production of bacon hogs. The general situation is therefore quite encouraging in that it proves the ex-pansion of our swine industry to bear fruit even during a period of market depression. To no small extent this continued improvement in the bacon industry is due to the work done by the Federal Department of Agriculture in providing for the grading of hogs according to carcass quality and in the encouragement of swine breeding. Grading is now carried on extensively in the United States between July 1st and December 30, 1927, according to the report of the American Consul at Calgary. The shipments include some 12,000 head, comprising stockers, feeders, and butcher cattle. The American markets at the present time are very inviting to stockmen in Western Canada and shipments have shown great-er activity during the past six months than in any similar period since 1922

GIVES NO CREDIT TO GOVERNMENT FOR C.N. SUCCESS

Ottawa. — Hon. Hugh Guthrie, former leader of the Conservative opposition last session, discussed the finances minister and the minister of railways with endeavoring to appropriate to himself the credit due to for Lemuy Thornton. They were endeavoring to bask in the reflected glory of the president of the Canadian National, Mr. Guthrie declared. He thought Sir Henry and the board of management of the Canadian National should be congratulated upon the "splendid showing" they had made during the past year. Net earnings of the Canadian National had increased by $125,000,000, in four years —$125,000,000 which Canada would have had to be withdrawn from the treasury of the Dominion. "The government," Mr. Guthrie quirked, "was not entitled to a particle of credit. Sir Henry Thornton and the board were entitled to the full credit for the result obtained."

Also speaking on the budget, W. F. Lemon (Liberal, Cochrane) dealt with results of the 1926 census in western Canada as startling. The prairie provinces had the highest rate of natural increase in population as well as 56 per cent. of the new immigration since 1921. This despite the million dollars spent annually on immigration by federal and provincial authorities and the railways.

F. B. Cahill (Liberal, Pontiac), described the speech of Mr. Guthrie as one of the "eulogies of the dead general party that" had been observed. He declared that the system of lookkeeping whereby Canadian National obligations to the government which interest is being paid are not added to the net debt was instituted by the Conservatives in the days of Sir Thomas White. The land fed hay make over what larger gains than the others but the cost of feed per pound of gain is the lowest on the farm.

Thirty Bills Were Put Through In Final Session

Regina.—With traditional dignity and solemnity His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Newlands prorogued the third session of the sixth Saskatchewan Legislative Assembly, from January 24, thirty three sittings were held during the session, including 11 all night sittings, morning sittings and a Saturday sitting.

The closing ceremony came after a busy busy day during which more than 30 bills were put through the closing stages and passed. One of the last items of business transacted by the House was the passing of supplementary estimates totalling $1,118,-118 to cover expenditure already incurred. These were put through with little interruption, except a question now and again as to how the money was spent. Australian Rugby Team Here

Nothing but praise for the sportsmanship of Old Country people was expressed by the Waratahs, New South Wales, Australia Rugby Team when they arrived in London recently on the Canadian Pacific Steamship Melita. During their nine months' tour of Great Britain and France where they played 33 games with record crowds in attendance many times exceeding fifty thousand, they

Escape Death When Airplane Crashes

Eight Passengers On London To Paris Flight Were Uninjured

London.—Eight passengers of an aeroplane flying from Paris to London had a remarkable escape when the machine crashed in a field near the Lympne airdrome at Kent. Barnaby Van Till Canch Kavanagh, of the Hague, was cut in the face by glass, but the other passengers were uninjured.

Trouble was experienced when the plane reached the French coast, and its speed was reduced. Near the airdrome the left wing suddenly dipped, and the plane spiralled rapidly down to the earth. It crashed and bounced several times after the wing struck the ground. The passengers were shaken all over the place and the baggage tumbled about.

Unconcerned, the pilot, Roger Meury, climbed out of the cockpit opened the passengers' door, and all scrambled to safety, fearing the machine might catch fire as both engines were wrecked.

Later Pilot Maury explained that a valve spring in one of the engines had apparently broken

Banking System Discussed

Government Inspector Says Nothing Wrong With Present Methods

Ottawa.—C. E. S Tompkins, government inspector general of banks, appeared before the House of Commons committee on banking and commerce and submitted to questions by the members. The banking system, so he stated, met the needs of the country, he told the committee. Of course from time to time changes were necessary but he could not say that anything radically wrong with the system.

The views of the Canadian Council of Agriculture with respect to banks and banking were presented by A. E. Darby, director of economic research for the council.

REPORT TELLS OF SEARCH MADE FOR AVIATORS

Ottawa. — Beacon's burning on mountain tops and rockets were used to spread the news of the seeming tragedy all over the North land, and officers of the Royal Canadian Air Force did all that was humanly possible to locate Flying Officer Lewis, Flight Sergeant Terry and their machine "Bobby" when they were missing, according to the latest radio report to reach Ottawa from the Hudson Strait air base at Port Burwell, Ungava.

In a lengthy report of steps taken to find the two Squadron-Leader T. A. Lawrence, of Ottawa, who has charge of the R.C.A.F. detachment in the north, detailed areas covered by aeroplane and dog teams. Every section of Ungava and Labrador within an area of 200 miles was searched. Dog teams with Eskimos were sent out to establish caches of fuel and supplies, and to warn Hudson's Bay posts and Eskimo villages to be on the lookout.

Rumors were kept going from a point in Scotland the Port Burwell base. Smoke flares and distress signals were fired off until this had to be suspended through shortage of fuel and flares.

Squadron Leader Lawrence tells of the part played by Flight-Lieutenants Brian Carl Harvey Peters, D.S.O. and Leach Wellington in the search. Both made special credit is due to mechanics Sergeant Adams and Mountford. Flying Officer Ford manager of the Hudson's Bay Company's post at Port Burwell, Capt. W. Hendel and crew of the 1,500 M steamship Canadian Raider and the crews of the whale boats did their part in the search. Special mention is made of Corporal Hall, who, although he had never driven a motor car before, took charge of the motor transport and it would have been impossible to have done more than he did.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE IS PROMISED FOR BRITISH WOMEN

London.—Stanley Baldwin, the first British prime minister to appear before an equal suffrage meeting, promised a vast assembly of women representing 149 organizations that "as a few weeks" Parliament would grant them complete equality with men in voting privileges.

The declaration was received with frenzied cheering by the women, who had met to celebrate the success of their bitter fight extending over nearly 100 years

"I have selected the home secretary to be the Joshua, who shall lead you into the promised land," said Premier Baldwin, indicating that Sir William Joynson Hicks would have charge of the franchise bill

Agreeing with Disraeli, who was the prime minister on the occasion of the last extension of the franchise to farmer full rights of citizenship for women, the Prime Minister asserted that there were no doubts in logic, justice or expediency to withhold the franchise from one sex more than the

Mr. Baldwin announced that the franchise bill will be introduced in the House of Commons on Monday It will pass its second reading before Easter, and will be completed at the earliest possible date.

Mine Chief Admits Laxity

Hollinger Disaster Due To Order Not Being Enforced

Timmins, Ont.—Charles Williams, Hollingers general superintendent, admitted before the Royal Commission inquiring into the Hollinger disaster that there was a "very bad slip-up" in connection with the fuse for transportation men, when his orders about disposal of powder house rubbish had not been carried out.

Instead of putting the rubbish in the waste pass or silo mixed with rocks in the mine, it had been put in the stopes without any rocks, and as a result had started the fire which destroyed the mine. Fifty-eight miners and Williams could not say who was responsible. Williams said he knew of no one who could give further information when it was suggested the commission adjourn so that it might conduct an inquiry there.

Reward For Eskimo

Suggestion Made In Parliament That Recognition Be Given "Bobby"

Ottawa. "I would like to ask the government if it is willing to give consideration to the matter of rewarding in some form or other the Eskimo Bobby whose knowledge and skill were largely responsible for saving the lives of Flight Lieut. Lewis and Sergt. Terry off the Labrador Coast" asked John Millar, Liberal-Progressive, Qu-Appelle, in the House.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, replied that the full report of the activities of all individuals in the rescue of the two airmen had not been received by the department, as soon as the full report was received the whole matter of reward would be given consideration.

ESTABLISHED 1908.

C. B. P. COOPER, Editor

Vermilion, Alta., March 15, 1928

It is a source of the utmost satisfaction that the Alberta government has provided, in the estimates just passed, for the erection of a dormitory at Vermilion in connection with the school of agriculture. The attendance at the school has shown a rapid increase from year to year since it was re-opened under the principalship of W. J. Elliott and this last year was unable to accept all the students applying for the agricultural and domestic courses, owing to the inability to find sufficient accommodation about the town. The situation had reached that stage where, if the school was to perform its full functions, a dormitory was an absolute necessity, since wide attendance would have to be limited. This, in face of the growing importance and increasing demand for agricultural education, brought about a very serious situation, which the government has seen fit to solve. Their action in this respect will receive the endorsement of the public at large. Of the expenditure provided of some $300,000.00, the sum of $150,000.00 is for the dormitory and the remainder for equipment, water tower, wells and sewerage.

The school board has not definitely decided upon what future action, if any, will be taken in regard to building a new school. Opinions held by members of the board are at variance. A plebiscite and questionnaire is not looked upon with favor by a majority of the board and there is a strong sentiment towards obeying the home of a year. The regular meeting on April 6th will in all likelihood, see the matter disposed of one way or the other.

Two members of the board of the United Church have taken exception to a statement made in the news report appearing in last week's Standard at the recent sale of the former Grove Methodist church building. The statement to which objection is taken is contained in the following words: "... the local Presbyterians were awarded this church by the Property Commission but the United Church refused to acquiesce in the finding...." The gentlemen in question state that this is not the fact, the church never having been awarded to the local Presbyterians. In so far as the editor is concerned, he accepts the denial, having no inside information which would lead him to think otherwise, and if anyone feels hurt because the above was published, he regrets it

EXAM. PAPERS FOR JUNE ARE SCRUTINIZED

Question-Testers Are Checking Efforts of Question-Askers

Thorough scrutiny of the examination papers for the departmental examinations next June is now underway, the department of education having a force of experts, mainly school inspectors, at work on them. The papers, which have been prepared by a number of experienced question-askers are now all in hand, and before they are finally accepted they are subjected to careful inspection by the question-testers. After that they will be printed and again put in the balance, with a chance that some of them will still be found wanting. In due course they will turn up for writing in the fateful mid-summer examinations

Council To Ask For $28,000.00

Extensions to Electric Light Plant

After making a thorough investigation into the electric and power facilities through the rural and hamlets parts of the province, and after giving due consideration to the proposals of the Calgary Hydro-electric and the Mid-West Utilities company, the town council at a recent meeting decided to embark on a programme of its own to involve an expenditure of $28,000.00 after which it expects the town will have a plant equal to that found in any town in the province. The council felt that, after all was said and done, a plant of such type as it proposes to instal will involve sufficient power to supply all the needs of the town for some time to come. At a meeting held on Tuesday evening of this week a by-law was given a first reading to authorize the borrowing of $28,000.00 for the purpose of erecting an extension to the present plant and to purchase and instal the necessary equipment. The money will be distributed as follows: $8,000 for the extension to the building, $1,000 for the purchase and installation of one 150 h.p. boiler; $12,000 for the purchase and installation of one 125 K.W. Fairbanks Uniflow engine and generator, and $8,000 for the purchase and installation of one 100 h.p. Skinner Uniflow engine which is to be connected with the generator in the present plant. The present engine will be scrapped. The first move after the necessary authorization has been received will be the erection of the extension and the installation of the 150 h.p. engine and generator. After this service is in working order then the present engine will be taken out and the new one installed. In this way the service will not be interrupted in any way whatsoever. The council expects that following the installation of the new plant there will be quite an increase in the demand for electric current and power, which it was impossible to supply with the limited capacity of the present plant. It is possible also that the council may make such arrangements with the company supplying the customers that will very materially lessen the cost to the town of the entire equipment. The details of this arrangement have yet to be worked out.

Mayor Palmer is in Edmonton this week interviewing the Utility Commission in connection with the matter and following this interview there may be some change made in the proposed by-law. A public meeting will be held in due course of time at which the proposals will be discussed.

NEW MINING AREA WILL ESTABLISH TOWN OF 5,000

Prof. R. C. Wallace, mining commissioner for Manitoba, in a recent address, said: "We in Manitoba are not sure that we are a gold mining province, but we are sure that we are a zinc and copper mining province. In two and one-half years from now, and speaking only of the development in the Flin Flon district, on this is the district that we in Manitoba think of when we refer to mining development in the province, there will be trains leaving daily from that mines, carrying 60 tons of ore, 94 to 96 per cent of which will be pure copper; 130 tons of zinc, which will be entirely pure; six thousand dollars worth of gold bullion, and three thousand dollars worth of silver bullion. The experimental stage completed, an industry is being developed there today which will mean an investment of $16,000,000, the employment of 1,000 persons, and the establishing of a model town of at least 5,000 population—a town not now existing."

U.S. Tariff Against Canadian Cream

Increase Of Fifty Per Cent. May Go Into Effect Soon

"The United States tariff increase of 50 per cent. or perhaps less against Canadian milk and cream will likely go into effect," said P. C. Armstrong, of Montreal, just back from Washington, where he represented the National Dairy Council of Canada at the United States tariff commission hearing regarding dairy products.

Mr. Armstrong stated that the methods used by the investigators of the commission in making comparative cost studies were not correct as regards Canada and he was resentful against remarks made by some of the speakers at the hearing to the effect that the standard of living among Canadian farmers was not up to that of the United States farmer.

The Least Excitement Made Her Heart Palpitate and Flutter

Mrs. Ambrose Crow, Richberg, Ont., writes: "I suffered for some time and went a bad heart which seemed to be getting worse. I was short of breath, my heart palpitated and fluttered. I noticed a few days after taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills that I was better. I continued taking them and now my heart fails to trouble me. I highly recommend them to anyone suffering as I did."

Control Device For Airplanes Declared To Be "Fool Proof"

A variable pitch propeller, which is to make planes what a gear shift is to the automobile, will be introduced to commercial aviation in the U.S. this year if the plans of W. R. Turnbull, Canadian inventor, are successful Mr. Turnbull, who lives in Rochester, N.Y., but who is staying at East Orange, N.J., talked to New York papermen.

The device has been tested thoroughly by the Royal Canadian Air Force, he said.

Mr. Turnbull is negotiating with New York manufacturers for the national rights to his invention which is covered by patents and patent applications

His method of varying the pitch of the propeller is to control the necessary years by a small electric motor and a hand switch which makes the device "fool proof."

Turnbull, who has been working on his propeller twelve years, said the pitch could be varied to suit different angles to negative angles so that the motor actually would back up, a feature of great value in landing. Mr. Turnbull says his propeller will add 70 to 100 per cent. to the climb of an airplane, thereby making it possible for commercial planes to carry less fuel and more pay load with greater safety and save 30 to 25 per cent. in fuel in long flights.

Diamond Cuts Were Costly

Replacing Three Plate Glass Windows Cost $1,500

Three of the largest plate glass windows in England are to be replaced among the Oxford Street treasures of Messrs. Peter Robinson, Ltd.

The windows, with two others of smaller size, have been studded with a diamond, and as a result are cracked, it is said. The glass was cut completely through.

"It has become necessary to replace the windows," says an official of the Employers' Liability Insurance Corporation.

"Owing to the police regulations the week-end is the only time the work can be done.

"Three of the windows to be filled are the largest in England, each having a dimension of almost 24 feet by 16 feet, and have had to be specially manufactured at a rough cost of £100 a piece.

Pres. Coolidge May Visit Canada

Possibility That United States President May Be In Ottawa This Summer

The statement contained in a United States magazine that President Coolidge may visit Ottawa this summer as a return courtesy for the visit of the Governor-General to Washington last fall, has aroused considerable speculation in Ottawa, says the Journal, in a news page story. It states that the president may lay the cornerstone of the United States Legation in Ottawa. It adds: "There has been no announcement from Washington concerning the president's plans, but it is believed in Ottawa that if he visits the Canadian capital, he will come during the summer."

"Only one president of the United States has visited Canada during his term of office. Warren G. Harding. It will be recalled stopped at Vancouver shortly before his death."

Aviators Helped Materials

Unusual Story Vouched For By Two Paul Bens

If your automobile stalls, hail a aeroplane to pull you out. That's the latest wrinkle among auto aid. The story is vouched for by Gene Shaud and Paul Tourtellotte, of St. Paul.

Dr. R. H. Simonton and S. J. Crowe of Plum City, Wis., were crossing the ice on Lake Pepin, near Stockholm, when their automobile broke through at a shallow place.

A short time later a plane, carrying Paul Ben Simonton, arrived overhead. The aviators were attracted by the two men waving their arms and the plane descended on the ice.

The airmen obligingly hooked up a chain from the plane's tail skid to the automobile and pulled the machine out. They hopped off again and related their story when they arrived at St. Paul.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

WINTER CHOCOPUD

2 cups milk.
2 tablespoons cornstarch.
½ cup sugar.
1½ squares chocolate.
½ teaspoon salt.
1 teaspoon salt.

Mix dry ingredients, make into thin smooth paste with a little milk. Add to boiled milk in top of double boiler. Add melted chocolate. Stir to prevent lumps. Cook 20 minutes. Add vanilla and pour into mobile mould in cold water. Chill, serve with cream or whipped cream.

PUFF-BALLS

1 egg white.
1 tablespoon flour.
½ cup powdered sugar.

Peel small oranges, removing white membrane from outer skin. Beat egg white, slightly, using wire whisk; add sugar, gradually, and continue beating until meringue is stiff and will hold its shape. Thrust a long slender wire skewer through the centre of each orange; rotate them completely with meringue, and suspend them, by the skewers, across a narrow pan, and bake twenty minutes in a slow oven, being careful not to let them brown. Twist skewers gently to remove them. These oranges make a pretty dessert or supper dish.

Testing Paper With Radio

Latest Use Was Accidentally Discovered By Radio Fan

One of the latest uses for radio is the testing of manufactured paper, it was disclosed at the annual paper and pulp convention held in New York.

A radio apparatus on paper machines, W. D. Somerville of Bangor, Me., explained, is used in his mills to test both weight and amount of moisture in the paper.

The instrument was evolved from an accidental discovery made by a radio fan who, in using paper to throw his set out of tune, learned that the thickness of paper and the amount of moisture had varying effects on his dial.

Art Is Dying Out

Curb cutting by hand is an art that is rapidly dying out, like stone cutting and cork-cutter, it is claimed, now plys his trade in London. He has been working continuously for just over sixty years. When a press reporter visited him he picked up a chopper the size of a razor blade and, with it, pecked a piece of cork as fine as an apple rind, "it is as easy as cutting butter," he said. He showed the reporter a picture which he had made, in cork, of Armand Castle, Sussex.

JESUS TEACHES SINCERITY

Golden Text: "Keep thy heart with all diligence; For out of it are the issues of life."—Proverbs 4.23.

Lesson: Mark 7.1-23.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 24.1-6.

Explanations and Comments

I. The Tradition Of the Elders Violated By the Disciples, verses 1-5. Certain Pharisees and Scribes had come from Jerusalem for the express purpose, no doubt, of obtaining evidence which they could use against Jesus. They noted that the disciples of Jesus ate food without first washing their hands, and one day they gathered about Jesus and asked him how it was that his disciples failed to follow the tradition of the elders, for they ate with hands defiled, ceremonially unclean. Jesus answered:

For the benefit of his Gentile readers, who were not familiar with Jewish customs Mark here in verses three and four gives parenthetically an explanation. Before eating the Jews washed their hands diligently (or, up to the elbow, Revised Version). This they did because the hands were seriously unclean, but because they were ceremonially unclean. When they came from the market place where they would come in contact with people whom they regarded as ceremonially unclean, they bathed before eating. They also ate all the traditions as to the washing of cups and pots and brazen vessels.

The Jews "held the traditions of the elders." Dr. R. H. Pfeiffer, of Harvard, calls the story of an imprisoned rabbi who was allowed the most meager amount of bread and water for his daily ration, and who used the water for bathing his hands, instead of drinking it, saying that he had rather die than transgress the traditional law of his ancestors.

The Pharisees is easily awakened in the defense of Tradition. In the Church of Rome the traditions and regulations, e.g., the Pasts and Feasts, or the celibacy of the clergy and the monastic vows, are enforced with a greater severity than the commandments of the Lord the Gospel. The Roman Church, accepting the principle of Jesus, that the real spiritual precepts of men into doctrines to such a degree that the Christian religion is rightly regarded as a danger to the State. A passage from Jesus' words is subversive of Roman teaching."—H. F. Horton.

Banking Work on H.B. Road

Good Progress Has Been Made During the Winter Months

Work has been prosecuted all winter on the Hudson Bay railway under construction from the Hudson Bay Railway to the Pile Finn mining area in the Sherridon district, it is said, and rails have been laid for a distance of thirty-five miles. It is stated that the surface of the line will be completed to Cold Lake, a distance of twenty-five miles beyond the Pile Finn Mine, with the latest standard of construction at that point. The line to Pile Finn is to be completed for operation by December 31.

Bay Railway from Limestone Rapids to Port Churchill has also been carried on during the winter, and good progress has been made in clearing the right-of-way and getting things in shape for an early start by the graders. Work on the harbor at Churchill has also been going on all winter, and the railway's permanent docking accommodation for ships by the time the railway has been completed.

Standard Of Safety High

Comparison Between First Railroads and Modern Airplanes Is Interesting

Considering the short history of aviation, the standard of safety today is very high. Two reports from England, one that it is only forty-eight-five years ago, after an interesting comparison of the safety of railroads at the beginning of their development as compared with the airplane. According to a recent announcement Imperial Airways, Ltd., carried 53,000 passengers over 2,000,000 miles in 1927 without injury to a single passenger.

On June 14, 1842, the London Times stated: "The number of passengers carried on the eight railway lines numbered 10,508, the distance 3,542,326 miles yearly. In the time single passengers were injured, of whom twenty-two were killed."

Idea Was General

Pat Murphy was taking his first flight in an airplane. The pilot was taking him over New York City. When they were about three thousand feet above, suddenly went into a nose dive. "Ha, ha!" laughed the pilot, shouting to Pat. "Fifty per cent. of the people down there thought we were falling." "Sure," admitted Pat, "and fifty per cent of the people up here thought so, too."

The province of Alberta now has a main highway system extending over 3,500 miles and a secondary road system of 11,000 miles, a large percentage of which is standard grade roads.

ALBERTA WOMAN WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Member Of University Of Alberta Teaching Staff Is Awarded Bursary

Miss E. Silver Dowding, B.A., M. Sc., a lecturer in botany, University of Alberta, Edmonton, has been awarded the $1,200 scholarship offered by the Dominion Federation of University Women.

Annually the federation arranges to present a scholarship to the woman graduate who accomplished most and abilities indicate that she would make the best possible use of the scholarship thus awarded for a period of post-graduate studies for a year.

Miss Dowding received her high school education at Calgary, later going to Edmonton, where she attended university. She has been a member of the teaching staff of the University of Alberta for four years, and is regarded by many as one of the most brilliant of the younger members of the faculty.

The nausea that came over Helmi made her very uncertain, but she caught the back of a chair and managed to say, "Oh! it is all right; Jack left me lots of money—but it is very kind of you, Helmi—you know that!"

Helmi thanked him without knowing what she was saying, and got out of the office some way. The little street of houses seemed to be all in a dull reddish haze, staring and pointing at her, voices whispering and mocking. The mountains were closing in on her as if they would fall and crush her. She realized nothing except that she must get home, and, at last, she did.

Helmi reached her own house and going in shut and locked the door. She must think! A basin of water stood on the low table. She buried her face in it to try to stop the tears that were burning in her eyes. The heart-cord in her throat seemed to choke her.

"Oh, Aunt Lil!" Aunt Lil!

But it could not be. Her Jack Ivean was a good man God was good. She sought the Blue Book anxiously.

"Child to be a girl and see
Beauty in flower and bird and tree,
To pass through, strong and pure and good,
The gate which leads to womanhood."

She read it all with a heart that grew heavier and heavier. It was not for her at all. She was no longer a girl and was a woman, with a woman's heartache, old as the world, black as night, and deep as the deepest sea.

And with all the hosts of heaven and all the ministering angels around the throne, there was no eye to pity and no arm to save her and one

Yes, there was one. A dog whimpered at her door, and Instinctively Helmi arose to let it in. A very thin and wistful looking cable collie, with a chewed rope hanging from her collar, entered timidly. It was the dog that Arthur Warner had given away and that had been kept tied up by her new owner. In the hope she would forget her old master

Today she had made her escape and found her way to Helmi's door, demanding by her eager looks to know where her master was. Helmi tried to explain in both languages at her command. Then she offered her food, which she refused, still begging Helmi to tell her the truth

The collie made no response to Helmi's attempts to comfort her, and having convinced herself that her master was not in this house she sniffed only one thing, her freedom. She would take to the open road again. She would be on her way. Helmi, knowing what was in her heart, and the hopelessness of the quest, endeavored to keep her, but she knew she was hating her for holding her back from her only chance. At last, with her heart sore for the dog's trouble, as well as her own, she tied a thick piece of linen to her collar, knowing she would break the string with her paws when she wanted to, then opened the door and let her go. She ran straight to the station, whimpering excitedly. From there she ran prying down the track with her nose to the ties.

Helmi watched the poor animal until a bend of the road hid her from sight. Then she turned back into the darkened room sobbing. "Poor dog! Poor dog! Poor Helmi! Poor, poor, lonely girl! Oh, God, help me!"

Helmi heard a horse and buggy the next day and drove down the valley to Beinerman. She would know all there was to be known. She would find out what the magistrate meant.

It was a glorious day of blue sky, with a light wind that blew cool and through the pass in the mountain, roughening the deep pools of the river as it widened into a lake. Helmi loved its cool breath on her hot face. She could not be cast down on such a day! Her courage rose with the wind. No matter what any one thought Helmi told herself again and again that her great fear was that nothing had happened to him—her dear Jack, so white-minded, clean and gentle.

Anyway, she would be brave. Next day was train day, too, and he might come. Twice a week the train came down to Hope from Mine from the north line. Helmi had so often watched it coming in, her heart in her mouth, that she had come to hate it in such days, for during the last few months at the first ragged whistle that came wearily across the valley a sickness of nausea had seized her As she now drew near her destination it came again She knew its symptoms well and their awful philosophy. Was all this part of her punishment? What if it were? Should she be afraid of wrong? But still, everyone who was in the world had come the same way. Surely God would understand and yet, why did he punish women so She sat still a while, letting the horse feed along the road to rest it.

The magistrate was at home No, he did not remember her. His memory was failing. Yes, when he had married to Jack Dorran last March? No, he did not remember. He and his wife had been "busy" at the time of the marriage. The magistrate winked knowingly "I think you are mistaken, Mrs. Ivean, I think you are."

Helmi handed him her certificate. "You gave me this paper," she said, in broken English, "when he had married to Jack Dorran last March? No, he did not remember. He and his wife had been "busy" at the time of the marriage. The magistrate winked knowingly "I think you are mistaken, Mrs. Ivean, I think you are."

I think I am buttin' in on the like of that, but I just wanted to put you wise That old fool of a magistrate at Dannerman has been shootin' off his mouth It seems he claims he knows a lot about you. He says Oh, well, I don't need to repeat what he says he is drunk most of the time, and nobody should mind a word he says; but he declares you and Jack ain't legally married at all and he instructed that it isn't legal for him to cut off. CARRIED WIFE TO BED

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Missenye, Ontario. "I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was in bed, suffering so much pain I could not keep enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed. I would be so weak I could not hold the paper for a minute. Friends told me to get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and get it for me. Why, I had taken three bottles I was out on a new farm and I have not spoken a word against it. When I felt any symptoms of pain coming on I take this medicine and it relieves me. I always keep a bottle in the house and have told many a one about it. Any one who wants to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it. I feel I owe my life and strength to it."—Mrs. NEAL BOUCHER, R. 1, Missenye, Ontario.

Hysteria, blues, dizziness, nervousness, and sleeplessness. Do you have this hard time? Don't suffer another day. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition.

Fin Flin Development

Expectation That Mine Will Be a Steady Producer By Fall Of 1929

Steady production of copper, zinc and gold at the Flin Flon mine may be expected by the fall of 1929, it is stated, and not as expected, according to H. F. Phelps, vice-president in charge of operations of Flin Flon Mines, Ltd. By that date he estimates that 2,000 tons of ore will be produced on the mining plant and smelter also.

The capacity of the mill and concentrator will be 3,000 tons daily, and the smelter will be large enough to handle all the concentrate that the mill at Phelan and. This will mean steady employment for 1,000 or 1,200 men at the Flin Flon mine, and the town of the mill will have about 6,000 inhabitants, he estimated.

The final decision regarding the location of the town site has not been made Mr. Phelan was able to say, but it will be somewhere on Lake Manitoba. The mine itself straddles the Saskatchewan-Manitoba boundary.

By the end of the winter of 1928 Mr. Phelan said, it was expected the 921 feet of the shaft of the mine would be completed. At that depth the 921 feet of the shaft of the mine would be completed. At that depth the 921 feet of the shaft of the mine would be completed. At that depth

On Tuesday, March 12, while assisting in developing a well on the homestead of Mr. May in township 48, range 9, Wm. McEwen of Beaumont met his death. The workers had reached a depth of about 22 feet when a board in the cribbing suddenly gave way, the sand pouring in on the unfortunate man. Every effort was put forward to rescue him but not until Wednesday morning did the rescuers succeed in reaching the body. Although the head and shoulders were uncovered, up to Thursday evening the corpse had not been recovered from the well so persistently did the sand pour in.

SHAMROCK TEA

One of the most pleasant social events of the season was a Shamrock tea held at the home of Mrs. I. Wharton on Saturday, March 10th under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of First United Church.

The living and dining rooms were prettically decorated with emblems of St. Patrick's day, shamrocks prevailing. The tea table was very prettily arranged, a large bouquet of pussies in a silver basket around the centre, while at each corner emerald green candles shed their soft rays.

Mrs Hay presided in her usual hospitable manner, and although not a daughter of the Emerald Isle donned in green most graciously in honor of her countryman, St. Patrick. The ladies in serving were green coronets and shamrock sprays.

A musical treat was also dispersed to those present. Both vocal and instrumental ... Mrs H.Hodgkins very graciously sang several Irish songs in splendid voice,accompanied by Miss Agnew, who rendered a number of very fine instrumental.

The Ladies Aid wish to thank all who so kindly patronized their tea.

On says both he and Mrs. Littlewood were enjoying a very good time, but England generally was just a bit too crowded to suit him. He notes the fine weather this country enjoyed since Xmas and figures he owes for all the weather before he left. A lot of rain had fallen in England, at the time of writing Mr Littlewood reports it very fine, real spring weather, but many fields were wholly or partially under water, delaying the farmers. In concluding he says that Bath, where they are staying, is a beautiful and town full of interesting buildings, but chiefly famous for its hot springs and old Roman baths, the latter being in a very good state of preservation.

Success Crowns Second Annual

Artists Entertain

The second annual dinner and entertainment of the Vermilion Lodge A.F. & A.M. took place Monday evening of this week at the Community Hall, and was attended by upwards of 150 people. It required three large tables stretched the entire length of the hall to accommodate all the guests. The tables were tastily decorated with flowers and brilliantly lighted candles all giving the hall a most attractive setting.

At the conclusion of the "feast of good and delicy things," J. W. G. Morrison took charge of the programme for the evening. This included selections of Scottish song and story by the Harry Lauder of Western Canada, Mr. Sandy McPherson of Edmonton. Gales of laughter followed his stories, and rounds of applause the rendition of his wonderful repertoire of songs. Another feature of the evening's entertainment was the first public appearance in this country of Miss. Ruzinsky, one of the cleverest exponents of the ballet dancers that have come out of Russia in recent years. Her movements were most graceful, charmingly executed and under perfect control. It was an extremely rare treat to witness Miss. Ruzinsky's performance. Consecutively during interval small the appearance of "Solomon Levi" and his bankers, and then the fun for the evening started in earnest. Monte Carlo night was complete with every device to separate man and woman from the phony currency that Solomon Impecuniously meted out at an extravagant rate of interest. It was a great night.

The evening's frolic concluded with a short premium of dancing.

Aviator Crashed Into Sea

British Flier Killed While Aiming At Speed Record

Flight Lieutenant S. M. Kinkead, noted British speed pilot, flying at terrific speed, dived into the sea at Southampton, England, leaving no trace, while attempting to break the world speed record.

Lieut. Kinkead, who was a member of the victorious British Schneider cup team of last year, was piloting the same type of machine with which Flight Lieutenant F. N. Webster won the Schneider trophy with an average of 281 miles an hour.

Lieut. Kinkead had made his first trial flight in a Royal Air Force "wonder plane," and then had his second flight after which he declared he was convinced he would make more than 300 miles an hour.

The machine that he used was a super-marine Napier S-3. During the Schneider cup races, Lieut. Kinkead made a speed of 291 miles an hour, the highest rate attained over one lap in the race, but was forced to withdraw after completing the third lap.

The record which the British airman sought to shatter was that established shortly after the Schneider cup contest by Lieut. Nardi Dr Bernardi, Italian speed ace, who flew at 298.94 miles an hour.

Losing Zest For War

Germans Now Prize Peace Says Noted Biographer

Germany, whatever her alliance may be, will do all in her power to remain neutral in any war that may assail mankind in the far or immediate future.

Emil Ludwig, noted biographer, so expressed himself at Orchestra Hall, New York.

It will henceforth prize peace, he said, for these three reasons:

"First, because the royal prerogative to decree war does not exist any more.

"Second, because Germany has the greatest percentage of workmen today who are de-hard pressed.

"Third, because they realize they will be better off by remaining neutral."

Former Field Marshal von Hindenburg, declared Ludwig, will be re-elected president of the new republic as long as he lives.

"There are no symptoms of a return to the monarchy," he said. "On the contrary, since we are governed by the old conservative families, the tendency is to the left. Even the sons of the citizen sees the kaiser's old field marshal swearing allegiance to the new constitution, he says: 'It must be all right.'"

The Feeding Of Babies

From time immemorial it has been recognized that babies thrive best when breast fed, and it is the ambition of every mother to nurse her baby. And since it frequently happens that this is not possible or for some reason or another, the young mother looks about most anxiously for that food which will best take the place of the natural food which is not obtainable. It is essential that the food used should be absolutely pure, that it should contain all the necessary elements of nourishment for the child, and finally that it should be easily digestible. For three generations Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk has been the standby of mothers who have been unable to nurse their babies. It is a feeding infants' food that is used and relied on by used than the combined total of all others. It measures up to the requirements of the infant perfectly, and nearly all babies thrive on it from the first day.

"Do you think I would marry you so a decent boy—a boy of good family—who was foolish enough to think of marrying a foreigner of whom he knew nothing, and of whom the police knew considerable? Look!"

Helmi looked over the edge of the paper. Her own picture stared at her. For a moment she forgot everything but the picture and the words. Her name in mind of Minn Abble's house and his kindly shelter. The picture was taken in front of a garage. She had worn her white widdy and pleated skirt. She remembered now that Mrs. Wynneath had taken it and made—it was one of the rules of the House.

"Helmi Ahlquist, young Finnish girl who escaped from the Girls' Friendly Home. Arrested here a year ago in the worst Chinese den in the city." Helmi reeled, and would have fallen had not Major Gowsett sprang to her assistance and placed her in a chair.

"Do you deny this?" asked the Magistrate, when he thought she was sufficiently revived to speak out.

"No," said Helmi faintly; "that's my picture, but it's all a lie."

"Of course, they all say that."

"Well, at least you can understand that I was not anxious to marry you to young Dorian or any decent man. You have a record, you see, and every magistrate in Canada has a copy of this."

"Odd Jack see this?" Helmi asked after a pause.

"Yes, I showed it to him while you sat outside," said the magistrate, "but he told me he could do nothing. Like every other young fellow he wanted his own way. But now I advise you not to add to your terrible troubles. You have no claim on him—remember that—and he's gone away, I hear, for good. Now, I'm going to send you back to the Home that you ran away from. No doubt they will help you through with your confinement and find a home

The recent mild spell is making the roads bare and muddy in places.

Peter Adams, who left here last December to visit friends in the U. S. A., returned on Friday night over the C.P.R. Welcome back, Pete, we are glad to see you in the district again with your cheery smile.

On the night of Friday 16th, many of our citizens travelled to Streamflow hall to see the play "Across Stick from Possum Crick" and enjoyed the entertainment immensely.

Musical selections between acts were rendered by the Riverton orchestra. The music for the dance was supplied by the Landsvale orchestra. The good weather seems to be responsible for promoting entertainments of this sort, as Riverton people are giving a night of it on the 23rd. A moon trial and some theatricals, both go!

Mrs Lee of Riverton has returned from her visit to relatives in Ontario till our old friends seem to be recruiting at this season. Yes, even the soapbox, and it is rumored that some wild geese were seen a few days ago with white on. Perhaps this is just a rumor

This farm is fully equipped and one of the best in the district, while possession of it will be taken at once by the new purchasers. The deal was handled by W. A. Kilburn, general agent of the Edmonton for the Canada Colonization company

WOLF CUB NOTES.

We were very fortunate in having Mr. Solway, the Provincial Secretary of the Boy Scouts' Association, of Edmonton, with us for our Display on Saturday evening.

For the last month many of the Cubs have been working hard to pass their Tests. Five of them were successful in gaining the 2nd Star for their cap. They are now full Wolf Cubs with both eyes open, as represented by the stars, and are now entitled to try for the Proficiency badges. These Cubs are: Geoffrey Bittenscombe, Douglas Drimscombe, Claud Brennan, Roy Smith and Jack Rembeck. The 1st Star was awarded to Jack Semple, Lorne Munce, Mark Norton, Cyril Horne, Victor Tillett, Leonard Madell and Kenneth Hunt. Mr. Solway pointed out that they now have one eye open and advised them to hurry and get both open so as to enable them to find their way out of the jungle

Having passed three tests successfully these Cubs will not be allowed to let their knowledge grow rusty but they will have to teach the rest of the Pack. The leaders, a Sixer and Second to each Six, are expected to do this, a certain time being set apart at meetings for test work.

Tenderpad Badges and Economist cards were presented to: Ian Dunlevy, Jimmy Hinchey, Abel Chirpaz-ka, Ian Taylor, Don Clarke, Jimmy Gilbert, Billy Dwyer, Stanley Calvert, Alex Markie and George Lake.

The one year Service Star awarded to those having made 50 per cent attendance during the year were then given to twelve of the Cubs—the two original Sixes that were formed on April 1st, 1927

During the evening the Cubs were called upon to demonstrate some of the Tests. The composition of the Union Jack, the four knots (at which Kenneth Hunt excelled, the other two competitors who can be equally as quick falling down through nervousness.

The correct way to make a somersault and leapfrog over another boy — we thought Alex Markie intended leaping over the moon, he shot up so high. Skipping 30 times with the rope thrown backwards

The 2nd Star Cubs proved that they are able to send and receive short messages in semaphore, though to pass this test they are only called upon to read 3 out of 5 letters correctly. Mr. Taylor had passed them in this test the day before.

Marching drill and games were followed by a boxing bout The C. M. heard later that Ian Dunaway objected to having the second wipe his face with the towel, he was afraid the audience would think he was crying! For from crying, Ian stuck to it most fully, though quite severely pummelled Everyone agreed he was very plucky to the finish. "Stand-at-ease, Wifey," in which 3 Cubs took part, caused some amusement It was too bad the third patrol could not muster up enough the powder compact, and the white kid shoes pinched so, she will glad to be ordered out by the irate husband holder Claud Brennan's falsi at the sight of his betrothed a black face was well worth seeing.

Mr Solway spoke a few words to the Cubs, who responded with the Grand Howl and three cheers for Mr. Solway and three for the visitors. All joined in singing God Save the King before departing for home.

Canadians Are Busy

During the years that have elapsed since the war unemployment conditions in Great Britain have been the subject of much discussion, and in no country has greater attention been paid to them than in the United States. Scores of writers and visitors have professed to see in the British situation, with its large army of unemployed, the dole system, and the great strikes and general industrial upheaval and labor unrest, the forebodings of and fore-threat Britain in the world industrial and commercial competition.

But the United Kingdom weathered the many severe storms with remarkable success has steadily increased employment, re-established its great industries on a peace-time basis, balanced its budget, and is paying off its huge indebtedness. Of late years, at least, she has not been subject to criticism from year to year.

Canada, too, has had a hard struggle to re-establish herself following the war though not to the same extent as Britain, experienced a very similar number of years' business depression. Canada was depressed and there was a considerable volume of unemployed. At the same time business conditions in the United States were those of unexampled industrial prosperity, phenomenal production, high wages, and high and the whole world was paying tribute to its accomplishments on the war. As a result thousands of Canadians emigrated to the United States and thousands more sharply contrasted between conditions here and there, the result always to the disadvantage of Canada.

With the end of the war a marked change has taken place and today there is more employment than ever before both in the aggregate and per capita. Emigration from the United States to Canada or Great Britain. In fact, the emigration from the United States is becoming so serious as to call for most serious consideration by the Dominion and the various State Governments.

The Department of Labor at Washington estimates there are four million people out of work at present, and the Industrial Commissioner of New York reports 500,000 out of work in that State alone. Conditions of employment in New York State are officially stated to be the worst since 1921. Senator Copeland declares there are more people out of work in New York City than at any time since 1914.

In contrasting the conditions in the United States with those in Great Britain, it is seen that New York State alone has half as many people out of work as the United Kingdom, despite the fact that the latter has four times the population. Or taking the whole United States with nine and one-half times the population of the United Kingdom, even if we were to assume that twice the number of unemployed in the States as that there are in Great Britain.

While unemployment has been increasing in the United States in recent years while it has now reached a figure where the National City Bank of New York reports 500,000 out of work in that State alone. Conditions of employment in New York State are officially stated to be the worst since 1921. Senator Copeland declares there are more people out of work in New York City than at any time since 1914.

at this year are still higher than for the corresponding months a year ago. Prospects for a continuance of this satisfactory condition are of the brightest.

It seems to make no difference what branch of Canadian activity is analyzed, general improvement is to be noted. The trade of the Dominion is expanding year by year, and in this connection the gratifying fact is noted that the increase in imports is largely accounted for by commodities and indispensable to Canada and were imported for use in Canadian industry. In building construction the value of contracts awarded has risen from $174,600,000 in 1924 to $236,000,000 in 1925 to $272,000,000 in 1926 and to $319,000,000 in 1927.

The steel industry, which has suffered in recent years reports a 43 per cent increase in production for January this year as compared with a year ago. The bank clearings in the Dominion are 25 per cent greater than a year ago. Bank deposits have increased $100,000,000 in two years. The total volume of trade in January this year was the highest for any January in the history. The country Employment for January was 99.5 and for February two months with the base figure of 100 set for the year 1926 when employment figures were first tabulated in this country, and before the automobile was depressed, as it is.

Yes Canada is on the up and more to become increasingly so throughout 1928.

SAME SYMPTOMS IN MANY CASES

An Anaemic Condition Easily Recognized and Calls For a Blood Builder

In most cases of anaemia the symptoms are the same. The patient has sufferer grows pale and is easily tired after the least exertion. The appetite is fickle and the patient loses in weight. Sometimes there are headaches, and often inability to sleep well. As the blood becomes thinner the symptoms become more pronounced and often there are fainting spells. All the shows that the blood is thin and watery, and at the very root and origin of this condition the patient should take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the most reliable blood-builder and nerve tonic known. The success of this medicine is to enrich the blood, and even then it does all the distressing symptoms disappear. Among those who have reason to praise this medicine is Mrs. M. E. Perrault, Hamilton, Ont., who says—"About four years ago I became very much run down, I could not eat, sleep nor rest, and I grew so nervous that the smallest things so weak that I did not have strength to even dress myself. Gradually I grew to move about without help. As I understood my trouble, and became very much discouraged, as I had taken many medicines which failed to help me. One day a friend of mine strongly urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and before long I found they were helping me. Gladly I continued to use the pills until I had regained my health and strength and had been restored to the full vigor of health. Later my daughter became anaemic and was troubled in the same way, and I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the greatest blood and nerve-down people."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Does Not Attempt To Unduly Boost Prices, Says President McPhail

That the farmers' co-operative wheat pool has developed rapidly in the four years of its operation is the decided opinion of A. J. McPhail, president of the pool. Mr. McPhail, who addressed the Canadian Club at Toronto on the pool, said in an interview that last year 200 million bushels of wheat went into the pool. The farmer, he said, gets a price higher for his grain than ever before. "In 1923 the farmer got one dollar a bushel for his wheat; in 1924, the first year of the pool, he was paid $1.60."

Addressing the Canadian Club, Mr. McPhail declared that the aim of the western Canada wheat pool is not to boost unduly the price of grain but to bring it to a level in conformity with that of other essential products.

"I know there is a feeling in some quarters," Mr. McPhail said, "particularly on the other side of the water, that the farmers of western Canada and the wheat farmers of the world have in mind the creating of organizations for the purpose of creating a monopoly of the exportable wheat supply and using that monopoly to unduly raise the price level of wheat. The main objective of the pool, from the financial standpoint, is that my if possible establish the price of wheat at a level that will compare favorably with the price level of other commodities. I know you will agree that it is a fair objective and if we are able to reach that, or even approach it, we will have taken the greatest step ever taken to stabilize the industry of agriculture."

The pools were doing a business of approximately $1,000,000 a day turnover for each working day of the year, he said.

Offer Made For Alberta Railway

New Joint C.P.R. and C.N.R. Offer Now Before Dominion Government

A new joint Canadian Pacific-Canadian National offer for the Alberta-owned E.D. and B.C. Railway, which, according to Premier Brownlee, represents an improvement of approximately $1,700,000 over the railway's former bid was announced in the Alberta legislature.

Under the new offer the two transcontinental lines agree to pay interest on the full amount of $8,000,000 agreed to be paid for capital stock and proportion of the interest January 1, 1929.

The original offer provided for payment of a total of $17,420,000 and this figure continues as the basis for the new offer. However, the previous offer specified that interest payments would start only July 1, 1930, when interest was to be paid annually by one million dollars each year for ten years.

The new offer for the Alberta railway is contained in a letter from the joint telegram from Sir Henry Thornton and President Beatty, under date of March 5.

The original joint offer called for the assumption by the transcontinentals of liabilities for $7,000,000 of debentures stock and $2,420,000 of outstanding bonds of the E.D. and B.C. lines or a total of $9,420,000.

In addition it was agreed to pay $8,000,000 in ten years for the assets and physical properties of the lines. This made the original joint offer total $17,420,000.

The railways department of the province fixes the physical valuation of the E.D. and B.C. lines at approximately $19,000,000.

Trade Could Be Developed With Egypt Says Ashton, Buyer

That horses bred on the Canadian prairies were the type suitable for Egypt was the opinion expressed by Ashton, buy in local remounts with the King of Egypt. While in Canada as Egyptian delegate to the World's Poultry Congress, Ashton they was particularly interested in the horse shipments then being made to Egypt, and thought a large trade could be developed with his own country and Canada. At the present time Egypt makes her horse purchases in South America.

BAYER ASPIRIN

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If the name Bayer appears, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Aspirin—at any druggstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

The fire in the west end school, while a most unfortunate occurrence, brings the matter of a new school temporary quarters secured in the gymnasium will enable the board to carry on until the midsummer holidays only and it was indeed fortunate that these premises were available. One thing is demanded on the part of the school board and that is that they take immediate action towards providing the extra school accommodation that is required without loss of time.

A piece of commendable work has been carried out by the public welfare committee of the Vegreville board of trade in the mailing out of 2900 circular letters, advocating the cleaning and selection of all seed grain. One of these was addressed to every farmer in the municipal district of Norman, in the municipal district of Patricia, through the co-operation of the secretaries of the two districts mentioned. Further field distribution was effected through postmasters and banks at Hairy Hill Two Hills and Whitford. Altogether 15 townships were circularized.

As a full report of the doings at the gathering of the Cube in Community hall on Saturday evening is given in the Cub News this week, it is but the intention to make any extended reference in our open news columns. The evening opened by itself to the two hundred odd people in attendance and the performance of the youngsters under the capable direction of the Cubmaster, Mrs. Hamilton, was a real inspiration as well as a revelation to everyone present. It was only a short year ago that the Cubs started out with two Sixes, since grown to five Sixes. It was a proud and stirring sight to witness each Six march into the hall from the anterooms and take up positions, and they are made up of a splendid bunch of little chaps. The address of Mr. Solway, provincial commissioner of the Boy Scouts, contained many pertinent remarks very helpful to parents and full of interest for the boys. He expressed great admiration for the manner in which the Cubs had acquitted themselves and paid a well deserved eulogy to the Old Fellow and the leaders round who the work had accomplished so much. He stated they were having a pageant in Edmonton on May 24th next and besides sending the troop of Boy Scouts, it would be a delight to have the Cubs there also. Scoutmaster Shanks pointed out that it will be possible to have the visit of the Boy Scouts at least to participate in the pageant.

Reported Plane And Two Bodies Found In Maine

DASHED AGAINST MOUNTAIN

BROWNVILLE, Maine, March 21.—J. Kelly, of the Pleasant River Pulp company hour here, has been requested by an official of the Canadian Pacific railway company to send men to Whitecap mountain where two bodies and wreckage of an aeroplane were reported found, he told the United Press today. Kelly said the request was made after the reported sighting of wreckage in the woods on the face of the mountain, 18 miles from here by a Canadian government plane.

A party of ten men were preparing to leave for the mountain at noon.

ST. JOHN, N.B., March 21.—A report that Capt Hitchcliff's plane with the aviator and Hon. Elsie Mackay, had been found crashed on a mountain side about 30 miles northwest of Brownville, Maine, with both aviators dead in their seats, started this city today about noon. The report came simultaneously from railway service wires and commercial telegraph lines. A report from Greenville Junction at 1:30 on long distance telephone stated that the persons responsible for the story were not sure whether it was a smashed plane they saw or a timber cluster. Flaherton detectives attached to the Greenville railway service are investigating.

Steady Development Is Seen In Petroleum and Natural Gas Resources Of Western Canada

The year 1927 has seen steady progress in the development of the petroleum and natural gas resources of Western Canada, according to a statement issued by the Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior. A review of the operations carried on in the various fields in the province indicates that several of the earlier reported fields have already proved their worth, while important additions have uncovered new and promising oil-bearing areas. The year's operations were marked by great drilling activity and although the actual footage drilled was not as great as 1926, the decrease is accounted for by the fact that it is deep drilling and consequently slower. There was a marked increase in the gas and oil production of the western fields, the output of oil reaching 29,000 barrels, while the production of gas for consumption totalled nearly seven and a half billion cubic feet. The 1926 figures for oil were 219,000 barrels and for gas nine and a half billion cubic feet.

Drilling operations were carried on in Manitoba and over a wide area in Saskatchewan with individual fields of favorable results in the near future. The fields in Alberta, however, include the most productive today. The Peace River-Athabasca Valley Field, from which the greater part of the output of oil and gas is secured, continued to attract great attention. Steady progress was made and the producing areas were further extended so that it may be conservatively stated that the field is proved for over nine miles in length and one mile in width. Besides this area both the high grade crudes of the upper formations and the naphtha-gas of the Royalite deposits yielded over. The high grade crude area now extends as far north as the Steamer well located on Section 34, Township 30, Range 3, west of the fifth meridian, and southward to the Home No. 1 well on Section 30, Township 10, Range 2, west of the fifth meridian, and geologically there is no reason for supposing that these wells mark the limits of the high grade crude area in either direction. The Royalite dolomite formation is proving productive in all cases where it has been tapped, thus clearly showing that the original strike in Royalite No. 4 well was not, as supposed by some, confined to a pocket. Production from the dolomite has also headway to diminish, indicating the presence of a vast source of wet gas. Seven wells have already reached this reservoir and the encouraging results have induced the Royalite Company to start six No. 10 well, which independent operators are also active.

Official List Of Seed Names

An Excellent Guide For Those Who Use Vegetable Seeds

A pamphlet which will be of value to purchasers of seed of corn, peas, beans and vegetables, has been published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. It is an official list of established variety names of these crops. These standard names, 356 in number, were compiled from a list of 2,425 variety names advertised in Canadian seed catalogues in 1922. In making up the list a large number of synonymous names were eliminated and only the varieties of special merit were retained. None of these standard varieties of seed can now be sold under any other than its established name. The names of the varieties of each kind of seed are arranged in the list in order of earliness of maturity and those of outstanding merit for Canadian conditions are specifically marked, making the pamphlet an excellent guide for truck gardeners and all others who use vegetable seeds. The pamphlet, which is a supplement to regulations under the Seeds Act, is available at the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Shatters World's Record

Canadian Cow Is Champion In Butter Fat Production

With a total production in milk of 19,089 lbs., and in butter fat of 819 lbs., in a 305 day test, "Lilydale Korndyke" as a 5-year-old Holstein cow owned by James Seymour and Sons, near Peterboro, Ont., established herself as the world's champion cow in butter fat production, and the Canadian champion in both milk and butter-fat production. Recognition has been given this record by the officials of the Livestock Commission of Canada.

The former world's record for butter fat was 771.73 lbs., while the former world's milk production is given as 22,4 lbs. The former Canadian record which "Jdwbie Korndyke" shattered was 19 940 lbs

Canadian System Meets With Enthusiastic Approval in England

The policy of the records of performance of poultry the official certification of private records of laying tests by a system of periodic inspection by the Dominion Department of Agriculture is finding enthusiastic expression in other countries in the spreading the adoption of the Canadian system in England. Mr C. A. Hawkins, a prominent authority in Great Britain, and editor of "The Poultry World," says "All doubt as to the success of the Record of Performance has been swept to one side It has brought unlimited success to the poultry industry It has established some wonderful strains of birds and given them magnificent records over all the breeds in and all countries."

Crop Revenue

Two Hundred and Twenty-five Million Dollars In Cash For the Prairie Farmers

The movement of 296 million bushels of wheat from the Prairie Provinces up to December 15, of which 208½ million came down via the Great Lakes ports, indicates the volume of grain which has been delivered to the country's in the brief four months, August 13 to December 15. The volume of 600 million bushels of wheat from the prairies is accounted for by the shipments of 296 million, plus 50 million in line elevators and 254 million in storage at the head of the lakes. The receipts in farmers' hands for disposal is offset by the grain which was in store at the start of the crop movement for this season.

On an estimate of 21.05 average per bushel, less 20 cents a bushel for threshing, freight, handling charges and commission, the crop movement therefore represents approximately $220,000,000 in cash to the prairie farmers. This is equivalent to, or may become a substantial revenue to threshers, railway and shipping interests, in the order of earliness of maturity and those of outstanding merit for Canadian conditions are specifically marked, making the pamphlet an excellent guide for truck gardeners and all others who use vegetable seeds. The pamphlet, which is a supplement to regulations under the Seeds Act, is available at the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

British Soldiers Come To Canada

Army Reserves Ink To Be Placed On the Land in the Spring

A plan formulated after that of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and other American revolutionary chiefs of 1783, to populate the great west with members of the disbanded revolutionary army, is the latest proposal of the Overseas Settlement Committee revealed on the principle of land settlement by ex-service men, financial adviser of the committee.

The overseas committee discloses that soldiers now in their last few months of service are being trained at Chilsdon, Wiltshire, in modern methods of farming and will be sent to Canada in May to till and cultivate large areas of fertile land.

They will be commercial army reservists and for the next five years are guaranteed constant work. The scheme will not be restricted at any date, but will be grouped in fifties at Calgary, Prince Albert, Regina, Toronto, Fahmouth, Saskatoon and Winnipeg. None, however, will be sent to British Columbia, where the mild Pacific coast climate through has attracted a vast number of settlers.

Cavalry Or Tanks

It would be difficult to find a staging which cavalry can do, under the conditions of modern warfare, that cannot be done better and more expeditiously by tanks and aeroplanes. The War Office have done wisely to turn a sense of the cavalry into field artillery. It would be well if all of those who were turned into less spectacular but more useful branches

There are now 672,000 Girl Guides in the world, about two in every three being Americans.

INDICATE NATIONALITY

Observing Travellers Say Race Is Revealed in Foot

Those who have made a special study of feet, have discovered that there are just as outstanding marks characteristics manifested in the foot as there is in the face.

Observing travellers who have lived among the various peoples of the earth know that nationality often reveals itself in the foot. One cannot know the French foot, the German foot, the Italian, English and Holland foot by the type of shoe that covers it.

This is more than just a matter of national fashion, though that, of course, plays a part; it has to do as well with the form of the foot.

Thus it is not surprising to learn that American shoe manufacturers are supplying the Filipinos. The last that fits the American doughboy does not ride so well on the foot of the native soldier in the Philippines. Hence a special type of shoe, made not here but in the Islands, is proving popular for the Philippine Scouts.

"The endeavor satisfactorily to fit shoes to the feet of natives," says an army expert, "culminated in the appointment of a board of army officers, who investigated very much as Dr. Scholl did in the early stages, but appears to become unpalatable later, whereas unused ends and decortioned patchouli cake are readily consumed throughout the entire feeding period."

Inspection Of Turkeys

Saskatchewan Flocks Are Being Certified, Listed, and Graded

Six inspectors were working during the past fall among the turkey flocks of Saskatchewan. As a result a list of over 100 certified flocks has been listed, each bird banded and graded "A" or "B." These bands carry the number of the department of agriculture and indicate the grade. There is also a "C" grade which is simply an approval bird for breeding purposes and well above the average of farm flocks. "It is a means of raising the status of the poultry industry," said W. Waldron, co-operation and markets commissioner, who has charge of the work. All the birds certified by the department are listed by card index under the name of the owner. When orders are made, the department is notified, and the new owner of the birds purchased is listed.

Poultry Pool

Manitoba and Saskatchewan To Co-Operate in Fall Shipments

Organization of the Canadian Co-operative Poultry Producers, Limited, does not involve amalgamation of the Manitoba and Saskatchewan poultry pools, as inadvertently reported recently, but provides for their identity and have agreed to co-operate in the new organization, which is a central selling agency for co-operators at Winnipeg. It is officially stated.

W. A. Landreth, Hartney, president of the Manitoba pool, is president of the new organization, Mr. J Holmes, Asquith, president of the Saskatchewan pool, is vice-president. D. W. Storey, secretary and sales manager for the Manitoba pool, is sales manager. Each pool has two directors on the board of the new organization.

Best Kind Of Approval

All the world's a stage, but a lot of us must work behind the scenes. We often hear the applause of the crowd, sometimes this rankles But we really do not miss much. People are often heard to say they "feel" a bouquet when a clown performs as when an artist endeavors to charm them. The best kind of approval is the sense of having done well a worthwhile task.

Saving the Antelope

500 Animals Now Thriving In Enclosed Area In Alberta

The history of Namiskam National Park, Alberta, Canada, is an interesting chapter in the story of wild life conservation. Overcrowding of the area proved to be insurmountable difficulties, forty-two antelope were enclosed in a fenced-in area, in southwestern Alberta in 1915, and, in contrast to previous experiments, continued to thrive in captivity. Their welfare and propagation, which at first was a matter of speculation, now seems to be definitely assured, as officials of the Department of the Interior report that the herd now totals 500. This indicates a natural increase of 458 since the original herd was enclosed in the present park in 1915.

How To Fatten Sheep

Best Results Obtained With Steers, Hay, and Some Concentrated Food

Sheep apparently can be overfed on grain. Experiments conducted by the Ontario Agricultural College in Yorkshire, are reported, to have shown that "sheep will fatten into good finish" on most or roots alone.

"This is, of course, a slow business," state the college authorities, "and better commercial results are secured by an additional ration of hay and some concentrated food. The experiments indicate that to maintain live weight increases over a comparatively long period it is necessary for the ration to be progressive both as regards the amount of concentrated foods fed and their palatability. Roots and hay will give good results in the early fall, but a high ratio

STOW PETITION ON AMUSEMENT TAX IN VAULT

House Gazes on Stack of Petitions and Goes on With Its Business

A huge stack of petitions demanding that the theatres amusement tax in Alberta be repealed were tabled in the legislature Friday by Premier J. E. Brownlee

The premier made the brief comment that everyone knew of the efforts that had been made to get the tax repealed and there was no good in discussing the subject. He said he had met a deputation at 2 p.m. on Thursday of representatives of theatre owners to the tax, and they had asked him to present the petitions to the house. "And here they are," coolest the premier.

No one said anything and the house went on with its business. The last is newspapermen saw of the petitions they were being stowed away in a vault, preparatory to accumulating the dust, probably, of centuries.

The petitions say that the theatres tax is commonly known as the war tax although no portion of it was required or used during the war; that it is unjust and discriminatory in that it provides the householder pecking entertainment for himself and family, and that in most cases it bears most heavily upon those least able to afford it

Mass Meeting Of Ratepayers Discussed Vital Issues Facing Town

Rejection of the agreement with the Calgary Power Co. by an unanimous vote; the retention and enlargement of the town plant; that active steps be taken to promote the immediate building of a swimming pool; and investigation into the feasibility of a community heating system be made, was the outcome of the mass meeting of ratepayers held Thursday night last.

* * *

Possibly one of the most largely attended and representative meetings of ratepayers of the town of Vermilion was held in the gymnasium of the rink on Thursday night to hear His Worship Mayor Fallow present several vital issues confronting the council and to get the viewpoint of the electors on the same as a guide for action by that body. At the hour for the meeting to open, between 150 and 175 ratepayers had assembled, so keen was the interest taken in the matters to be discussed, namely:

The Calgary Power Agreement;

Extension to Municipal Electric Light & Power Plant;

Installation of Community Heating System;

Construction of Municipal Swimming Pool.

On motion, S. R. P. Cooper was elected to fill the chair and he briefly stating the objects for which they were assembled, called upon Mayor Fallow to address the meeting.

In opening, His Worship gave a report of the proceedings of council some two months previous and his appointment as representative of the town to investigate the Hydro-electric Calgary. The result of his investigation of the plants using hydro-electric throughout the southern portion of the province, had resulted in that all using the power had given him favorable reports. Careful enquiries had convinced him that owing to particular conditions prevailing relative to the condition of most of the plants, it was advantageous for those towns to take on hydro-electric. He figured that the average cost throughout the south was about 1½c per K. W. hour. The offer of the Calgary Power Co for the town plant was $12,000 complete. The bonded indebtedness against the plant was $16,850. With the interest on the bonds, the $12,000 would hardly be sufficient to take care of the same in handing over the plant to the Hydro-Electric, it would eventually mean the scrapping of our plant and the running of high tension wires from Wainwright (should the company procure that plant) into Vermilion. The closing of the local plant would mean putting two or three families out of employment

Dealing with costs of power and light, his worship stated that the basic rate was 10c. The service came under three divisions made up of domestic, commercial and power, and to illustrate by way of comparative charges of costs if the Calgary Power Co. agreement were accepted. These showed that the 30 k.h. meter in town paid in 1927, $464.90, under the C. P. agreement it would have paid $630.00; 5 h.p. motor $12.85, under C P agreement $21.59; commercial house $174.00, under C P agreement $167.40; average house-holder $12.25, under C P agreement $21.60. "If any difference," stated the mayor, "you will be paying slightly more than at the present time."

A most important phase was our street and municipal lighting. The town by agreement would pay $2.00 per light per month for the street lighting; there were 100 lights which would mean $2,000 a year. Reducing the number of lights to a minimum, he put it at $3000 and municipal light-ht at $500, making a total of $3500 to pay. We will lose our plant profit of $3500 making $6500 to pay the Calgary Co. and the turning over of customers' deposits now held by the town. The franchise would be for 10 years during which time it would be necessary to collect in taxes $65,000. During the same period under the proposed expenditure by the town in additions to the power plant, the sum to be raised yearly would be only $2337.50 on a value of $10,000 as against owning nothing in the opposite case. "It would be a terrible mistake if we sold out the plant" stated the mayor.

Present Plant Inadequate

Our plant carried an overload all winter of 25 per cent and demands for power had to be refused; the plant had passed its limit and was totally inadequate. This was corroborated by all. A superintendent from the Utility Commissioners had been sent down and theoretically investigated conditions and had said that there was not a flaw in the arrangements that had been installed by the town's [illegible]. The contemplated [illegible] the plant, and the cost of same to be $12,000 was a good one as was considered desirable to [illegible] an expenditure of $2,000 which [illegible] the plant was $16,850. Central Heating Plant

The mayor stated there was [illegible] exhaust from the plant to operate a small [illegible] and [illegible] was steam is not utilized. He quoted other places that were using exhaust steam for heating purposes and the profit accruing from the same. In this connection that at North Battleford from the year 1921-25 had cost $56,000 in all and the revenue collected amounted to $227,000, which was over four times the cost. It involved an increase of approximately 10 p.c in the operation of the power plant or $1500, but the system would pay for itself in three years. He informed the meeting that an engineer was coming at his own expense to [illegible] the proposition.

The Swimming Pool

Regarding the swimming pool, there was not sufficient backing to carry this through at the present time, but the outlook was most hopeful as certain organizations were interested to the motives in raising funds to this end. It was proposed to build this on the corner lot immediately north of the rink, having connection with the dressing rooms of the rink by closing the lane. Details as to size of the pool, water supply and costs had not been worked out, but he thought the scheme could be carried through for [illegible]

VALUABLE LANDS DISCOVERED

Fresh Resources Are Unveiled By Recent Surveys In North

Each year in Canada surveys are pushed further into the hinterland and each advance discloses valuable resources of which citizens had not previously been aware. The Peace River District has been popularly thought of as the last "inland empire" in that direction, but an engineer of the Topographical Survey of the Department of the Interior during the summer of 1927 penetrated west and north of the outermost edge of Peace River and found a land of fertile grassy hills, of high rolling open plateaus upon which roam flocks of Rocky Mountain goats and bighorn sheep and herds of caribou, and where the grizzly bear takes his ease with dignity. The country is drained by clear, cold, fish-teeming rivers and streams which have their rise in the glaciers of the main range of the Rockies to the west.

The investigations of the exploratory party extended in general over an area 90 miles west and 175 miles north of Hudson Hope, or roughly between latitudes 56 degrees and 58 degrees, and longitudes 122 degrees and 124 degrees. Fifteen years ago the south-eastern corner of this country, the nearest point to civilization, was a day's journey from Edmonton, a six weeks' journey of hard travelling. Now, with improved rail and steamboat facilities, it can be reached in summer in as many days. The southerly edge of this area was first broken in 1793 by Sir Alexander Mackenzie during his famous overland journey to the Pacific. Later on the fierce rivalries between the Hudson's Bay and Finlay Rivers were explored.

As a result of the season's work a total of 9,500 square miles of country new territory was covered and information obtained for the issue of a preliminary map.

CANADIAN NATIONALITY

Would Give Official Recognition To a Canadian Race

The public will await with keen interest the debate and the decision of the Canadian House of Commons on the bill introduced by Dr. Bissett, of Springfield, to establish a Canadian nationality and a Canadian race. Certain provision has been made by the Government to give official standing to any some official standing outside of Canada, but within the Dominion no one ever is born, married, or dies as a Canadian. They are listed as English, Scotch, Irish, Dutch, German, Russian, or what not, but there is no recognition of the term "Canadian." Dr. Bissett's motion asks the Government to give official standing to Canadian nationality for use in all documents and papers, and also to give official recognition to the Canadian race by subscribing to the principle that persons of white stock born in Canada for three or more generations, shall be entitled to classify themselves as of the Canadian race.

The first matter, having to do with nationality, should be comparatively easy of settlement. The term "Canadian nationality" in relation to persons born here or persons who have accepted naturalization, should be self-explanatory. It is used in the same face value at home as abroad. No other country is so poor in spirit as to ask its citizens to be known by some other name than that of the country that has given them birth, or by which they have attained allegiance. It is to be hoped the Government at Ottawa will take whatever steps are necessary to give full effect to the purpose of Dr. Bissett's motion with respect to nationality.—Manitoba Free Press.

Manitoba Farmers Anxious To Secure Services Of Youths From Great Britain

So many applications have been received from farmers in Manitoba to engage the services of youths who are coming out from Great Britain under the Boy Immigration scheme, that the Provincial Government has decided to increase the number from 50 to 100, Hon. Albert Prefontaine, Minister of Agriculture, stated that 150 farmers have applications for boy help. It is expected that the first batch of youthful immigrants will reach Manitoba this month.

Western Canada Hog Industry

West Will Soon Pass The Fifty Per Cent Mark in Hog Production

Western Canada will soon pass the 50 per cent. mark in hog production in the Dominion, it was stated at the annual convention of the Western Canada Livestock Union. Modify the percentage of selects from one to two has been increasing and since grading has been in effect the four Western Provinces have increased their proportion of this class of hog. In 1927 there were 1,976,186 swine in Western Canada as against 801,067 in 1920.

A motor car was approaching the level crossing, travelling quietly round the corner that led to the closed gates. At the precise moment the express train thundered over the crossing.

"Late, the driver of the car saw his danger. He tried to reverse, but a skid was the only result. With a loud crash he struck the last coach, at 30, 32-42 inch; body bust, Size 36 bust requires 3½ yards 39-inch, or 2¾ yards 54-inch material; 2½ yards 3-inch lace for View A; 1½ yards for vestee if Price 25 cents the pattern.

"Oh, now you are too kind," protested the driver, "you are too kind, you are quite sure you do things as worthy every day."

"Not quite mine," replied the old lady resignedly. "I can kill a duck or fowl with the best, that I admit, but when it comes to human beings my 'art fails me."

A Super-Loud Speaker

Tested Under Favorable Conditions Heard Five Miles Away

A super-loud speaker which can turn the sound from a crystal set into a volume louder than that of the Albert Hall organ, has been brought to this country from the continent.

It is claimed to be the loudest loudspeaker in the world.

Tested under favorable conditions on the Lido it was heard five miles away. Built on the electro-dynamic principle and driven by a 1,500 volt generator, this loud-speaker has a 22 in. diaphragm, which beats on a pneumatic rubber pad; is said to have 100 per cent. volume over anything else in Britain; amplifier speech mixer, gramophone and car radio can all be driven plainly without distortion crowd of 100,000.

A gramophone record was connected to the giant speaker recently and an engineer in the basement of the Lido could hear the volume or sound.

"Hurling our ears with cotton wool," says a listener, "we stood at the top of some stairs and listened to an organ record.

"Apart from the amazing compass and selectivity of the amplifier, the volume was so terrific that the walls of the building and the adjacent block of flats rocking. The windows of the office door facing it swayed to the notes."

Putting Rural Credits Scheme Into Effect

Will Probably Be Working Within Next Three Months

The rural credits scheme sanctioned by Parliament, session before last, will be put into effect, probably within the next two months.

This is an act whose operation was suspended pending a referendum on the plan on a 50-50 basis. So far Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Alberta, and British Columbia have expressed in legislation, adherence to the plan, Saskatchewan has a plan of its own.

The Dominion provides certain moneys and and the Provinces and for local provincial boards to supervise the operations of local societies appropriated by Parliament for the purpose which is designed to supplement existing credit facilities and provide rents sent out under compulsory inventures to the plantations of the West Indies and Bermuda between the years 1658 and 1662.

Twelve thousand names appear on the list and nothing is left to identify some of the American who was anxious to buy the page on which it appeared.

The list of names is being made into a book, and will be published in America shortly.

JESUS THE SUFFERING MESSIAH

Golden Text: "If any man would come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me."—Mark 8:34.

Lesson: Mark 8.27-9.1; 9.30-32; 10.32-34.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 52.7-9.

Explanations and Comments

The Demands Of Discipleship, verses 34-37.—One great truth, Jesus is the Messiah, the disciples had learned; another great truth, the Messiah must suffer, they had been told, but, as after-events proved, they had not grasped; a third great truth they were now told—the sufferers of the Messiah must suffer and sacrifice likewise.

To the multitudes as well as to the disciples Jesus said, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." Denying oneself must not mean the giving up of this or that, but the denying of self, the repudiating of self as self-centered claims, the pleasing of one's self to Christ's will. Not only must his Master endure the cross, but he himself, Peter learned, if he would be Christ's true follower, must be ready to suffer death, too. "A Christian is a Crucial," is Luther's comment.

The beautiful thing is that this appeal of Christ was not futile. Instead of repelling men it drew them. He actually obtained the men whom he was hunting for, and they became worthy inducements, not by seeming such appeals as ought but Christ would have made, but by addressing the merciful side of God, and making ah appeal to their latent capacity for heroism. There is a wonderful depth in Jesus' method to those characteristics in human nature which have never been called out, which can answer to the highest motives, which do not need to be bought by any low compensations, which spring into life at the first touch appealed to on the most heroic and unselfish plane. We know in consequence, this exultation in difficulties, this love of hardship and scorn of ease, because the characteristic note of early Christianity, in the most summary description which Paul gives of Christian character and manhood, in the terrible chapter of Romans, we find him speaking of "rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation." And when he comes to write his last epistle, the epistle of the old and happy warrior, we find him setting forth as the building and the industrial ship, as a good soldier of Jesus Christ.—Robert F. Speer.

"For whosoever would have his life shall lose it; and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it." Jesus continued. The secret life and the premium it offered to life, are used in a twofold sense here. The positive meaning of the words only care is to save his natural life shall lose his spiritual life; and he who is willing to lose his natural life for My sake shall find his spiritual life.

Refused Large Sum For Old Document

Offer Of American Did Not Tempt Corporation Of Bristol

The Bristol Corporation has refused the offer of $5,000 from an American millionaire for a scrap of a 17th century document which was recently discovered in a lumber-room of the corporation offices which was appropriated by Parliament for the purpose which is designed to supplement existing credit facilities and provide for bridging what has been termed the "barren area" of credit between the short-term loans of the banks and the long-term mortgages of mortgage corporations.

Not Just What She Wanted

A portly country woman was paying for a pound of tea at the storekeeper's in London. She sat down in the train beside a hospital nurse and began to chat.

"Ah," she said, eyeing the nurse's uniform admiringly. "I don't know what we'd do without the likes of you, I'm sure."

"Oh, now you are too kind," protested the nurse, modestly.

"Well, it's cured my blessed self, anyway"; and the driver crawled out of the wreck.

Encouraging Forestry Students

Every possible encouragement is being given by the British Columbia forestry department of lands to students of the University who are studying forestry, to improve themselves in the practical side of their studies. Hon. T. D. Pattullo states that members of the students' corps are to receive, during the summer months, employment in the woods.

British Columbia Sheep

While British Columbia's sheep population increased by nearly 23,000 or 28 per cent. in 1927, it is pointed out that there is no danger of an overproduction since only 60 per cent. of the mutton and lamb consumed in the province is domestically raised.

In the City all the street sounds this Christmas Eve were harsh, cold and hollow. Street cars clanged and shrieked and roared through the blustery; horses' feet pounded on the pavement like blows on an anvil, and automobiles hurried by with a note of fright and pain. Many a person turned hastily, expecting to see an accident, only to find it was just a car slopping. Cold, gray and hard lay the city on this day which should be the brightest of the year.

In the very grayest part of the day, when the sunlight was fading and the lamps were not yet lighted, the snow began wearily to fall. Big, soft flakes, that drifted and changed patterns through the waiting air. The country people saw it falling and said it had kept off well, and hoped for the sake of the cattle, that it would not fall too deep and cover all the grass. Snow was an old story to them, making them think of blocked roads, and paths to drive to the stables, and, worst of all, hungry cattle looking for food. But in the city the snow got a royal welcome.

"Now it does look like Christmas," the people called to each other on the street through their shut doors, and as they hurried along, with their shopping bags draped with last minute Christmas gifts. The red and blue bells in the shop windows suddenly grew brighter, as if a candle had been lighted in each, and the Christmas wreaths sprinkled through the splinters of frost that began to come on the windows with the approach of night-all the cold increased. The hurrying hackers whipped and mad-carts rode through the snow, the snow which in hair an hour had covered the frozen ground. Saskatchewan To Charge Annual Rental Of 5½ Cents Per Acre For Three Years

An annual rental of 25 cents an acre for the first year and of 5½ cents an acre for each succeeding year is to be charged for lands used for fur farming in Saskatchewan, according to Hon. C. M. Hamilton, Minister of Agriculture. The proposed rental charge is to cover the natural acreage of the land and water under lease. The cost of administering the lands is to be met by the provincial Government and it has authority to collect and retain the rentals. Altogether 92 applications have been received by the Department.

Ontario Wants To Secure Coal From Alberta Of Proper Quality

"Now that a rate has been set, some provision should be made to see that the coal is of proper quality," said Premier G. H. Ferguson, of Toronto, commenting on the board of railway commissioners' decision on the rate for Alberta coal moving east. "We have been told that we had plenty of the type of coal we need, but on other occasions coal of poor quality was shipped." He intimated that the Alberta government should subject the coal to careful examination.

Douglas Fir In B.C.

A recent survey of the forest resources of British Columbia showed a total stand of approximately 76,000,000,000 feet of merchantable timber, according to Douglas fir. While all of this is not at present commercially accessible, a large proportion is within reasonable distance of water and rail transportation. About 80 per cent. of it is situated on Vancouver Island and the adjacent mainland she seized her valise and went on.

The Army captain, relieved at that moment by the arrival of the adjutant, noticed her drooping shoulders as she went past him, and hurried after her. "Hey! I help you?" he asked with friendly interest.

Helmi's lips were dry and stiff, and she shook her head.

"Have you friends here?"

She shook her head.

"You can get a room at the North Star Hotel-not much, but you have looking for one," he said. "See, it is just shand of us; shall I carry your valise?"

Helmi hurried on without answering. He noticed that one overshoe was unbuckled and the loose tongue of the buckle had caught in the hem of her dress and was tearing it as she walked.

In her dire need of haste Helmi did not even know it. Reaching the "North Star" she walked up the stairs to the front door and entered, without knocking. Mrs. Maggie Corbett, who was behind the desk, who happened to be coming out at the same moment, met her and cried out in astonishment. "Why, you poor girl! Where are you going?"

Helmi's pain-twisted face told its own story.

Mrs. Corbett hurriedly put down the twins bag with which she had been going forth for a last shopping bout.

"I could see," said Mrs. Corbett afterwards in telling the story, "that the poor young thing would be worse before she was better, so I shut me up in the performance certificates by reason of laying upward 150 eggs each during the year, and got gently onumbled it—perhaps as a kind of bonfire.

FRIENDLY cushions, fashioned with the comfort of an easy chair, invite relaxation as your McLaughlin-Buick sweeps smoothly along.

Comfort that invites Relaxation

In the designing of McLaughlin-Buick for 1928, riding ease and comfort have been given unusual consideration. Lovejoy Shock absorbers on all four wheels absorb road roughness with a velvet cushion every road-shock and rebound. Rubber Engine Mountings prevent vibration from reaching the car-body. Extra deep, resilient seat cushions, beautifully proportioned, are specially shaped and tailored to fit, like an easy chair. The lower body-lines have been attained without any sacrifice of headroom. And in finish and appointments, McLaughlin-Buick establishes a standard of luxury which vies with your drawing-room or club.

The G.M.A.C. Deferred Payment Plan offers many advantages to buyers of McLaughlin-Buick cars.

J. H. BELL DONOR OF HANDSOME GIFT TO ST. SAVIOUR'S CHURCH

The committee appointed to find ways and means of raising the necessary capital for the installation of a new organ in St. Saviour's church were most agreeably surprised and delighted last Monday morning when they received a cheque from Postmaster J. H. Bell to be applied to the new organ fund. The amount received was the same needed because his cheque value of the present organ and the purchase price of the new one.

The church as a result of Mr. Bell's generous action will now be equipped with a modern organ, which was very much needed, instead of the present one which has been more or less dissatisfactory for some time.

DERWENT NEWS

Could you believe it? Why, yes! The U. G. G. is here on the ground to build an elevator and that will give us three, with one more to be constructed, to take care of the grain of this very valuable district, known as a mixed farming district.

Well, well, well, and what now? Nothing but good news. Yes, we are having a creamery and will start the building April 2nd, weather permitting. The site is purchased and the machinery on the way.

Jos. Kobrynetz, as well as F Hintz's new stores are nearing completion, which adds a great deal to the appearance and assets of our town.

The new garage, which is a fine large building, will be ready for business in a few days.

We regret very much that the contractor of the hotel building has been called to Edmonton by jury service which causes a week's delay. But say, that laddie will make up for lost time —hey, Chris?

COMMUNICATION

(This paper does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by correspondents.)

Mr. S. B. P. Cooper,
Editor Vermilion Standard:

In conversation with yourself and other representatives of Vermilion, I have, on different occasions in the past, bemoaned that having to pay for the water supply from the pumphouse in connection with municipal affairs, I was convinced that the time was not far distant when we would be able to abolish municipal taxes. I have hesitated, however, from making a public statement to this effect, knowing that my friends would be apprehensive of my mental equilibrium.

In all my experience I have never known of anyone who had the temerity to even suggest such an idea. But I am delighted to be able to produce a clipping from "Labor" of March 17, which is attached herewith. This statement is made on the authority of the New York Times and I am sure will prove very interesting to the citizens of Vermilion at this time.

"The New York Times has investigated South River, the town which, according to Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, has no local taxes because it owns all its expenses out of the profits of its publicly owned electric light plant.

"Up to date, the Times finds Senator Norris' account absolutely true. This year, however, to pay the first instalment on street paving, South River must levy a local tax. It is—hold your breath—20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation!

"South River has 10,000 inhabitants and has owned its electric light plant for 16 years. It started with a gasoline engine of 150 horsepower. Now it has two Diesel engines of 1,200 horsepower and is putting in another of 1,150 horsepower more.

Selling current at the usual rates, the plant makes an operating profit of $160,000 per year. Interest and amortization take $30,000 of this, leaving $70,000 net gain. Municipal expenses come to $47,000 per year, leaving an over-all surplus of $23,000.

"The city needs $14,000 a year for its new paving deal, so it is levying the terrible impost mentioned."

CLOSING COLLEGE DANCE A BRILLIANT FUNCTION

The annual dance closing the past term of the Vermilion school of agriculture held on the evening of Friday last, was attended by one hundred and fifty couples and was an outstanding success. The large auditorium was decorated with gay streamers which lent a gala effect to the scene. The music was of the highest class, being supplied by the old Orioles, almost famous.

Incidentally, this was probably the last time that a dance will be held in the present assembly hall, as on completion of the new dormitory building the hall will be turned into class rooms, any functions taking place being held in the large dormitory dining room or gymnasium, on the same principles as the University of Alberta affairs.

When Food Sours

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Just a teaspoonful in cold water. It is pleasant to take. Then it begins to work. It neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

Twenty years ago, Manitoba's hard bread wheat was at once the standard and the rule of the world. Last year, more than half of Manitoba's wheat crop was soft bread-making. Why? The answer is trust.

Last year, when Canada's total crop was a quarter million acres as Saskatchewan produced on thirteen million acres. Why? The answer is trust.

Last year up until the end of December, of the wheat from the entire West, only thirty-five per cent graded Number Three Northern or better, as compared with fifty-five per cent. as graded during the previous year. Why? The answer is trust.

Last year Manitoba produced only 36,000,000 bushels of wheat as compared with seventeen bushels in 1926. Why? The answer is trust.

Now the whole West is suffering. Trust has filched a shortage of $250,000,000 value from the Western wheat grower, a total of half a billion dollars. In the year, 1910, the loss from rust damage reached the colossal sum of $25,000,000. In the year 1916, millions of Canadian wheat that might have gone out into the markets of the world fell a prey to the rust scourge. More than that thanks to the same scourge, it took impossible to grow Marquis wheat in great areas of southern Manitoba and those areas have been declared, without reservation, that a similar fate would overtake all of the province and most of Saskatchewan if this new threat of Nature were allowed to run its course unchecked.

Even to Western farmers who know, to their own sorrow, the terrible ravages of rust, these statements showing the enormous extent of the losses from rust and the growing menace in the future of wheat growing, come as a distinct shock. It is revealed by these facts and figures, by keeping a heavier toll on Western farmers than customs tariffs, interest rates, or hail, or many other things which have been made the subject of farmers' organizations.

Farmers' Associations, co-operative societies, Boards of Trade, Municipal councils and individual farmers, and they can be prevented by the adoption of good farming methods and the use of only good, clean seed. Insurance against losses by hail can be secured, even if the occurrence of hail cannot be prevented or controlled. But it has been established that rust cannot be prevented or eradicated, that there is no bread wheat in the known world that is immune from rust, that, consequently, the only hope lies in the development of a type of bread wheat that is rust resistant.

As is pointed out in Mr. Irwin's article, it is the same old story of the Pioneer's modernity all over again. In the beginning, the West couldn't find a bread wheat that would grow fast enough to escape the night and autumn frosts north of the forty-ninth parallel. So it rallied in the plant breeder and made wheats that would grow fast enough. Now it's a wheat that won't feed rust.

The story of the campaign now being waged to develop such a wheat is an inspiring one. Furthermore, the progress thus far made is highly encouraging even though the battle is yet far from being won, or the end of the struggle in sight. Dr. Fraser Stewart has been in charge of the Dominion Rust Laboratory, Winnipeg, all these no definite prediction, but, he told Mr. Irwin, "Without question, we are much more certain that we have succeeded in producing a rust resistant type. We have several crosses that are highly resistant, and they seem to be fairly stable in their resistance. Whether they have satisfactory quality."

It is possible that Dr. Stewart's rust resistant type of bread wheat will be ready for distribution to farmers from the standpoint of yield in from three to five years. Whether it will have satisfactory quality and all the other characteristics necessary to make it acceptable to the trade, millers and consumers, is a matter regarding which he dare not forecast for it and if we can't have the rust resistant wheat we already developed well and pure enough, we can't have it.

Nevertheless, Western farmers are interested in the success of this great undertaking, and no success indeed the whole world. The Dominion Government is spending $100,000 a year on rust research, a sum negligible compared with the average of $25,000,000 annual loss which rust imposes on the country. The experts carrying on the rust research work are remarkably undespoiled and there is great reason to believe that the Western farmers and business men of the West should not only support the movement in the demonstration paid those men, but should be willing to make considerable sacrifices to assist them. Only wonderful experiments to a successful issue.

The Menace Of Wheat Rust

"During the last twenty years a certain parasitic fungus known to the botanists from Moose to Burbank has stolen half a million dollars' worth of wheat from the farmers of Western Canada."

With these startling words W. A. Irwin writes in a recent issue of the Manitoba Free Press of the efforts being put forth in the Dominion Rust Laboratory at Winnipeg, and in the research departments of the three universities of the Prairie Provinces to develop a rust resistant type of bread wheat.

Last year Manitoba's hard bread wheat was at once the standard and the rule of the world. Last year, more than half of Manitoba's wheat crop was soft bread-making. Why? The answer is trust.

Much evil lurks in the soil of the war zone, after ten years of battle and bloodshed, and the following story from Roumania is a case in point.

Mircea Rebenik was ploughing his fields near Tulcea when he turned up a shell. Lovers when one of the explosive type. Rebenik and his four horses were killed instantly by the explosion and injured him.

Newspaper Men To Gather At Edmonton

Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association To Be Held in Northern City in July

At the annual meeting of the board of directors, Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, just concluded, the city of Edmonton was selected for the annual convention of the association to be held in July, with side trips to Banff and Jasper. The position of manager of the association with head office at Toronto, Ontario is as yet vacant, but hopes are held that a suitable man will be secured shortly. The list of candidates submitted was not satisfactory. A delegation of eastern and western members is anxious to secure the services of S. J. Dorman, manager of the Saskatchewan division and publisher of The Alameda Despatch, to accept this position. Mr. Dorman has so far refused to leave the west.

AVOID THE PAINS OF RHEUMATISM

This Trouble Comes Through Weak, Watery Blood

Many people suffer rheumatic pains because their kidneys fail in keeping up the blood. Rheumatism comes with thin, watery blood, and can only be driven out of the system by enriching and purifying the blood. To make rich, red blood no medicine equals Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills actually make new blood, driving out all poisonous secretions, and creating a healthy glow in the cheeks. Thousands of rheumatic sufferers owe their lasting health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among them is Mr. John Reilly, Renfrew, Ont., who says: "As a worker in the woods for years I was exposed to all kinds of weather and got a bad cold. The result was that I was finally laid up with rheumatism and had to quit work, and was confined to bed. Medicine seemed to have little or no effect and the best encouragement the doctor gave me was that in the spring I might warm weather I would be better. But instead of getting better, I grew worse. My joints were badly swollen and my legs so stiff they would hardly support my body. At this stage I read that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended for rheumatism and decided to try them. The first box gave me considerable relief. After a few weeks the swelling had disappeared, and by the time I had finally worked away, and much sooner than I expected all traces of rheumatism had disappeared. The next winter when I went into the wood I took a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with me and they kept me in the best of condition. My experience should give encouragement to other rheumatic sufferers."

You can get these pills through any druggist or medicine dealer, or by mail at 50c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Population Of Saskatchewan

Rural Population More Than Double Urban

The population of Saskatchewan, as at June 1, 1926, was 920,733, an increase in the five-year period from 492,432 recorded at June 1, 1921, or 92,733, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa. In urban centres recorded in 1921, of 72,134. The rural population was more than double the urban, at 577,- 296 compared with 212 523 in the latter seven cities, 80 towns and 260 villages are included. Regina's population is now at 37,330, Saskatoon at 31 234 and Moose Jaw's at 19,038

Bird Migration Is Remarkable

Difficult to Understand What Gives Them Impulse to Start

United States Biological Survey bands proved that two black-headed gulls have made the trip from Germany across the ocean, while two swallowtailed, let home in England, were found in Newfoundland. Also a young Arctic tern, banded in Labrador, reached France, but was dead when picked up. Then there are birds that spend the summer in Canada, but, in the winter, they are known to be in Argentina and Chile.

The thing most difficult to understand is how birds know enough to cross the ocean. It may seem like the question of a child, but it is puzzling enough for the adult mind to think over—how do birds know they will come to land after flying the thousands of miles over the ocean? What is it that gives them the impulse to start in the first place, and how are they able to reckon so well that they actually do reach the shore on the other side?

They have no navigating instruments; they make no study of weather charts; they can take along no chicken sandwiches or hot coffee, and certainly they can carry no life rafts; likewise they are without a radio outfit, to help make the trip. It's remarkable, even when allowance is made for the fact that young birds may have older companions on these first trip.

Ancient Wood Carver Passes

Credited With Being the Originator Of Famous Cigar Store Indian

Louis Jobin, the old Quebec artist, is dead at the age of 86. He was a figure known to thousands of tourists who visited him in his little studio near the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre and bought samples of his work. Jobin's craft was an ancient one that went back to the Indians. He was credited with being the originator of the famous cigar store Indian.

Born at St. Raymond, Portneuf county, Quebec, he was known as one of the world's greatest wood carvers. Perhaps his most distinctive work, and certainly his best known one, is his 6 ft. statue of St. Anne de Beaupre.

Both Dr. Livingstone and Inspector Joy have had vast experience in the Arctic regions.

Reprobate Sinner Reimburses Railroad For Stolen Rides

Just what heaven has to do with railroads has never been properly defined. The attempt to link the two was made recently, however, and in more than a one-time hobo who repented and whose tripe in the "side-door Pullman" caused him much heart-searching. He did it, in a manner of speaking, by putting God at the head of the Canadian National Railways when Sir Henry Thornton heard it, he issued no denial, but merely remarked. "Of course. You'll accomdate for the laxity of our service to the people of Canada."

Reading Madill, Canadian National district passenger agent at Edmonton, may have realized this but he got the shock of his life, nevertheless, when he received this letter from Nampa, Idaho:

"Dear Sir—Some years ago I was hired at the Edmonton office to go to Drumheller to work on a G. A. & H. gang. I road to Drumheller and failed to get out to work. I also road once from Big Valley to Munson on a freight train.

"I have become a Christian and feel that I must pay this bill. I hope you will forgive me for such an act and receive this money in the same manner God has forgiven me, and I owe it to God and the Canadian National Railway.

"I confess please find $7.65, seven dollars and fifty cents, which I hope will cover the bill, but if not, let me know and I will send the rest."

Canadian Grain Arriving In Liverpool Said To Be Low Grade

John Miller (Liberal-Progressive, Qu'Appelle), asked the Government if any complaints had been received from British sources in the competition in which Canadian grain was arriving in that country

Hon. James Malcolm, minister of trade and commerce, said that a letter had been received from the Liverpool Corn Exchange Limited that the grade had been noticeably lower in the past two years. Whether or not this was from the difference from lowered inspection standards they could not tell, but that unless the standards were maintained the prestige of Canadian grain in that market would be damaged

CONFERENCE ON RESOURCES WILL BE HELD SOON

Ottawa.—A conference between representatives of the Dominion and provincial governments concerned will be summoned to meet at the close of the present parliamentary session in the French as agreement with regard to the return of the natural resources to the western provinces. This is disclosed in correspondence on the matter which was tabled in the House of Commons.

The correspondence was between Premier King, Premier J. B. Aberhe, of Alberta, and Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba. In it Premier Bracken refers to the Liberal Government's "prompt and generous manner of instituting the Duncan report commencing the Maritime Provinces," and suggests regarding the western natural resources that "the time is favorable apparently for the settlement of this question by arbitration."

Replying, Premier King said: "in arranging for arbitration we can see some objection to sending the question to the privy council, and, it would therefore be well that we should reach an agreement both with respect to the terms of reference to the arbitration and the tribunal to which the matter is referred." Later he suggested that a conference should be held immediately following the close of the present parliamentary session.

The correspondence with Premier Brownlee is confined to an exchange of telegrams. Premier Brownlee declares that his government is prepared "actively to renew negotiations leading to a complete settlement of the question on the basis of the present session is over." In the meantime, the Alberta Government was considering the matter of the privy council, but was not in position to commit itself to the position of appellant.

Union With Newfoundland

Any Proposal Would Be Welcomed By People Of Canada

Ottawa.—Any representations for union between Canada and Newfoundland would receive favorable consideration of the Canadian Senate. This was elicited recently from the debate which was brought on by the resolution of Senator C. E. Tanner, which declared that "in the opinion of this House, Canada should favorably consider any proposal that may be made by Newfoundland for union with the Dominion of Canada."

Speaking to his resolution, Senator Tanner declared that the Senate could not make anything in the form of a definite proposal, which was necessarily come from the authority of the country, either the government of Canada or that of the Newfoundland. But the Senate was justified in putting upon record its views in regard to public opinion, and that any proposal from Newfoundland for union with Canada would be welcomed and the people of this country were ready to sit down and talk the matter over in a friendly spirit. The Senator pointed out the tremendous interest between Newfoundland and the maritime provinces and to the increasing trade with the two countries. He praised Newfoundland's war effort and its loyalty to a common cause.

Senator Tanner felt that it was desirable that the units of the empire should be consolidated further than they are if the people of Newfoundland should desire it. The senator said he would not like to see the union when not only Newfoundland but also the British West Indies all units of the empire on the side of the Atlantic —would be consolidated into one great dominion.

Advocates System Of Organized Marketing

Conditions Of Poultry Business Unsatisfactory, Says Cowichan Man

Victoria, B.C.—Hon No. 6 which broke all egg production records a few years ago, advertised British Columbia poultry to the world and brought thousands of dollars in orders to the University of British Columbia poultry farm, but she has merely helped to complicate the market situation.

That is the view of Captain A. H. Mathews, of the Cowichan Creamery Association, one of the largest co-operative dairy and poultry concerns in Western Canada.

"The condition of the poultry business is unsatisfactory," reports Captain Matthews. "Not only has the number of birds increased very rapidly, but egg production per bird is also increased. Hen No. 6 may be the eighth wonder of the world, but under the handling of excessive production as supplemented by some intelligent system of organized marketing, the hen-egg hen may be a curse to the industry rather than a blessing."

It was reported at the meeting that companies shipping eggs to the eastern Canada had lost approximately $40,000 during the last few months owing to the market conditions.

Test Pulverized Coal

Will Attempt To Demonstrate Commercial Possibilities Of Fuel

Ottawa.—Development of the commercial possibilities of pulverized coal will be proceeded with immediately by the government. To test the practical possibilities, the government will (a) adapt one of its steamers on the Pacific coast to utilize pulverized coal in the experimental coal in one of the government buildings in British Columbia.

In making the announcement to the House of Commons, Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, said he thought there was a bright future for pulverized fuel, especially for use on freighters. Pulverized fuel was no longer in the experimental stage.

The matter was brought up on a resolution by A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox-Alberni).

Heads Research Council

Sir Joseph Flavelle Will Be Chairman Of Research Council in Ontario

Toronto.—Sir Joseph Flavelle, prominent Toronto capitalist and philanthropist, will be chairman of the industrial research council for the province of which legislation is now before the legislature, Premier Ferguson announced in the House.

A research council composed of leading business men and scientists in the various industries, including agriculture, is to be established. Purpose of the council is to assist and contribute money to the board, and for each dollar contributed by private industry the government will contribute another dollar. The plan is to raise a sum of $2,000,000 in five years, the government paying $1,000 a year, provided private contributions are of equal proportion.

Bicycle Teams Sold Race

Managers and Trainers Barred From Future Events in Germany

Berlin. — Berlin's 26-day bicycle race, which ended March 15, has had a sensational sequel in the revelation that the leading teams were found guilty by the League of German Bicycle Riders of selling out to their opponents. Further than that they are if the people of Newfoundland should desire it. The senator said he would not like to see the union when not only Newfoundland but also the British West Indies all units of the empire on the side of the Atlantic —would be consolidated into one great dominion.

London — It was announced recently that, on March 12, there were 1,071,700 unemployed persons registered with the government, 22,600 below the number registered a week previous and 47,000 below the number registered March 13, 1927.

CONFERENCE ON RESOURCES WILL BE HELD SOON

Ottawa.—A conference between representatives of the Dominion and provincial governments concerned will be summoned to meet at the close of the present parliamentary session in the French as agreement with regard to the return of the natural resources to the western provinces. This is disclosed in correspondence on the matter which was tabled in the House of Commons.

The correspondence was between Premier King, Premier J. B. Aberhe, of Alberta, and Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba. In it Premier Bracken refers to the Liberal Government's "prompt and generous manner of instituting the Duncan report commencing the Maritime Provinces," and suggests regarding the western natural resources that "the time is favorable apparently for the settlement of this question by arbitration."

Replying, Premier King said: "in arranging for arbitration we can see some objection to sending the question to the privy council, and, it would therefore be well that we should reach an agreement both with respect to the terms of reference to the arbitration and the tribunal to which the matter is referred." Later he suggested that a conference should be held immediately following the close of the present parliamentary session.

The correspondence with Premier Brownlee is confined to an exchange of telegrams. Premier Brownlee declares that his government is prepared "actively to renew negotiations leading to a complete settlement of the question on the basis of the present session is over." In the meantime, the Alberta Government was considering the matter of the privy council, but was not in position to commit itself to the position of appellant.

Union With Newfoundland

Any Proposal Would Be Welcomed By People Of Canada

Ottawa.—Any representations for union between Canada and Newfoundland would receive favorable consideration of the Canadian Senate. This was elicited recently from the debate which was brought on by the resolution of Senator C. E. Tanner, which declared that "in the opinion of this House, Canada should favorably consider any proposal that may be made by Newfoundland for union with the Dominion of Canada."

Speaking to his resolution, Senator Tanner declared that the Senate could not make anything in the form of a definite proposal, which was necessarily come from the authority of the country, either the government of Canada or that of the Newfoundland. But the Senate was justified in putting upon record its views in regard to public opinion, and that any proposal from Newfoundland for union with Canada would be welcomed and the people of this country were ready to sit down and talk the matter over in a friendly spirit. The Senator pointed out the tremendous interest between Newfoundland and the maritime provinces and to the increasing trade with the two countries. He praised Newfoundland's war effort and its loyalty to a common cause.

Senator Tanner felt that it was desirable that the units of the empire should be consolidated further than they are if the people of Newfoundland should desire it. The senator said he would not like to see the union when not only Newfoundland but also the British West Indies all units of the empire on the side of the Atlantic —would be consolidated into one great dominion.

The ice breaker, City of Milan, which will be used as a mobile base, and by Colonel Umberto Nobile for his dirigible Sigsbie over the Polar regions, sailed from Spezia for Kings Bay, Spitsbergen. The ship is outfitted with the latest scientific instruments and carries a wireless receiving and transmitting set.

The ship is expected to reach Ne Northern goal before the end of April and by that time the Polar summer daylight will have begun. Norwegian workmen are to refit the hangar at Spitsbergen, used by the dirigible Norge on its trans-Polar flight in 1926, for the Italia, General Nobile's present craft.

The Italia successfully completed a test flight of 22 hours with a full load of supplies and a complement of 21 man under General Nobile. It is now at the Baggio airport, near Milan, and will be moved to Northward about the middle of April.

Besides hoping to discover the fabled Franz Josef Land, which lies North, Wilkins intends to find suitable locations for weather observing stations.

Test Pulverized Coal

Will Attempt To Demonstrate Commercial Possibilities Of Fuel

Ottawa.—Development of the commercial possibilities of pulverized coal will be proceeded with immediately by the government. To test the practical possibilities, the government will (a) adapt one of its steamers on the Pacific coast to utilize pulverized coal in the experimental coal in one of the government buildings in British Columbia.

In making the announcement to the House of Commons, Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, said he thought there was a bright future for pulverized fuel, especially for use on freighters. Pulverized fuel was no longer in the experimental stage.

The matter was brought up on a resolution by A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox-Alberni).

Heads Research Council

Sir Joseph Flavelle Will Be Chairman Of Research Council in Ontario

Toronto.—Sir Joseph Flavelle, prominent Toronto capitalist and philanthropist, will be chairman of the industrial research council for the province of which legislation is now before the legislature, Premier Ferguson announced in the House.

A research council composed of leading business men and scientists in the various industries, including agriculture, is to be established. Purpose of the council is to assist and contribute money to the board, and for each dollar contributed by private industry the government will contribute another dollar. The plan is to raise a sum of $2,000,000 in five years, the government paying $1,000 a year, provided private contributions are of equal proportion.

Wants To Explore Northwest By Plane

Toronto Man Makes Application To Department Of Interior

Ottawa.—An ultra-modern mining application made to the Department of the Interior by Col. Cyril D. H. Alpine, of Toronto, said to be acting for the Lindsley interests, was for the right to explore by aeroplane the northwest territories north of latitude 60, and at the same time to be given the exclusive right for a limited time to stake mining claims in that area.

The applicants pointed out that it would bring into review the policy of the government in cooperating with private capital in the exploration of extremely remote territories which for the present is beyond the means of the private prospector. The syndicate would agree to supply the department with air view maps and other information gathered as the exploration was carried on

No decision has yet been given by the department, but it is understood that a measure of the request may be granted. Cost of the exploration would be about $200,000.

LEGISLATIVE PROROGUES AFTER BUSY SESSION

General satisfaction is expressed by Premier Brownlee and the members of the cabinet with the work which has been done during the session of the legislature which prorogued on Wednesday, March 21 having sat from February 2. A total of 79 bills were passed by the Legislature during the session, eight of which were private bills and 71 public bills. It is considered likely that a short session of the house may be called during the summer to consider a number of matters on which final action was not possible during the recent session. The premier expects to leave during the week for Ottawa. The maritime dispossession of the north-a railway line and the return of the Liberal government to the province will be among the problems which will engage his attention during his eastern trip.

MIX — STRINGER

A very happy event took place on Friday last, the 23rd inst, at the home of Miss Farah Whelpton of the town of Lloydminster when the marriage of Mr. John Dennis Mix and Miss Annie Stringer was solemnized by the pastor of the Baptist church. Mr. Mix, who is well known in Vermilion, has recently built a very convenient and modern house on his farm near town. He is also greatly interested in Christian work and is a member of the Plymouth Brethren.

The bride's home is near Carlyle but for the past five years has resided in Saskatoon, holding a good position there on pay clerk in the time office of the C N R. In her spare moments she conducted a class for the Chinese boys of the city and was also an enthusiastic worker in other Christian activities. Upon her departure from Saskatoon a large crowd of friends and well-wishers gathered at the station to bid her God speed.

During the wedding ceremony Miss Stringer wore a very pretty dress of blue silk trimmed with ribbons of the same shade, and carried a lovely bouquet of American Beauty roses, carnations and maiden's hair fern. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the groom's car to the new home awaiting them, carrying with them the well wishes of those who knew them in the border town

Closing Exercises At School Of Agriculture

Thirty-seven students representing widely scattered sections of the northern parts of the province were graduated from the Vermilion school of agriculture Thursday evening last, receiving their diplomas from the hands of the Hon. George Hoadley, minister of agriculture, and who extended each one his compliments and best wishes for the future. The graduation exercises took place in the assembly hall of the school which was far too small for the large number of people who were present to witness the season attendant upon the closing of the school for the term. It was a brilliant occasion and as each student stepped forward to receive his parchment, prolonged applause ensued from the audience.

Following are the names of those who graduated: Gladys Brodzik, of Hughenden; Mary Emmott, Manville; Mable Fiander, Rosyth; Gerda Gunde; son, Provost; Gladys Hodgins, Fort Saskatchewan; Helen Holmen, Riverton; Frances Kemper, Metiskow; Edna Long, Barlee; Jean McIntyre, Chauvin; Jessie Milkovich, Royal Park; Donna Orford, Amisk; Marcella Pechtanach, Vermilion; Emma Riester, Bruderheim; Grace Shandruk, Two Hills; Magnus Winters, Vermilion; William Brown, Minburn; Edwin Barker, Innisfree, William Craig, Lone Rock, Sask.; William Cherniawsky, Mundare; Oscar Gudmundson, Grande Prairie; Arthur Larcombe, Minburn, William McCrea, Vermilion; John Parker, Edmonton; Peter Mazura, Bon Accord; Gordon Matheson, Riverton; John P. Mackenzie, Riverton; Donald Matheson, Riverton; Howie Pavilat, Royal Park; William A. Ross, Beaver Lodge; William Suddaby, Lavoy; Paul Syvoture, Edmonton; Gaylord Taylor, Hughenden; Jack Tymchuk, Vegreville; Teddy Roose, Camrose; George Van den Daele, Islay; Albert Van den Daele, Islay; Peter Wylie, Vegreville.

Fashion Parade

The school was thrown open during the afternoon to the public for inspection of the exhibits of the school work, most of the attraction centering on the fashion parade in the assembly hall. The lady students, bedecked in garments and millinery of their own make, passed in review before the largest number of spectators ever gathered to witness this feature connected with the closing ceremonies. The show was highly successful, the exhibits were neatly and attractively made and considered by experts to be beyond criticism. The young ladies were commended on their work.

The exhibits in carpentry and blacksmithing were also greatly admired by the hundreds of people that thronged to inspect them. Special surprise was also created by the home work and the training shown tractor repairs. Nothing was most complete, the object being to send the students out with an adequate working knowledge of every phase of engine and tractor work

The banquet tendered the graduating class by the department was a very enjoyable function and was this year honored by the presence of the Hon. George Hoadley and the Hon. R. G. Reid, member for the riding and provincial treasurer, both of whom addressed the students, congratulating them on their success and impressing upon them that the future of the province rested largely upon what young men and women such as they would make it. Short addresses were also made by Principal Elliott and other members of the staff, all complimenting the graduates on their success for the year.

Mr. Hoadley Speaks

The program in connection with the convocation exercise which took place in the assembly hall and was attended by over 500 people, included addresses by the Hon Hon Bey, the Hon Mr. Reid and Mayor Fallow, the principal subjects being that of the ministry of agriculture stressing the opportunities that lay before the young men and women who were passing out of the school, he brought to their minds the progress made by Alberta in the last twenty-five years. In 1901 the population was 17,000 with about 2500 farms. Today there are 27,000 farms. There were then 250 schools with a school population of 8,000; today there are 186,000 children attending schools of which 64,000 are in rural sections. In 1906 the average return to the farmer was $542.00, today the return is $1,100. The value of all agricultural products then was sixteen millions; today, three hundred and thirty millions. Then we had only 24 people to every square mile and with an area of two hundred and fifty five million square miles of arable land it was readily seen that in Alberta alone we have an empire that has scarcely been touched. No one could foresee the wonderful development within the next twenty five years.

Protect Our Forest Resources

Among the varied natural resources which go to make up Canada's enormous potential wealth the forests occupy a most important place. As to how generally known, Canada has within recent years moved into first place among the nations of the world in the production of paper, having passed the United States which up to a few years ago was the world's largest producer. The great development of water powers, now so marked a feature of Canada's industrial progress has been largely brought about because of the growth of the pulp and paper industry. This water power development is however, vitally affecting the whole life of the Dominion.

Apart from the pulp and paper industry, the forests have an influence, and play a direct part upon practically every department of Canada's national life whether it be the social, economic, financial, agricultural or industrial. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that the forests of Canada be protected and conserved.

In full realization of the fact, the Dominion Government has by royal proclamation issued by His Excellency the Governor-General, set apart the week of April 22 to 28 as "Canadian Forest Week." Statements contained in this royal proclamation may serve to bring home to Canadians the effect and value of forests in ways in which they have given little thought. In this proclamation the following facts are emphasized.

1. Our national income depends on our forest industries more than on any other source except agricultural.

2. Our forest industries depend on the timber crops now standing ripe in the forest, and their very existence is jeopardized by any preventable wastage of timber supplies. The future of the forest industries depends on the young growth and immature timber of today, and the prosperity of these industries will be in direct proportion to the care and protection afforded this growing timber.

3. Our water-powers depend upon the stability of stream flow throughout the year, the equilibrium of which is disturbed by denudation of the forest cover on the drainage basins, resulting in alternate periods of floods and low water

4. Our irrigation works demand protection—forests are the fountain-head of irrigation.

5. Our agricultural lands depend on distant watersheds for the maintenance of subsoil moisture during the growing period, and are robbed of productivity by the waterful rivers of which the forests are denuded.

6. Our game and fur-bearing animals depend on the forest for their natural protection, and decrease in numbers or retreat to more remote regions as the forest cover disappears.

7 Our tourist traffic depends in a great measure on scenic and other attractions offered in such abundance by the forest and would be seriously affected if wantonly wasteful methods be tolerated into desolate wastes.

This enormously valuable asset to any country—and Canada is among the wealthiest in forest resources among the nations of the world—is threatened by two dangers both of which are man-caused and therefore preventable.—(1) Almost universal carelessness with fire in the forest, resulting in the destruction, not only of timber and young growth, but of the very soil which produces it, and (2) the use of wasteful and destructive cutting methods without any thought of ensuring a new crop.

It is in recognition of all these facts that during "Canadian Forest Week," April 22 to 28 in which week the attention of the general public to travel and recreation in the forest with attendant fire danger, the people of Canada are officially urged to resolve for another year to recognize the situation as set out in this proclamation and to give careful heed to the information issued by the several forest authorities and agencies in Canada to the end that all may be encouraged to a sustained and patriotic effort in promoting the conservation of this valuable resource

A TIRED FEELING IN SPRINGTIME

Not Sick, But Not Up To the Mark—You Need the Help Of That Sterling Tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—They Give Nerve Vigor and Health

With the passing of winter many people feel more than usually weak and tired. The body lacks the vital force and energy pure blood alone can give, and the nerves, in short, exactly sick, the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon them. A blood-building, nerve-restoring tonic is needed to give renewed health and vigor. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an all-year-round blood builder and nerve tonic, but are especially useful in the spring. Every dose they take does them good, puts fresh blood, and with this new blood rejuvenated nerves. Then comes health and good health quickly follow.

If you are pale, easily tired, or have that "all in" feeling at exertion, if your complexion is poor or you are troubled with rumpled skin, headaches, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are just what is most needed

in a Low Priced Car

THE most recent trend of automobile design is strikingly exemplified in the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet. The high, narrow radiator . . . the long, low bodies . . . the motorless appearance of the hood from front to rear . . . the stylish blending of colors in finish and upholstery . . . these distinguish Chevrolet as unmistakably new and fashionable. In power, in speed and safety, the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet is no less modern and vigorous. Countless refinements in engine design give Chevrolet a performance as dependable as it is brilliant.

Germination tests of wheat which has been threshed this spring prove that the vitality has been badly damaged. If there is widespread planting of this spring threshed wheat, disastrous results will follow. The directors of the Alberta Wheat Pool are greatly concerned over this menace and urge farmers to have their seed tested for germination.

New Era Dawning

These closing exercises marked the last under the conditions that have prevailed since the opening of the school back in the fall of 1913. With 1928 a new era dawns for this institution. In the course of the summer months there will be erected near the school a dormitory at a cost of $20c,000 to accommodate at least 200 students. It will be complete with all modern facilities, including a cream store, bathroom, dining hall, etc., and in this way the school will have what will be given the school. The people had been reached where the school either had to be allowed or drag back. Several of the grade are had decided not to come back because of inability to accommodations and parents had become loth to permit their child ren to attend under the conditions which they were beyond the control of any particular authority

It was very gratifying, then, to the staff and all interested when the announcement was made that there was a dormitory and house the students under one roof instead of being spar bered all over the town as in former . . . Undoubtedly this will have a great effect upon the school life, an entirely new atmosphere will prevail throughout the institution. The attendance in 1927-28 was the largest in the history of the school. Immediately it became known that a dormitory was to be built, applications began to come in and attending students, many of whom were not coming back, enrolled at once and will be here when the bells ring next October. Principal Elliott says he will have no difficulty whatever in filling the school for the next term. The outlook is the most hopeful in the history of the school.

The Vermilion school of agriculture was opened in 1913, the building, with manager's residence and one or two barns, having been just completed. The first principal was E. A. Howes, now dean of the department of agriculture of the University of Alberta. The number of students was about 50, of whom some 15 were girls, mostly from the town. The staff was small. J. G. Taggart taught animal husbandry, E. S. Hopkins, science, and L. Shanks, mathematics. Dr. Talbot was the veterinary instructor, George Scott looked after the carpentry while H. W. Scott was the farm superintendent There were two domestic science teachers. The present staff consists of: W. J. Elliott, principal; S. Hochbert, farm engineering; J. F. Andrews, animal husbandry; R. J. Whitbread, agronomy; W. G. Castlevgh, special instructor; F. B. Dixon, mathematics and high school studies; W. H. Brown, science; C. H. Haworth, veterinary science; A. B. Sharpe, farm blacksmithing. H. A. Pearson, dairying, W. G. Mulder, English and mathematics, while Miss M. J. Alexander, Miss F. N. Edwards and Miss M. P. Shaw are in charge of the home economics department, where the girls are taught everything from laundering to the making of party dresses and Parisian millinery. Mrs. E. Corley has the home nursing department.

There were 18 British boys in attendance this year. Two of these were from Wales, four from Scotland and the rest from England. They are distributed now on farms all the way from New Lindsay, near the border, to the Peace River district, in the north. Many were boys of brilliant attainments

Two Ministers Speak

On Thursday noon the Hon. George Hoadley and the Hon. R. G. Reid, who were both present to attend graduation exercises, were guests of Vermilion, the board of trade and the Vermilion agricultural society at luncheon served at the local hotels. Tickets were limited for want of larger accommodation. Both addresses were made by the distinguished visitors and others, in closing his worship Mayor Fallow, following the luncheon, accompanied by Principal Elliott and several of the local citizens, the ministers visited the school where they were presented to the staff and students, spending the rest of the afternoon in going over the different departments of the institution. They were immensely pleased with the "fashion parade," one of the most interesting features connected with graduation day. The parade was witnessed by a large number of the ladies of the town, also lady visitors from outside who had come to attend the closing of the school. The "show" consists of all the lady students representing themselves in party dress, household apparel, millinery etc. made by themselves during the year. The attractive and useful nature of the display made quite an impression up on the spectators and indicated quite a tude on the part of the lady students that reflected greatly to the credit of the Instruction received

There was quite a number of visitors this year from long distances and throughout the afternoon members of the faculty were busy in showing them over the plant. Special interest was taken in the carpentry and blacksmithing work done by the students during the term. Many said that acquiring this knowledge alone was well worth the time spent at the school. Some of the work was equal to the best a professional could produce The visiting ministers were simply amazed at what the boys had accomplished. It was of interest that one lady student had taken the straight farm course and did her part at carpentry, blacksmithing engine work, as well as coaching it in the barns and domestic work.

CHRYSLER AND OAKLAND LOCK HORNS ON HIGHWAY

A serious accident was narrowly averted last Monday night when Blakely Barton was run into by men from Lloydminster driving a Chrysler car. Mr. Barton was leaving town and travelling westward in his Oakland; he had just passed the College when he noticed another car approaching from the west and on the left hand side of the road. Blakely gave them all the road possible but as they continued straight ahead he finally made for the ditch just a second too late as the Chrysler caught and rubbed the left hind fender of his car but suffered a damaged front fender and light itself.

Up before the magistrate Tuesday morning the Lloydminster men were ordered to pay the cost of the damages to Barton's car and were also fined for driving with a 1927 license.

Mr. J. Caiuanach, with and two children are now at home on the Dunn farm, Trimbleville, five miles north of Islay. Mr. and Mrs. Caiuanach are from the land of the heather. Small Town Papers

BY
FRANK PARKER STOCKBRIDGE

Reported by special permission from Reporter Evening Post Copyright 1926, by The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia

It was in the papers a little while ago that one of these modern novelists had brought a couple of country newspapers somewhere in West Virginia. He wanted something to make a living at, it said, so he thought he didn't sound exactly right to me.

I never read any of the gentleman's novels, but from the publicity he gets in the highbrow literary magazines every time he brings out a new one, anyone who didn't know much about the novel business would think the royalties must roll in so fast that the author would never have to do any real work. like running a country newspaper, for instance. But the funny part was his idea that he could make a living out of a country weekly, or two of them.

I knew something about country weeklies I started my journalistic life by cleaning the spittoons and washing the growler for the editor and the printer and inking the form on the Washington hand press with a big two-handled roller, while Uncle Jay Gleason pulled her over. When we had got the weekly run of ten hundred or two pages at a time, Wednesdays and Fridays, we knew we'd been working.

You see between the time when I first "got into" type boxes in the old Georgetown Courant shop over Ah Wing Jackson's Chinese laundry, and the time when I went to the city as a reporter to finish my trade as a newspaperman I got to be what is called all there was to know about country newspapers. I never worked on one of them after I got the idea I had, but there hadn't been a spill of ink under my nose for more than fifty years that I haven't been reminded of it and stop the sniff and wish that I split my forefinger reading dodgers about Arab-Arrow Corn Cure or even raise a rain starts to come up. That stuff doesn't changed everything else, in a way it abanted me from the idea to the proof box which turned me into a fan entry to the editorial end that that hasn't anything to do with country newspapers

Where I got my big laugh out of the newspaper item about the novelist was remembering the way it, himself, from the editor of the Old Courant, had to battle for cash every Saturday morning to get the latest insides out of the express office. That took cash. Nobody ever heard of Saturday boiling event. He had to give plenty though. Typesetters paid up when they felt like it or not at all. Often as not they would pay in kind for their back numbers of paper, and sometimes advertisers did the same. Advertisers could always stand the editor off by threatening to pull their ads out of the paper. There was only so much business to be had, and they would get it anyhow, so they were merely doing the editor a favor by advertising at all.

I remember all the time when old Otis Muncaster, who ran the lumberyard, settled a three months' advertising bill with six barrels of lime, only a few other instances of that sort, and I felt sort of sorry for the poor fish who had let somebody unload a couple of country papers on him. Not one paper, mind you, that would have been bad enough, but the pair in the papers and he had had two wished on him! If he just wanted any experience something to use for material for more novels that might be a good way to get it, but to make a living out of it just didn't fit with all I knew about country weeklies.

Then I ran into Bert Mills literally ran into him in the crowd at the Democratic and Republican Balls, by the library I hadn't seen or heard anything of him for twenty years, not since he quit his job on the copy desk of the Globe. I remembered hearing at the time that his father died suddenly and he had gone back upstate to settle the family affairs, but that was the last anybody around New York had heard of him.

I wouldn't have known him if he hadn't spotted me first. It took only a minute to assure me that he had been successful. It wasn't only his clothes, though they were what any business man might wear. It was his way of looking at you and speaking to you, the air of a man accustomed to dealing with all sorts of people. He was glad to see me and I was just as glad to see him.

Still in the newspaper game, old timer? he asked after we had thoroughly handled a while. I told him no, I'd been out of it for a good many years.

"I'm sort of tired, too," said Bert. "Play a little golf, do a little fishing, go down to Florida for a couple of months in the winter, run around, invent things. I've got a couple of inventions that I'm working on myself, and so has the fellows I know"

Bert must have inherited money than I'd thought. It seemed. Before I could ask him what he had been doing all those years, he was ratting on about his folks

Remember Sarah Mrs Mills? he asked. "Dee, I wish we'd had a few minutes longer, she'd have been glad to see you I just left her at one of the big stores. She comes down every little while to shop."

I did remember Bert's wife an austere, disciplined, tired-looking little woman with a boisterous big husband to cart band. I had had dinner with them once in a while at the flat out Flatbush way Even twenty years ago it was hard sledding in New York for a man with a family on only a week

You wouldn't know her now," Bert went on. "I was afraid, first, she wasn't going to like it in a small town. She was born and raised in Brooklyn, you know, and Brooklyn people hate to change but nobody in Middletown is ever thinks of her as an outsider They even tried to get her to run for Assembly last year. She's the politicians of the family I founded right now for the president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs."

He'd put both his boys through Cornell, he told me, and had a girl, too, who was a junior at Syracuse. One of his boys was married and he even had a pair of grandchildren.

And while he talked I racked my memory to try to locate Middletown. It must be an important town, but somehow I couldn't place it.

"You haven't told me the most important thing of all, Bert," I said when he had finished about his family. "What I'd like to hear about is what did you get it? I had an idea your folks were farmers."

"FLYING IRONCLADS" PROVE SUCCESSFUL

Britain's All-Metal Planes Reach Singapore Without Mishap

Great Britain's "flying ironclads," otherwise the four Royal Air Force metal flying boats, arrived at Singapore, thus completing a flight of 10,000 miles and the first of its kind ever attempted in the history of aviation.

It is pointed out that this is the greatest "showing the flag" flight yet accomplished, and the fact that it was unmarred by a single mishap proves that British research and British construction are unsurpassed.

All metal flying craft, it is now believed, are destined to play a great part in the tropics—a question hitherto to the subject of dispute between experts and thus satisfactorily settled.

British air power throughout the eastern world has been enormously enhanced as a result of the cruise of the Royal Air Force flying boats, as their successful flight has proved that Britain leads the world in this class of fighting craft.

The air cruisers, whose base is at Singapore, shortly intend to resume their trip toward Australia, from where they will return via Singapore, thus completing an Empire flight of 23,000 miles—the greatest ever undertaken.

Another indication of British supremacy in the air is shown in the announcement that in the next Schneider Cup races, Britain's representatives expect to achieve a speed of 320 miles an hour. In this connection experts are agreed that at the present rate of speed development, Britain will soon be able to produce machines capable of flying at a speed rate of 350 miles an hour—the only drawback to such a stupendous speed being that it is impossible to turn sharply in the air because an airscrew, owing to centrifugal force, is likely to become momentarily unconscious This danger, however, is not to be feared when the flight is straight.

Livestock In Prairie Provinces

The value of livestock on farms in the Prairie Provinces, comprising horses, cattle, sheep and swine, in 1927, was $234,940,000, as compared with $222,333,000 in 1926, according to the annual report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The increase was due to increased numbers and to higher prices.

THE RESURRECTION

Golden Text: "Because I live, ye shall live also."—John 14.19.
Lesson: Mark 16.1-20.

Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 15.35-26.

Explanations and Comments

Three Women Visit the Tomb Of Christ, verses 1-4.—Very early on Sunday morning, just as the sun was rising, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome went to the tomb of Christ for the purpose of anointing his body with spices.

As three women went on their way to the tomb they were talking thereselves, "Who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the tomb?" The stone probably a cylindrical one which could be rolled to either side in front of the door of the tomb. But was too heavy for the women themselves to move, being "exceeding great." As they approached, they saw that the stone had been rolled away.

The Lord is Risen, verses 4-8.—While Mary Magdalene ran to tell Peter and John that the stone was removed, the other women entered the tomb and saw a young man arrayed in a white robe (an angel) sitting within. Luke 24.4 speaks of two men, and in Matthew 28 an angel is sitting upon the stone without the tomb, but, as the One Volume Commentary suggests, "Each slight discrepancy harmonies well with the excited feelings from which each vision would be likely to produce. Minute and detailed harmony in independent narratives under such circumstances would be suspicious."

The young man in the tomb said to the women, "He not amazed: ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, which was been crucified; He is risen; He is not here. Instead of it being a disappointing that there was a resurrection on Easter morning, let us ask ourselves if it would not have been more sur prising if there had been a resurrection. Would it not have been indeed a disappointing if He had been done to a full stop on the day of the crucifixion? Of course, it is. But He come to such a stop, we should never have heard of the life at all, but how amazing to think that a life like Jesus' could stop! Peter had the right angle from which to view the Resurrection when he declared that it was impossible for death to hold Christ."—F. J. McConnell.

"Precious Stones Pave Road

Costly Blunder Revealed in Streets Of Russian Town

What is declared to be the most costly blunder in the world has been revealed in the Russian town of Sverdlovsk. Nearly $2,500,000 worth of precious stones have been used in road making there. The job was bought for an equivalent of $50. Huge blocks of jasper were buried in the ground, and then came a layer of emeralds, topaz and even jade were crushed to use in the paving The whole was then to be similar to that of Millsberby, South Africa, when the streets of the city were first paved. The blue clay used there contained diamonds, and when the mistake was discovered it was carefully scraped up and washed. More than $5,000,000 worth of gems, some as big as hazel nuts, were recovered. The timely discovery saved the blunder less costly than that in Russia.

So you and George are to be married? I thought it was only a flirtation."

Looks Like Real Bargain

Few People Realize Marvels Of Postal System

In this day and age when almost every home contains a radio and a telephone conversation between New York and London has become a daily occurrence, it is doubtful that we seldom think of the marvels of the postal system which carries letters from one country to another at every part of the world at a very low rate of postage. The other day I read an article describing the hazards of earlier postal systems, when letters were carried on horseback from one point to another, when the time of travel between Philadelphia and New York was a matter of days, not of hours. Not so very long ago it cost $1.93 to have a letter carried from this country to Australia. When the first penny post office was established in London the rate of letter postage was eight cents for the first fifteen miles, with a rising scale for twenty-five cents for three hundred miles, and those rates prevailed in 1840, the year our husband's years ago.

Andrew Hamilton was the first postmaster-general of the American colonies in 1692, and he undertook the task of establishing an inter-colonial service. This post was purchased by the British crown in 1707 and from that time until a year prior to the Revolutionary War the postal service in America was controlled by the general post office in London. In 1711 the mail was carried every two weeks between Boston and New York, and in 1717 a weekly mail service was established between New York and Philadelphia. Ten years later there was a service every two weeks between Philadelphia and Annapolis. Post riders were used there carrying the mail on the post system A letter is carried and delivered from any point in the United States to any other point in United States territory, Canada and England for two cents, any point in Europe for five cents, and all the travelling it must do before it reaches its destination, you will agree that the postal service gives you a very real bargain, indeed.

All the women on the second floor had been in to take a look at the pretty young thing with her golden hair spread out on the pillow, and all the radiant baby, who, pink, fat and fine, slept with her two little rosettes of hands rolled into her cheeks.

"Her house is thatched—God bless her," said Mrs. Corbett, as she reverently covered the baby's head. "Poor little helpless mite, who wouldn't be good to her?"

Late that night a sound came through the three sugar holes in the storm sash which had a meaning for Helmi. It was the ringing of a train bell as the delayed Canadian Northern train felt its way carefully out of the prairie mists here and there in belated passengers. People may be born or may die, but someone has to run the trains. The Pelkie to Brandon House stood near the tracks, and the sound came distinctly and lonesomely to Helmi as she lay awake herself on her elbow and listened, her eyes eager and straining.

When the train had gone behind the Great West Garment Factory, and the sound of the bell had grown fainter and fainter, it was lost and lost in the myriad sounds of the city. Helmi fell back on her pillow sobbing like a dog in a storm. "Home for Christmas! Home for Christmas!" she murmured. "Welcome to 'canada — Me! Me—the one that said I'd not go to train any more—I will go down deep under snow—snow is best place."

Away below the snow, in another world, Helmi's soul wandered lonesomely, torn with the old problem of whether to go on or stay. Life was too hard—it had been too hard for Aunt Lil, so she stepped out and left life go without them. God couldn't blame her for quitting Why didn't He make life a little easier for them, too? God was all-powerful—He could make life as He liked

God was not quite fair. Why had He let them be so wrong with her . . . Why had Jack turned against her? Why had a baby come to her, when she had no money?

Then Rose Lamb was right, God was on the same side every time. God was like the two magazines, reefaced, mad, terrible. . . . She hated God!

"She's a fine child," he said, and went back to his supper.

"Whether she is an honest woman or not, I do not know." Mrs. Corbett concluded her recital; "but I do know this—she has been treated bad. Ain't men the limit, anyway? To go out and leave a poor girl like that with no money and no one to help her through a confinement!"

John Corbett went on buttering his bread on the palm of his hand, and making no attempt to defend his sex.

"Oh, I guess they are all bad, right enough," he said pleasantly. "I often wonder myself why the Lord ever made them. It's a good thing they come a wee every wee while to fill them off—the divils!"

"Shut up, John, you sly old dog," said his wife, laughing, "you sure do like to get a rise out of me."

"I'm not just trying to agree with you, woman!" he said.

When Danny Corbett, aged ten, left Vancouver on the Victoria Crown during the great war, is to bring the railway company's newest passenger steamer, the Princess Elaine, from Glasgow to Victoria, B. C., whence it will enter the Vancouver-Seattle run early in May. The vessel was built at Clydebank

Captain Hurst was one of the 200 men left in the Canadian Pacific service who entered the royal navy during the war He was in command of a mystery ship, Pargust one day when she was torpedoed by a submarine From all indications the Pargust was a tramp steamer. A big hole was blown in her side. She settled fast and she soon developed a heavy list. All of the crew with the exception of Hurst and a few ne daring, remained hidden aboard, fled in lifeboats When it appeared that the ship was abandoned, the submarine drew up and circled its victim Then came action, Stuart and his little party jumped from their hiding places, the concealed guns and opened fire with the result that the undersea craft was sunk with all on board, including the officer and one man.

Letter Tells of Wonderful Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Capleton, Ontario.—"After a severe operation and I was confined to my bed for a long time. I was in a very weak condition and so weak that I was unable to sit up in a chair. For four months I was almost frantic with pain and could not be any help for me. I had every doctor around here but they could do me no good. I was so weak I could not even sit up in bed without my head falling over. One day when I was not able to get up my mother begged me to try your medicine. My husband got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it. I started a second bottle, and to my surprise and joy I found in my side I felt more completely and I am able to do all my work without help. I am a farmer's wife, so you see I can't be idle long. In all, I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of the Compound Tablets, two bottles of Lydia E. Continue To Uphold Authority Of Canada

Work Of R.C.M.P. Again Revealed In Annual Report

How the Royal Canadian Mounted Police—formerly styled the Royal Northwest Mounted Police continue to uphold the authority of Canada in the Arctic wastes, thousands of miles from civilization, is told in simple yet graphic language in the annual report of that body which has just been made public by Commissioner Cortlandt Starnes.

From the region below the snow came Helmi at the sound Helmi, with her baby bundle in her arms, her speaking in every monument, ready to face the world. The Shelter Lil understood the words, and, lying in her mother's arms, went peacefully to sleep. The loneliness of the future ceased to trouble her. And Helmi, soothed by the presence of the little warm thing, so exquisitely real and sweet, slipped gently into the kind grey mists of forgetfulness where tortuning hopes and choking fears were all held at bay by a kind gray wall in whose shadows her little young soul found peace.

"Lil is all right," said Maggie Corbett, when Mrs Kalinski expressed her fears. "She is strong and healthy, and has a long sleep to get her good. Ain't it God's mercy that she can sleep and forget her troubles, when they are, poor girl as wards, when they are in need to be to establish post offices and customs houses and to exercise jurisdiction in the name of the king that vast sub-continent that lies beyond the Northern shores of the civilized

Australia's Fiscal Fight

After serving fifty years with a well known publishing house in Melbourne, Miss Annie M. Clark, said to be the first typist in Australia, has retired. When the firm's agency imported the first typewriter in 1885, Miss Clarke, who was then but fifteen, was selected to operate the ridicule that was heaped upon women who entered business in those days and obtained a position in the office Carlton paper and typewriter ribbons were then so scarce that they were taken home at night to be used ed out

Train Stops Are Costly

Every Signal Check Means Expense To Railway Company

Although many people complain when a train is delayed because the signal is against it, few realize that every signal check is a matter of expense to the railway company. The cost of stopping and starting a passenger train in England is three shillings and sixpence, and in the case of a freight train between five and six shillings In a year this amounts to a big sum. Because of this railway companies are trying to equalize signal sections, in order to eliminate unnecessary signals.

To Improve Main Roads

Government Is Calling for Tenders for Four Different Projects

Tenders are being called for by the department of public works for four road-making projects the first item on the government's highway program for the coming season. They are for re-surfacing parts of the main highway between Red Deer and Calgary and for grading three pieces of the Edmonton-Lloydminster road, as follows: Mundare to Vegreville, 12 miles; Innisfree to Vermilion, 29 miles; and Lamont to a point south of Chipman, 14 miles. These sections of the east-and-west highway will be re-built to conform with the uniform standard requirement for motor roads.

It is the intention of the department to follow this initial block of tenders which are to be in by April 18, with other program projects as quickly as possible. Work will be commenced as soon as the contracts are awarded, and an active season is looked for.

FOOTBALL

Weather permitting, a football practise will be held on Sunday, April 15th at 3 o'clock. All members of the club as well as others interested are asked to be present if possible. Any interested who are not able to attend are asked to communicate with Vernon H. Cooper, as unless there is a goodly number of players available, it is doubtful if the club will re-organize.

District Court Sittings

Mike Klutz, a young farmer from the Myrnam district, was sentenced by His Honor Judge Dubue to three months at the provincial gaol at Fort Saskatchewan at the sitting of the District Court held here on Tuesday. Klutz pleaded guilty to the charge of theft of a load of grain. J. W. Morrison made a plea for leniency on behalf of the accused. A. H. Gibson represented the Crown. A good deal of time was given to the hearing of an interpleader issue in which Mrs Emma Alton of Kitscoty was the claimant as against Mrs. H. B Threadgold and soon as judgment creditors. The execution creditor was Robert Alton Belsure was made under the threshold of grain and chattels and Mrs Alton claimed these as her property. The judge upheld the claim of Mrs Alton declaring that the chattels belong to her property. A. W. G. Morrison appeared for Mrs Alton and F. J. Hibbardson for Mrs Threadgold

Returned Men Hold A Most Successful Smoker

The "Smoker" held in the Memorial Hall on Monday evening by the Vermilion branch of the Canadian Legion was one of the most successful functions ever staged by local veterans. The gathering, which was composed entirely of "returned men," included visiting Comrades from Toronto, Winnipeg and Calgary, and the entertainment arranged by the committee in charge was reminiscent of some of the "good old times" overseas. The popular army songs were sung again by the entire company with as much vigor and volume as ever, while individual numbers were rendered by those with operatic ambitions. Comrade W. B. Elford presided at the piano in his usual able manner, and Comrades Jock Newall and Sid Brass looked after the "inner man" with unqualified success. A short and humorous speech by the president (Comrade W. E. Futney) and the singing of the National Anthem brought to a close a most enjoyable evening; and much credit is due the entertainment committee for the splendid way in which they "put it over."

Bennett To Tell Of Robb's Release

To Clear Up Fleeing of Man Convicted of Election Fraud

OTTAWA, April 10.—Hon. R. B. Bennett was in his place in the house this afternoon.

He intimated he will make an early occasion to raise a question of privilege regarding the recent discussion on electoral irregularities in the district of Athabasca. During the progress of the debate it will be recalled Sir Henry Drayton referred to the release from the penitentiary of Judge Robb, and Hon. Lucien Cannon made an interjection which was construed to mean that Mr. Bennett had been a party to the clemency exercised. Afterwards, Mr. Cannon said he had been misunderstood and withdrew the statement.

The opposition leader however promises to clear up the matter completely so far as he is concerned.

Railway Construction in the West

Only a few years ago there was a feeling throughout Canada that the construction of railways in the Dominion had been rather overdone. This opinion was freely stated by many men in public life, by bank presidents and financiers and found expression in newspapers all over the country. The statement was frequently made that Canada had built railways fifty years in advance of the time when they would be needed and the population and productive capacity of the country warranted. The greatest financial danger confronting the Dominion, it was alleged, was its heavy commitments on account of railways.

The fact that Canada possesses the greatest railway mileage per capita of any country in the world and the further fact that a few years ago during the war the Canadian Northern Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways got into financial difficulties and had to be taken over by the Dominion Government and that for some years following during the postwar depression the Canadian National was operated at a heavy financial loss no doubt accounted for these rather pessimistic views. An entirely different opinion exists today.

When the C.P.R. was first projected the same faint-hearted views prevailed. The idea of a trans-continental railway across Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific crossing thousands of miles of undeveloped prairie land and over the Rocky Mountains, was ridiculed in the English press as the dream of madmen and even in Canada it was predicted that such a railway would never earn the cost of its axle grease. The world realizes today how false all these dire predictions have proven to be.

The opinions expressed only a few years ago during the anxious days of the war and the world depression which followed are proving to be equally erroneous.

In a most instructive address before the Canadian Club at Regina recently, Mr Cyril Young, of the Industrial Development Department of the Canadian National Railways stated that for hundreds of miles along the main line of the new trans-continental through the clay belt of Ontario, the railway was earning an operating surplus while bringing about settlement and building up important industries giving to Canada what heretofore it has lacked—depth in addition to its immense width.

In the past, Canada has boasted of its boundaries reeling upon two oceans and still west. Now with the rapid pushing forward of the Hudson Bay Railway, Canada looks forward with eager anticipation and confidence to the day not far distant when its commerce will likewise pass through a third ocean to the north. And even before that railway is completed to tidewater, a branch line is being pushed to completion in order to handle the enormous traffic which will result from the development of the Flin Flon and other mining areas of the north which, it is predicted, will rival the richest mineral areas in the known world.

Today, instead of believing that railway construction has been overdone in Canada, the two great railway systems of the Dominion are steadily increasing their construction programmes, the last year Parliament authorized an extensive branch lines construction programme for the Canadian National, largely in Western Canada, and providing for the building within three years of some hundreds of miles of new railways. That work, which was started last year, is to be pushed with vigor during 1928.

Nor does the C.P.R. lag behind. The annual report of that Company issued last month records the fact that during 1927 no less than 323 miles of new branch lines were graded and track laid on 170 miles, while for the year 1928 the five are recommend the building of no less than eleven extensions in the prairie provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan involving the construction of an additional 247 miles of new lines.

Not to be outdone by the West, the Ontario Government is steadily pushing its system northward towards Hudson Bay, while branch feeders are spreading out into districts where mining developments are taking place.

The Government at Ottawa is contracted with applications for new railway charters for lines in northern Ontario, Alberta and British Columbia, aggregating thousands of miles with a view to providing for the opening up and development of the north country and the creation of new outlets to the Pacific.

These are the answers now being given to those who predicted disaster for Canada on account of its railway construction of a few short years ago. Take Saskatchewan as an example. Transportation among the provinces it already enjoys a railway mileage second only to that of Ontario, and during this year of 1928 work will be in progress upon approximately 500 miles of new branch lines, not including the Hudson Bay Railway and the Flin Flon branch both of which will directly serve the Province.

And as if to provide the final answer to the faint-hearted of a few years ago the Canadian National has turned its operating deficits into substantial operating surpluses surpluses sufficiently large to meet all the interest payments on bonds and debentures held by the public, while through the encouragement given to settlement and industrial development all over the country, the Federal Government is receiving a substantial albeit indirect, return for the money Canada has invested in that system.

Railway development must proceed, and future, in the foundation upon which Canadians are erecting a strong, prosperous, and ultimately self-contained nation, a nation that is destined to occupy a place in the very front rank of world powers.

A SPRING TONIC AN AID TO HEALTH

You Can Lay the Foundation Of Good Health Now By Building Up Your Blood Supply and Strengthening Your Nerves Through the Use Of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The good old fashion of taking a tonic in the Spring has lost most of the customs of our grandparents, is a fact to be deplored, for a good tonic and good medical practice. Nature always a trying time for those who are not in vigorous health, and many women and children go through the Spring months and Summer, not enjoying the sunny season or deriving from it the benefit that should be stored up during the sunny months for the winter days ahead. Weakness and lassitude are the signs that nerves at this time will do much for the health of many, the bloom in the cheeks and banishing that tired feeling that is so characteristic of people at this season of the year.

It is impossible to be energetic if your nerves are frayed or shattered. You cannot enjoy life when you are languid and tired. You cannot be a real help to others if you do not get refreshing sleep at night, or if your appetite is poor and you are losing weight. You need a tonic at this time to add to your efficiency now, as well as to save you from serious illness later on. And in the realm of medicine, there is no tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills tone and enrich the blood which circulates to every nerve, muscle and body, strengthening jaded nerves and running down systems, driving a feeling of new strength and energy to weak, ready tired, despondent, discouraged men and children.

Mrs. L. Hopman, Summerville Centre, N.B., writes:—"Dr Williams' Pink Pills have been of the greatest benefit to me. A few years ago I was in a badly run down condition. I became so weak and nervous that I could scarcely do about and doing my housework left me completely worn out. Everything seemed to worry me, and I was in a very discouraged condition when I began taking Dr Williams' Pink Pills, and continuing them, I gained rapidly regained my health. From then I always take a few boxes in the Spring to build up my health, I feel weather, and always find the best results. Therefore I cheerfully recommend these pills as the best of all tonics."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TRANSFIGURATION AND SERVICE

Golden Text: "He that abideth in Me, and I in him, the same bareth much fruit; for apart from Me ye can do nothing."—John 15.5.

Lesson: Mark 9.2-29.

Devotional Reading: John 15.1-8.

Explanations and Comments

The Transfiguration, verses 2-8.—Six days after Peter's expression of his conviction that Jesus is the Christ, Jesus took Peter, James, and John apart from the rest and ascended a high mountain where he was transfigured before them. The other disciples may have been too superstitious or too dull of comprehension for such a revelation of His glory.

"The longer we live the more profoundly we believe that no one has actually more than two or three friends. He is a friend—and only he —in whom you can lay bare your heart without the pledge of secrecy. The real friend is interested in your joys, your triumphs, your failures just as much as in your sorrows."—Locke.

Luke 9.30 says that the fashion of His countenance was altered," Matthew 17.2 says "His face did shine as the sun, "the glory of the Godhead burst through the veil of the flesh. "It was not a splendour that fell on Him from without, and lighted Him up; the glory came from within; it corresponded in nature to what going on in His mind."—Davidson. It was as they prayed, Matthew and Luke tell us, that this transformation took place. The story is connected and followed in the Gospels by Christ's predictions of suffering, death, and resurrection. The Transfiguration was a preparation for the events so near at hand.

"On that mountain, He laid Himself the another Isaac upon the altar, and he knew that the sacrifice would be demanded. The very fire of the event contains a hint of the struggle which had been going on in His mind. He was no impassive hero of a romantic history; He was a Soul in the agony of a momentous spiritual transaction. The hour had come when He was to make the supreme dedication of Himself for a sacrifice than which history knows no greater. That self-consecration was destined to be met by a similar consecration of the divine approval. As He was praying about His Passion he entered into the ecstasy of oneness with the heavenly Father, and was rapt into the holy beholdedness of a lifetime were encouraged and strengthened by the fashion of His countenance became changed."

Songs Longest Remembered

Not In Long Program But Those Heard By Chance

Let any man shut his eyes and remember the occasion when he was most moved by music. How many of those occasions were concerts in large halls or concerts at musical parties, And how many were chance songs in the streets of in lane, or a shred of voice on a hike or heard in a chorus in some mountain hostel? A long program of music is like a large gallery of pictures or a museum full of sculpture. It defeats its own purpose. A tune or a picture should be a full meal for the soul, the effect of which will only be spoilt by overeating.

Of the 11,911,639,000 kilowatt hours of electricity generated in Canada last year, almost 99 per cent. of the total was hydro-electric. Fuel plants generated only 1.4 per cent. Winning War Against Disease

Medical Research Council Has Established Many Institutes

Gradually but very surely science is triumphing over many of the diseases that assail the human race. One after another, as the result of unrelenting search, they give up their secrets and yield to the applied remedies, curative and preventive. According to the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, the bookworm disease has almost disappeared from the United States and is rapidly coming under control in many other parts of the world.

Malaria is another ailment that is surrendering to the vigilance or science.

Formerly most persons supposed that malaria was contracted from the miasmatic damps that rose from moist and swampy places. But, as in the case of yellow fever, transmission of the disease by the mosquito is now held to be responsible for a large proportion of malaria cases.

Had a Guilty Conscience

Man Who Accepted Stolen Goods Over 60 Years Ago, Now Makes Restitution

The Canadian treasury was enriched by $60 because a man's conscience bothered him over a deed committed during the North West Rebellion nearly half a century ago. A letter to Hon. James A. Robb, minister of finance, containing the money in United States currency was signed "A. Nunn" and bore a Toronto postmark.

The letter said: "In the Canadian North West Rebellion of 1885 a fellow took some beaver skins from government stores and gave me five dollars for a receiver as he said a thief and this thing has been on my conscience a lot and I wish to get rid of it before I die. I dog I knew what beaver skins were worth up there at that time, but may $5 apiece. This would be $25 for the skins. Then interest for 42½ years at six per cent. would be $63.75, in all $88.75. I is close to this number as I can get which I hope will discharge this claim in full.

Where White Rice Is Found

Deposits Found From Labrador To British Columbia

Occurrences in Canada of white mica or muscovite, some few of which have been worked at different times, are known from Labrador in the east to British Columbia in the west; and Arctic expeditions have brought back good samples from the Far North. Perhaps the most important white mica deposits are those of the Ungava District, on the lower St. Lawrence, in the province of Quebec. Others lie a little north of Buckingham, Quebec, and at several places in Ontario and British Columbia. Deposits of kyanite or lolite ration are also found in Quebec and Manitoba.

Mental Deficiency Problem

British Columbia Would Deal With Matter in an Humane Manner

Based on the belief that the problem is educational rather than medical, a constructive programme to deal with the question of mental deficiency through early diagnosis and special training has been placed before the legislature by the British Columbia Mental Hygiene Commission.

The proposals, which include many recommendations that have been made in the report, filed in the legislature by Hon. T. D. Pattullo, provincial secretary after an investigation extending more than two years.

Declared that the problem could be best met by diagnosis of mental defectives when they are young and by giving them special training in special classes and later in special schools.

Trained according to individual needs, and supervised to some measure after the completion of their training, the individual would give little trouble to society, the commission believed.

Provincial establishment of a provincial training school was suggested. Establishment of a psychopathic hospital in Vancouver and acceptance by the government of the offer of the Canadian National Council for Mental Hygiene to contribute $2,500 annually for five years for humanity research at the University of British Columbia, provided the province does establish a like amount was also urged.

Contradict General Idea

Eminent Animal Trainer Says Dogs Are Not Stupid

To say "stupid as an ass," or similar expressions, is a great mistake, according to Joseph Porter, an eminent British trainer of animals in an article in the London Daily Express Donkeys, he says, have extremely sensitive natures, and ill-treatment dulls their wits and makes them appear stupid.

Mr. Porter's famous donkey, Jack, who is now dead, was more clever than all the ponies, horses, goats dogs and others that comprised his menagerie. Jack could add up figures correctly, play a hand of whist and never lose, wrestle with a man and throw him, and do many tricks which a horse, credited with superior intelligence, could not do.

"The secret of training animals rests in the one word, kindness Nothing can be done by cruelty. Gain the animal's confidence and love, and it is possible to make him do anything." said Mr. Porter.

Misprints in the Bible

Different Mistakes Have Been Found In Certain Editions

Though Biblical misprints are few, some of them are famous. One of the most famous misprints is that in the Wicked Bible, in which the beatitude reads, "Blessed are the place makers." The Bible of Biblical misprints is one recently discovered by the Rev. R. M Gore-Browne, of Beckingtonpool, Buckinghamshire. In a large bedside Bible, he stated, the words "Gird up thy loins," in 2 Kings, IX, 1, appear as "Gird up thy lions." The misprint recalls a tradition of the King's Printer that, if anyone could find a misprint in a Bible he would be given 10 guineas. It is said that there are very few applications for the reward only about one a year, though in years ago the printers received two applications in one year

Usefulness Of the Aeroplane Overshadowing Its Romance

In Canada, the "bovver than aircraft machine is playing an active part in the development of our newly-opened lands. So intimately is it connected with such development that it is practically accepted as a matter of course and the romance formerly associated with it is more and more becoming overshadowed in the public mind by its usefulness. One of the most vital uses is in mapping regions otherwise difficult of access. In this work the eye of the aeroplane is the camera, specially fitted to the plane and equipped to take photographs of the terrain below. These photographs with a minimum amount of ground surveying as control, supply the material for the finished maps.

They have been made now in the South Lake map sheet just issued by the Topographical Survey of Canada This map supplements the Hayes and Baker Lake sheets issued several months ago which embraced the region immediately to the west. The aerial photographs were taken in cooperation with the Royal Canadian Air Force, and the ground surveys were carried out by the Geological Survey of Canada and provincial surveying departments of Quebec.

The country represented on the South Lake map sheet falls within the mineral belt and extends some distance easterly from the Hayes River. Counting Heads In Jasper Park

Big Game Population of Sanctuary Estimated at Thirty Thousand

In the ordinary sense of the word, taking the census is an easy and prosaic business. But it is not quite so little in Jasper National Park, which is a wild animal sanctuary five thousand square miles in area. A man can hardly go up to a grizzly bear and say "Good morning, sir I'm taking the census. How many are there in your family?" If the census-taker does that there is likely to be one less in his own family. Of course the animals are not all as careless in their treatment of stray humans as the grizzlies, but it isn't any reason to keep track of the high-flying sheep and the skulk-running caribou.

In spite of all handicaps, the warden-takers does that there is likely to be one less in his own family. Of course the animals are not all as careless in their treatment of stray humans as the grizzlies, but it isn't any reason to keep track of the high-flying sheep and the skulk-running caribou.

In spite of all handicaps, the warden-takers have succeeded in getting a very good estimate of the numbers of Jasper Reserve. Every Mountain sheep and every bear in the park, they say, with ten thousand head of cattle, and between two and three thousand caribou; deer, elk, and moose, a little over eight hundred; mountain goats one hundred and fifty and three hundred grizzlies, and about two thousand black and brown bears. Beaver are plentiful and there are great numbers of others fabulous marine mink, muskrats and porcupines. Figures for these small animals are not available but if they are not included, the total of big game will be beyond thirty thousand in number. And that is a conservative estimate.

A few years ago, some of Canada's rarest animals, such as the elk, were threatened with extinction but the national parks were created and the animals are secure for ever. Once Canada is the last natural refuge for many of them, the educational value of the game preserve is great and apart from education there always a thrill in coming upon a bodily mountain sheep on the wild heads up, watching you cautiously, or in catching sight of the beautiful color scamper of elk in the woods. Travellers in Jasper have remarked the taming effect even from fear of man has had on the wild animals and have been amazed how close they could come to the bears and even the way they animals such as the deer and the sheep. That this is something to be desired, everyone will agree, especially the student of wild life and the photographer. The photographer is the only hunter allowed to shoot and many beautiful trophies are brought down every season by the camera.

School Board At Adjourned Meeting Endorses Building A 6-Roomed School

Regular business of the Vermilion School Board was continued at the adjourned meeting held last night (Wednesday). The Inspector's reports for the eight public school rooms were laid on the table and perused by the members. The reports were such as to indicate that Vermilion has a very capable staff of teachers.

Principal Stewart's monthly report on attendance in the public schools showed the enrolment for March to be 307 as against 271 for February, the average attendance for March was 94.46 p. c. that for February being 92.21 p. c.

The secretary reported that the department of education had forwarded copper plaques in commemoration of the sixtieth anniversary of confederation, to be placed on the walls of the school rooms. The matter was suggested to take place in connection with the Empire Day programme on the afternoon of May 23rd.

Replying to a letter from the board the architects at Regina submitted the following estimated costs on four six-room school buildings, namely: 4 rooms, $27,500; 6 rooms, $31,000; and 8 rooms, $40,000. With five-foot hallway floor and stairs there would be an additional cost of $1500 on each building.

The school situation situation was again thoroughly canvassed. The board was unanimous in that a school building must be erected this year, but opinions differed as to the size of the same, the discussion centering chiefly around the six and eight room schools. On motion of Cooper-Welsh, a resolution carried that the board submit a by law for the erection of a six roomed school. Trustees Welsh, Scott and Cooper voted for the motion and Trustee Drimscombe recorded his vote against.

In the event of the by-law being voted down, should a vote be demanded, there will not be time to submit any further proposition to the electors and the four-roomed building remains the only alternative. It is confidently expected, however, that the large majority of the ratepayers will give the six roomed school their support, seeing as it will for many years to come—without undue cost at the present time—the question of school accommodation.

"Westward Bound" Travel Film Shows Vermilionites

Arrival at Alix Finally at Vermilion Features One of Four Reels Being Shown Throughout Old Country.

The following rather interesting news article is clipped from the Hastings and St. Leonard's Observer, Hastings, under date of March 17. As reference is made to the reception given at Vermilion to the Alix family upon their arrival from England, and many citizens of the town being featured in the pictures taken, they will be pleased to learn of their itinerary in the old land:

"A delightful holiday tour in Canada, no more expensive than a holiday on the Continent, was outlined by Mr. Walter L. Payne when he presented a travel film, "Westward Bound," to a large audience at the White Rock pavilion on Thursday evening. Mr. Payne visited Hastings by arrangement with the local agents of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Messrs. Pickford, Ltd., Messrs. W. T. Watson and Son, and Mr. J. H. Bolam, to demonstrate the holiday attractions of Canada.

"Mr. W. T. Watson introduced the lecturer.

"Introducing his films, Mr. Payne said the object was to put forward the claims of Canada as a field for the tourist. Such claims, he said, were more reasonable than many people were inclined to think. Reduced rates of tourist, particularly in regard to ocean travel, had brought the possibilities of a Canadian holiday well within the reach of a much larger number of people who are in the habit of enjoying anything from three to six or eight weeks holiday. In three weeks I was possible to visit Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and Niagara; while four weeks would permit Winnipeg on the eastern edge of the prairie provinces to be included in the itinerary. Members of the teaching profession, in particular should find holidays in Canada of special value to them, Mr. Payne suggested, while other people would never regret crossing the Atlantic to see for themselves something of our great Dominion.

"After giving some interesting details regarding the launching of the Canadian Pacific liner "Duchess of Atholl" and "Duchess of Bedford," and the Diamond Jubilee celebrations in Canada, Mr. Payne presented his film, "Westward Bound," comprising a

Unique Series of Pictures

The first part consisted of a remarkable review of the construction of a Canadian Pacific liner, from the laying of the keel to the launch, showing intimate pictures of the work of shipbuilding, which is generally a mystery to all except naval architects and mariners. The second and third reels of this film dealt with the scenic and sporting attractions of Canada and some views of the Diamond Jubilee celebrations. The concluding film had a strong human interest. It was the pictorial record of the progress of a typical British family from his old home in Britain to its new one near Vermilion, Alberta. It showed Mr. F. J. Alix and his wife taking over the idea of taking advantage of reduced fares for settlers and joining a county out west. Eventually Mr. and Mrs. Alix were seen leaving their hometown with their young family, while neighbors gave them a good send-off. Every step of their long journey, their arrival in the new home and their first acquaintance with Canadian farm life was shown and was a splendid example of present-day conditions for the settler. In concluding, Mr. Payne drew attention to the optimism of Canadian people on the future of the Dominion of Canada, quoting from speeches by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the Prime Minister, and the Lord Chief Justice of England.

"Amongst his other Mr. Payne included several beautiful views of rural life and mountain scenery, which were reproductions of pictures painted by Mr. Leighton, a Hastings artist, who is now living in Canada. He was an artist who has brought at one time he would never return to England. After a time he did come back, but not for long, for he is out there again.

"A musical programme was provided by Mr. W. H. Dyer."

LOCK THE DOOR

There is a legend about a farmer who went to great expense to fortify and lock his barn after a very fine blooded horse had been stolen.

That legend has come to be a means of showing how unwise it is to wait until the horse has been stolen to lock the door.

Advertising is a form of protection against loss of business which is occasionally treated like the farmer treated the barn and the horse.

From a seemingly logical premise (and since there is no business or since business is not quite what it should be now, the merchant proceeds to the decision that there is no need to advertise.

This reasoning overlooks a great fundamental fact and that is that advertising is extended salesmanship; that just because a man has not money with which to buy today is no reason he will not have tomorrow; that the man who goes after the business consistently reaps consistent rewards; that most folk shop where they are invited to shop.

The people of Canada can hardly realize how fast fire and axe have eaten into Canada's forest resources during the present generation. Forestry experts state that of what was a primeval forest no farther back than 1816, practically untouched by the axe, little more than one-quarter now remains.

In Eastern Canada comparatively little timber of really prime sawmill quality is left and it is stated that 70 per cent of such timber in Canada now stands in British Columbia. In this province also the work of devastation and waste is going on at a much faster rate than the natural growth.

A great area of forest land still remains to the north of the populated parts of most of the provinces, but this forest consists largely of spruce and other woods required for the great pulp and paper industry. This forest of recent years has come to feel full force of the United States demand for newsprint paper. It provides a very big factor in our list of profitable exports, but foresters point out we are cutting and burning at a rate that will exhaust our accessible timber supplies in twenty-five years.

These experts say that with proper regulation as to cutting, reforestation and protection from fire, it is possible for Canada to have her forest industries in perpetuity. Fire has always taken greater toll than the axe. Fire prevention, the forestry men say, is the only solution.

Forest fire fighting methods are being improved. The aeroplane has been called into requisition to locate fires at the their first outbreak and thus prevent fire spreading beyond control. But experience has proved to Canada's forest that fire fighting is not partly as simple as fire prevention. Every single individual whose business or pleasure takes him or her into the woods must, while there, be impressed with one idea above all others and that is to prevent forest fire.

To that end the Hon. Charles Stewart originated an annual Canadian Forest Week in order to provide educational emphasis at the beginning of the dangerous dry season.

Won Much Praise

MISS SURY'S GIRLS DELIGHT LARGE AUDIENCE WITH 3-ACT PLAY

A good sized audience had gathered in the Columbia Theatre on Monday evening when the curtain rose for the production of a three act play entitled "The Witching Hour" presented by a number of young girls of the town under the training and guidance of Miss Grace Bury. The young people recruited their young ladies themselves each of the acts would have waiting the hearts of more experienced and mature performers and they have every reason to feel proud of the success of such an ambitious picture. A large measure of praise is due to their capable teacher, Miss Bury who is to be heartily congratulated upon the play over.

The dual characters of mortals and ghosts appearing in "The Witching Hour" were portrayed by the following talented girls: Mary Simpson, Violet Tatham, Ruby Sharp, Ethel Sheild, Kathleen Hall, Emma Caldwell, Edith Williamson Jean Cameron, Winnifred Gilbert, and Eva Cook. In a short synopsis of the play, the ancestral home of Mrs. Goodhue is supposed to be haunted. The legend runs that every 100 years the pictures in the art gallery come to life and tradition says it is just 100 years since their last appearance, so Mrs. Goodhue invites all the young girl descendants to be her guests to see anything happens, which does. A little heart story with a happy ending lends an added interest as the play develops. Songs and dances and costumes of a century ago presented a very colorful picture.

As the advertising said the parlor maids are the "best looking bunch of girls in town" and the audience seemed to agree with it. Will all the cast did splendidly, special mention must be made of Ruby Sharp, the heroine, Mrs. Goodhue. It was a heavy and exacting role and was taken in a manner which left nothing to be desired.

Thanks are due to Mrs. K. Carle, who acted as pianist, to Mr Wattie for furniture and Mr Welsh for use of radio.

SEES ENGLAND AS DISTRIBUTING BASE

Henry Ford Is Greatly Interested In British Industrially

LONDON, April 11.—Henry Ford is greatly interested in England, industrially. Speaking of world trade, particularly with reference to automobiles, he said for years he regarded Great Britain as a natural base for supply Europe and India with motor cars.

"I am tremendously interested in the development of this country," he said. "Not enough machinery is used, but that is sure to come later. England is the natural base for us for the continent, for Russia, for India. We are already doing quite an amount of business with Russia. We sold there nearly 20,000 tractors which were all manufactured in the United States. They would have been made in Cork if the Irish had not imposed certain restrictions which greatly hindered us. On that account the Cork factory never materialized."

Ford has discovered a London garbage dump which has been burning for a thousand years or so and has set himself the task of working out some scheme by which these fires may be utilized.

Incinerators may be installed and the heat used to create steam.

The dump, about fifty acres in area, is near a Ford factory site at Dagenham, Essex, 15 miles from London.

"This dump goes back to prehistoric times, I gather from a visit there." Mr. Ford said. "These fires have been burning away, wasted absolutely all these centuries. I would like to see them working for man."

Dr. Seager Wheeler Tells About Development Of A New Rust-Resisting Wheat

In further explanation of his development of a new wheat from the Kota strain, which promises to be rust resistant to a degree never approached by any other wheat, Seager Wheeler, of Rosthern, has given a statement on his experiments. He says he started with the Kota type which is famous for its rust resistant qualities but is also noted for a weak straw and poor milling qualities. The variety of wheat is also of the bearded type. In 1912 Dr Wheeler found that among the plots of Kota wheat were two heads of the beardless type although premise that it would have been impossible for any other class of wheat seed to have become mixed with this plot.

Believing that by that accident of nature, the natural cross, that he had something new, Dr Wheeler kept these two heads separate and sowed the seeds in a separate plot. This was in 1924. In making the initial bare harvest of his plots he noticed that the product of this new crop of metal plat had broken up into several distinct forms of types, each different from one another but only noticeable to one who had spent years in the wheat study.

Each of these different strains was planted in separate plots in 1925, which again were tested and at the end of the year Dr Wheeler was able to count 40 different varieties of his original product, derived from the two heads. Many of these seeds had apparently not been affected by the rust of 1925.

The following year 1926, there was practically no rust, consequently experiments carried on in this year could not demonstrate the value to fight this enemy of the farmer. However, it was shown that a grain similar to that of Kota, with beardless heads, with straws of a much stronger description and with a milling qualities very much superior to that of the original strain had been developed

Not content with this, Dr. Wheeler again carried on his series of experiments last year, and it is as a result of these, carried on in some of the worst rust years of the district, that Dr. Wheeler was able to announce definite results.

Sowing about 80 selections of his original strain, he found that the seeds taken from the Kota type plants were more successful in warding off the damaging attacks of rust. On all other fine experimental plots of this untiring scientist reach for acres were plots of other types of wheat that was tending to show those showed the effects of rust, not only in the stalk, but also in the shrunken seeds. The new type and types developed by him since 1925, showed but little damage. Small spots of rust were seen on the leaves but the seeds were fully developed and not damaged in the least, he said.

When questioned in regard to the future of this wheat, Dr Wheeler said that he intended continuing his experiments and believed that by natural selection and observation he would soon be able to give to the world a wheat that although not guaranteed against rust, would be so little effected by it that the damage would be discounted

Dr Wheeler pointed out that he was not announcing that he had a wheat that was immune from rust as Nature has mentioned that in the past others had announced that they had a wheat of this type, consequently each appointing those whose livelihood depended on their crops when proved a failure. What I do say is that I have a wheat which I confidently expect will prove sufficiently rust resistant to greatly lessen the danger of loss by rust.

Dr Wheeler has been growing out experimental crops on his farm at Rosthern for the past 40 years. In addition to developing [illegible] experimental work in Red Fife and carrying on various experiments in all cereals Dr Wheeler has devoted much time and energy to the development of a new rust resistant oat. Rosthern, on which he grows practically all types of fruit with the exception of those which are native to tropical countries.

Experiments with hardy vines to develop a rust resistant type are being carried on by Manley Champlin, head of the University of Saskatchewan, also at Rosthern and in rust research bureaus at Winnipeg and elsewhere Professor Champlin states that some of the selections being experimented with at the University show fair promise of proving of value to prairie farming.

Grain Mixtures For Hogs

Several Grain Mixtures For Hogs Of Different Ages

A number of experiments in feeding hogs have been conducted at the Nappan, Nova Scotia, Experimental Station. Based on observations made during these tests, the superintendent recommends several grain mixtures for hogs of different ages. From weaning time to three months of age, sifted or hulless oats 1 part, middlings 1 part, and 1 per cent. of tankage meal may be profitably added. For hogs from three to five months old, oats 2 parts, shorts 2 parts, barley 2 parts, bran 1 part and oil meal 3 per cent. For summer feeding hogs of this age when on green feed the grain mixture might be oats 2 parts, shorts 2 parts and barley 2 parts. For the finishing period a good grain mixture is oats 2 parts, barley 2 parts, and shorts 1 part with 3 per cent. of oil meal. In all these rations the grains should be finely ground

People Just Recently Have Become Interested In Farming

Arctic agriculture is entering a new phase

Rational cultivation of the land is now a national slogan, while formerly there was little cultivation of the soil

The surroundings of Reykjavik afford a striking example. Land reclamation has gone on for five years. Fields have been changed into grass meadows, and all kinds of agricultural experiments have been undertaken, some with great success

Things that Icelanders themselves had sworn would never be able to grow, thrive wonderfully well.

Mining in the West

Take Deposits in Alberta Are to be Developed

"Manitoba is rapidly rising in importance as a mining province," H. S. Lumsden, chairman of the mining bureau of the Winnipeg board of trade and director of the industrial development board of Manitoba, returned to Montreal recently, on his way to the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, which was opened at Quebec. "In fact, the public as a whole has little realization of the strides being made by Manitoba in directions other than agriculture—and especially in mining," continued Mr. Lumsden.

An important present development in the west, mentioned by Mr. Lumsden as worthy to mastership, is that in connection with large deposits of talc, both of the blue and white variety, in Alberta, during 18 miles from Banff, the blue was quite rare, he said, and was used chiefly in the manufacture of roofing insulators and gas burners, while the white, which was very pure in the region referred to, was the raw material for face powders.

A Remarkable Cow

Wetaskiwin District the Home Of Record Breaking Shorthorn

Wetaskiwin district has the distinction of being the home of a Shorthorn cow which holds the record for all breeds in the production of milk and butterfat as a three-year-old. She is owned by J. O. Harvey in the northeastern suburbs of the city of Wetaskiwin, and a letter from Ottawa advises that the production of this cow has never been equalled in Canada. Gladys No. 200899 produced 10,564 lbs. of milk and 500 lbs. of butter fat in 365 consecutive days. This cow is now undergoing her test as a four-year-old and is averaging about 50 lbs of milk a day.

Revenue From School Lands

Nearly Two Million Dollars Collected By Federal Government In Saskatchewan Last Year

Revenues from Dominion and school lands in Saskatchewan during the fiscal year 1926-27 amounted to nearly $2,000,000, according to a report of the Federal Department of the Interior. Revenues originating in this province, chiefly timber operations in Prince Albert and Moose Jaw, amounted to $864,231.89 on Dominion lands, Crown timber, royalty, water power and reclamation, mining and national parks. School lands revenues amounted to $936,626.

The Dane was capable of being constantly importuned by one of the workers for the next week's salary, and finally said:

"Mein, you're the limit. Say, what would you do if you had all the money in the world?"

"Well, sah," replied Mose, studiously, "de fust thing Ah'd do would be to pay off all mah debts—as fah as Ah'd go."

Homesteads Covering 54 Years

According to the report of the Minister of the Interior, 473,952 homestead entries were made between May 1872 and March 1927, in the last fiscal year 5,750 homestead entries were granted. Of these 1,819 were made by residents of various provinces of Canada, 574 by persons from the United States and 663 by persons from the British Isles.

Brown, president of the Unified Trust Company, Aldine, Kansas, called recently on the four weeks cruise of the Canadian Pacific liner "Montroyal" bound for a tour of the West Indies, accompanied by seven women employees.

The president made a promise that he would take seven of his most efficient office girls on this cruise, the choice being left to the entire force who balloted as to who should be the fortunate ones. Feeding Young Turkeys

Must Not Be Fed At All Until 48 Hours Old

Some good advice on the feeding of poults is given in a Dominion Experimental Farm bulletin on turkeys. According to the bulletin the baby turkeys should not be fed at all until they are at least 48 hours old, and even sixty hours without food is not too long. The first feed, given in the morning, should be chick size oyster shell scattered on a small board, and a sour skim-milk. Towards the end of the afternoon they should be given some hard boiled eggs chopped fine. Regular feeding should be started the next morning with hard boiled eggs and bread crumbs mixed together and given three times daily. After one week the egg may be gradually discontinued and the feed consist of bread crumbs. After the second week a little moist shorts are added, discontinuing the crumbs until the shorts are given dry. All these baby poults should be made gradually. Sour milk, grit and oyster shell should be given from the start. Never over feed or offer anything that has been mixed for previous feeding. As the poults grow they will travel more and their range until very little feeding is necessary. The bulletin, which deals with the care and management of turkeys, may be obtained from the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Growing Flax For Fibre

May Be Harvested By Cutting Instead Of Pulling

The slow progress that has been made in developing flax for fibre in Canada for fibre has been due to a considerable extent to the old idea that the flax crop must be harvested by pulling. Experiments in harvesting at the Experimental Farm at Ottawa indicate that flax is harvested by cutting can be made into a high grade tow. By harvesting the crop in this way one of the most expensive items of culture is largely overcome. The significance of this conclusion is that flax may be grown over a wider area of Canada and not confined as it has been largely in the past to districts where hand labor could be secured cheaply to pull the crop.

Ranching In B.C.

Cattle Ranching Said To Be Getting Back To Its Old Stride

The cattle ranching business in British Columbia is getting back into its stride, according to the head of the industry is bright in the opinion of C. G. Cowan who, in addition to his own extensive interests in cattle ranches in Cariboo, is agent for the Marquis of Exeter and Lord Egerton of Tatton. Arrangements are being made to carry several thousand additional head of cattle, while 3,000 calves are being sent to Saskatchewan and Oregon this summer. Altogether Mr. Cowan estimates his companies will put in about 20,000 into purchases of additional stock.

Horse Meat For Belgium

Canada Spends Huge Sums In Construction and Maintenance Of Good Roads Coast To Coast

New Park Endorse Forty Townships

Prince Albert Park in Northern Saskatchewan a Land of Varied Resources

Approximately forty townships are enclosed by the boundaries of Saskatchewan new National Park, is square miles the area is slightly more than 1,400, which makes the park comparable in size to Glacier National Park in the United States, Prince Albert Park, as it has been called, lies no more than 20 miles north and northwest of the city of Prince Albert, which is on the lines of the Canadian National Railways, and will be easily accessible from Saskatoon, Regina and other large centres.

Surrounding, as it does, three large lakes—Waskiwue, Little Trout and Trout Lake—it has in many smaller ones and extending for miles along the eastern shore of Montreal Lake, the park is a land of varied beauty. The waters, which teem with fish, are extensive and clear and are edged, in many spots, with clean white sandy beaches. All the lakes are connected by streams which makes it possible for the vacationist to wander for days by canoe or motor-boat. The forest is a mixture of evergreens, pine, spruce, tamarac, poplar and birch.

In all respects it fulfils the objective of the parks branch of the Dominion Department of the Interior, the permanent preservation of regions of outstanding beauty in their natural condition, easily accessible to but attractive visitors in large numbers from the United States. In 1927, 3,153,800 touring motor cars came to Canada from the United States, by the trans-border roads are, it is estimated, spent $276,258,150 in this country, as compared with $263,-197,200 that touched at the kitty disbursed here in 1926. In 1927 Canadians visited the United States in 695,999 cars and spent in a total of $70,000,000, it is estimated. Thus in that year Canada showed a favorable balance of $200,000,000 in tourist trade.

The influx of tourists from the United States was beneficial to the country in more than one way. The visitors incurred travelling expenses in Canada, and in that way put money into circulation here Under the tariff law of the United States, it must be remembered, each tourist was permitted to carry home with him, free of customs duties, goods to the value of $100 that were bought in Canada. Many of the tourists availed themselves of this provision of their country's law, and so contributed to the volume of business done last year by Canadian traders. Furthermore, it is probable that many of the tourists helped on their return home to advertise Canada's attractions as a summer resort, its resources and the opportunities it offers for the investment of capital. Toronto Mail and Empire

There are now in Canada more than 150,000 miles of improved roads that are kept in good condition during the touring season, and in some districts during the winter months as well. In addition there are thousands of miles of roads of less costly types that are available for motor traffic. The construction and maintenance of all these roads have cost the Canadian authorities a huge sum of money. Highway improvement projects undertaken in co-operation by the Dominion Government and the provincial governments under the Canada Highway Act of 1917 covered only 8,648 miles of the total road mileage of the country. Yet they involved a total investment of almost $49,000,000, of which the Dominion contributed to the extent of $19,598,385, and had paid $18,775,804 up to the end of March, 1927. Expenditures made for road construction and maintenance throughout the Dominion amounted in the one year 1926, to $45,500,000, of which amount $16,000,000 represented the cost of gasoline. Furthermore, there is reason to believe that expenditures of the kind will increase.

The Canadian people's investment in good roads has facilitated travel between centres of population throughout the Dominion. It has undoubtedly had an influence upon social and business relations between inhabitants of the country. It has afforded new means of access to the summer holiday grounds and to the most beautiful sections of the land. These advantages the expenditures on high ways have procured for the Canadian people. Those expenditures have also helped to attract visitors in large numbers from the United States. In 1927, 3,153,800 touring motor cars came to Canada from the United States by the trans-border roads are, it is estimated, spent $276,258,150 in this country, as compared with $263,-197,200 that touched at the kitty disbursed here in 1926. In 1927 Canadians visited the United States in 695,999 cars and spent in a total of $70,000,000, it is estimated. Thus in that year Canada showed a favorable balance of $200,000,000 in tourist trade.

The influx of tourists from the United States was beneficial to the country in more than one way. The visitors incurred travelling expenses in Canada, and in that way put money into circulation here Under the tariff law of the United States, it must be remembered, each tourist was permitted to carry home with him, free of customs duties, goods to the value of $100 that were bought in Canada. Many of the tourists availed themselves of this provision of their country's law, and so contributed to the volume of business done last year by Canadian traders. Furthermore, it is probable that many of the tourists helped on their return home to advertise Canada's attractions as a summer resort, its resources and the opportunities it offers for the investment of capital. Yukon's Healthful Climate

Is Most Delightful From May To August

The climate of the Yukon Territory, Canada, is characterized by extremes in temperature and a very moderate precipitation. There is no more delightful climate than that which prevails from May 15 to October 1. The continuous light for the whole twenty-four hours, during the period from the middle of May to the first week in August, although anticipated, is a source of delight and wonder to the visitor. While the days are long and cool, on account of the absence of high winds and the dryness of the atmosphere, the low temperatures are borne with less discomfort than in other parts not so favored.

Getting Out a Paper

Getting out a paper is no picnic
If we print jokes folks say we are silly.
If we don't, they say we are too serious.
If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety
If we publish things from other papers, we are too lazy to write.
If we are rushing news, we are not attending to business and to our own department.
If we don't print contributions, we don't show proper appreciation.
If we do print them, the paper is filled with junk.
Like as not some fellow will say we purloined this from another paper.
We did and we thank him Detail Craftsman.

NAVIGATION TO PORT CHURCHILL SEASON OF 1930

Ottawa.—Navigation via the Hudson Straits to Port Churchill to the season of 1930 is the opinion of the five of the Departments of Marine and Fisheries and Railways and Canals.

Plans are now being created for the setting up in the straits of two direction fading stations, similar to those operated by the Department of Marine on the Atlantic Coast, and in the Gulf St Bt. Lawrence.

The Canadian Government ship, Montcalm, will leave for the North about the middle of June, under the direction of Major N. B. MacLean, and the vessel will spend the summer in the straits. She will carry with her additional supplies and equipment to enable the three Royal Canadian Air Force bases to continue their work until the autumn.

During the summer, the work on the direction finding stations will be commenced. Those who will be in charge of this work will take over much of the equipment which the air force will leave when they conclude their work and start South. The Polar planes will be packed up and returned on Montcalm.

It is understood that the air force will retain those planes which were purchased specially for operation in the straits.

The Department of Railways and Canals will probably have charge of the air and equipment North to undertake the relocating of the ship, Canadian Radio, who have been busy all summer after some difficulties were encountered.

Dominion Must Decide

Signature Of Anti-War Pact Left To Countries Involved

Washington.—Whether the self-governing Dominions would sign separately any anti-war pact which be concluded is a matter to be decided between the British countries themselves, said Frank B. Kellogg, United States Secretary of State, to the Canadian press.

"The United States would, of course, welcome the signatures of any or all of the British Dominions," he continued.

The secretary of state had been asked if, in the event of Great Britain subscribing to the proposed pact to outlaw war, Canada and the other British Dominions would be asked to sign separately.

Asked if he had had any conversation with the Canadian government on the subject during his recent visit to Ottawa, Secretary Kellogg replied that he had not

The next step by the United States government has not been decided on, he said.

The film was cut up into short strips and sent as "stills" or ordinary pictures. At the other end of the line the strips were pieced together and then photographed on a regular motion picture film. Ten feet of film were used in the experiment.

A Great Aid To the West

Doubling Of Railways To Outlying Ports Proves Big Factor

Toronto.—"One of the greatest things the Liberal Government ever did was the building of railroads to outlying parts of the country, such as the Hudson's Bay Railway and new lines in the northern part of Western Canada," said C. R. McIntosh, M.P. for North Battleford, and proprietor of the North Battleford News, at a luncheon given by the Toronto Men's Liberal Association.

"In the past," he continued, Canadians flocked across the border, as there were no railroads in the back country. Today lines were being constructed and the result was that the country was filling up with good settlers from all parts of the world. "These people," he said, "who have toiled and labored to make homes for themselves must be appreciative of the governing of our country. Otherwise in the future we will encounter trouble."

NO CHANGE IN BRITISH POLICY TOWARD EGYPT

Manchester Dag Sir William Joynson-Hicks, secretary of the home office and Conservative Member, declares that the latest Egyptian note will make no change in British policy. He said:

"At the time we have received a satisfactory reply from the Egyptian government. But I can see no point in Mr. Maya's proposal that we should negotiate a treaty after the elections would be useless. The Egyptian government would be independent of the country from the great weight of British opinion behind the Conservative party."

Sir William also said that he looked forward to the time when Egypt would be independent of the League of Nations, but that was impossible at present.

OTTAWA MAY CONTROL RADIO BROADCASTING

Ottawa. — Government control of all radio broadcasting in Canada became a strong possibility of the future They have such a system in Great Britain and it may come to it here before long

While there has been no official decision as yet, it is known that such a proposition is being considered by those who have to do with radio

A great deal of trouble is being experienced owing to the fact that many people — a fast increasing number want to be into the broadcasting scheme because of the benefits to be taken over by the state

Heretofore both in Canada and the United States over which radio has been so intense but the broadcasts have been privately-owned enterprises.

In Great Britain it is all done by the British Broadcasting Company under the control of the British Government

Although similar course here has been suggested no action now is being said in favor of it and complaints regarding the present system tend strongly to such a change. The picture along these same lines as the British method It is regarded as a strong possibility of the not distant future

ISLAY ANGLICAN FIELD

Mr. Goudge visited the whole of his parish on Easter Sunday.

At Irricastle the service was well attended at 11 a.m. Mr. Goudge arrived at 2 p.m. in Islay for services, where the W. A. had presented the church with a new carpet for the sanctuary.

At all Saints', Pleasant Valley, the church was very beautifully decorated with daffodils and Easter lilies; the edifice was crowded, it being the largest congregation ever assembled. St. Mary's, Clandonald, was also well attended.

On Easter Monday, Pleasant Valley held a social at Morrison school where about 100 gathered. Mrs. R. Keough-an arranged a programme for the evening as follows, with Rev. S. H. Goudge in the chair:

Song — Miss M. Entenmey
Piano Solo — Miss L. Bowser which was very nicely played;
Duet — D. Gould and H. Pinton
Song — Mrs. Marriott
Piano Duet—Ruby and L. Bowser
Dialogue by the Misses Evans and Betty Playter.

Mr. Bowser made an ideal salesman. The evening was a success both socially and financially.

The official opening of Clandonald St. Mary's Anglican church will be conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon Heaverst, D.D. of Edmonton at 3:30 on Sunday, April 15th.

Mrs. W. Herridge of Clandonald gave an Easter party on Monday.

Mrs. H. Rae returned from Vermilion on Sunday after spending a week visiting with friends.

CREAMERY MANAGER RECEIVES PROMOTION

After Eighteen Years in Town, F. Harrington Goes to Vermilion

(Wainwright Star)

Another of the familiar faces of our town will be now missing. And the reason — Mr. F. Harrington of the Creamery, has been transferred to Vermilion.

Mr. Harrington, known to all and sundry as "Fred," has been in Wainwright for the past eighteen years, for a long period of that time he was in charge of the Hills province dairy board, which gave him quite a varied experience of milk and cream, and all that pertains thereto. Some seven years ago he started in at the Wainwright Creamery, and when that institution was taken into the big Borne' string of creameries all over the province, Fred was appointed manager of the local branch.

Lodge and Church Worker

As well as being a prominent member of the Masonic and Elk lodges, he has been secretary for the War Veterans here for some time, and has been an official of St. Thomas' church.

In receiving promotion to the Vermilion branch, Mr. Harrington will no doubt find the duties more arduous, for the branch to which he has gone kept eight or nine men busy all last season.

He is succeeded here by Mr. R. J. Pelton, from Winnipeg, Man., who arrived with his wife and two sons last week, and whom we welcome to our midst.

ISLAY ITEMS

Miss Lively, who underwent an operation for appendicitis recently, is now well on the road to her usual health and will again take up her teaching duties at the termination of the Easter vacation.

Miss Ambury of the Kenilworth school spent the Easter week-end with her sister, Mrs. Jack Holliday of Cumings, returning by car on Sunday last.

Mrs. Roy Stone was a passenger to Edmonton on Sunday night's train.

Margaret Rosbeck, Winnie MacDonald and Margaret and Russel Bowen were all home from the Vermilion high school for the holidays.

Miss Jean Pitz who is attending Alberta College in the city is overjoyed to be home again. Jean prefers Islay to the Alberta capital every time.

Jean MacDonald visited friends in Saskatoon last week end.

Another teacher home for the holidays is Miss Rita Bothwell, of Hughenden, who is visiting her parents north of town.

"The Wishing Hour" a play enacted by the Vermilion Senior Girls' Sunday School class of St. Saviour's church, is to be presented at Moore's Hall on Friday evening, 13th under the auspices of the local Anglican church.

Miss MacDonald, teacher of the Victoria school, left for her home in Edmonton last Thursday night, where she will spend the Easter vacation.

The McPhail boys have been busy getting ready to have their three-quarter section broken up by a power outfit which they expect will come in early after seeding to do the job by contract.

Ra'ph Gould is visiting his grandparents at North Edmonton.

Several farmers around Islay are following the example of other power farmers and purchasing tractors this spring. Among these will probably be W. Muir, L. Bowser and Mr. Bowman.

That Garnet wheat will be more appreciated when more farmers have tried it out, and that it will sell for more than it is being sold for today is the prediction from Ottawa. Being a hard red spring wheat of excellent milling quality, it should be worth today instead of the white, soft wheats which are are spoiling Canada's market. Every farmer owns it to himself to sow at least 10 acres, especially when good seed can be purchased at about elevator prices for ordinary No. 1 wheat.

A New Map of Vermilion District

Recently Issued Showing Detailed Topography

Topographic maps in their progression give a clear picture of the development of a region. In contrast to the historians of the past, the historians of the future will be able to position to trace accurately the material progress of an area from a study of the various editions of the topographic maps.

A new edition of the Vermilion sheet of the National Map of Canada, revised from the 1918 sheet, has been issued by the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior. Thereon are shown individual farmsteads indicating an area settled in all but three of its 112 townships and thickly settled in most of them. The three townships excepted are in the extreme Northeast corner of the map, and are embraced in the proposed Kehiwin Forest reserve.

Woods are shown by a green color tint and contours are mapped at intervals of fifty feet. Across the northern part, the North Saskatchewan river flows through a valley 150 feet to 200 feet deep and a mile wide. The Vermilion river to the south comprises little of the Saskatchewan, traverses a tortuous course through a lesser valley. Upon the area there are many lakes, large and small, which are fed or drained by numerous small waterways

There are a number of towns and villages upon the sheet, the three most important being the towns of Lloydminster, Vermilion and Vegreville. These lie on the Winnipeg-Edmonton-Edmonton main line of the Canadian National Railways which crosses the sheet from east to west south of the Vermilion river. A branch line to Calgary connects with the main line at Vegreville at the western edge of the sheet. The Cultivate to Edmonton branch line of the Canadian Pacific Railway is constructed for a considerable distance northwest from Lloydminster on the extreme edge of the sheet.

The main through highway from Edmonton to Saskatoon follows closely by the main line of the Canadian National Railways. Secondary roads and slightly travelled trails are different-tiated by color. Added to these facilities the tract is fairly well served by rural mail routes and provincially owned telephone lines. The positions of elevators, schools, churches, post offices and telegraph offices are shown.

The map is available to the public on sheet form for the nominal fee of twenty-five cents each. If desired in folder form or linen backed, the fee is fifty cents. Application should be made to the Surveyor General, Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

It is expected that fifteen hundred acres of hemp will be sown this season by Portage la Prairie district farmers under contract with the Manitoba Cordage Company whose factory is located in that city. The industry is thriving and though manufacturing of cordage only began last year, it has been found necessary to install additional machines in order to keep up with demands for the company's product.

Small Town Papers

BY
FRANK PARKER STOCKBRIDGE

(Syndicated by special permission from Publishers' Syndicate Feature Company, Publishers' Building.)

"So they were," he answered. "I was raised on the farm, but I never liked it. That's why I came down to New York in the first place. And when dad died I sold the farm and bought the paper—the old Middleboro Gazette. Couldn't get the virus or printer's ink out of my system."

I waited for Bert to go on, but he said nothing more in response to my question.

I meant your gold mine," I ventured after a few moments of silence. What sort of business have you been in? You seem to have been successful.

Bert looked at me with a puzzled expression, as if he thought I was trying to kid him. "Gold mine, nothing," he said. "I bought the Middleboro Gazette.

I saw at once that I must have seemed stupid to Bert. Some big industry had picked Middleboro for its plant and made the country village into a big city on the strength of the deal. Somebody. But for the life of me I couldn't remember which industry it was Middleboro? I couldn't think of anything to connect with the name of the town with. But I didn't let on to Bert.

Oh, I see," I responded cheerfully And as the town grew big enough for a daily you picked up the Daily Echo? What's your population now, anyway?"

About the same as it always has been, around 5,000. But we've got a circulation of over 3,000 for the weekly—what I'm not a country weekly—what I'm not a country weekly—what I'm not a long line before Middleboro will need a daily, I say."

Hold on a minute, Bert," I queried. "Let me get this straight. You've been right there in Middleboro for twenty years, running a country weekly in a town of 2,000 people, and you've never ventured on your own and your wife goes shopping in Fifth Avenue and I'm sitting in the dark. I just can't seem to get this straight. If I hadn't been in the habit of it for so long, I think you were trying to put one over on me. Do you mean to tell me that you've never made that much money, or any money more than that, or that you've never cared as that, out of a country weekly? You must have some reason for it besides that, Bert."

"I have none, of course." He grinned at me. "Naturally I've made investments, same as any business man would. Stock in the Echo. I've got a block of stock in the Middleboro National and every share in the creamery and the cold-storage plant. Own a couple of business properties in the town, and one thing and another—but that's not the real cause of the Gazette in the first place. I'll tell you the truth, though, for I'm 2,000 a year will go in a town like Middleboro.

"I'll go a long way in New York," I conceded. "But I'll bet, though, there's a the idea that there's any such money, or the half of it, to be made out of any country weekly paper, anywhere, any time. As my old Aunt Grandad used to say, it's been my time to have sure to be stepping out of the paper and out of the job—no business."

I must admit Bert could be very good-natured He always was; and he knew I liked him a lot. He could be quite sure of that, as he questioned that way, but he knew I was friendly and not trying to make jobbing business account for about a quarter of it," he said, answering me. "I'll tell you about it, Jeb; printing's a mine item in a modern country newspaper office is steal of being the main reliance as it was in the '80's. It's a means to an end. I have got anything really to do with printing a newspaper. Fact is, my younger boy they're both with me in the business now—the younger one, Joe, has got an it he could do better with the job of foreman. I'll just mope around the roof and we're fixing now to increase the capacity of the press. That's me what he can make of it. But the fact is I can't be of much use to either kind here, but spelled down better than $15,000 a year for the rest of my years, and that's the way I want it to be.

"Yes, you're right," he went on. "It does look very funny to a new thing. This weekly business of the country weekly isn't a business, it's a habit, a habit of, a hazardous gamble, with the odds all against the editor and publisher and the fun of it. He can say too easy the first few years I had a the Gazette. I thought I always took down more than I needed to live on and put the rest back. And it got to be taking candy from a baby now get you right on that. A man's got to know the business and work at it. Then he's got to have the knack. It seems he does that I don't know any business in the world that you'll pay him so big a return on his investment or stand up so much against hard luck from outside or that's so hard to kill.

Alberta's progress since its creation into a province in 1905 is indicated by the increase in the number of industrial establishments from 91 in that year to 729 last year. In the same interval the production increased from $5,000,000 to $95,000,000.

A crowded congregation attended the United church on Easter Sunday evening. No doubt the great attraction was the cantata rendered by the United choir; and it was well worth and was listened to with the most marked attentiveness and without sign of weariness for exactly fifty minutes. The choir certainly earned high commendation. Never has the writer listened to better vocalization on the part of the soloists, also the duets and trios, and even when the full choir was singing not only was there perfect team work, but, what is much more difficult, the vocalization was so good that every word could be heard with perfect clearness. The United church may congratulate itself on its splendid choir and Mr. Hiford may well be proud of the success of his training, certainly no one who has not had the experience can have any appreciation of the amount of skill and patient work required to produce such results.

Rev. J. W. Bell gave the Easter address which appeared to be very much appreciated as evidenced by the close attention from beginning to end.

Fire destroys the green standing timber, leaving dead trees to dry as kindling for the second and third fires which generally follow. Thus young growth doesn't get a chance. Human carelessness assumes far more form in the woods. Only carefulness will save Canada's remaining forests.

Returned Hero Mourn Death of Capt. Gerrie

Well Beloved Padre of Canadian Legion, Edmonton, Passes On

Known and loved by soldiers, the families of soldiers, and relatives of soldiers who "passed on" during or after the World War, Rev. Capt. J. P. Gerrie—"Gerrie brother to the Canadian army"—has himself answered the last call, and has gone to join the 6-ish less thousands for whom, over a period of fourteen years or more, he gave his life, every moment of his time and every last ounce of his fine and splendid talents.

After an illness of a week, at the University hospital, where thrown the years since the war he has been the father, brother, spiritual and temporal adviser and dear friend to every soldier who ever passed through its doors, the beloved chaplain passed away at 5:40 on Sunday morning, at the age of 67.

Was Born in Ontario

Captain Gerrie was born in Wellington county, near the town of Fergus, in 1860. He studied at McGill university and Canadian Congregational College (Theological), later entering the ministry. He had charge of churches in Toronto, Stratford and Watford, Ontario, and later, at Kerrobert, Sask. He was also for some years editor of the "Canadian Congregationalist."

The World War, which brought with it horrors undreamed of, also brought in its train, opportunity for many men to prove the mettle of which they were made. And among many Canadians whom the war brought to the forefront, few were better known nor more beloved than Rev. Capt. Gerrie. Leaving one of his sons as the stunnie progressed, Capt. Gerrie threw himself into the work among the soldiers, with a sincerity and enthusiasm that shone like a beacon light wherever sorrow and despair was darkest. His official work among the soldiers dates from July, 1915, but he was unofficially engaged in it directly after the first drumbeat had roused the world to arms.

Capt. Gerrie's death is mourned by local veterans at Vermilion and by many other friends here. He was warmly entrenched in the hearts of all and on occasions was the special speaker at the annual memorial services held on Armistice Day, the last time being only last fall. On that occasion a touching and stirring tribute was paid to Capt. Gerrie by Dr. W. Bell, on his reverence ministrations among the men.

It pips ashes burn the palm of your hand they are hot enough to set fire to the bush. Watch out. It doesn't take much to start a million-dollar some time and places. Once burnt over a forest area may be so poor for generations

ELK POINT POWER PLANT IS DESTROYED

Patients Removed From Hospital Nearby During Height of Fire

ELK POINT, April 11 — A disastrous fire occurred here on Friday evening when the power plant of the Elk Point hospital was destroyed, together with the X-ray equipment. Only by the excellent work of the volunteer fire fighters, aided by the fact that the wind had gone down, saved the hospital and other buildings in the vicinity. Patients were all removed from the hospital building when the fire was at its worst.

The loss of the power plant and the X-ray equipment will be very serious, by fact as the local hospital was doing an excellent work and serving a very large territory. Both Drs. Miller and Rose were out on calls when the fire occurred.

The fire was caused by an explosion in the electric light plant.

PRESENTATION AND BANQUET TO POSTMAN

A. J. Monkman Honored by Citizens of Elk Point and District

The late of Elk Point's last evening mail, Saturday, March 31st, was marked by a banquet and presentation to the veteran postman, Mr. A. J. Monkman by the people of Elk Point and district in appreciation of his services during the past fifteen years. The presentation consisted of a handsome gold watch of 21-jewel movement, with Mr. Monkman's initials engraved on the outside of the back, while on the inner side was engraved the names of the donors and the occasion, making a very handsome gift.

Dr. Miller in presenting the watch, referred to the startling service rendered by Mr. Monkman as postman. During some missed a mail during the fifteen years of duty, a record to be proud of; also of the postman's many and unique visits on his trips. He has assisted to improvise and cross the Saskatchewan River on a cage attached to the ferry cable at break-up time, and of making the long trip from Vermilion to Elk Point during a cold snap of 47 below zero weather.

G. J. Fish, another old timer of the district, and Rev. C. D. Smith also made short speeches.

This party in his honor came as a complete surprise to Mr. Monkman, and he voiced his surprise in a reply to the remarks made, thanking them for their mark of esteem.

Mr. Monkman wishes to take this medium of thanking all those who were instrumental in so honoring him on March 31st.

CONTINUAL dosing upsets children's delicate stomachs. Vicks is applied externally and therefore cannot disturb the digestion. Mrs. Wilson's Experience a Guide to Women Passing through the Change of Life

Hamilton, Ontario. — "I have taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot speak too highly of it for what the Change of Life did was marvellous. I got very sad at times and thought I had lost a friend for good. I felt as if I had died. I was very nervous, too, and did not get very much rest. A friend advised me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as I did. I am a farmer's wife, and always worked hard and lately, and was in bed for two months. I began to feel like a new woman after the first bottle and I recommend it with great success, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about your medicines, as I cannot speak too highly of them." — Mrs. Mina Wilson, 471 Wilson Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

Imperial Agricultural Research

Proposed Empire Chain Of Agricultural Research Stations

The Imperial Agricultural Research Conference which met in London last October, in its report just made public, recommends the creation of an empire chain of agricultural research stations. The report also recommends creating in Great Britain a clearing house of information in agricultural science for the purpose of serving the whole empire and the training of scientific workers in agriculture for the empire. It suggests that training stations should be located at Queensland, Ceylon, East Africa, West Africa and Malaya. Ten highly qualified men should be the minimum staff at a station, the report suggests, and the annual maintenance is estimated at £20,000.

The report emphasizes the need of highly trained men for colonial agricultural service, and suggests that scholarships should be founded with a view to promoting agriculture. It also recommends the establishment of "corresponding centres" and bureaux as smaller clearing houses of information at an estimated cost of £30,000 annually, this fund to be administered by a body of men on which the governments of the Dominions and India should be represented.

GREAT HELP TO YOUNG MOTHERS

Baby's Own Tablets Have Many Uses and Are Absolutely Harmless

To have in the house a simple harmless remedy for the minor ills of babies and little children is a great boon to young mothers, and this is exactly why Baby's Own Tablets have been found in thousands of homes. The Tablets regulate the stomach and bowels, break up colds and simple fevers, allay the irritation of cutting teeth, yet they have no drug taste and the children like them.

Concerning the Tablets Mrs Ruth van Cromwellier, Nutaven, Ont., writes: "Kindly send me your little book on the Care of the Baby. I have two children, one four years of age and the other a year and a half. Both are in excellent health and the only medicine they have had is Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep the Tablets in the house and am happy to recommend them to other mothers."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cts a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Small Town Papers

BY
FRANK FARMER STOCKBRIDGE
Published by special arrangement with the Bell Syndicate, Inc., from "Stockbridge, Common," by Frank Farmer Stockbridge. Illustrations by Gelson.

"I tell you what, Stockbridge," said the old type louse," he continued, banging at his wrist watch and slapping me on the back, "I am in favor of the idea of the executive committee of our country association to hold its annual arrangements for our convention next summer. If you really want to know what the country newspaper is like is this year of grace, come along with me to the hotel. We haven't any secrets and you can speak the language of the craft well enough to pass for one of us. You'll meet some good fellows, live newspapermen, from the small towns all over the country, and they'll tell you better stories than I can. Can you spare the time? I'd love to have you come."

"I've time enough," I told him, "but I don't like to butt in."

"Butt in, my eye!" said Bert. "You used to be my boss, you know, and I want to show the other chaps the guy I've taught to be a real newspaper man. They'll be tickled to meet you, Sandra, if you don't know what they have to say I know what'll happen. You'll go round to the newspaper club and you'll find the old-timers when I used to know what a liar he was for a country editor to be. You've got to come."

I went. And I found out that that novelist's idea of making a living out of a couple of country newspapers wasn't so funny as it had seemed to me. They were all making a good living townsmen, and, as the saying goes, how! It didn't take long, after Bert had introduced me all around, to discover that the thirty or forty country editors in the room were mighty proud of their profession, their papers and their home towns. That was the most noticeable difference between them and a city editor or a printer, both, but the emphasis is on the business end. Most of the city men look on editors as well as publishers, and there are still a good many who began as printers and will always be printers at heart. Around the table, where Bert Mills brought a dozen other editors, I quickly found, I discovered that my former ideas about country papers were based upon conditions which no longer existed in the passenger pigeon.

Most of the picturesqueness and glamour which surrounded the oldtime country editor has either have disappeared, to be replaced by modern efficiency and by the occasional pioneers, penetrating into new fields with the vanguard of civilization, to set up their presses and prestige the date for the coming of education; but these are rare instances on the few remaining frontiers and even in such cases, subscribers, advertisers and profits follow faster than S. Franklin himself could have ever dreamed of.

A California editor told me of a man in his own state, P. L. Drexler, who took a fledgling country paper that five years ago

"I don't know how much capital he had," said the California man, "but it wasn't much. He bought a little paper, the Free Press, at Riverdale. Riverdale has a census population of 264; it's just a wide place in the road. After Drexler had made his first payment he had just $150 left, he told me. But he made the payment, and since then he started two others, each in a village of less than 250 people. I don't know what he's worth, but he's now paid his bills and wiped promptly, kept his children in the best schools, put two automobiles and two printing plants, all paid for, besides owning real estate, and has a cash surplus in the bank."

A Florida delegate matched that with the story of Howard Sharp's Riverside News.

"I don't think there are as many as 50 people in the town of Canal Point, on Lake Okeechobee where Sharp started the News a few years ago," he said; "but today Sharp has about 1500 circulation, which is more than the national average for country weeklies, and it covers its local field exclusively and intensively. Anybody who wants to know what is happening in Southeastern Florida or whether Lindbergh made another flight yesterday, can subscribe to some city daily; but the city daily can't give the space to tell how many acres of muck land each farmer in his district has under cultivation, how many cars of celery were shipped during the week, and the rest of the intimate, personal, local news that is what the people living there really want to know.

"That is the secret of the success of the country newspaper, just as it always has been—the ability to give the readers news which is important to the city paper, no matter how small a by it may be published, cannot possibly give them. Instead of trying to compete with the daily papers, the country editors of today are leaving the fields of national and international news to the 'other' papers and confining the news of their own counties or circulation territory. The country weekly in the old days had to print a good deal of general news because its readers were cut of range of the dailies. Now the dailies penetrate everywhere, but, paradoxically, the country newspapers are more flourishing than ever before.

In Greenfield, Massachusetts, for example, a town of 15,000, there is a substantial daily paper, but there is also the Greenfield Gazette, which has been published as a weekly for 125 years. The Gazette has forty correspondents, one in many town in Franklin County, two in some hamlets, and there isn't a farmer in the territory who can paint his barn or buy a new Ford without the news of getting into the [illegible]. The result is a circulation three 3,000.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

APRIL 22

JESUS AND THE HOME

Golden Text: "Honor thy father and thy mother" (which is the first commandment with promise). Ephesians 6:2.

Lesson: Mark 10:2-16.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 6. 1-9.

Explanations and Comments

The Teaching Of Jesus About Divorce, verses 1-9.—The Pharisees came to Jesus and in an effort, not to obtain instruction, but to entangle Him, put to Him this much-disputed question: "Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife?" As later in their question about the tribute money, so here they thought that whichever way He answered they would have a case against Him. If He said "Yes," He would offend the Jews who believed in the teaching of Rabbi Jochanan, who said, "The pulling away of a wife is odious"; if He said "No," he would be opposing the teaching of many rabbis, and would offend Herodias (for Herod had put away his own wife and married Herodias, the wife of his brother, while the latter was still living, and her fury might cause Him to share the fate of John the Baptist.

As was His frequent custom Jesus met a question by their law: "What did Moses command you?" He questioned: "Moses suffered by reason of hardness of divorcement, and to put her away." they replied.

"You threaten the very life of the Nation when you relax the ties of marriage and weaken the family bond. There is nothing so important than a new grasp of our Lord's teaching—that there is but one moral law, and that law the same for man and woman. The sacredness of marriage ought to be a subject upon which we have no doubts. On this point it is well not to have an open, but a closed and settled, mind. Let no specious and plausible talk about 'unhappy marriages' unsettle that conviction. The remedy for 'unhappy marriages' is not greater facility for divorce, but increased thought and seriousness in the contraction of marriage. Lastly in this will mean rottenness sweeping in like a flood. It is ours to maintain and assert the more austere and essential view of Christ. Marriage is an ordinance of God. It is meant for the perfecting of character. It is essentially and ideally permanent and indissoluble."

IGNORANT OF SYMBOLISM

Hundreds Of Scarves With German Monarchical Design Worn By Britishers

We would like to know whether Germany has been chuckling over the broadcast as an excellent joke, or whether with familiar Teutonic stolidity she has done the thing because it was necessary to be done with out of a bad deal. The other day a Newcastle, England, police court magistrate saw scarves in his courtroom, all of black, white and red, that, his curiosity aroused, he asked some of the defendants where he had got his.

The latter said it was a Christmas present, bought by the matter further, the judge discovered that this and vast numbers of such scarves of the same monarchical design, were not only at Newcastle but in London, Manchester and other British cities, were parts of a huge shipment from Germany.

The colors named are of course the German monarchical ensign. Further the country newspaper, just as it always has been—the ability to give its readers news which is important to the city paper, no matter how small a by it may be published, cannot possibly give them. Instead of trying to compete with the daily papers, the country editors of today are leaving the fields of national and international news to the "other" papers and confining the news of their own counties or circulation territory. The country weekly in the old days had to print a good deal of general news because its readers were cut of range of the dailies. Now the dailies penetrate everywhere, but, paradoxically, the country newspapers are more flourishing than ever before.

Mr. Cotterell reports that a gradual education in China and Japan for Canadian apples and butter, as well as for Canadian beef and bacon, has been going on for some time and will cost about two million dollars.

Electrification Of Rural Areas In Canada Is Being Carried Out On Increasing Scale

That electrification of rural areas in Canada will be carried out on a broad and increasing scale in the next few years is pretty well indicated by progress to date and plans being laid for the future. The province of Ontario has been leading through the activities of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission which was supplying 19,000 rural customers with electric service from nearly 2,500 miles of rural electric lines at the date of its last annual report. Since then more than 800 miles of lines have been built and plans for this year contemplate the construction of an additional thousand miles, bringing the total to 4,000 miles of line especially built to supply farmers and other rural areas with electric light and power.

Indications are that progress in rural electrification will be rapid in Western Canada. Electric power lines are spreading out from Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary particularly. These will not only supply the smaller towns with electric light and power but will also make use of electricity to many farms along the way. Manitoba is taking the lead and at a conference in Winnipeg recently on power, agricultural and manufacturing interests, plans were formulated for establishing such rural lines, as a step toward promoting the electrification of rural areas. This plan has been adopted by the Manitoba Electric Light Association in the United States and it is interesting to note the number of uses to which electricity is being put on the demonstration farms. The installations include such things as electric lighting, pumping water, milking, cooking, heating, ironing, washing, cleaning, sewing, ventilation, power for hoisting and cutting and for grinding and mixing feed and fertilizers. The list includes also the use of electricity in city houses and runny special uses adapted to the farms.

It is predicted that the rural farms in the United States will be using electricity inside of five years, a prediction supported by the fact that the number of "electrified" farms in that state doubled in three years, from 172,000 in 1923, to 350,000 in 1926. It is also interesting to note the progress being made in electrification of farms in New Zealand. Five years ago internal combustion engines made up 90 per cent. of the farm power plants. Recently, of 29,040 power plants, 8,436 or 30 per cent. were electric motors. The most widespread use of farm power in New Zealand is for milking equipment of which there were over 17,000 units in use last year. The electric motor supplies an ideal drive and can be moved around for other purposes.

Electrification of rural areas will certainly proceed rapidly in Canada and with abundance of water power and rural generally very much lower than in the United States, it is not surprising indeed, if, at the end of five years, there are not in Canada as many or more electric farms in proportion to population as there are in the neighboring republic.

Through Hiking

Nothing the Cow To the Last Drop Is Good Dairy Practice

In an experiment performed at the O.A.C. Guelph, to determine the value of milk; taken at different periods during the ten minutes that a cow was being relieved of her last drop production the following interesting figures were obtained:

The first three pounds milked out tested less than one per cent. of butter fat; the next four pounds tested above 2.5 per cent.; the third portion, weighing over four pounds, tested better than 5.5 per cent.; while the last portion milked, weighing nearly six pounds, tested over 9 per cent. butter fat. A half tea cup of milk left in the udder at the time of milking would mean a loss of nearly a dollar a month per cow less in butter fat. Furthermore, milk left in the udder will soon bring about the condition of dryness. Thorough milking out is essential to success in dairying. Get the last drop.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE WEST

Such a Lot Has Been Accomplished In a Short Space Of Time

At Saturday night's banquet in celebration of the opening of the new C.N.R. station, vivid reminders were given of how short a time it is since railway transportation began in the west and how great has been its development. General Superintendent Brown, who still brings the greatest vigor to the discharge of his duties recalled how, when he commenced railroading out of Winnipeg, the trains had to stop to let the herds of buffalo go by. Mr. John A. McDougall, who came to Edmonton by oxcart and has ever since been an active figure in this community, pointed out that at that time the white people in all the country between Portage la Prairie and the Rockies were no more numerous than those assembled in one room as the C.N.R.'s guests.

These and other reminiscences brought home as nothing else could do how much has been accomplished and the significance of which cannot be disputed. Those cited by Vice-President Hungerford were especially convincing. Last year the Canadian Pacific as a step toward promoting the electrification of rural areas. This plan has been followed by the Manitoba Electric Light Association in the United States and it is interesting to note the number of uses to which electricity is being put on the demonstration farms. The installations include such things as electric lighting, pumping water, milking, cooking, heating, ironing, washing, cleaning, sewing, ventilation, power for hoisting and cutting and for grinding and mixing feed and fertilizers. Where Canada Spends Most

U.S. Holds Leading Place in Canadian Trade

An indication of the prevailing encouraging conditions of business in Canada is given in the Canadian trade report for the 12 months ended January 31, 1928. The total trade of the Dominion for this period was $2,328,-762,281, an increase of $30,664,702 over the 12 months ended January 31, 1927. Of this total, exports amounted to $1,227,943,566, and imports $1,-097,818,715, a balance in favor of exports of $130,124,851.

The United States, as for a long time past, again holds the leading place in Canadian Trade. In the 12 months under review Canada bought from the United States goods to the value of $700,324,720, or about $71 per head of population of the Dominion. The United States was Canada's best customer as an individual country, with total purchases at $174,651,-536; Great Britain was in second place with $107,346,146. Canadian imports from the United States were valued at $463,876,660, which is more than 2½ times the value of imports from the whole of the British Empire.

It is appalling to learn that since the arrival of the white man in Canada, forest fires have destroyed 90 per cent. of our original forest wealth. Four or five times as much timber has been burned in this country as has been cut for the uses of man and the requirements of commerce. Dissipation of our accessible timber supplies within a period of twenty-five years is forecast!

To bring home to the minds of Canadians before it is too late, the tragic loss that will result to this country if our forest areas are totally destroyed, Canadian Forest Week has been set aside. In the press, in the schools, in clubs and public gatherings, the importance of Canada's forest industries will be drawn to public attention. If everybody in Canada realized that thousands of families and millions of dollars of capital are dependent upon the Canadian forests, everybody would think twice before throwing down lighted matches or cigarette stubs, or lighting fires in dangerous places and leaving them to spread on or below the surface of the ground. Carelessness has destroyed 90 pc. The axe has taken 10 p.c. Only carefulness will save 10 p.c. of our forest wealth that remains.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, has to do with Canada's forests, and is to encouraging to note his activity in arousing public opinion as to the situation and the imperative need for care in preventing forest fires.

WHY "CANADIAN FOREST WEEK" COMES IN APRIL

Spring is Season of Greatest Fire Hazard. Vacationists Are Then Planning Holidays

By Royal Proclamation the week of April 22-28 has been set aside as "Canadian Forest Week." During that period an intensive campaign, urging greater protection and conservation in our forests, will be carried on through out the Dominion. Every practicable medium of publicity will be used to spread the appeal. Newspaper editorials, posters, stickers, pamphlets, radio talks, lantern slides, moving picture speeches, and playlets will carry the message into the home, the workshop and the classroom so that all Canadians will be reached. All are urged to consider the present state of our forests as set on by the various authorities and to keep in mind the measures set forth for the protection and conservation of our forest reserves.

To many to whom the forest protection movement comes for question will naturally present itself, "Why has this season of the year been chosen for the 'Canadian Forest Week' campaign?" There are two main reasons why the spring and especially the month of April is the best suited for a fire prevention appeal.

The first of these is that over the greater part of Canada the last week in April immediately precedes the period of greatest fire hazard in our forests. By that time the snow has almost entirely disappeared from the woods and a succession of warm, sunshiny days is the rule. The hot rays of the sun heating down on the forest floor through the still leafless trees turn the dead grass, leaves, twigs and withered herbage from the last season's growth to tinder, in which the smallest spark may start a conflagration. During the succeeding weeks the new growth begins to appear and the danger is gradually lessened. There is a second period of fire risk in the late summer or early autumn, but this is not usually as acute as that occurring in the spring.

The second reason for choosing the month of April for the forest protection campaign is that at this time a the year most people are making plans for their vacations. Increasing numbers both in Canada and from abroad are making use of our forested areas for recreational purposes and the necessity of impressing them with the need for care with fire in the forest becomes increasingly great with the advent of the summer season. Advice on the proper location of camp-fires and the surest way of extinguishing them; how to dispose of lighted matches, glowing cigarette and cigar stubs, and live ashes from pipes a this time will bear good fruit duin the seasons of campers in Canada woodland areas.

The fact that in the United States the week of April 21st will be similarly observed with a forest protective campaign is a further evidence the all over the continent, forest conservationists realize the advantage of making the appeal in the spring of th year. From the Mackenzie to the Rio Grande the Governments of Canad and the United States will lend t urging greater care with fire in th forests and a closer utilization of the ter resources to the end that th ground and valuable lumber may b conserved for future generations.

If every man, woman and child in Canada would realize the danger of fire, practise carefulness at all times, and back up the fire ranger in his efforts to control fire outbreaks, Canada would save millions of dollars worth of timber every year.

The Edmonton Sectional Sheet

New Edition Indicates Progress

A revised edition of the Edmonton sheet of the Sectional Map of Canada showing topographical features has just been issued by the Topographical Survey of the Department of the Interior. It is the tenth edition of this sheet to be published since the first one was issued thirty-seven years ago. From this series the progress of settlement during these thirty-seven years might readily be traced. When the first one was issued the Calgary and Edmonton branch was the only railroad in Alberta north of the C. P. R. main line. Today, as the present edition of this sheet shows, the area is served by a network of main and branch railway lines, and is also filled with other features resulting from the works of man. Farmhouses, towns, villages, schools, churches grain elevators (telephone lines, post offices etc occupy all parts of the map sheet and serve to indicate the progress attained in less than forty years in building up this region.

The new map is both artistic and highly informative. Woods are tinted in green and lakes and other waterways are in blue. Some 290 miles of trunk roads are blocked in red, 635 miles of secondary roads in buff, and 2250 miles of local roads in fair condition are lined in black.

A point of historical interest on the sheet is the site of Fort Augustus, a one-time post of the North-West Company built in 1795. The Hudson's Bay Company's trading post at old Fort Edmonton was built in 1795 close to the former on the north bank of the North Saskatchewan river, across from what was later and is now Fort Saskatchewan. The sites of these two forts was the scene of constant battles with the Indians, resulting in their abandonment in 1806. The former Fort Edmonton, on the site of the present city of Edmonton with its 60,000 population, was the trading centre and the gateway into the Peace River and northerly regions.

The wooded areas in the central portions have been preserved. In Elk Island Park according to a recent census there are 727 bufalo, 227 moose, 483 elk and 298 mule deer, a source of interest to numbers of tourists. To the south of the park is Cooking Lake forest reserve, flanked by Cooking Lake, Wabamun Lake and Hasting Lake public shooting grounds. Cooking Lake is also a popular summer resort for the people of Edmonton and Northern Alberta in general. South again of the latter is the Miniatik Lake and Miquelon Lake bird sanctuaries. There are a number of other public shooting grounds shown upon the sheet, the largest being Beaverhill lake, southeast of Tofield.

The Edmonton sheet of the Section al Map Series may be obtained from the Surveyor General, Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, or from authorized agents in the principal cities. Orders by mail should be addressed to the Director of Surveys, Ottawa, and remittances should be made payable to the Receiver General of Canada.

Education and Religion

There is no subject in which the people of Western Canada take a deeper or more continuing interest than the subject of education. They demand the best for their children, and that they are prepared to pay for it is manifested by the splendid school buildings which are an outstanding feature in every Western town and village and in the steadily improving character of rural schools. Money required in the generous financial provision made for this purpose is cheerfully voted, on the plain ground that there may be regarded no other use of tax money so profitably wise in that, where promising of opportunities are necessary, it must be done at the expense of educational extravagance.

Concerning the best educational methods, there is much difference of opinion as to what constitutes the "best" and how that is to be attained. It is now generally accepted that children differ widely in their mental capacities, and that, consequently, a system which has been devised to meet the needs of the average child will not be equally satisfactory for those who are above or below the average. Hence the demand for a more flexible system, which will provide the means for the more rapid progress of the brighter pupils, and the individual attention which will be required by those who are slow to learn. The application of this principle in practice is difficult, but it is not impossible, and many of the leading educationists of the country are devoting their best energies to the solution of the problem. Whether it will be found necessary to abandon entirely the present system of grading pupils according to their years, and to substitute a system based entirely upon their mental capacities, is a question which we do not feel competent to discuss at present, but it is one which is receiving the careful consideration of many of the best minds in the profession, and we shall be interested to see what solution they will offer.

People are, however, divided in opinion as to what should be taught in the schools. Bishop Carbery, in his recent address to the Synod of Huron, urged that it is time that the Christian element be injected somewhat more generously into and taught straight through our public school system, as Father Bryan expressed it to The Catholic Record. Bishop Carbery regards an entirely secular system of education as being wrong in that the foundation of the whole curriculum. Many Protestants and a considerable large number of them agree in the belief and resent the assumption of the Catholic attitude that it shall be wholly secular and that religious teaching is the duty of the Church, the Sunday schools and the home.

The educational systems of these Western Provinces are a compromise between these two opposing views. They provide for the religious instruction of children of parents desiring it by the use of the last half-hour of the regular school day for religious instruction if the trustees so decide. This arrangement has been found to be satisfactory, and the opinion is frequently voiced that what this country should have is the national school system of the United States.

A recent article, however, in a religious sect in the United States, Protestant as well as Catholic opposed the wholly secular public school, and insisted, as it, that under the time of the Puritans upon religious training in the schools. The writer declares that the present tendency in the churches of the United States are taking stock of the situation and looking results squarely in the face. The general tenor of the complaint of the Protestant contributor is "the comparative failure of the church's religious education," and that "neither the homes nor the churches nor the schools" provide an adequate religious training and that a solution must be found or disaster will befall both the Church and society." They recognize that the Sunday schools do not meet the need because so small a proportion of the children attend and the instruction for the most part is ineffective, because of lack of time, teacher preparation, and pupil interest. The problem confronting the Church is, therefore, one of combining religion with public education, Church and State working together for a great result neither can achieve alone.

What is happening" Nineteen of the principal Protestant bodies have formed the Council of Church Boards of Education for the purpose of carrying on a system of religious instruction during public school hours as a supplement to the regular curriculum. The plan is as follows. On the request of the parent, a child is assigned at fixed periods each week for the study of religion, under a teacher designated by the parent. These teachers are appointed and supported by the sects but their qualifications are to be the same as for their instructors. Likewise, the standard of work and the credit granted are identical as for other subjects. Where no regular hour prevails, classes have sometimes been held on the school buildings, otherwise, in rooms provided by the churches. Textbooks and study materials have been issued by the various denominational boards of education.

Week-day religious instruction on public school time has been adopted in about eight hundred communities in over twenty States in New York City, Chicago and Providence have been united to secure the arrangement there. Laws sanctioning this policy have been passed in Iowa, Minnesota, Ohio, Colorado and South Dakota while court decisions in two States and official rulings in eight others have prevailed. Even where legislation has been rejected or no action taken, the plan is proceeding without interference.

The trend of thought and action in the United States, where a national no other public school system has so long prevailed, is of interest, and the above on line is presented solely for the information of Western people anxious to discover what is best for their children and calculated to build up a strong Christian country

Most Effective In Warding Off Diphtheria Says F.N. Doctor

The number of cases of diphtheria and deaths resulting therefrom have been reduced 80 per cent. in Pennsylvania in the last few years, says Dr. Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, at Harrisburg. This phenomenal decrease, Dr. Appel held, has been due almost entirely to the use of toxin-antitoxin.

NEW BLOOD NEEDED IN THE SPRING TIME

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills As a Blood Improving, Health-Restoring Tonic.

Every man, woman and child needs a new rich, red blood at this time of the year. That is a scientific fact. All the blood in the body is changed this and poor in the winter; there is not enough of it. Hence the spring miseries of the effect. Take notice and see how people are pale and sallow at this time of the year They complain of being easily tired, their appetite is poor, and they have frequent headaches and low-spirited. This is Mother Nature urging you to make new, rich blood supply, but often their digestion is weakened and they need help. Don't turn food into blood without help. This is where medicine comes in. Science comes to the rescue. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act in a direct manner on the blood and enable you to get full value out of the nourishment in your meals. You soon feel their effect — your appetite improves, your nerves are toned up, headaches, and the cheeks and lips, you have more life and energy. You feel that you are again well.

The value of Dr Williams' Pink Pills to all who are in what is known as the "run down" state of health is proved by the experience of Mr. John Pink, Bridge St., Belleville, Ont., who says:

"It is not possible for me to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly I had been gradually growing weaker, and found it hard to do my work. I suffered from pains in the back, aches and pains in the back. I was always tired, and could hardly get together my condition was despicable. I had tried many remedies, however, before I got a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a half dozen boxes more, and could thank them in short time when I found them helping me, and the last time I had taken the supply I got, I was again enjoying good health. Headaches and pains had disappeared, my nerves were strengthened and I had good appetite. You should try Pink Pills, and believed the advice of my friends."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are seriously ill or merely feel easily tired and out-of-sorts should give them a fair trial. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this spring. They are sold by medicine dealers everywhere, or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Red Cross Celebration

Fifty-Eight Nations Will Celebrate Hundreth Birthday Of Founder Of Organization

On May 8, 1928, fifty-eight national organizations, headed together under the Red Cross flag, will celebrate the hundredth birthday of Henri Dunant founder of Red Cross and joint winner of the Nobel Peace prize.

In Toronto the Ontario Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society will signally honor the occasion by giving a banquet on April 30th to the general the delegates attending the Annual Meeting of Central Council. A limited number of tickets are being sold outside of the membership, and it is expected that nationally known speakers, including the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, will attend and give the celebration speeches. Similar functions will also be held in every Canadian province

It is fitting indeed that such a centenary should not go unnoticed, for Dunant did much to promote the idea that suffering in war, the agony of the battlefield, could be largely mitigated.

It was while this great benefactor of humanity was touring in Lombardy in 1859 that he saw 40,000 dead, dying, wounded and sick men lying on the Battlefield of Solferino, without anyone offering as much as a drink of water in kindly service. The sight made so strong an appeal that he did not rest until an impromptu hospital was prepared in the nearby town of Castiglione, with voluntary ambulance and nursing service in attendance. Thus he became known as the "Good Samaritan of Castiglione."

The sight of so much agony never left his mind and from it he brought forth that was fraught with much significance to the world thereafter.

Dunant for many years travelled about Europe lecturing and giving his opinions regarding the treatment of soldiers in battle, pressing home the need for a reorganization of the medical services, for the rearrangement of plans for repatriating prisoners of war and caring for disabled men who had been broken in fighting for their country's cause. Out of Dunant's first idea grew the Conference at Geneva, which resulted in Red Cross societies being formed in each country. The first Treaty of Geneva was signed by twelve out of sixteen national delegates, the first Red Cross society being formed in the German principality of Wurtemburg

The Red Cross, the emblem symbol of the Red Cross, which was originally adopted in honor of Switzerland, where the idea had really taken place, became the chief organization to serve the soldier in war, and eventually to serve him also in peace, in sickness and life, caring for the sick and preserving health in general.

The Red Cross Society and the Treaty of Geneva on February 18, 1893; Phoenix Joined June 22, 1893; Phoenix Joined July 3, 1895, and the United States on March 16, 1882. The Canadian Red Cross Society at first was an offshoot of the British organization, but is now entirely autonomous within the bounds of the Dominion of Canada. Big New York Store Starts Day With Song Service

Music as a method of "pepping up" and stimulating business has been adopted by Arnold Constable & Co., New York, and, according to the consensus of opinions of the various executives, the results are satisfactory.

Early buyers at this establishment who arrived before the usual hour of opening have been puzzled and rather intrigued by the sounds of melody, the strains of singing choruses, proceeding from behind the closed portals.

This feature occupies the period from 8.30 until the doors open at 9 a.m. Under a competent leader the chorus, made up from every department in the huge establishment, enters into this brief song service. The inertia which has been a noticeable feature of early morning activities has disappeared at the close of the "songfest," all the participants are "on their toes" and the day starts off with a vim and swing that is astonishing.

Under the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act there are 28,000 policies, representing $37,000,000 today, according to a statement by L. R. Scammell, assistant deputy minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment, to the special parliamentary committee on pensions and returned soldier problems. The actual loss of operating the act totalled $1,200,000, based on the idle time of the insured.

Farmers Well Represented

Lawyers and Farmers Have the Largest Representation In Legislature

Lawyers and farmers are the two principal vocations represented among the 245 members of the Canadian Federal House of Commons. There are 70 of the former and 50 of the latter. In third place come doctors with 30, then merchants with 23, followed by 13 journalists and nine manufacturers. The remaining 51 members represent a variety of callings.

Among the cabinet council of 17 there are six lawyers, four farmers, five of business men, and four fires represent as many vocations. Each of the four former Cabinet Ministers, Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, and Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, represents a constituency in Western Canada. Each began farming on homestead land and has become a successful farmer. Hon. Mr. Forke and Hon. Mr. Dunning came from the British Isles as young men without any money. Hon. Mr. Motherwell and Hon. Mr. Stewart are natives of Ontario, but as young men heeded the advice of Horace Greeley and went west to Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Dad Understood

"And what do you propose to do now, Henry?" asked a farmer of the man who had just come home after graduating at college "Oh," yawned the optimistic young man, "I think I'll quit college and look for a position at five hundred pounds per. you understand? At five hundred pounds per." "Oh," said the old man, "I understand! You mean at five hundred pounds, per-haps!"

KING OF ITALY ESCAPES DEATH FROM BOMB

Milan, Italy.—Slight delay in an official program moved King Victor Emmanuel from mansion to mansion, a powerful bomb was exploded in some unknown way killing 15 and injuring 40 people in the Piazza Della Scala, while the king was making a triumphal tour of the city on his way to open the Milan fair. He made brief stops at historic points along the route and reached the scene of the explosion ten minutes after it occurred. He was about ten minutes late in his schedule.

Most of the killed were blown to pieces. The infernal machine, composed of a tube filled with high explosives and controlled by a time clock, had been concealed inside the base of a lamp post.

Terrible havoc was wrought and there was a scene of terror and confusion when the sovereign appeared accompanied only by his staff and the municipal authorities. The bodies of the dead and injured were taken into the exhibition grounds and by the time he immediately proceeded to carry out his duties of opening the fair.

Over the long distance telephone Premier Mussolini personally supervised measures for discovery of those responsible.

The premier sent warmest congratulations to King Victor Emmanuel on his escape.

The king displayed no anxiety for himself, but much for the wounded and the dead.

A monster mass meeting in Cathedral Square was held this evening to give thanks for the king's escape.

A throng estimated at 100,000 crowded the square. Ringing addresses of loyalty were delivered by Signor Fedele, minister of public instruction, and by Secretary Giampoolis, of the Milan Fascist Party.

The base of the lamp-post where the bomb had been placed had a circumference of about 40 inches. Therefore the explosive powers of the bomb were increased many fold. When it burst, fragments of metal were scattered over a radius of an eighth of a mile. A huge hole was ripped in the pavement for a distance of a hundred or more feet.

Unable To Pay Visit

London's Lord Mayor and His Gilded Coach Will Not Visit New York This Year

London. — Sorry though he is, Lord Mayor and his gilded coach will not visit New York this year. Sir Charles Bath said that he greatly regretted the fact that he was unable to accept the invitation extended some time ago by Mayor Jimmy Walker to come to New York and bring his ancient coach and gaily-liveried footmen.

"I have too much to do and it is impossible to get away even for a few weeks," said the Lord Mayor. "I am hoisted for banquets nearly every night of my term of office, which has eight months yet to run."

League Against Acobolism

Manitoba Prohibition Alliance Condemns Present Liquor System

Winnipeg — A resolution authorizing the appointment of a committee of 50 representative men in every province to consider the future typ-ff organization and the policy and progress of the Manitoba Prohibition Alliance was adopted at the annual meeting here. The name of the alliance probably will be changed to "The Manitoba League Against Alcoholism." Another resolution adopted condemned the present system of government control of liquor, which, it says, has proved itself to be "a liquor sale system including every element of effective control."

Will Make Public Price Of Alberta Coal At the Pit Mouth

Calgary.—That the new provincial coal standards board will act only in an advisory capacity and that the Government is desirous of having the price of Alberta coal at the pit mouth made public, were two important statements made by R. J. Dinning, Minister of Lands and Mines, on the board, at a meeting of coal operators held in Calgary to discuss the new $6.75 coal rates to Ontario.

Mr. Dinning also intimated that the onus of having the various coals placed on the "preferred" list would rest with the operators themselves.

The list he said, would be submitted to J. A. Ellis, fuel controller in Ontario, at the earliest possible date. The point was stressed by W. W. McInnis, of Canmore, the chairman, that because a rate of $6.75 had been Ontario market. He intimated that the board had been won. They had merely won the first round.

It depended upon operators, working in conjunction with the Alberta Government, to win the rest of the Ontario market. He intimated that the Government was to be in a measure it was absolutely necessary to safeguard the Ontario consumer in every possible way.

I.R.S. Broadcast Question

Matter Still Stands On Order Paper In House

Ottawa.—"Is the government considering refusing to continue the license of the broadcasting station CHCY, Edmonton (International Bible Students), and if so, for what reason?" asked H. E. Spencer (U.F.A., Battle River), in the House of Commons.

Hon. P. J. Cardin, minister of marine and fisheries, replied that he had already answered a similar question. In view of this fact, and also because it represents a matter now under consideration, he thought the question might be dropped. Mr. Spencer agreed and said he would prefer to have the question stand on the order paper.

Hon. W. Wordsworth (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre), declared that the minister had given no reason at all for shutting off these licenses. He failed to see why the minister should not answer the question. Mr. Spencer declared that the question would remain on the order paper.

Endorses Hudson's Bay Route

Canada Needs Another Outlet and Entrance, Says Noted Arctic Explorer

Montreal.—Favorable endorsation of the Hudson's Bay route was given by Capt. Joseph E. Bernier, noted Arctic explorer, in an address before a local service club. There was a problem on the horizon, he said, which Montreal and the Dominion as a whole would have to face in future years.

As the population of the country grew and the trade of Canada increased, the port of Montreal was bound to obtain a congested condition and then Canada must look to the Dominion to provide another entrance and outlet

Coupled with this problem, he remarked, was the question of the Hudson's Bay route. This question was not a damming up of the waters of the river to maintain the necessary level.

Fall Grains Winter Well

Come Through In Ontario Better Than Anticipated

Toronto — Fall wheat, alfalfa and other clovers have come through the winter in Ontario in better condition than had been anticipated in the general consensus of opinion gleaned from reports received by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

While a little seeding has been done in the counties of Essex and Kent, very little, if any, has been attempted in other parts of the province. Plowing, however, is fairly general in many counties of Southern Ontario.

There is a general shortage of grain in nearly all parts of the province.

The demand for farm labor is keen, and particularly so for boys of 15 to 17 years of age who are being brought out by the Department of Colonization.

Canada's Autonomy

Canada's Representation On League A Good Thing For the World At Large

Montreal.—Canada's election to the council of the league of nations was the international recognition of the Dominion's autonomous status, Sir Herbert H. Amos, former financial director of the league's secretariat, declared in an address here, which thought that Canadian representation on the council would be a good thing for the world at large.

NET DEBT OF CANADA REDUCED BY 87 MILLIONS

Ottawa.—A decrease of $87,160,784 in the net debt of Canada during the fiscal year which closed on March 31 is shown in the financial statement issued by the Department of Finance.

Until the department is in receipt of all the revenue collected in distant parts of the Dominion and until a number of outstanding accounts have come into last year's financing are met, the figures for the year cannot be regarded as in any sense complete.

Last year, the statement issued at the close of the fiscal year showed a net debt as at March 31 of $61,426,500. The net debt as on March 31 last, according to the statement, was $148,587,284.

Customs duties yielded revenue of $105,571,770 during the fiscal year just closed, as compared with $100,-645,270 the previous year.

Revenue from excise duties showed an increase of $8,827,037 over the 1926-27 figure.

There was a decrease of $14,194,964 in excise tax collections, which includes the sales tax. The total amount collected was $97,046,220. Income tax collections recorded an increase of $9,334,270 over the 1926-27 returns. The total amount collected in the year just closed was $56,547,570

In the matter of expenditure, the big item was one of $120,740,973 for interest on public debt. This was over a million dollars less than in the previous year.

The amount expended for pensions during the year just closed was $36,-180,558 against $34,533,661 in the previous year.

All-British Settlers For Western Provinces

Large Party Of Boys Were Among New Arrivals

Winnipeg—Resembling more a large party of tourists from the Old Country with cameras and fishing outfits in solid leather cases hanging from their shoulders, some 400 new settlers from the British Isles arrived in Winnipeg last week over Canadian Pacific lines to take up agricultural work in the Western provinces.

The party, one of the largest all-British to arrive in the West for some time, were discharged at St. John from the S.S. Montcalm and proceeded here by special train.

Outstanding in the party was a group of 32 young British lads in their middle teens who were brought out to the Dominion under the auspices of the Agricultural Department of the Manitoba Government.

They were met on arrival at the Canadian Pacific depot here by Prof. C. R. Hopper, member of the faculty, Manitoba Agricultural College, who is looking after newcomers of this type for the Government.

Does Canada Lack Creative Art?

Assertion Is Made That Great Canadian Novel Is Yet To Be Written

Toronto.—That the great Canadian novel has not yet been written, that there is a dearth of creative effort in music, and that Canadian drama has yet to come were assertions made by Prof. Landon, M.A., of the University of Western Ontario, when addressing the opening session of the Ontario Library Association here.

Dr. George H Locke, of Toronto stated that the British Library Association was making a strong effort to form a federation in London, which would be the centre of literary activity for the United Kingdom. That the federation should become still greater and embrace the other nations of the empire was the speaker's suggestion

New Text In Civics

The Department of Education has just issued a manual in Civics intended for use in the High school grades. This little booklet of approximately 78 pages contains material which every citizen should be familiar. It was written by Professor Dart of the University of Alberta, admittedly an authority on this subject. While the treatment follows in a general way the topics included in the civics section of the third year History course, yet nothing has been included that is not of genuine interest to anyone who desires a brief statement, not only of our present practice in government, but the foundations on which it rests. This is the first Canadian publication dealing with civics on the high school level and it will without doubt make a suitable text for discussion clubs, U.F.A., U.F.W.A. and Women's Institute meetings, as well as a valuable handbook for private reading. It is published by the School Branch of the Department of Education and may be had direct from this Branch for 20c per/paid, or from local dealers

Farmers From Nebraska Settle North Of Town

Bought School Lands Last Fall - 19 In Party

WINNIPEG, April 24.—"Going into the Vermilion district." This was the remark of Charles Chaseon, who with five other Nebraska farmers arrived in Winnipeg today with their families for northern Alberta. These Americans bought a large parcel of school lands last fall 24 miles from the town of Vermilion. They paid an average of seven dollars per acre. They had considerable acreage broken that will be cropped this season. Between them the party will represent an investment of $45,000 with nineteen in their combined families. They are practical farmers from the central part of Nebraska.

Chaseon said a great many farmers from his particular part of the state are moving into Northern Alberta this spring.

Baby specialists agree nowadays, that during the first six months babies must have three ounces of fluid per pound of body weight daily. An eight pound baby for instance, needs twenty-four ounces of fluid. Later on the rule is two ounces of fluid per pound of body weight. The amount of fluid absorbed by a breast fed baby is best determined by weighing him before and after feeding for the whole day, and it is easily calculated for the bottle fed one. Then make up any deficiency with water

Giving baby sufficient water often relieves his feverish, crying, upset and restless spells. If it doesn't, give him a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. For these and other ills of babies and children such as colic, cholera diarrhea, gas on stomach and bowels, constipation, sour stomach, loss of sleep, underweight or feeding phy-culties may there's nothing so effective as Castoria. It is purely vegetable the recipe is on the wrapper and mil-lions of mothers have depended on it in over thirty years of every day using use. It regulates baby's bowels makes him sleep and eat right, enables him to get full nourishment from his food so he increases in weight as he should With two pounds you get a book on Motherhood worth its weight in gold

Just a word of caution Look for the signature of Chas H Fletcher on the package so you'll be sure to get the genuine The forty cent, bottled contains thirty-five doses.

Miss C. Deane, Washington, writes: "About two years ago I was bothered a great deal with a muddy, sallow and pimply skin. I found I could never be satisfied with cosmetics, but this soon made a beautiful change. I gladly recommended your purely vegetable laxative, and assured my friends it might be constipation. After taking a short while I noticed a wonderful difference. My complexion has improved, also headaches, indigestion and biliousness never bothered me since using it."

The Independent-Reporter of Shoebegna, Maine, has more than 4,500 subscribers, an advertising revenue of some $21,000 last year, and half as much besides from subscriptions, and the editor wouldn't change places with the editor of any daily paper in the country.

Those figures of income surprised me when one of the New England men at the luncheon table quoted them.

"They're not especially high," said the vice-president of one of the national country-paper organizations "Higher than the average, but I could give you hundreds of examples of country weeklies with bigger incomes. Our organization has been trying to find out with weekly cards filed the largest volume of advertising for the past year The highest figures we have got so far are from the Times-Record, of Spencer, West Virginia, which ran 71,333 inches during the year. Their rate is one for a circulation of above 5,000, only 32 cents an inch, but that gives them an advertising revenue of more than $23,000. I could name fifty country weeklies offhand which regularly carry from 40,000 to 60,000 inches of advertising annually, at rates from 30 to 50 cents an inch."

"Maybe you'll believe me now," suggested Bert Mills. I was ready to believe anything. But I was ready also to know where all this advertising comes from.

Perhaps 5 per cent. of it is national advertising—foreign business as we call it," explained the head of a national advertising agency that specializes weeklies. "The rest of it is local advertising, by local merchants to local people. Mighty little of it is mail-order advertising, most of the mail-order business by all commodities which are handled by local merchants is what it happens at institutional advertising. And the foreign advertiser pays as high a rate as the local merchant, or higher in many cases."

"You can buy space in daily newspapers at a great variety of rates," said an editor from Oklahoma, "depending upon the amount of space used, the number of insertions in a year, and other considerations. The tendency in the country press is toward a flat rate for nearly everybody, no matter how large the advertisement or how often it runs. That is one of the things our state and national editorial associations have been educating our members about.

"There must have been some effective educational efforts among local merchants too," I suggested, remembering old Otto Muncaster's six barrels of beer.

"That of course," replied the Oklahoma editor, "but how the small-town business men have learned that lesson I never heard of Sch Mooney, did you? His store is in an Oklahoma town which had 904 population the last time they took the census; but Sch does $2,000,000 a year in business, all from advertising in the country towns within a radius of 50 miles."

That trial has happened to this country since the war is that business everywhere is done in the same way and in the same commodities," he went on. "There is no longer any real difference between the city markets and the country markets except in the volume of business done in a given area. The only difference now is a difference of kind. Country folk buy the same things city folk buy; country merchants carry the same lines you can find in Sixth Street or Fifth Avenue. And the country newspaper presents the story of the country merchant to its readers in the same way the city paper does.

"We who publish country newspapers are the beneficiaries of a new understanding of interests, of a drawing together of all the people until there is no longer any sharp distinction in appearance, dress, manners, business methods and habits of thought between the people who live in the small towns and on the farms and those who live in the big cities."

"Yeah, they both thin their hair and rent stockings out on the farm now just as they do in town," drawled an editor from Maryland. "I've got a paper down on the Eastern Shore—been running sixty-five years and more We used to carry advertising of fertilizers and mules with a couple of standing half pages from the general store Here's a copy of my latest issue, look it over."

I looked They still use mules on the Eastern Shore, Rhoda and Tobe, Nate and Dolly and a dozen other teams of mules were advertised for sale also fertilizer, seed potatoes and other essentially agricultural commodities No question about it, this was a rural paper, But the biggest advertisements were of the Centerville department store and drug store Silk stockings and bathing suits for the farmers' wives and daughters- Golf knickers a big display advertisement offering special bargains in that truly rural commodity.

"Preserve your youthful beauty," a drug-store advertisement exhorted the farm women, Betting a sale fill lotions and face creams including — whisper- rouge and lipstick And automobiles Not only trucks and harvesters but high-grade cars, half a dozen makes

"And that's typical," said an Illinois editor who had been looking over my shoulder. "We're making a drive in our paper now for a country golf course. I live in a dairy country, and our farmers don't take enough time off to play, and neither do our business men. You'd be surprised at the interest there is in golf, especially among the younger farmers.

"I've got some figures here that I laboured on all of you," the advertising-agency man put in. "It took some work to get them together because the census doesn't help us much. The Government classes all communities of 2,500 or more as urban, which is misleading. For the study of the country newspapers' field of activities we take 5,000 population as the maximum unit of a rural community—a village or town. That's too small to be a city, too small to support a daily newspaper.

"There are now 11,000 weekly newspapers published in 8,000 villages of 5,000 or smaller populations That is a reduction of about 2,500 from the maximum of 13,500 which was reached about 1910. The reduction has come about for two main reasons; first, the growth of some towns into daily-paper size, but principally from the consolidation of competing papers, making one paper out of two that were both struggling for existence. The time has come, in most communities, when clearly a political organ, which the trade did not support, is consolidation.

As the first Exalted Ruler of the Vermilion Lodge, the genial "Charlie" has rendered splendid service, and the present healthy condition of the Lodge's affairs is due in no small measure to his energetic efforts.

On Friday, April 13th, the Vermilion hockey team were the guests of the Elks at a sumptuous banquet prepared by mine host Jack Cullard, of the Brunswick Hotel. It will be remembered that the puck-chasers were sponsored by the Elks during the past season, and the banquet was tendered as a well-deserved, in addition to the entertainment provided for the kiddies, arrangements are being made for a big dance at Angel for the 27th.

The Cubs will meet on Friday, May 4th instead of Tuesday, May 1st as was announced last week.

Carbon Monoxide Gas Is Poisonous

A Closed Garage is Fatal in Three Minutes

Fumes from the exhaust of an automobile or other gasoline engines are poisonous. They have often caused death. The danger is due to carbon monoxide. This gas is a product of combustion and is clear and odorless when the engine is started. The degree of combustion determines the amount discharged, but even under the best conditions, enough is always liberated to poison the air to a dangerous extent; unless ventilation is abundant. Tests have proved that the air of a small garage with doors closed will become dangerously poisonous within three minutes. Hence all repairs or adjustments on an automobile, that have to be made with the engine under the hood cover, should always be carried on in the open spaces (against Life Guard.

Furthermore, the danger from this and other gases, products of gasoline combustion, is not confined to small, private garages. It may and does exist in public garages, the ventilation of which is sometimes below the safety point. The same is true of stables, many serious cases of poisoning in buildings and cabins of boats. And it must be remembered that the vapor of gasoline itself is poisonous and quite capable of causing death.

Without going into the chemistry and physiological effects of carbon monoxide, note carefully this very critical point: We have no way of recognizing the presence of the gas, because it is invisible, odorless, tasteless and non-irritant. That list cuts out the four ordinary elements that the senses provide. A man may be immersed in the gas, and never suspect it until he grows dizzy, becomes hysterical, or drops unconscious. Hence, there is but one rule: Having learned of the danger and the way to avoid it, never take a risk! Even if reasoned and consciousness is restored, it is said death may come to late as eight days afterward.

This is a real "man-made devil." It should be constantly guarded against, by the millions of automobiles that may be exposed to its deathly grip whenever ignorance or thoughtlessness opens the way.

And it is only proper to add that dangerous situation of the house at: the same gas is likely to be generated at any time through the incomplete combustion by gas cooking-stoves and heaters, and kerosene heaters, if without chimney connections. Where death does not intervene, the results may be gassing that will be remembered vividly and lessened resistance to disease.

Prominent S.A. Couple Married

SMITH — BOWLES
(From Swan River Star)

An unusual event in the annals of the Salvation Army in Swan River took place on Monday April 9th, when Lillian Doris, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowles, of Swan River, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Arthur Smith of Vermilion, Alta.

The bride entered the S. A. Hall upon the arm of her father to the strains of Wagner's wedding march rendered by Mrs. F. B. Fraser, preceded by the officers of the corps, Capt. Eby and Lieut. Hawkins. Then followed two little flower girls, the Misses Loose and Sylvia Bowles, both nieces of the bride. Following the bride and her father were Brigadier Gosling, officiating officer, the bridegroom, supported by E. Bowles, brother of the bride. Lieut. Hawkins very ably attended as bridesmaid. After all parties concerned had mounted the platform the service was opened by the singing of a hymn suitable for such an occasion, and prayer by Capt. Eby. Brigadier Gosling then spoke to the audience from the 23rd Psalm. After this, telling the audience of his deep respect for both the contracting parties; it gave him great pleasure, he said, to speak then, as the bride had been a lieutenant under his officer, the bridegroom he had known for three or four years. The bridal party were then asked to stand and the ceremony was performed under the Army flag. The bride and groom were then called upon to say a few words, which they did in a very fitting manner, as did the parents of the bride. It was the final to a ceremony which will not soon be forgotten by the audience which filled the S. A. Hall to overflowing. The happy couple drove to the home of E. Bowles amid a shower of rice and confetti and to the music of trailing pots, pans, cow bells and old shoes. Here about forty guests sat down to a dainty lunch at well decorated tables. The number and quality of the gifts to the bride spoke well of popularity and respect. Brigadier Gosling, on behalf of the bridegrooms, presented Lieut. Hawkins with a fountain pen, E. Bowles with a pair of white gold cuff links. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on Monday night's train amid more rice and confetti and good wishes for their home in Vermilion.

Canada's forests are going fast. Yet how many people in this country belong to any conservation?

As long as Canadians pay no attention to forest fests, the alcohol will go on.

Sixty per cent. of Canada's original forest wealth has been destroyed by fire!

Thirteen per cent. has been cut by axe and saw!

Twenty-seven per cent. is left as the capital to supply an increasing and an insatiable demand for lumber and paper and other products!

Only forty per cent.! In a few generations we have reduced our capital to 27 per cent. of the original. Surely that is enough! Is it not time we began to save for it?

We have some cleared agricultural land which once was forest, but this is the capital to supply an increasing at least, was chiefly hardwood forest. Our cut-over coniferous forest area is largely rough, sandy, rocky land of little use except where its scenic may have been deposited.

Canadians should think over these things. "Canadian Forest Week" is an effort to have them do so. It means much to the future of this country. Unless the remainder of our forest capital can be protected and widely used, in twenty-five years, at the present rate of destruction by fire and axe, we will have used up all our available timber.

Forestry experts claim that if fire can be kept out, Canada's forest growth each year will provide all the timber and pulp wood required. The chief problem, however, is not how to fight fire, but how to prevent it. Every man, woman and child who goes into the woods should know the danger and feel the responsibility.

Hon. Charles Stewart Minister of the Interior, is doing a national work in organizing the fight against forest fires. The people of Canada could do infinitely more, however, by exercising care to prevent them.

Clearing land in Canada was once an industrious habit. Eastern Canada was a forest, and the first thing to do was to clear land to grow wheat, potatoes and hay. The forest was the enemy to be routed. Today, the people of Canada are awakening to the fact that the forest they once regarded as an enemy is Canada's second best asset, and furthermore, that it is a rapidly-disappearing asset.

White pine was once the most coveted lumber in this land. Red pine and a generation ago it was comparatively plentiful and cheap. Not so today. The original supply of white pine are nearly gone. For saw mill timber we now depend largely on spruce and fir: seventy per cent. of the timber in Canada at saw mill quality stands in British Columbia. Eastern Canada, once a forest, is now a barren [illegible] slope.

The greatest forests of Canada today are chiefly valuable sources of spruce pulp for paper-making. How long these will last, subjected to the present rate of exploitation plus the ravages of forest fire, has been variously estimated. But one thing is not at all reassuring. In twenty-five years, unless Canada wakes up and does more than she is doing at present, the pulp and paper mills, which remain, and such individual manufacturers as may be left to prosper under Canadians and good management will save Canada from industrial impotency.

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, who, [illegible] is one of his best friends in Parliament, has done the best impose on part of his effort to make the people of Canada realize that [illegible] Week is going to be productive

Capt. James Cochrane Hutton, Served for Many Years in India

A real old army veteran in the person of Capt. James Cochrane Hutton, aged 84, passed away at an Edmonton hospital on Saturday, and, because of his former military record, was buried in the soldiers' plot at the Edmonton cemetery.

The late Capt. Hutton served for many years in the imperial army in India, as did his father before h'm.

Retiring from army life, he came to Canada 42 years ago, and for some years lived in the Vermilion district with his wife and daughter. He had lived in Edmonton for about nine months before his death.

Rev. Canon Cosens Ching and Brigadier Stewart of the Salvation Army conducted the service Tuesday afternoon at Foster's funeral home, the ceremony being of a semi-military nature.

Every Town Wants Industries

Every industry, be it large or small, adds to the progress and prosperity of any community. Every such industry brings new capital to a town, and distributes the profits more generally in the way of wages and salaries. Everybody benefits.

Among local industries there is none of greater importance in any community than that of the local home newspaper. Not only does it provide employment for a certain number of workmen, but it offers a service to the community which could be obtained in no other way.

In their own best interests therefore, business men should use their local paper for purposes of advertising and also for the procuring of their requirements in PRINTING. All business men need printed matter of various kinds from time to time. Remember your local printing office when in need of printed matter

Western Population and Education

There is at the present time much widespread discussion throughout Canada of the subject of immigration—together with its allied subjects of assimilation of non-British peoples into the Canadian family, education of both the native born and new comers, and the creation of a unity of the English language. In the effort that it is well people generally should have placed before them, as the basis of facts and be guided by those facts rather than general assertions in support of which no proof is advanced. It is well that the discussion of these problems are fair and reasonable and based upon facts rather than upon prejudice or upon such constructive discussion of an unsympathetical character as this article is written.

Accordingly in the following paragraphs the three prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, for the years 1916, 1921 and 1926, the latest obtainable and the 5 years between, will be dealt with.

	British-born	Foreign-born	Total
1916	436 156	117 704	553 860

New Minister Inducted First United Church

The induction of Rev H. A. Boyd, M.A., and his wife, took place at the First United Church on Friday evening when a large crowd assembled to welcome the new minister to the church and the town. Rev. Thos. Hart, M.A of Manville, who has been Interim Moderator of the congregation from the time of Mr Kerr's resignation, received the steps that had been taken to extend a call to Mr Boyd, who was then pastor of the United Church at Killam. All the steps were in accordance with the order of the United Church He then called upon Mr. Boyd to come forward, and put to him the usual questions concerning the manual of the church, and upon these being satisfactorily answered, he proceeded to induct the minister with the pastorate of the church and in welcome him as the on-behalf of the Vermilion Presbytery Rev. T. J. Bowes Bowes then gave the charge to the minister, basing his remarks on the ideals and purpose of the life and ministry of St. Paul when he said: "I am a debtor both to the Greek and the Barbarian, to the wise and the unwise; so as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you that are in Rome also."

Rev. Thos. Stainton, M.A., of Minburn then gave the charge to the congregation, calling upon them by influence and effort to cooperate to establish the kingdom of God in this town and by harmonious effort their work would be a success.

Principal Elliott of the Agricultural College gave a very hearty welcome to the new minister on behalf of the congregation, and Rev A. E Sage of St. Saviour's Anglican church gave a warm and fraternal welcome to the town and to the Christian work of the town.

A fine musical program was given by local talent after which Rev. Mr. Boyd was called upon to address the congregation on the occasion of his induction. In a neat and well worded address, he set forth the principles of the Presbyterian church and his wide life, presented to the Ladies Aid there by the new pastor. Refreshments were served by the ladies of the church.

Empire Builders

Empire Shopping Week which was observed throughout Canada last month appears to have made an especially strong appeal to the people of Western Canada. This may be surprising to many people in the Eastern provinces who are still laboring under the delusion that British and Empire sentiment is not overly strong in the West, and that it has been rewarded by the influx of settlers of other than British origin But it is not surprising to the average Westerner on the contrary to him it is but the natural outcome of the thought and support of the West.

It is true in the East and in the West that the strongest approval is given to the British Preference feature in the Canadian tariff and it is in the West rather than the East that public opinion favors further steps to be taken to extend that Preference with a view to a lowering of duties and still greater encouragement of British trade in this Dominion In fact there is a very strong sentiment in the West which would welcome the development of Preference to the point where all customs duties on British-made and British-produced goods were wiped out entirely

Empire Shopping Week had for its object the fostering of people's attention upon, and increasing the consumption of, Canada as a component part of the British Commonwealth of Nations and of the Empire as a whole. Undoubtedly, settlement provides a mighty urge to all Canada to give a sympathetic preference to Empire goods when making purchases but as was the case with the prohibition of the liquor traffic, sentiment is not in itself sufficient. It is the economic factor which in these modern days provides the most powerful argument And Western Canada is profoundly interested in the economic factor

World trade today is as it has always been and always will be a system of barter, the exchange by one country of the products and articles of which it produces a surplus to another country which requires these things and in exchange, therefore in other goods of which such country has a surplus. Money, of course, is used as a medium of exchange but is not important Money, in most commercial means of effecting such exchange In other words trade between nations operates on exactly the same principles as trade between individuals

Western Canada, and Canada as a whole, has a surplus of products to sell If this Dominion is to encourage the things Canada has to sell are to be on a practical, business-like basis for them to buy from other countries the things which they have to sell and which we cannot or do not produce ourselves and need imported

Last year, Canada sold to the rest of the British Empire $200,000,000 more products than we purchased from them On the other hand Canada bought over $200,000,000 more from the United States than we sold across the line Canada was enabled to pay the United States for the excess of goods imported because of its excess of sales to other parts of the Empire. While Canada did not lose by this procedure, the Empire did not gain; in fact it sustained loss

Now as our major exports must cross the seas to rival Britain Ireland, Australia, New Zealand South Africa, it will be to Canada's advantage, in a purely business way, to buy as much as possible in those countries and this will thus provide return cargoes for the ships which carry Canada's products into the markets of the far-flung British Empire. The larger these return cargoes, the more profitable will the trade be operated, the greater the number of ships that will be put on these ocean lanes of transportation, the lower the competition for the business, and, as an inevitable economic result the lower the freight charges levied on both outgoing and incoming products.

The aim of Canada busy time, its safety lashes in the British Commonwealth of Nations, and the Empire as a whole, is to make it the best trade-built nation on this broad earth. It has been said, and said truly, that "trade follows the flag, but it is also true that the flag has followed trade And to the traders of the past we largely owe the Empire of today.

It is equally true that the development of inter-Empire trade has a direct and pronounced effect on immigration, and inasmuch as Canada is particularly anxious to secure a larger proportion of British settlers, the more we trade with Britain the more work-by will Canada and Canadian producers and Canadian resources and possibilities become known among the British people

The slogan of Empire Shopping Week is industriously true - "Empire Shoppers are Empire Builders." Let Canada build by buying

Uncanny Inventions Exhibited in London

One Machine Types, Adds, and Multiplies At Same Time

Uncanny efficient inventions were to be seen at the Business Efficiency Exhibition at Holland Park Hall, London, Eng., recently. The device shown included: An electric machine that opens envelopes at the rate of 30,000 an hour. A machine that types, adds, and multiplies at the same time. A machine that seals, franks, counts, postmarks and prints a slogan on envelopes at the rate of 200 per minute. Portable typewriters in colors to match the home or personal color scheme. A lash which records on a tape the time the door is opened, by whom, and whether from the outside or inside of the room.

NEGLECTED ANAEMIA

Often Leads To the Most Serious Consequences

In no disorder is delay or neglect so dangerous as in anaemia. Usually the first noticeable signs are pale lips and cheeks, dark rings under the eyes and a feeling of weariness. They follow headaches, backaches, palpitation and breathlessness. The only way that anaemia can be overcome is by enriching the blood. This is because of their wonderful blood-enriching and blood-making properties that Dr Williams' Pink Pills have won and have become the treatment of this often most stubborn disease.

Thousands of young girls who are in an anaemic condition are thus prevent good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Here is one case Miss Mc Eachern, Port Hood, N.S., says: "I prefer to tell you in the case of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I suffered from dizzy spells and occasional fainting spells. My face was pale, and my lips and cheeks and gums were white. I felt tired and breathless. In fact I was in a bad way. Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I continued them until I had taken six boxes by which time I was again enjoying good health. I have since then always used other sufferers to give this medicine a fair trial.

If you are at all run-down, or weak you should begin at once to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They will soon be well and strong. These pills are sold by all medicine dealers, or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box from The Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

"Dry Ice" New Idea

Substitute Has Been Used Successfully In States

By the use of "dry ice," or solidified carbon dioxide, the price of ice cream will be cut considerably within the next few years, says Fred Rasmussen, of Harrisburg, executive of the International Association of Manufacturers' Association, during the annual convention of the body.

Mr. Rasmussen says the "dry ice" will supply the needs of an ice cream delivery truck for nearly a day, he declares. The use of the new product will spread rapidly when it is made in quantity. It is now being used in the manufacture of ice cream from milk, he declares.

Settlers From Across the Line

Many Inquiries Are Being Received From Prospective Settlers

"Not only will a large number of Canadians return from the United States, but many citizens of that country will seek homes in Canada during the coming year," predicted Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration and Colonization, when he addressed, as based on reports of Canadian agents in the United States, who have visited only to the people, an unusual unprecedented number of inquiries for information concerning Canada," said Minister.

Has Unusual Occupation

For twenty-three years Lawrence Quinn, chief oysterman at the Hotel Lincoln, New York, has been opening oysters for a living. He opens an average of 2,000 oysters a day, and during his twenty-three years in this world has found thousands of pearls. None of the stones were of fabulous value, but there have been enough found to cause a very fine necklace and some pendants, and Quinn still has hope that some day he will pick up one that will be of real value.

Winnipeg Population

The official figure of the population of Winnipeg proper for 1928, as given by the Assessment Department, is 202,377. Not since 1910 has the 200,000 mark been reached. This year's figure is obtained only by the population totals for 1914 and 1915, when the figures were 203,256 and 212,588 respectively.

A Region Of Wondrous Beauty

Plan Is Made For Establishment Of Provincial Park In Miette-Cooks Valley, B.C.

If you like to get out in the wild country and hunt wild animals, such as grizzlies, with the camera, by all means go to the Bella Coola Valley, B.C. I have spent the last four summers there, and I am advocating the establishment there of a Dominion Park in the region of Mackenzie Park, in honor of the first white man who crossed Canada and who reached the sea at that place. Sir Alexander Mackenzie Park is midway by way of the Rocky Mountains Park, and so we should have a scenic route into British Columbia and Canada. If the Dominion will not carry out this plan I hope to get some private capital interested, as the region is one of wonderful beauty. Within a distance of 9 miles, it is easily traversed, in one day by motor boat or auto; the can visit both the so-called rainy belt and the dry belt, and within one day can from sea level to 12,000 feet, can have hunting on both salt, fresh, water and can get combined country rafting, motor hunting, sailing, etc. There is excellent trout fishing and good mineral photography grizzly bears in very numerous. Thousands of water falls one of them over 500 feet high, 10 glaciers can be seen from one place, and there are many others. It costs only $40.00 for a round trip from Vancouver by steamer through the fjords of the Norway of Canada. I have taken my first moving picture, showing life in this region. Board in the valley can be had at 50 cents a meal, good cream, fresh fruit, kindly, people. Largest of Norwegian descent, noted for cleanliness, and good cooking. Please let me know of your decision as soon as we get the park and highway established. We should get about 20 miles wide by 70 miles long, of country which is the in the Crown; that is, it is government land, and it is of practically no value except for park purposes.—Harland T. Smith, Department of Mines, Ottawa.

Monarchy Nationalized

People Look On Royal Family As One Of Their Possessions

The profound difference between the relationship of the people to the Monarchy during the "Victorian Age" and what it is now in that Queen Victoria held, in principle and in practice, to the ancient idea that the people were her people, the country her country. That she governed them and ruled over them in virtue of a scarcely mitigated conception of Divine Right, whereas the present people look upon the King, the Queen and the Royal Family as their possessions and as leaders of them and provided of them than of any other national institution The sense of ownership has ceased to be abstract and has become democratic. Unlike the railways and Mr coal mines, the Monarchy has been nationalized. Review of Reviews.

FIRST CONTRACTS AWARDED

Canada's Air Mail Service Will Eventually Cover Dominion

The nucleus of a transcontinental aerial mail service is being established by Canada with the awarding of contracts for four important mail services. Eventually letters will cross the country from Halifax to Vancouver in 36 hours by aeroplane, instead of in five days by railway as at present.

The contracts now entered into provide for a service between Father Point and Montreal and Ottawa, another service of four trips per week between Montreal and Toronto, and all year-round service between Montreal and Albany, N.Y., to connect with the United States Transcontinental Air Service in the total sum of $201,150.

The Father Point to Montreal service and the Montreal to Ottawa service will be provided by the Canadian Transcontinental Airways, Limited, of Quebec, the Father Point to Montreal section costing $49,500, or $1.25 per flying mile. The Montreal to Ottawa service is to cost $4,350 for the season. For the Montreal-Toronto service the cost will be $46,500, or $1.25 per flying mile, and the Montreal to Albany service will cost $50,900

According to J. A. Wilson, Director of Civil Aviation in Canada, 60 per cent. of the Royal Air Force pilots during the war were Canadians. Since the war Canada has been devoting her activities to such operations as forest protection, surveying, mapping, and the assisting of engineering and geological survey work in the northern territories. Canada has some time to build up a transcontinental air mail service, owing to the immense population of the United States, but eventually the people would demand more rapid service than could be given by the present method.

Americans Have Faith In British Surgeons

Millionaire Found Way To Get Famous Doctor's Services

Americans have great faith in British surgeons. A few months ago an American millionaire wanted one of the most famous surgeons to go to New York to treat his small child, suffering from a very large toe.

The surgeon, however, was not prepared to make the journey. He was surprised when shortly afterwards an American doctor arrived with a complete cinema film of all the child's movements during a period of 24 hours.

To exhibit the film it was necessary to take the local cinema hall at a high fee. The British surgeon carefully examined the film and drew a report, which the American doctor took back to America.

Later, he arrived again with another film showing the result of the treatment in detail, a big cheque, and a letter of thanks from the relieved father.
